To make summer dresses warm enough for autumn, they are also worn under large wraps of dark colored fancy plaids, of fine wool, that are not gay like Scotch plaids, but are made with kilt pleating at the back and double breasted fronts; still others take the shape of ulsters with square sleeves, and some are fitted closely like pelisses.

I had severe attacks of gravel and kidney trouble; was unable to get any medicine or doctor to cure me until I used Hop Bitters, and they cured me in a short time.—A Distinguished Lawyer of Wayne Co., N. Y.

Fables from Puck.

THE ASS AND THE CAT.

An Ass one day Observed a Cat ascend a Tree to Escape from a Dog, and a Bright Idea entered his head. "When my Master comes to set me to Work I shall run up the Tree and Remain for the Day." And when the Master came, lo and behold, the Ass Started for the Nearest Tree at Full Speed and Ascended about Four Feet, when he fell back to the Ground, and was so Completely Knocked out of Shape that his Master found it Impossible to Adjust his Harness on him, and was obliged to Destroy him Then and There. Moral—Never Attempt to be too Versatile, and don't Endeavor to Dodge Honest Work for a living Lest Peradventure you get Left.

THE TURKEY AND THE HORNETS' NEST.

One day an old Turkey took a Walk through the Meadow to see how the Crops were getting along. Seeing a Hornets' Nest by a Stone Wall, she Fondly Imagined she could Hatch the Contents. So she Sat down upon It, and did Hatch out the Contents in about two Seconds. Five minutes later she stood upon a bit of Looking Glass, filled with Humiliation, Running her Bill through her Feathers and Attempting to Count the Number of Perforations in her Breast, which looked very much like a Nutmeg Grater. The Moral of this fable teaches us that Squatting on other people's Property is a perilous Proceeding; and that there are Some Humble Institutions which cannot be Sat Upon.

"Wise men say nothing in dangerous times." Wise men use nothing in dangerous diseases but the best and most approved remedies. Thus Kidney-Wort is employed universally in cases in diseased liver, kidney and bowels. It will cost you but a trifle to try it, and the result will be most delightful.

Will the time ever come when voters will cease to be puppets in politicians' [illegible]

Malaria and It's Causes.

Dr. Pinkham writes in the Sanitarium regarding the tendency now-a-days to assign malarial poison as a cause for all kinds of physical disturbances. This fashion, as it now may be called, of assigning malarial poison as a cause for all kinds of physical disturbance, came about, I think, something in this way:

Quinine became recognized as a specific for malaria when to this agency was referred only the periodic fevers. These fevers intermittent and remittent, were found to leave behind, after the fever proper had taken its departure, certain morbid conditions, especially of the liver and spleen, which conditions produced a variety of obscure symptoms, all of which were helped by the same remedy which cured the fever, and, being given for these obscure troubles, it was soon given for all obscure troubles resembling them, and it was found to be of service to all; hence, reasoning from effect to cause, it was inferred that all were of malarial origin. A person eats heartily and exercises little; he soon finds himself ill; he has headache pains in his side, languor and a variety of uncomfortable sensations. Quinine is a tonic and aids digestion; he takes it and is better. What more natural conclusions than that his symptoms are due to malaria, being relieved as they are by the great anti-malarial remedy? Thus quinine became as it is to-day an ingredient of nearly all prescriptions the great cure all. It also became a great aid in diagnosis, and in many cases settled the question, convincing the prepossessed patient and the wavering physician that malaria was the great bottom fact in the case in hand. Now I believe that more than half the ailments that in this offhand way are ascribed to malaria are due to something else, and largely to lack of physical exercise. There are other casuses of disease which we do not overlook—over eating and drinking, and smoking, improper clothing and exposure to cold and heat, worry and care, idleness and overwork, over excitement and all kinds of excess work destruction as they did before malaria was invented. Lack of exercise produces derangement of the liver, spleen, nerves, brain and every organ of the body. It produces a multitude of symptoms similar to those produced by malaria. Let exercise be supplied and the occasion for quinine in these cases will no longer exist

The art connoisseur and exhibitor, Prof. Cromwell, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.
[Norfolk Virginian.

Dr. Ike was called in to see one of old Jake's children. The next day after Dr. Ike called the child died. "It's mighty fortunate dat yer called me in," said the doctor to the bereaved father. "Why so, sah?" "Yer see, I was called yesterday an' de chile died ter-day." "Yas." "Wall, ef I hadn't come de chile would hab died day before yisterday.

THE COUNTRY.

Who has ever lived any time in the country but must have heard of the virtues of burdock as a blood purifier. Burdock blood bitters cure dyspepsia, biliousness, and all disorders arising from impure blood or deranged liver or kidneys. Price $1.

Mrs. Howe says that women do not fall in love any more. Place a woman in front of a milliner's window and see if she doesn't.

THAT TERRIBLE

indigestion and sick headache will yield readily to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

SWAYNES

SWAYNES OINTMENT.

AN UNFAILING REMEDY SUCH AS TETTER. ITCH. SORES. PIMPLES. ERYSIPELAS, BLOTCHES RING WORM, &C. FOR ALL SKIN DISEASES

OINTMENT

THE GREAT CURE FOR ITCHING PILES

Symptoms are moisture, stinging, itching, worse at night; seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the rectum; the private parts are often affected. A pleasant, economical and positive cure, SWAYNE'S OINTMENT is superior to any article in the market. Sold by druggists, or send 50 cts. in 3-ct. Stamps. 3 Boxes $1.25. Address Dr. SWAYNE & Son, Phila., Pa.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KNABE

PIANO-FORTES.
UNEQUALED IN
Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability.
WILLIAM KNABE & CO.,
No's. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore. No. 112 Fifth Avenue, New York.

$10 to $20,000

In legitimate judicious speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stocks on our perfected plan, yields sure monthly profits to large and small investors. Address for full particulars,
E. E. KENDALL & CO.,
Com's. Merchants, 177&179 La Salle St., Chicago Ill.

CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED.

BOURNE & CO.,

Commission and Wholesale Dealers in

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES,

13 Faneuil Hall Market, Boston, Mass.

[illegible]

Refer to Faneuil Hall National Bank.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY. FOR RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE

TRADE MARK

BEFORE TAKING.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

TRADE MARK

AFTER TAKING.

☞Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passmeateries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

NO ONE
Should Forget
that
WATERMAN'S
is the place to find and buy almost anything you want in the line of Sporting Goods, Ammunition, Electric Stock.

FISHING TACKLE,

FINE DRAWER AND CHESS LOCKS ALL KINDS MACHINE NEEDLES, ELECTRIC AND COMMON BELLS, [illegible]

And the

ROYAL ST. JOHN

Sewing Machine.

[illegible]

34 First Street. Fulton, N. Y.
April 1st.

F. D. VANWAGENEN
REAL ESTATE AGENT.

[illegible]

In connection with [illegible] Selling of Real Estate [illegible] will take charge of [illegible] reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

[illegible]

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work [illegible] and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6. — GEO. J. EMENY. H. H. GRIDLEY.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

TO THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial [illegible] to come and see this "Garden of the West." Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish on farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old states, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory [illegible] noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. FM Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

D. McCarthy & Co.,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER DISPLAY

of

Rich and Elegant

DRESS GOODS.

[illegible]

Combination Effects

IN

Bourette and Broche Checks

Plain Checks, Stripes

Figures and Plaids,

[illegible] latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are [illegible] instance exceptional value.

[illegible]

SILK

DEPARTMENT.

[illegible]

Colored and Black Plushes! IN ALL GRADES.

Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.

Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.

Black Fouliee, Plushes.

Colored and Black Velours. 12" NORD.

Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.

Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.

Colored and Black Ottoman Silks

Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.

Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.

COLORED VELONTINE.

Colored Velvets, Ottoman Faconne.

Colored and Black Moire Francais.

[illegible]

BLACK GROS GRAINS.

BLACK ARMURES.

RHADAMES.

SATIN DE LYONS.

VELOURS Imperatrice.

VELOURS Ottoman.

[illegible]

Cloak Department.

The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the Dolman, worn longer than last year. We display the [illegible] of these Garments both imported and [illegible] in Central New York. In addition to these [illegible]

Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRICE!

For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell

Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,

At Cost. No trouble to show goods at the City Drug Store.

M. M. WILLIAMS.

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE
SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.
FIFTEENTH YEAR.
FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1882.
VOLUME 15—NUMBER 22

THE FULTON TIMES.
IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.
Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person, or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

The Old Time Way.

BY GEORGE C. BRAGDON.

Behold the preacher!—hear his fervid tones
Proclaiming loud the terrors of the law
To yielding hearers, who with tears and groans
And whitened lips show forth their solemn awe;
Or yet another, who, didactic, blue,
Has foreordained the most of us to woe,
In spite of all that we can say and do,
In spite of all that we can think and know.

'Tis said that worthy men would often preach
To seventeenthly in the hottest year,
While lynx-eyed deacons warningly would reach
With sticks and things to make the drowsy hear.
Methinks the children of those good old days,
Who sat erect and calmly listened through,
There in the high-backed pews, as in a maze,
Earn better seats in heaven than I or you.

The straight-laced preached and the straight-laced flock.
May have put Calvin in the place of God.
But great their faith, and firm as any rock,
In the grim theologic ground they trod,
They knew no railroad to the happy shore,
With palace cars and softly cushioned chairs,
But trudged old Christian's narrow footpath o'er,
Beset with demons, pits and snares.

What though they knew not all that we know well
And taught the strictest letter of the Word,
And dogmatized concerning sin and hell,
And made their hearers quake with what they heard?
Are our lives better? How does deacon Brown,
Of this fast age of changing faiths, compare
With ancient Deacon Smith whose Sunday frown,
Severe reproving fairly chilled the air?

Perhaps the latest modern railroad plan
For reaching heaven will not improve the chance,
Of getting there at last with any man,
Or any grace of piety enchance;
Perhaps—but why pursue the puzzling theme,
When every nearest duty may be known,
And duties come in an unceasing stream,
And only present moments are our own?

However far, however near the place
For one and all, the way thereto is plain,
And, taking a supply of gospel grace,
Loss of compelling law may prove a gain,
And may not some prophetic gaze descry
New shrines and temples there, where thought and deed
Unite the faithful in a closer tie,
Around a simpler but sufficient creed?

Old but Good.

"Father, who travels the road so late?"
"Hush, my child, 'tis the candidate;
Fit example of human woe—
Early he comes and late he goes.
He greets the women with courtly grace,
He kisses the baby's dirty face,
He calls to the fence the farmer at work,
He bores the merchant, he bores the clerk—
The blacksmith, while his anvil rings
He greets, and this is the song he sings:

"Howdy, howdy, howdy-do?
How is your wife, and how are you?
Ah! it fits my fist as no other can.
The horny hand of the working man."

*Among the most efficious of remedial agents are the medical preparations from the labratory of Mrs Lydia E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

UNCLE CARL'S HEIRESS.

"And you'll be careful of the money, Carl, and lay it in a warm nest?" said the old man—old Carl Van Webber, who, lying upon his death-bed, has just made his will in favor of his nephew and namesake. "You will not run riot with it I know. I've scraped and saved all my life for it. I never was extravagant. When I came to America a poor boy, fatherless and motherless, I had just $10, and I went to work with that capital. In the warm weather I made lemonade. I didn't make it too sour, nor put too much sugar in it either, and sold it at the corners, and in the winter I started a coffee stand, and I put by a little and a little, and a little more—and at last I had a shop with a counter, at which people sat and drunk tea or chocolate or coffee and ate cakes. And then a regular restaurant and after that a fine place—a very fine place indeed—and there I made my fortune. But I've always been saving, always. And you won't waste the poor old man's money, eh, Carl?"

"I hope you will recover, uncle," said Carl, from his heart; "but I thank you for meaning so well to me, and I will do my best."

"Yes, yes," said the old man, "but I can't recover, and we must talk now. You will take the money and do the best, and, Carl, this is what I have set my heart on—you will marry Eliza Patch? She's a fine girl, and I know what Patch will leave her. Not being pretty don't matter; an excellent economical person—well, a little older than you, but, bless us, what is that? Yes—you'll offer yourself to Eliza Patch and my word for it she'll not say no; and then"—

"Uncle Carl," said the young man, "don't mislead yourself. I cannot allow yourself to do it. It would not be fair or honest. I shall never offer myself to Miss Eliza Patch, for I do not love her."

"Romantic nonsense!" said the old man. "Love—bah!—I am an old bachelor myself, but I don't suppose that after the first year or two men ever are in love with their wives, and pretty women make as ugly old ones as the ugly girls. Patch is my very good friend. We've talked the matter over. You'll marry Eliza. I know—at least, I hope—you are not entangled anywhere?"

"I am not engaged as yet," said Carl, slowly;—"and my vanity may mislead me into thinking I am liked; but I have [illegible] "She is a governess, and earns enough to dress herself, no more."

"Carl," said the old man, I have made you my heir. I demand a little obedience. Leave this girl and offer yourself to Eliza."

"Uncle," replied the young man, "I have been obedient. Now I must refuse to obey. Love cannot be coerced, and, if it could, an honorable man could not lead a girl on to believe he loved her, and then cooly back out without giving her a chance to say no."

"I dislike to hear nonsense," said the old man. "Let those absurdities pass. You will marry Eliza Patch, or you will not. If you refuse, I shall alter my will. I shall leave you penniless, and, as the business will no longer be carried on, without a situation. Take your choice. Go away now: return to me in half an hour, and tell me what it is. You know I am a man of my word, Carl, and I talked the thing over with Patch; he expects it, and I'll put up with no nonsense. I've a little grand-niece somewhere. I'll leave it all to her—all, Carl—unless you marry Eliza."

Carl said nothing. He left the room, and sat alone in the parlor below, until his uncle's bell summoned him. He thought over his altered prospects the while, and looked matters bravely in the face.

Of course he could not marry Eliza Patch. Of course he would, whenever he could, marry his little sweetheart, if she would have him; but now it was possible he would have to wait a long time. Carl was not so young that it seemed so easy to wait, either. He was a man of eight-and-twenty.

The interview with his uncle was a brief one; but it was decisive. It ended by the lawyer being sent for, and the will altered.

"I must leave my money to one of my own blood," said the old man. "I've only one other relative. My sister Pauline married a Mr. Garth, and had one daughter. The daughter married and died, leaving a little girl. She's grown up now. I forgot her mother's married name, but you'll find it in some of those old letters. Everything to her! and make haste that I may sign it."

Old Carl Van Webber lived just long enough to put her name to the bottom of the great sheet of paper which made young Carl a poor man and enriched the unknown grandniece, and then passed away, his wrath quite unappeased, his dying hand withheld from that of his nephew.

The lawyer, knowing the story, privately thought Carl an idiot. He might at least, have forborne to contradict his uncle.

The funeral was over. All was done that could be done to show respect to the old man's memory. Carl, who had only fifty dollars in the world, bestirred himself to find a bookkeeper's place, and in a little while found one. The salary was small; but on consideration he decided it was enough for two, and one evening, walking with Letty West in the moon-lit park, he told her so.

"I hoped to be a rich man when I first knew and loved you, Letty," he said, and perhaps I am not right to ask you to share a poor man's lot. If you dread it, say so, Letty."

But the little hands were clasped over his arm more closely, and in a few moments he knew that Letty dreaded nothing if he but loved her well.

The two were married, and when Carl Van Webber looked at his fair young wife there was no lingering thoughts of Eliza Patch, and the wealth they had lost, in his mind. There were no more luxuries for him, it is true. No riding and driving, no wines and costly cigars—none of the idling to which, as the rich uncle's heir he had been used. And there was hard work and close economy; but what did it matter? They were so happy.

But when a man earns only enough for the week's expenses week by week, he stands on the brink of a precipice. One day young Van Webber in hurrying across the upper floor of his place of business, slipped and fell through the hatchway. He was seriously injured, and a long confinement to his bed was certain. His employers behaved, liberally. They gave him a month's wages and promised him his post again when he recovered. But his illness was not over in a month, and doctors' bills are expensive things, and at last the time came when poverty stared the two married lovers in the face, and only the little needlework Letty could do beside her husband's bedside kept them from starvation.

"Ah, Carl" said the young wife one morning, as she brought the sick man the tea and dry toast, which were all she had to give him, "don't you wish you had forgotten poor me, and married Miss Eliza Patch? You would have been rich then. I have brought all this upon you."

"It is your share of the trouble that troubles me," said Carl. "Letty, love, don't you wish you had said "No?" But he knew she did not as she took his poor, thin hand and put it to her lips and kissed it. At that moment—

"Van Webber!" shouted a voice without.

"It's the postman, Carl," said Letty. "But who can have written us? I thought everyone had forgotten us."

She ran into the passage and came back with a large letter, sealed with red wax, in her hand.

"What can it be, dear?" she said. "It looks so strange, it frightens me!"

Then she opened it. As Carl looked at her he saw her turn first white and then red, and then the tears came into her eyes and she gave a cry and flew toward him.

"Carl, dear," I used to read fairy tales when I was a child. They were no stranger than this. Can you bear good news, Carl? [illegible] had an uncle who was rich, but I did not think he ever thought of me. And my mother died when I was a baby, Carl, so we never talked about him.

"But think they have been hunting for me all this while, in all sorts of places, and—and—Oh, do you understand, Carl? We are rich! It is just as well for you as if you had chosen Miss Patch."

It was stranger than a fairy tale, Carl indeed thought, when he found that his little Letty was indeed his Uncle Carl's heiress. His joy was unbounded, and he gave himself up to the impulse of the moment. It is true a shade crossed his features for a moment, to think he had been forgotten; but it passed away instantly.

Weak lungs, spitting of blood, consumption, and kindred affections, cured without physician. Address for treatise with two stamps, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fashion Notes.

Woven Jerseys are introduced for small girls.

Scarlet jackets are worn in London on the promenade.

The Mother Hubbard cloak is still retained for children.

Colors will be used more as the season advances, for girls.

Flowers are banished from millinery, and feathers of every kind are to be worn.

New silver bracelets are made in exact imitation of the handcuffs worn by criminals.

Shrimp pink, strawberry red and electricity blue velvet bows are worn at the neck with linen collars.

Girls dresses will continue to be made in the quaint picturesqe styles seen during the summer.

Arabi or Turkey red will be made into odd little jackets, to be worn by children one year old and upward.

The new plaid suits are made in plaited skirts, with the bias scarf paniers if the skirt is of straight goods, and straight if the skirt is bias.

Chenille is the most popular lining for silk cloaks and handsome brocaded wraps. Heavy fringes and long ruches of chenille are imported for this purpose.

Dark woolen dresses will be worn by girls two years of age and more, while white dresses are confined to smaller girls, and even these have some dark dresses in their outfits.

Black silk stockinet Jerseys are very stylishly worn with skirts of black velvet, and broad sash drapery to cover the joining over the hips made of moire or black surah, fringed on the ends.

The fancy for bright red will be carried out in the cashmere guimpe dresses, in cloth for pleated walking coats, in Mother Hubbard wraps, and, it is said, in gay velvet suits for boys and girls.

Velvet and felt are the materials settled upon for ladies' bonnets, and the importations continue to be made up of small bonnets for dress, medium large pokes for those to whom they are becoming, and very large round hands.

Toques, caps or turbans, made of velvet felt, will be worn with cloth dresses. The brims are covered with gathered velvet, and the crowns with the head, breast and tail feathers of a bird of colors kindred to that of the velvet.

To make summer dresses warm enough for autumn, they are also worn under large wraps of dark colored fancy plaids, of fine wool, that are not gay like Scotch plaids, but are made with kilt pleating at the back and double breasted fronts; still others take the shape of ulsters with square sleeves, and some are fitted closely like pelisses.

I had severe attacks of gravel and kidney trouble; was unable to get any medicine or doctor to cure me until I used Hop Bitters, and they cured me in a short time.—A Distinguished Lawyer of Wayne Co., N. Y.

Fables from Puck.

THE ASS AND THE CAT.

An Ass one day Observed a Cat ascend a Tree to Escape from a Dog, and a Bright Idea entered his head. "When my Master comes to set me to Work I shall run up the Tree and Remain for the Day." And when the Master came, lo and behold, the Ass Started for the Nearest Tree at Full Speed and Ascended about Four Feet, when he fell back to the Ground, and was so Completely Knocked out of Shape that his Master found it Impossible to Adjust his Harness on him, and was obliged to Destroy him Then and There. Moral—Never Attempt to be too Versatile, and don't Endeavor to Dodge Honest Work for a living Lest Peradventure you get Left.

THE TURKEY AND THE HORNETS' NEST.

One day an old Turkey took a Walk through the Meadow to see how the Crops were getting along. Seeing a Hornets' Nest by a Stone Wall, she Fondly Imagined she could Hatch the Contents. So she Sat down upon It, and did Hatch out the Contents in about two Seconds. Five minutes later she stood upon a bit of Looking Glass, filled with Humiliation, Running her Bill through her Feathers and Attempting to Count the Number of Perforations in her Breast, which looked very much like a Nutmeg Grater. The Moral of this fable teaches us that Squatting on other people's Property is a perilous Proceeding; and that there are Some Humble Institutions which cannot be Sat Upon.

‸"Wise men say nothing in dangerous times." Wise men use nothing in dangerous diseases but the best and most approved remedies. Thus Kidney-Wort is employed universally in cases in diseased liver, kidney and bowels. It will cost you but a trifle to try it, and the result will be most delightful.

Will the time ever come when voters [illegible]

Malaria and It's Causes.

Dr. Pinkham writes in the Sanitarium regarding the tendency now-a-days to assign malarial poison as a cause for all kinds of physical disturbances. This fashion, as it now may be called, of assigning malarial poison as a cause for all kinds of physical disturbance, came about, I think, something in this way:

Quinine became recognized as a specific for malaria when to this agency was referred only the periodic fevers. These fevers intermittent and remittent, were found to leave behind, after the fever proper had taken its departure, certain morbid conditions, especially of the liver and spleen, which conditions produced a variety of obscure symptoms, all of which were helped by the same remedy which cured the fever, and being given for these obscure troubles, it was soon given for all obscure troubles resembling them, and it was found to be of service to all; hence, reasoning from effect to cause, it was inferred thas all were of malarial origin. A person eats heartily and exercises little; he soon finds himself ill; he has headache pains in his side, languor and a variety of uncomfortable sensations. Quinine is a tonic and aids digestion; he takes it and is better. What more natural conclusions than that his symptoms are due to malaria, being relieved as they are by the great anti-malarial remedy? Thus quinine became as it is to-day an ingredient of nearly all prescriptions—the great cure all. It also became a great aid in diagnosis, and in many cases settled the question, convincing the prepossessed patient and the wavering physician that malaria was the great bottom fact in the case in hand. Now I believe that more than half the ailments that in this offhand way are ascribed to malaria are due to something else, and largely to lack of physical exercise. There are other casuses of disease which we do not overlook—over eating and drinking, and smoking, improper clothing and exposure to cold and heat, worry and care, idleness and overwork, over excitement and all kinds of excess work destruction as they did before malaria was invented. Lack of exercise produces derangement of the liver, spleen, nerves, brain and every organ of the body. It produces a multitude of symptoms similar to those produced by malaria. Let exercise be supplied and the occasion for quinine in these cases will no longer exist.

The art connoisseur and exhibitor, Prof. Cromwell, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.

[Norfolk Virginian.

Dr. Ike was called in to see one of old Jake's children. The next day after Dr. Ike called the child died. "It's mighty fortunate dat yer called me in," said the doctor to the bereaved father. "Why so, sah?" "Yer see, I was called yesterday an' de chile died ter-day." "Yas." "Wall, ef I hadn't come de chile would hab died day before yisterday.

THE COUNTRY.

Who has ever lived any time in the country but must have heard of the virtues of burdock as a blood purifier. Burdock blood bitters cure dyspepsia, biliousness, and all disorders arising from impure blood or deranged liver or kidneys. Price $1.

Mrs. Howe says that women do not fall in love any more. Place a woman in front of a milliner's window and see if she doesn't.

THAT TERRIBLE

indigestion and sick headache will yield readily to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

SWAYNES
SWAYNES OINTMENT.
AN UNFAILING REMEDY FOR ALL SKIN DISEASES SUCH AS TETTER, ITCH, SORES, PIMPLES, ERYSIPELAS, RING WORM, BLOTCHES &c.
OINTMENT
THE GREAT CURE FOR ITCHING PILES
Symptoms are moisture, stinging, itching, worse at night; seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the rectum; the private parts are often affected. As a pleasant, economical and positive cure, SWAYNE'S OINTMENT is superior to any article in the market. Sold by druggists, or send 50 cts. in 3-ct. Stamps. 3 Boxes, $1.25. Address, Dr. Swayne & Son, Phila., Pa.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KNABE
PIANO-FORTES.
UNEQUALED IN
Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability.
WILLIAM KNABE & CO.,
No's. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore. No. 112 Fifth Avenue, New York.

$10 to $20,000
In legitimate judicious speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stocks on our perfected plan, yields sure monthly profits to large and small investors. Address for full particulars.
R. E. KENDALL & CO.,
Com's. Merchants, 177&179 La Salle St., Chicago Ill.

CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED.
BOURNE & CO.,
Commission and Wholesale Dealers in
FRUITS AND VEGETABLES,
[illegible]

St JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,
Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.
No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.
Directions in Eleven Languages.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.
A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER
It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.
Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.
In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.
41- SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.
KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.
BLUE PILLS
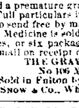
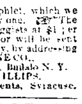
Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?
IT IS Dangerous!
Don't Wait!
Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use
Sulphur Bitters!
Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is
The Invalid's Friend.
The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,
Try a Bottle To-Day!
Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.
TRADE MARK TRADE MARK



BEFORE TAKING.



AFTER TAKING.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.
☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.
Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything
NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.
Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.
—A First-Class line of—
TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.
An Inspection of Stock is asked.

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at
FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."
Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.
We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasse and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.
A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.
100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.
Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.
E. B. FAY.

NO ONE Should Forget
that
WATERMAN'S
is the place to find and buy almost anything you want in the line of Sporting Goods, Ammunition, Electric Stock.
FISHING TACKLE,
FINE DRAWER AND CHESS LOCKS.
ALL KINDS MACHINE NEEDLES.
ELECTRIC AND COMMON DOOR BELL Fixtures &c., &c.
And the
ROYAL ST. JOHN
Sewing Machine.
There is no use trying to enumerate all our facilities for supplying the public want. Seeing is believing! Come and see for yourselves.
34 First Stret, Fulton, N Y.
April 1st.

F. D. VANWAGENEN,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in O. S. Piper's Law Office.)
In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.
Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.
Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY
([illegible] Planing Mill.)
General Jobbers in Wood.
PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,
And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.
Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,
Manufactured to Order.
Estimates Given on Buildings.
Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.
Fulton Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY.
H. H. GRIDLEY.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."
TO THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.
I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc. to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished. Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.
Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. FM Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

D. Mc Carthy & Co.,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.
FALL AND WINTER
DISPLAY
—OF—
Rich and Elegant
DRESS GOODS.
We announce as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of Combination Effects
—IN—
Broche and Broche Checks,
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids,
all of which have an imported match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.
☞ Please call and see them.
SILK
DEPARTMENT.
We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:
Colored and Black Plushes, IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour, DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Velours, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais. ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperatrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.
This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics on display in Central New York.
☞ Examination Invited.
Cloak Department.
The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments, both Imported and Eastern make, ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these are lines of style
Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.
D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.
The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.
J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRICE!
For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell
Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,
At Cost. No trouble to show goods at the City Drug Store.
M. M. WILLIAMS.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Oct. 18, 1882.

SA[illegible] J. RANDALL is said to be canvassing for the speakership of the House of Representatives.

THE incoming legislature of the State of New York is to reapportion the congressional districts.

THE Utica Herald refuses to hoist Folger's name. If the Herald isn't independent it's nothing.

EVERY voter should cast a vote in favor of the proposed amendment to make the canals free.

LAST Thursday was the anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America, on the 12th of October, 1492.

WITH either Mr. Poucher or Mr. Littlejohn to represent this district its interests will not be neglected.

PENSACOLA, Florida, is a stricken city. Forty-three cases of yellow fever reported yesterday and four deaths.

A DUTCH judge in Nebraska on conviction of a culprit for having four wives, decided: "He hash bunishment plenty; I lifs mit one!"

THE Utica Herald thinks Mr. Littlejohn will be elected member of assembly from this district and says he is one of the strongest men intellectually who ever sat in the assembly.

THE Ohio election was a great surprise to everyone. The State went democratic by about 30,000 and fourteen democratic and seven republican congressmen elected—a gain of nine democrats. It was simply an "Ohio idea."

TALMAGE's article, "Ought Christians to have any fun?" in one of the magazines is attracting attention. It would puzzle one to understand how the Christian who attends Talmage's church can prevent having fun and plenty of it.

SOME of the Ohio Republicans claim that it was the liquor question that defeated them, but the most thoughtful and outspoken of them recognize the force of a popular uprising against the frauds and corruption that have prevailed under the Republican administration.

THE Indians at Standing Rock Agency Dakota, are making wonderful strides in agriculture. They have raised this year 750 bushels of wheat, 6500 bushels of oats, 10,000 bushels of corn, and 5000 bushels of potatoes, not to speak of other vegetables and appear to be more contented than when raising scalps.

CAPTAIN WEBB, the famous swimmer, who entered a tank of water in Boston the first of last week for 100 hours succeeded last Friday night making 104 hours. It was said by several physicians of note at the commencement that it was impossible, and that forty-six hours was the extent of time a man could live in the water. Mr. Webb only lost 20 pounds.

THE evil spirit of Guiteau is abroad. A lad of nineteen years was arrested in New York last week for exhibiting a pistol and making a threat he would kill President Arthur. The latest incident of the kind is in the case of a commercial traveler named Brookshaw, who was arrested in London on Saturday for writing a letter to the equerry of the Prince of Wales, threatening to murder his Royal Highness in default of a receipt of a sum of money.

THE democrats of New York city have at last realized what their bickerings have cost them, and have mutually agreed to let the past pass into oblivion and to stand shoulder to shoulder in the November battle. The local offices have been divided as follows:—The County Democracy to have the naming of the mayor and county clerk, Irving Hall the sheriff and Tammany the two judgeships and the three coroners. The democratic party in New York State is once more united.

THE patronage that will be at the disposal of the Governor elected this fall is unusually great in amount. Immediately upon coming into office he will have the appointment, with the Senate, of three railroad commissioners, at an average salary of $6,000. Then there will follow the appointment of a Superintendent of Public Works at a salary of $6,500; a Superintendent of the Banking Department at a salary of $3,500; a Superintendend of the Insurance Department; three State assessors; three canal appraisers; a quarantine commissioner and many harbor masters.

IN public affairs lawyers take a leading part. In the republican and democratic parties in this state are entirely managed by them. It must be flattering to the profession to see the people lean entirely upon them for support The people make a good client. The tickets to be elected this fall stand:

Republican ticket—For Governor a lawyer; for Lieutenant Governor. a lawyer; for Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, a lawyer, (of course;) for Congressman-at-large, a lawyer.

Democratic ticket—For Governor, a lawyer; for Lieutentnt Governor a lawyer; for Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, a lawyer (of course); for Congressman-at-large, a lawyer.

National Greenback Labor ticket—For Governor, a farmer, for Lieutenant Governor, a mechanic; for Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, a lawyer (of course;) for Congressman-at-large, a merchant.

BEECHER's church in Brooklyn was crowded Sunday in expectation of hearing him defend his position in cutting loose from the Congregational Association. Years ago the Brooklyn Association of Congregational churches was organized because the older organization of Congregationalists would not fraternise with him and his withdrawal and radical remarks are in keeping with his periodical sensational departures. He preached a sermon replete with original sayings in which occurred the following:

"Can any man doubt the existence of God? Shall God plead to man for recognition? We would be shocked at the idea of the Chief Justice of the United States pleading before a police court. Yet many people wish God to give specimen proof of his existence, ignoring the fact that he has placed his autograph [illegible]." Mr. Beecher [illegible]

A USELESS STRUCTURE.

The Concern Manifested for the Safety of the Capitol—Where Will the Next Session be Held.

The special commission appointed to examine the ceiling in the Assembly Chamber of the New Capitol, have presented their report to Gov. Cornell. It is quite a lengthy document. They find that owing to the unequal settlement of the building, the inequality in the stone used in its construction, the enormous and originally uncalculated-for weight on the foundations and the possibility that new settlements of the foundation may occur from the changes in the water in the underlying soil the ceiling may not be considered safe for the future. They accordingly recommended that all the stone vaulting be removed and its place be supplied by a construction of wood. The general work in the rest of the building is reported to be exceptionally good. It is reported that the expense will be over one million dollars. In the mean time the tax payer can vent his wrath on the architects who planned such an ill constructed building. The legislature has the power to order the chamber reconstructed, and the Governor may order an extra session for that purpose. In any event, it is not at all probable that the next assembly will occupy the Chamber.

The governor has invited a conference of the capitol commissioners, speaker of the assembly and members of the finance and ways and means committees of the senate and assembly in the executive chamber to day to determine whether a special session of the legislature shall be called to consider the report of the expert commission as to a remedy for the defects of the assembly chamber.

Pittsford, Mass, Sept29

Sirs: I have taken Hop Bitters and recommended them to others, as I found them beneficial. MRS. J. W. TULLER, 2012 Sec. W. C. T. U.

The next musicale of Zion church organ guild will be held at the residence of Dr. W. A. Hall on the evening of October 24.

If you want the news read THE FULTON TIMES. Extra copies may be found the post office news room and at Howe & Dexter's in Oswego Falls.

William Tiffany announces himself an independent democratic candidate fou the office of recorder in Oswego. For kickers Oswego county beats the world.

A late postal law says: "No man woman or child will be allowed to receive another's mail outside their own families, without a written order seal by the parties wishing mails."

At the school meeting in Upper Oswego Falls D. Baldwin and Anthony Culkin were elected trustees, Charles E. Carpenter, clerk, T. Sheehan, librarian and John Crahan collector.

A great closing out sale of millinery, notions and fancy goods, is still in progress in rooms over Western Union telegraph office, Fulton. This same firm was in sample room at the Lewis house last summer.

The Constantia correspondent of the Central Square News writes:

The Misses Decker of Fulton, spent last Sabbath in town assisting in the exercises of the Sunday school concert, thus adding much to its interest and profit. The girls have many friends here who gave them a hearty welcome.

The Kansas City Times has the following notice of the Kalamazoo Wagon Co. whose exhibit at the Kansas state fair was in charge of Chas. W. Smith, an old Fulton boy:

The fine display of carriages and buggies exhibited by the Kalamazoo Wagon Company, in charge of Mr. C. W. Smith was one of the finest ever shown in Kansas City or the west. The awarding committee yesterday spent this afternoon in examining the different carriage and buggy exhibits, and gave to the Kalamazoo Wagon Company the first prize offered by the association for the best carriage display made by any manufacturer, which consists of a beautifully engraved silver medal. Mr. Smith sold the entire display on the grounds.

The National Scientific Journal of Chicago finds its way to our table with the following mention of Fulton gentlemen and a Fulton industry:

"A box of smoked eels suddenly made its appearance in this office, several days since, addressed to Mr. Wm. H. Ballou, Mining editor of The National Scientific Journal. A letter accompanied the surprising offering, from Horace N. Gilbert of the New York Press, stating that the eels were forwarded through him, contributed by the veteran Lewis Fuller the pioneer eel catcher of this State, and were the largest specimens of this season's catch. The letter further urged as a reason for the gift, that the fishermen had not forgotten the services of the recipient in defending their industries before the Legislature of the State, thereby defeating the passage of the proposed law for the abolition of the eel-weirs, introduced by the State Fish Commission. The thanks of the office of this paper are due all concerned as the very edible contents of the box were divided among the staff.

LIQUID GOLD.

Dan'l Plank, of Brooklyn, Tioga Co Pa describes it thus: "I rode forty miles for a bottle of Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which affected the wonderful cure of a crooked limg in six applications; it proved worth more than gold to me."

☞Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) a DRAPER'S Fulton and Oswego Falls tores. 47

CLOSING OUT.

I will sell my stock of goods at wholesale prices for the next 30 days to close business. Doll cabs and dolls, boys' wagons, vases, work boxes, desks, smoking stands, pipes notions, albums, scopes and views etc. Call and see before you buy. Five marble top tables, and chairs etc. Five cent cigars for three cents to close out stock.

JAMES STEVENS.

Personal! To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed. 24y1

☞Joseph Marshall is now prepared to execute promptly all jobs of White-washing, fitting, blacking and putting up stoves. He does his work good and solicits jobs. Leave orders at Tucker's [illegible] 17

T H A N K S

To all our friends who so heartily responded to our Opening Invitation and who have made

OUR STORE THEIR CHOICE SINCE,

In Making Their Purchases. We shall continue to keep our Stock as Complete in the Future and NEVER allow anyone to sell at Lower Prices.

Very Respectfully,
F. E. BACON.

—:O:—

A Splendid Variety of Cloaks, Dolmans and Ulsters received to-day.

THE WIDE WORLD OVER.

News of the Past Week Condensed—Important Happenings at Remote Points.

—Edward Clark, president of the Singer Sewing company, who died at Cooperstown, Otsego county, Saturday, in his 73d year, is credited with an estate valued at twenty-five millions.

—James Findley was convicted in Atlanta, Ga., Monday, of setting fire to a dwelling house. As soon as he was made acquinted with the verdict he drew a revolver, jumped from the prisoner's dock and dashed out of the court house. Before the court officers recovered from their surprise he had made good his escape.

—Monday, fifty Mormon bishops left Salt Lake on a proselyting tour to Norway, Sweden and Denmark. This is the largest number of bishops that ever left in a body to prosecute missionary work abroad. They will not venture into Germany, being deterred by the opposition to Mormon missionaries who went there. They are growing stronger in this country every day.

A Paris paper recently published a special dispatch from Rome to the effect that the Pope was fired upon while walking in the garden of the Vatican, by a soldier, and that the would be assassin missed his mark. The report caused intense excitement in the country and was widely published. It turns out to be untrue and was given to the public evidently to create a sensation.

In Pittsburg, Pa., Monday, Jacob Becker, employed in the Lead Pipe works, was standing on a scaffold, cleaning the rust off a shaft making 150 revolutions a minute, when his leg became entangled in a telephone wire. Losing his balance he grasped the shaft and was whirled around with fearful rapidity. The wire wrapped around his leg until the limb was severed from his body, when Becker fell thro' a hatchway to the ground. He was picked up dead with his head in a shapeless mass and his leg still dangling to the wire.

At five o'clock Friday afternoon, A. W. Slayback, a prominent lawyer and ex-congressman, was shot and instantly killed in the office of the Post Dispatch, St. Louis, by John A. Cockrell, managing editor. Slayback visited the office with a friend and denounced Cockrell for assaults in the paper, when he became furious and drew a pistol. Cockrell, who had the advantage, being self possessed, also drew a revolver and shot Slayback, who fell and died in a few minutes. The trouble dates from a political meeting the previous night, when Slayback made a bitter onslaught on the Post-Dispatch and its editors and reporters, which the paper vigorously resented this evening making uncomplimentary references to Slayback. The shooting caused the most intense excitement and Cockerell escaped by a back door to avoid lynching. Cockrell surrendered and the coroner's jury found that Slayback came to his death from a gunshot wound at the hands of John A. Cockrell. St. Louis has all the sensations of a lawless frontier town.

THE democrats of the 24th congressional district nominated Charles Rhodes, of Oswego, for representative in congress at a convention held at Oneida yesterday.

South Scriba.

Isaac R. Parkhurst, an old and respected resident died Friday night. Deceased was about eighty years of age and was one of the most prominent men in the town. He has held the office of justice of the peace for several successive terms and his death causes a vacancy in that office. He was father of school commissioner C. R. Parkhurst. Mr. Parkhurst was respected by all who know him and his friends have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Mrs. Adley Greenman, an old resident is very low. Fears are entertained for his recovery. Q.

Palermo.

John Chaffee of Onondaga Valley, is visiting his brother, Martin Chaffee.

Aaron Keller, who has been sick for the past five years, is quite low with consumption.

Mrs. Chas. Jero of East Palermo, has been dangerously ill with heart difficulty but is reported as slowly recovering.

The second quarterly meeting of Gilberts Mills charge was held at Dentons Corners M. E. church Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 14th and 15th. Presiding Elder Mead preached in the evening to a full house.

Mrs. Phœbe Woodruff of East Palermo, a woman highly esteemed by all who know her, is confined to her bed with sickness. Her friends entertain fears that she will not recover. C.

IT IS NO JOKE

To suffer constant headache, depression of spirits, longing for food and not being able to eat when put before you, gnawing pains in the stomach, lassitude and a general feeling of goneness: but a capital joke to find that Burdock Blood Bitter remove all these symptoms and only costs $1.

☞Remember DRAPER always takes the lead in selling goods cheap and never allows anyone to undersell him in fair deal. 47.

☞GO TO ROBINSON & LANGDON'S for choice Coffee! The only place in town where you will find it roasted fresh twice every week. 15tf

Cash buys Dry Goods Cheap at Sackett's.

Special Notice.

The agent for Milo's Steam Dyeing & Cleansing Establishment of Oswego, will be in Fulton during this week to call on parties wishing work done, and can be seen at the Lewis House each day from 4 p. m. until 9 p. m. Have your old clothes made new.

A VETERAN SPEAKS.

A Tribute to his old Commander—Reviving Memories of the War—A Pithy Letter.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Oct 5th, 1882.

Just nineteen years ago to-day I left the Oswego Falls fair grounds, went over in Fulton and enlisted as a veteran with Major Albert Taylor. He had been out as captain of "H" Co. 24 N. Y. Vol's. serving two years, and was at the time I speak, raising a company for the cavalry. Enlisting at this time was not very brisk, it being just before the Presidents call for 600,000 more men. The first name on his list was Chas. Brown.

As I read in THE TIMES of Major Taylor's being mustered out by the great final Mustering Officer, I cannot help but think of the past, how he, who is now gone, used to share the toils and hardships of the long marches with his men, ever solicitous for their welfare, doing all that lay in his power to make camp life endurable. I felt like offering my mite to the sterling worth of him whom we all loved as an officer and comrade.

There is one hundred and fifteen names on the Roster of Co. "A" N. Y. Cavadry. I have every name and a personal description of them all, with a bit of army history attached to nearly every name. As I look them over I wonder where they all are. There is Charley Taylor who us boys used to get to direct our letters for us, he was our Lieutenant until he got promoted to be Captain of "E" Co., he, like his father and the writer of this went out under the first call of the President for 75,000 troops in the spring of '61. Then there was Charley Osborn, "Jud" Heffron, Joe Chiler, Lish Teller, Channing Shumway, Jere VanBuren, Jack Dennick, John Campbell and the two Warn boys, the last four from Caughdenoy, and a host of others. Some of them were left down there on the "sacred soil" and some came north, to "God's county" to die. Sam Earl of the some Co., is, I believe, near Madison, Wisconsin. I have not seen any of Co. "A" boys for years but should like to hear how they are getting along.

I have been rocking about the "wide west" for the past seventeen years—am now engaged in contracting and building. XII.

☞Millions of packages of the Diamond dyes have been sold without a single complaint. Everywhere they are favorite Dyes.

CHEESE MARKET.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct 16—Notwithstanding the decline of cheese in New York, our market has stood up to-day nearly to last week's prices. Indeed, it is fully as good except on the small cheese for home trade, which did not, perhaps, reach quite as large a figure. Central New York stock must be in pretty good demand to sell within a quarter of a cent of the top price in the city in such a dull time as this. It shows that a goodly proportion of it must be bought on orders, and it speaks well for the reputation of our factories. It is claimed by salesmen that the make of the season is going to fall short of last year by 15 to 18 per cent. It is an unusual occurence for so few cheese to be sent on commission, and it is understood that a number of factories, that commonly go forward, are held back to-day in hopes of a better market. At the same time those who held back a week ago were regretting to-day, as they have lost on the shrinkage, and could do no better than at that time. Following are the transactions of the day: 183 boxes, 3 lots, at 11¾c 4,923 boxes, 57 lots, at 12c; 237 boxes, 2 lots, at 12⅛c; 596 boxes, 8 lots, at 12¼c; 944 boxes, 7 lots, at private terms. Sales 6,883 boxes; consignments, 180 boxes; total 7,023 boxes. Ruling price 12c. Last year transactions were 4,410 boxes, the bulk going at 12½c. Year before they were 14,805 boxes, at 12¼c to 12⅞c.

LITTLE FALLS, Oct 16—The market differs little from that of last week. With prices ruling here at about the New York quotations, factorymen are ready to let their usual quantities go forward, notwithstanding all are looking for better figures for their September make. There is very little disposition to hold stocks back, which being the case the light aggregate sales is indicative of the light production in this section, We hear some dairymen say that this has proved to be the most profitable season they have had for a long time. The yield is undoubtedly much smaller than some parties are willing to admit. Buyers tried hard to keep prices from exceeding 12c, but all who bought to any extent were obliged to yield to the pressure and pay more. White cheese no longer takes the lead, but is now under considerable neglect. Home trade goods still meet with the quickest sale. Following shows the trade of the day:

Lots.	Boxes.	Price
1	64	11¾ cents
1	65	11⅞ "
33	2,431	12 "
39	2,613	12⅛ "
2	64	12⅜ "
2	80	12⅞ "
1	116	p. t.
11	643	com.
95	6,279
Farm dairies	1,021
Total	7,300

AT FULTON:—1,563 boxes of cheese offered from 19 factories which was sold at 11¾c to 12c. The price one year ago was 12c, two years ago 12½c, three years ago 13¼c, four years ago 10c.

DESPISED.

By the unthinking, Burdock has been considered a weed, and its luxuriant growth, unpleasant smell, etc, has rendered it, to those "not knowing its virtues," a nuisance, and yet the root has long been acknowledged by savants as most valuable as a diuretic, aperient and blood purifier. Burdock Blood Bittersembody all its good qualities. Price $1,00.

Buy the Weber piano of Bristol's mu[illegible] 20

GO IN AND SEE

ROSENBLOOMS' NEW STOCK

—OF—

CLOTHING.

It Is Simply Immense.

NEIGHBORING NEWS

Jesse Chapman of Hinmanville and Miss May Pratt of Gilberts Mills were married in Mexico Oct. 12.

An examination for a West Point cadetship took place in Syracuse Saturday. There were 9 applicants. Lincoln C. Dygert of Syracuse, aged 19, secured the appointment.

Palmer Chaffee of Gilbert's Mills, while employed on Mr. Blodgett's barn, Tuesday, fell a distance of twenty feet, striking upon a pile of stone. He was taken up and found to be seriously injured.

At the school meeting in the Hinmanville district, Tuesday evening, Mrs. John Vedder was a candidate for trustee, but was ungallantly beaten by her uncle, Hiram Dean, by a majority of four votes.

The present season has been the most prosperous time for farmers known in this country for many years. Hops command a fabulous price, cheese and butter have ruled at high figures, beef has had a boom, potatoes, apples, grain, everything grown is in demand at remunerative prices. Taken year in and year out, farming in its various branches is the most independent and the safest business known.

Dr. M. L. Rossvally, the converted jew preached at the M. E. church Sunday morning, and delivered two lectures on Monday and Tuesday evenings, on Jewish rites and ceremonies. He had the best house any lecturer has had in some time, receipts the first evening being over $100, one half of which goes to the Sabbath School. His lectures contain much that was both interesting and instructive, and a good idea of the subject under discussion could be learned by listening to him. The singing of the doctor and his daughter was an interesting part of the program.

[Sandy Creek News.

At Syracuse Saturday afternoon, the Chicago express struck a carriage containing Joseph D. Malonee and wife, and Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Burgess of Marathon, Cortland county, at the West Genesee street crossing. The three ladies were killed. Their skulls were fractured and they died very soon after the accident. Mr. Malonee received a terrible cut on the head, but will get well. One of the horses was so badly injured that it was necessary to shoot it. There was no flagman at the crossing and trees obstructed Malonee's view. so that he did not see the train approaching. Mrs. Malonee was a talented woman and wrote considerably for the Syracuse papers.

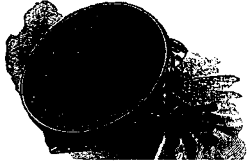
Vitalization.

All Diseases and Deformities cured by removing the cause. Dr. J. A. Barringer, the Physician and Surgeon, will be at the Lewis House, Fulton, Monday, Oct. 2d and remain the rest of the month. The doctor has practiced many years in Lyons, Weedsport, Wolcott, Seneca Falls Cortland, Norwich, and neighboring towns, and refers to the thousands cured of every known disease and deformity, He will examine all free, and will treat no one except a cure is certain. The doctor cures by Vitilization, an entirely new method, discovered by him. All diseases are easily cured by his treatment. The doctor cures Consumption, Catarrh, Asthma, Club Feet, Scrofula, Bright's Disease, Spinal Disease, Crooked Limbs, Tumors, Female Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Paralysis, Blindness, Deafness, rheumatism Fever Sores, Neuralgia Fits. Call for a list of hundreds of wonderful cures—all made in this vicinity. None who are afflicted should give up hope, as the treatment cures where everything else has failed. Physicians and scientific men are invited to examine the doctor's treatment.

CURES.

Mrs Caroline Waldo, Seneca Falls, N. Y., paralysis; Fred Funke, Pembroke, N. Y., consumption; Grant Smith, Clyde, N. Y., club foot; Miss Delia Hoffman, Moravia, N. Y., catarrh; Ezra Grinnell, Port Gibson, N. Y., spinal disease; Mrs. Isaac Huyck, South Byron, N. Y., fever sore; Henry Fowles, Elba, N. Y.; hare lip; Mrs. James Fisk, Clyde, N. Y., blindness; Mrs. M. M. Rosbrook, Sherburn Four Corners, N. Y., paralysis; G. B. Noel, North [illegible], N. Y., club feet.

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



It holds the work at any height or angle desired. Price, $1.25, postage 18cts. Send for circular to S. E. LINCOLN, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m6

Will You

HAVE AN

M. BRACE?

BAILEY & SON, Fulton, N. Y.
17m3

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc.. that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters, 12c per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates, 50 " "
Tea cups and saucers, 24 " sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete 61 each
Hand lamps, brass or glass, 14 "

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st.

I am your obedient servant.
JAMES MCCARTHY.
Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.
13 G. E. SQUIRE, Prop.

Remember one fact, Draper has taken the lead in selling goods cheap for the [illegible]

New Life To All!

Irratibility, lassitude and carelessness, are wholly overcome by wearing our purifying, vitalizing, electrifying clothing. It enriches your self-esteem, invigorates the nervous system, impresses you with magnetic virtues. It is altogether better than any patent medicine or other makes of clothing offered.

It Makes You Irresistible.

It Makes You Up.

Clothing, like other things, can be fairly judged only by the results which follow its use. A simple statement of the facts that make our garments superior, together with a solicitation of a personal examination of thorough workmanship, make style, fit, and trimmings secures your patronage. Try us One dose will win your favor to our side.

"THE FAMOUS"

2 and 3 Wieting Block,

Recommended by the best experts of clothing by ladies and gentlemen.

VON FRANKENBURG & CO., Proprietors.

1856. 1882.

CALL AT

J. H. WOODIN'S,

No. 7 First Street, Fulton.

For Bargains In

HARDWARE, DOORS, WINDOWS, BLINDS, ROPE, PULEY BLOCKS, HORSE FORKS, MILK CANS,

Tinware of all descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent. Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Oct. 18, 1882.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF FULTON.

[illegible]TON 'BUS

The Fulton omnibus will leave the Lewis House for trains on the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the following time table:

	A. M.	A. M.	M	P. M.	P. M.
For Syracuse	7:40	9:00	2:10	5:30
For Oswego	7:40		2:40	6:00	8:15

Tickets to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, for sale on the Omnibus.

A. M. HATCH, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2 .... 7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 6 .... 3:22 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 42 .... 8:35 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1 .... 9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5 .... 11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 43 .... 6:33 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation .... 8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 9:23 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express .... 12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express .... 5:58 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express .... 8:06 a. m
Day Express .... 3:08 p. m
Oswego Accommodation .... 6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 8:39 p. m

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

JOSEPH FRANCIS, - Local Editor.

Mrs. C. J. Bacon, of Williamstown is a guest of Dr. C. G. Bacon.

Mrs. E. J. Skinner of Elbridge, N. Y., is a guest of Mrs. C. P. Tucker.

W. H. Henderson is in Philadelphia, Jefferson Co., visiting his daughter.

M. D. VanBuren has a positon as cutter and designer for the leading modiste in Rochester.

Miss Jennie Lusk left for New York Monday morning where she will spend a few weeks with friends.

FOR SALE—A good cow. Will sell cheap for cash. Enquire in Granby at Peat Bed Corners of STORM BULLES.

The highest cash price will be paid for cider apples and paring apples at Hare's cider mill and fruit evaporator.

Miss Gettie Safford is employed as saleslady in the ladies furnishing store over the Western Union telegraph office.

S. N. Dada Esq. has removed his law office from Oneida street to the rooms over Robinson & Langdon's grocery on First street.

Miss Inez Conger has returned to Fulton from Paris, France, where she has been the past year perfecting her musical education.

Miss Frankie Delano has returned to her home in Ilion. She has been in Fulton some two months, a guest of her uncle Mr. A. D. Palmer.

A number of special agents are in this part of the state looking up pension frauds. They keep very quiet and are working with local officials.

Miss Clarice Conger Coby, daughter of Mr. P. F. Conger, has returned to Europe and will continue her art studies in which she has proven herself to be an adept.

Wm. G. Betts and family of South Granby have moved into Fulton and taken up their residence in the Fuller block. Mr. Betts moved into town to be nearer his growing business.

Owing to the illness of Rev. Father Kearney no services were held in the church of the Immaculate Conception Sunday. We learn the reverend gentleman is recovering from his indisposition.

Frank Keenan is quite low at the residence of Mrs. Judd Baker, on Utica street. In alighting from a carriage a few weeks ago he injured his hip, since which time he has been gradually failing.

The New-York Tribune says that Willard Johnson says that the democrats are going to carry Oswego county this fall.

We understand the Tribune is in error quoting Mr. Johnson. He said "If the present feeling exists in Oswego county until election day the republican majority will be greatly reduced." And he is right.

Mr. D. A. Ray arrived in town Friday from Humbolt, Iowa, where he has located in business with Prof. F. E. Adams of Fulton, under the firm name of Ray & Adams. Mr. Ray is greatly pleased with his new home, the people, and the bright business outlook. Messrs Ray & Adams are wideawake, honorable men and deserve to succeed. He will return in a day or two and his wife will accompany him.

There is more trouble at the lower brown stone quarry. The proprietor did not pay the men Saturday their two weeks pay and left town in a rather suspicious manner. The workmen have attached the property for about $2,000 which is due them. Mr. Collins arrived in town this morning from New York and says he will pay the men if the attachment is dissolved.

Married, at the Windsor House in Phœnix, by N. C. Alvord, Esq., on the 9th inst., Levi Fargo and Miss Mary E. Millard, all of Fulton. These parties were employed on the boat H. S. Gardner, Capt. Lon. Clark, the former as driver and the latter in the capacity of cook. The Phœnix Register says the boat was bound east and halted long enough for the two to be made one. Landlord Ostrander and R. H. Love were witnesses to the ceremony. After setting up the cigars to his friends the groom escorted his bride to the boat, and resuming his position behind a pair of mules, the bridal party passed on their wedding tour.

ECONOMY.

A fortune may be spent in using ineffectual medicines, when by applying Thomas' Eclectric Oil a speedy and economical cure can be effected. In cases of rheumatism, lame back, bodily ailments, or pains of every description, it affords instant relief.

☞ Call and see the New Genuine Singer Sewing machines at Bristol's. Sold at popular prices. 20t3

FOR SALE.—I have on hand seventy masquerade costumes and a number of [illegible] condition which I will [illegible] Enquire of

CHAS. HOLDEN.

OSWEGO FALLS' FIRST CHURCH.

Laying the Corner Stone of the Congregational Church—Interesting Ceremonies—A Large Throng of People Present.

The weather was beautiful Monday afternoon, and the sun shone brightly on the heads of several hundred people who were present to participate in the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the Congregational church in Oswego Falls. It is the first church erected in the village and the leading citizens have vied with each other in their liberality in promoting the work. Yesterday's ceremonies were personally superintended by the pastor, A. E. Kinmouth.

The services opened with music by a quartette composed of Mr. N. H. Gilbert, Mr. F. A. Gage, Mrs. James T. Pratt, and Miss Gertrude Stephens. Rev. J. S. Riggs, of Fulton, then offered a stirring prayer, which was followed by the reading of a portion of the scripture by Rev. O. C. Cole.

The pastor then introduced Rev. Dr. Biddle, of Oswego, who spoke very earnestly and pleasantly. He said the people were there to rejoice over the new church and assist in driving down a stake for God. He said a church of Christ was needed in this community. Here is a real field to be worked, and he was glad to see the beginning so good and the progress so rapid. As we see the corner stone laid we watch the walls raising until it is completed. It was the apostle Paul who said: "I lay foundations," and it is no small matter to lay it correctly, that the structure which is built upon it may have a firm support. The people of Oswego Falls should rejoice that this is a Christian church.

Dr. Biddle was followed by A. F. Beard, DD., of Syracuse, who delivered an able and lengthy address, at the conclusion of which the choir sang "Hiding in Thee."

The pastor made a few remarks and the corner stone was laid by Hon. Peter Burns, of Syracuse. In a tin box in the corner stone were deposited a bible, a photograph of the pastor, a list of the names of the members of the society and those who have subscribed towards the building of the church, a manual of the laws of the Congregational church, a copy of the Congregationalist, THE FULTON TIMES and Patriot, and the names of the officers of the church and Sunday-school.

Ninety-one names were added to the subscription list Monday, and an additional $500 raised, making nearly two hundred who have contributed, with a total of $7,000 pledged.

The society is in a flourishing condition and receives only kind words and encouragement on every hand.

A Fulton Firm's Unfortunate Loss.

By the failure of Culver Bros. & Co.'s ware house in Syracuse last week, several paper firms outside of the city were losers. E. P. Nichols, paper manufacturer at Manlius, has made an assignment. Culver Bros. & Co own the paper mill in Phœnix operated by J. E. Waugh and just what effect their assignment will have upon it cannot at present be seen, but thought to be only temporarily embarrasing.

Wm. Waugh & Bro., of this village lose $11,000 by the failure as the stock was mostly shipped to them and sold on commission. Culver Bros. & Co. was supposed to be one of the soundest business houses in Syracuse and was rated by commercial agencies as being sound and honorable. That shipped by Wm. Waugh & Bro. has been sold and possibly the amount involved will be a total loss to them. It is a serious and unfortunate loss to Waugh & Bro. but their business will in no way be impaired or suffer. They are pushing things with renewed vigor.

The "Bee Hive" Display.

The "Bee Hive" did not announce a formal opening, but the great crowds that swayed in and out last Thursday found them "at home" to all callers. In order to make room for the mammoth stock arriving from New York it was necessary to pile goods mountains high, and the effect was grand. The "Bee Hive" is never behind.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Oct. 18, 1882:

H. C. Arnold, David Clapper, Eugene Clark, Miss Etta Prentiss, Emma VanPetten.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

John H. Prenor, Mexico, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above, will please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

Francis E. Bacon's Opening.

Thursday was a beatiful day and the bright interior of Francis E. Bacon's store was in harmony with it. Throngs of visitors and buyers filled the spacious stores and the large force of employees was busily and politely engaged in attending to the wants of the customers. The goods were presented with great care. A pyramid of lace handerchiefs, a circle of silks and satins, an endless variety of cloakings, shawls, dolmans, plushes, velvets, dress goods and ladies' furnishing goods were carefully arranged here and there while innumerable varieties of desirable goods also occupied prominent places. The opening revealed a large stock of first class fabrics.

The principal feature of the opening was the millinery department which is under the supervision of Miss Mary O'Hara and Mrs. G. H. Salmon. Hats and bonnets were displayed into whose composition there entered silk, velvet, plush, birds and plumes in a seemingly endless variety of color and arrangement. The ladies had made special efforts to produce original and novel designs and succeeded admirably. Hats and bonnets in all styles were artistically trimmed. Terra-cotta, shrimp pink, crushed strawberry, gold brown and a multitude of leading colors were used in the great display of head wear. One that attracted much attention was trimmed with an ultra fashionable color and surmounted by a handsome tropical bird The display in this deparment was superb.

TENNYSON'S "MAY QUEEN."

Who knows that if the beautiful girl who died so young had been blessed with Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" the [illegible]

TWO HUNDRED PAIR
Men's Double Sole and Tap KIP BOOTS Warranted
Solid for $2.25 a pair at
A. E. NETTLETON'S.
CALL EARLY.

Election two weeks from next Tuesday.

Miss Ella Mack of Lysander is a new clerk in Bacon's.

Hon. N. W. Nutting is quite sick at his home in Oswego.

T. E. DeLong and family of Mexico, have taken up their residence in Fulton.

Mrs. Fred Roberts has sold to Mr. H. H. Hulett her four-year-old Hambletonian colt. Consideration $450.

LOST—A woven gold bracelet. The finder will be rewarded by leaving the same at the Fulton Savings Bank.

R. P. Hall has purchased a quarter interest in the W. G. Gage & Co's plaster mill and has become their manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton of Wolcott, Wayne Co., spent the Sabbath in town with their son W. R. Hamilton.

Herrick & Emerick are offering generous loads of dry pine kindling wood delivered for one dollar. Leave order at box factory or with Cartman Watson.

Edward Tyrrell was indicted for manslaughter for the killing of Thomas Burns in Oswego Falls last summer. His case goes over and his bail continued.

At a meeting of the board of education of No. 2 school held last evening, A. Hanna, esq. was elected chairman, Amos Youmans clerk, and Eugene V. Lathrop collector.

A local circle of the Chautauqua Literary and scientific circle will be formed in Fulton this afternoon at the chapel of No 2 school. All persons wishing to become members, or to make inquiries about the course of reading are requested to be present.

Willie Marsh, eleven years of age, son of Mr. E. C. Marsh, of Browns Corners, died Sunday from inflamation of the bowels. The funeral was held from house yesterday at 2 p. m., Rev. P. E. Kinmouth of the Congregational church, Oswego Falls, officiating. He was a brother of Dr. E. Frank Marsh.

The Rose-Ney Wedding.

Mr. H. B. Rose and Miss Bertha Ney were united in marriage at 2:30 p. m. today at the residence of the bride's parents on Cayuga street, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The parlors were tastefully decorated with flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Hutchins, after which the guests were served with a richly spread collation. The ushers were J. J. Wright, Judson Prossor, Elmer Morrill and William P. Osborn. The bride was elegantly attired in a wine colored silk.

The presents were numerous and rich. Among them we noticed a pair of gold bracelets from the groom; a willow rocker from Mr. and Mrs. A. Emerick; gold thimble from Bertha and Louie Emerick; silver ice pitcher, goblet and salver, Mr and Mrs Samuel W. Rose; ebony stand, Mrs Louise Northrop, Phœnix; decorated China tea set, Mr and Mrs W W Rose and John Kenyon, Rochester; mantle clock, J J Wright and W P Osborn; hanging lamp, Mrs Chas Smith, Mrs George and Mr and Mrs Newell Cole; a family Bible, N W Rose, father of the groom; fruit set, Mrs N W Rose; rose blankets, Mrs W Ney; piano W Ney; one dozen silver knives and ½ dozen silver spoons; Geo Ney; rocking chair and full chamber set, Dr. and Mrs W L Woodbury; parlor lamp, Misses Gertie and Allie Stephens; bath set and carpet sweeper, Dr. C M Lee; silver fruit basket, Mrs. Dr. C. M. Lee; velvet cased mantel clock, Dr. C. M. Lee; life of Rev. Edwin H. Chapin, Rev. A. C. Hutchins and wife; one dozen carved silver spoons, Carrie A. Sayre, Utica; one large parlor lamp, Mr. and Mrs Henry Ney and H. W. Ney, Utica; one silver cake basket, A. Bristol; gold piece, Mr. Frank David, Phœnix; gold piece, Mrs. Myron Hutchinson, Conn.; gold piece Mrs. Curtis, Conn.; Princess lace collar, Mr. and Mrs. W. Brailey, Conn.; one-half dozen silver fruit knives, Miss Nellie Goodwin, Euclid; gold-lined berry spoon, Mrs Campbell, Niles and Nellie Campbell, Oneida; one pair vases, Mr and Mrs Henry S Gardner; silver comb, Mrs Jennie Hubbard; plaques, Mrs Ney, New York; silver water pitcher, Mr and Mrs J V Boomer; silver salver, Mr and Mrs W J Boomer; white ivory satin hand painted fan, Miss Cora Bradshaw; back and blue satin hand painted fan, Miss Rowena Ney; gold-lined card case and cards, Elmer Morrill and Judson Prosser; one imported Dresden China bouquet holder, Mrs R H Harmon; hand painted tambourine, Mrs J T Sheridan; call bell J T Sheridan; pair silver napkin rings, Arthur Jones; silver cream spoon, Mrs M E Budd, New York; one dozen napkins, Mrs S N Kenyon; pair cut glass and silver vases, Misses Gertie Dada and Fannie VanBuren; one plush pocketbook, Mrs Dr Palmer, Utica; hand painted tile, Mrs. J. H. Woodin; tete tete, Miss Clara Whitaker; lambrequin, Miss Allie Waterman; tidy, Miss Alice Young; carved bon-bon holder, Miss Puss Harmon, Dresden, Germany; satin wedding card Daisy Haynes, Philadelphia; Irish point lace collar, Miss Bertha Lee, Oberlin, Ohio; hand painted velvet panel, Libbie Lee, Oberlin, Ohio; 1 dozen silver knives, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Alvord, Mexico; linen, from Mrs. J. E. Waugh, Phœnix, Mrs. Tracy, Conn., and Mrs. D. H. Case.

THE TIMES extends to them its heartiest congratulations and throws after them the proverbial slipper.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose will leave this evening for a short trip east and will in a few days return to Fulton where they will reside.

NOTICE.

THE JURY'S DECISION

In the Smith-Morse Case—The Evidence Elicited—Mr. Smith Will Appeal.

The case of Mrs. Anna R. Morse against Geo. L. Smith for slander, placing the damages at $1000 was tried in circuit court in Oswego last Thursday.

The first witnesses for the prosecution were E. B. Collins and H. Gwyn who testified that Smith told them Mrs. Morse was a prostitute and that he could prove it by men in Syracuse.

The prosecution rested.

Geo. Smith was the first witness for the defence. He did not remember using the language charged.

Miss Carrie Luddington who resided with Mrs. Morse in Syracuse claimed to be in Morse house on various occasions when Mrs. Morse had criminal relations with certain prominent Syracuse gentlemen whom she named.

Nellie Kincade testified that she saw Mrs. Morse at a well known Syracuse saloon with a gentleman not her husband and said that the place was only frequented by low people. She was employed there herself and was in a position to know. The names of a number of prominent society gentlemen in Syracuse were called as witnesses and there was a sensation in court when they one and all refused to appear.

Mrs. Morse acknowledged going to a restaurant with an old friend and having a glass of wine but strenuously denied any criminal intimacy with any one at any time.

Prof. Smyth formerly principal of Cazenovia Academy said he was acquainted with Mrs. Morse when she resided in Syracuse and gave her an excellent character as also did three well known Syracuse gentlemen who lived in the immediate neighborhood of Mrs. Morse.

Mr. Williams of Syracuse also testified to Mrs. Morse's good character.

Judge Merwin, in his charge, told the jury that they were first to consider whether George Smith actually used the words imputed to him or not and if he did that established a cause of action and it rested with the defence to prove that the words were actually true or the plaintiff was entitled to damages. He made the point somewhat strong that the burden of proof rested upon the defendant and that the speech of people in the immediate neighborhood where the plaintiff resided was the best evidence.

The case was given to the jury Thursday at 4:30 and about 5:30 returned a verdict for Mrs. Morse of $150 damages, which award carries costs with it, making the amount about $300.

Mr. Smith says he will appeal the suit.

Saturday Smith was arrested on a judge's order and required to give bonds in the sum of $700 that he will at all times render himself amenable to the power of the court to enforce the judgment. W. G. Gage and Job Bennett became his sureties.

G. S. Piper and M. F. Stephens appeared for Mrs Morse and Howe & Rice for Smith.

Wedding Yesterday.

A large company was present in the Baptist church yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the marriage of Mary E. Highriter to Edward F. Jacobs of Boston.

The ushers were George E. Smiddy, Jefferson Bailey, John Morton and N. H. Gilbert. The interior of the church was made attractive with flowers. At the end of either aisle were arches of autumn leaves and wodbine with a sprikling of bright flowers, while on the right of the altar was a beautiful wreath and on the left an artistically wrought harp, the whole surmounted by a floral horse-shoe suspended behind the pulpit.

At 3 o'clock the bridal procession entered and the bride and groom taking positions before the altar were soon made one by Rev. L. Golden. The bride was richly attired.

A reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother which lasted until about 6 o'clock, when the bride and groom started for Niagara Falls, where they will remain a day or two and then leave for Boston.

The presents were numerous and elegant. Mrs. Jacobs received an ice pitcher and castor from the Baptist society for her gratuitous services in the church choir for many years.

Little Incidents.

A nine pound girl has brought sunshine to the home of Frank Cornell who resides east of Fulton.

A son made his debut on the stage of life at the household of Mr. Fred Guile in Oswego Falls Monday.

A little son has arrived in the home of Mr. Henry Owen, who resides in the Keller district, south of Fulton.

NEW MUSIC STORE.

Fred Jones has leased the Saunders block on Oneida street, and fitted up the three floors for a general music business. Part of his stock is already on exhibition and we invite any and all who are interested in music to call at his ware rooms and inspect his goods. In connection with his music business he will carry a full line of ladies' furnishing goods. Mrs. Jones will superintend this department and attend to customers.

For Sale—A Bargain.

The house and lot corner First and Division streets owned by George C. Cooper. It is in good condition and will be sold cheap. It is situated within two blocks of Oswego Falls factories. Terms easy, title perfect. No working man should pay rent when a good home may be bought on such terms as offered. Enquire at TIMES office.

The residence of the late J. B. Warner is offered for sale at an extremely low price. It is located on First street and [illegible]

Pay day will occur weekly at the the Ross foundry hereafter.

Merry Nelson of Chicago was a guest of his brother W. S. Nelson last week.

Services in the various churches will begin Sunday evening at 7 o'clock hereafter.

D. D. Eames who was injured in Oswego a few days since is reported to be improving.

"Ted" Seymour left Monday evening for a visit with friends in Cincinnati, Ohio, and other western cities.

The middle of the term in the Fulton Union School begins to-day. Now is the time for new students to commence.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Belden and Miss Pharis of Syracuse have been guests the past week at the residence of Mr. D. Ramsden.

Sidney Morse, who poisoned eight cows belonging to a farmer named Wells, in South Hannibal last summer, has been indicted and bail fixed at $500.

Mr. John Forsyth attempted to ascend a pair of stairs in the Bailey clothing store Monday and fell. He was picked up in a dazed condition though not seriously injured.

WANTED—A good woman competent to cook in a private family. Wages $15 a month. Enquire at Lewis House of J. T. PRATT.

Fulton, Oct. 16.

Nugent & Gleason's Metropolitan Comedy Co. will visit Fulton again this season commencing Nov. 20, remaining one week. This company is known in Fulton and will be well received.

Saturday evening a meeting will be held in Howe's hall to organize a singing school. Mr. Chase, of Syracuse University, a thoroughly competent instructor, will be the teacher. Those interested are invited to attend.

Dr. Charles Mudge, of Phelps, N. Y., who was summoned to the bed-side of his sister, Mrs. M. L. Wheeler, and mother of W. C. Wheeler, of this journal, returned to his home yesterday, leaving Mrs. Wheeler in a much improved condition.

During the rush at the "Bee Hive" Thursday a cab containing a pair of twins was forced through one of the large plate glass windows. The twins rather enjoyed the crash of the glass but as it was rather expensive amusement they will not be indulged by a repetition.

The comet is still visible in the eastern heavens between 4 and 5:30 a. m., but rising away from the horizon and diminishing in brilliancy, though seemingly not in dimensions. It is speeding away from our system at the rate of 2,500,000 miles per day, and the magnificent and beautiful celestial stranger will soon be lost to human view.

Myron E. Cornell has purchased the stock of the Hulett livery on Broadway and will carry on the business at that place hereafter. New horses and carriages will be added and the public can be accomodated at all hours. A telephone connection has been established between the Cornell house and the stable and orders will be received at the former place.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the temperance meeting in the S. of T. rooms over Woodin's hardware store, Alonzo Hatch will be the speaker. On the 3d day of December, 1878, Mr. Hatch's father was murdered while eating his supper at his home in Sherburne, Chenango county and in June, 1879, Felix McCann was hung for the crime. Mr. Hatch will recite the events that led to the tragedy and would be pleased to see a good turnout.

Wm. E. Taylor will leave Fulton this evening on a prospecting tour throughout the west with a view of finding a favorable location for the manufacture of knives. Mr. Taylor was one of the original members of the firm of Taylor Bros. who located in business on a small scale in Fulton nineteen years ago. The work is carried on under the old firm name and is one of the leading industries of Fulton. Their knives have a national reputation.

No Call For Overcoats.

The prolonged summer weather during the warm summer has been very grateful and even the clothing dealers who suffer most are nevertheless grateful that they have been able to work off an unusual amount of their goods. But they don't like the spirit of the man who said to his next neighbor in a street car the other day: "Feels like fall!" "Yes," replied the party addressed, "October is here?" "Yes, it couldn't help it." "And it won't be long to winter?" "No." "And the holidays will come before we know it?" "Just so." And after the holidays we can soon look for spring?" "I think we can." "And spring will slip into summer almost before we can turn round?" "That's so." "And as a man don't need an overcoat in the summer I don't think I will invest." "That's where you make a mistake," replied the victim of the inquisitor, "for Kent & Miller, Nos. 18 and 20 South Salina street are selling so cheap that you will lose money if you don't buy. They have placed on their counters a large stock of overcoats and suits which are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. And don't you forget it."

C. E. Sackett is receiving new good almost every day. Call and examine.

THE ALLIGATOR
WRENCH

HARMONY RESTORED.

The Republicans of the First Assembly District Nominate Hon. D. C. Littlejohn—The Party United.

The First Assembly District Convention met in Oswego Monday and Hon. D. C. Littlejohn was declared the unanimous choice for Member of Assembly.

The convention was called to order by H. C. Howe of Fulton, and on motion of Hon. P. W. Cullinan, Mannister Worts was chosen chairman and C. W. Sex-Smith, of Oswego, and S. B. Mead, of Fulton, were elected secretaries and tellers.

The preliminaries were peaceably arranged and the utmost good feeling prevailed throughout.

The Hon. George B. Sloan, in an able, clear and concise speech presented the name of DeWitt C. Littlejohn as a candidate for assembly. He referred to the unfortunate division of the party in this district last fall and its result. He also spoke of the compact entered into by the two district committees as a means of restoring harmony, and urged the carrying out of that agreement in good faith. He said the committees agreed to select three of the State delegates from each faction of the party. This part of the agreement was faithfully carried out. In speaking of the action of the state convention he said that he thought it would have been wiser had it nominated Alonzo B. Cornell, but as it nominated Charles J. Folger, he ought to have, and he believed he would have, Republican support. It was also decided by the district committee, he said, that the candidate for congress should be chosen from the Stalwart wing of the party and the candidate for member of assembly from the other faction. The first part of this agreement had been kept in good faith, and a man acknowledged to be identified with the Stalwart wing of the party was unanimously nominated. They now came to the nomination for member of assembly. The Half-breeds had selected a man whom eight out of every ten were in favor of—DeWitt C. Littlejohn. But we are met, said the speaker, by another gentleman whom all respect, who has been chosen for us. He urged that the same courtesy should be extended the Half-breeds in the nomination as was shown the other faction in the selection of a candidate for congress. He said if the agreements entered into were carried out in good faith they would secure the usual Republican majority. Whoever was nominated should have his hearty support, but he believed the wisest thing for the party was to give Mr. Littlejohn the nomination.

Mr. Sloan was frequently interrupted by applause.

T. B White then addressed the convention, presenting the name of John Smith, 2d, a man, he said, who came directly from the people and was thoroughly competent to represent the district in the assembly, and was entitled to the support of the people.

The roll was then called and an informal ballot taken, resulting as follows: Littlejohn 48; Smith 32.

The announcement of the result was greeted with prolonged cheers. On motion of A. C. Mattoon the ballot was declared formal and Mr. Littlejohn was declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

Following is the district committee: Oswego city, A. Cropsey, chairman; H. L. Howe, Fred Sayes, S. M. Coon; New Haven, H. A. Stacy; Granby, O. J. Jennings; Volney, J. W. Pratt; Hannibal, D. D. Metcalf; Scriba, J. H. Wordon. The committee has been enlarged from seven to nine members.

Democratic Assembly Convention

The adjourned first assembly district Democratic convention met in Mansard hall Saturday afternoon, Dr. E. H. Boyd, of Hannibal, in the chair. On motion of Hon. Willard Johnson, of Fulton, the Hon. William A. Poucher was unanimously nominated for assembly by acclamation. A committee was appointed to bring Mr. Poucher before the convention, and when he appeared, he said:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: Unlike most other nominees I cannot say that this nomination is a surprise to me. Nevertheless, it is unsought. I gladly accept the work imposed on me. It is well known that this is a Republican district, but it is easy to divine, that in the future, by the action of the independent voters, the work of this convention will be ratified, not by the Democrats alone, or by any wing of the Republican party, but by the independent voters. Gentlemen I thank you and accept the nomination."

The old district committee was re-elected and the convention adjourned.

The names of the district committee are Patrick Grace, chairman, J. A. Beckwith, Bart Lynch, Frank Satenow, W. H. Keifer, Oswego; L. H. Patterson, Volney; R. G. Askew, Scriba; L. D. Taylor, Oswego Town; Irvin Sheldon, Hannibal.

Look Here!

All accounts I have outstanding that have been owing six months or over must be settled at once or they will be placed out for collection.

Fulton, Oct. 4th. D. C. BAKER.

Just received at Draper's 30 bushels of Sweet Potatoes, to be sold nearly as cheap as common potatoes. 21

☞ I have a number of first-class Ferrets for sale. Enquire of 15 JAS. E. MILLER.

STRAW WANTED!

For which will pay Six Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Seven dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.

14m2 WM. WAUGH & BRO.

For Yarns, Zephyrs, Worsteds and Canvas go to
C. E. SACKETT'S.

Draper's new 50c. Jap Tea can't be beat for strength and fine flavor. 21

☞ The Genuine Singer machine is the best. 20t2

All persons having left work to be done at A. N. Parmiter's silver plating shop please call at his house corner Seventh and Oneida street as the shop has been removed. MRS. A. N. PARMITER.

A Withered Limb Restored.

Dr Barringer has vitalized the withered limb of Nellie Rosbrook, of Sherburne 4 Corners, so that it has grown two inches in circumference and the foot an inch and a half in length; all in ten weeks. Before treatment she was [illegible]

FIRST CLASS CLOTHING.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRICE ASKED.

1842. 1882.

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS,

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE.

A MAMMOTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

NEW GOODS
AT THE
BAZAAR
THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

I. H. Brounstein.

ANNUAL FALL EXPOSITION.

—OF—

FALL AND WINTER CLOTING!

—AT—

The Brounstein
ONE PRICE
CLOTHING HOUSE.

If you are buying or think of buying anything in the way of

Men's Youths', Boys', and Children's Clothing,

At least give us an opportunity to show our goods before purchasing elsewhere. Also an elegant

Pocket Knife GIVEN AWAY

With Every Garment Purchased.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN,

A. C. Yates' old stand 13 &15 North Salina Street. Syracuse.

The Converted Jew.

Dr. Rossvally, the converted Jew, will preach next Sunday morning at Howe's Hall, Oswego Falls, and at the M. E. Church in Fulton in the evening.

He will also lecture to the children on Jewish rites and ceremonies in costume, at the M. E. church next Saturday at 3 o'clock p. m. price of admission 10 cts. No adults addmitted to the childrens' lecture.

Dr. Rossvally will lecture on Jewish rites and ceremonies in costume at the M. E. church on Monday and Tuesday evenings next. He will be accompanied by his daughter, and they will sing original pieces before and after the lecture. Tickets at Eggleston's and at the door.

The Humbolt (Iowa) Kosmos has the following regarding a well known young man formerly a resident of Fulton:

Geo. D. Osborn and Miss Rose Martin, of Dakota City were married Saturday last, but the Kosmos is not in possession of particulars. The young people are well and favorably known, and begin married life with plenty of good wishes for an accompaniment.

PALPATATION OF THE HEART.

J. M. Might, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "When I first commenced using your Burdock Blood Bitters I was troubled with fluttering and palpitation of the heart. I felt weak and languid with a [illegible]

We have a copy of the New Castle (Pa) Daily News that contains an account of the shooting and death of Frank E. Moody, 14 years of age, son of George W. Moody a former well known Fultonian. Mrs. Moody was Louise Falley and a daughter of the widow of the late J. T. Hewitt.

Frank resided in Brooklyn, N. Y. and was on a visit to friends in New Castle. In company with a young friend he was returning from a day's hunting and in scaling a high board fence the hammer of his gun became entangled, discharging it, the contents entering his mouth, tearing away the under jaw, shattering the roof of the mouth and entering his brain caused death in a few minutes.

Young Moody resided in Fulton at the residence of Mrs. Hewitt and attended school in Dist. No. 2. for a long time, leaving Fulton about eighteen months ago. It is a sad and painful affair.

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be paid at the mill [illegible]

HENDRICK & HUBBARD,

Sole Agents in Fulton for Glass Metalic Burial Cases.

This is the most perfect air and water-tight Burial Case ever put before the public, and is absolutely indestructible, being composed of glass and iron, which will last for ages under the ground.

Orders Filled on the Shortest Notice.

—:o:—

EMBALMING!

Thoroughly performed. No old time practices resorted to. Bodies preserved from decay and kept for any length of time regardless of the weather. Funeral Furniture of all kinds kept constantly on hand.

Night Bell on store.

D. HENDRICK. E. G. HUBARD.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop B

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA

LAKE ICE!

1882.

inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.
Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.

Ice delivered in good order.

E. BREADS.

THE LAKESIDE HOUSE.

CONSTANTIA, N. Y.

KING & GALSTER - PROPRIETORS.

The Largest, Finest, and most Convenient Hotel on the Shore of Oneida Lake.

First-Class Accommodations for Pleasure Seekers.

The Finest Row Boats, and the grandest Bass and Pike Fishing here of any place on the Lake. A Beautiful Grove near by for Picnic Parties.

A Steam Yacht leaves here twice every day, morning and evening, to meet trains at Brewerton, touching at the romantic Frenchman's Island, lower South Bay, etc.

Good Livery in connection.
Free Conveyance to and from All Trains.
Board by the day or week.

C. C. KING J. GALSTER.

HULETT'S HULETT'S

BROADWAY LIVERY.

NEW BARN,
NEW STOCK,
NEW CARRIAGES,
NEW HARNESS,
and everything New Neat and Stylish.

Horses Let at Reasonable Rates.

☞An excellent place for farmers and traveling people to board their horses.

HULETT'S BROADWAY LIVERY.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new show cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.

LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

Dr. E. C. West's Nerve and Brain Treatment [illegible]

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls, Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp'ly Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAM

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.

FOR 1882

—{ o }—

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 cts per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs. 15 " "
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ " "
Private families 10 pounds per day, $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private families' season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.

ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.

FRED SPAFFORD.

J COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 6tf

---

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story—A Hopeless Case Cured—A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Greene County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining and permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our uillage. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended Favorite Remedy to others whom I knew to whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and I assure the public that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy' as I did."

Fulton Business Cards

FR. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office work a specialty. Shop and residence No 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. F. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS, Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

E. B. ABBEY, Jobber and Builder in all kinds of Mason Work. Orders left at Whitaker's Meat Market will receive prompt attention. Mortar constantly on hand and for Sale.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 82 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1840. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homœopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

E. FRANK MARSH, M. D., Office and Residence (No. 83 First St. Fulton. (former residence of Thos. Keeler.) Office hours 7 to 8 a. m., and 12 to 2 and 6 to 9 p. m. 48

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.

☞ If you have either of these troubles

PRICE $1. USE [illegible]

KIDNEY-WORT

Acts at the same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

Lewis House Livery & Boarding Stable

I would announce to the people of Fulton and vicinity that I have taken possession of the Lewis House livery, and shall keep it first class in every respect. I respecifully invite those in need of anything in my line to give me a call. Office and stable in rear of Lewis House.

50tf R. LEONARD.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass, says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the lungs [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Oct. 18, 1882.

When Mothers Watch.

When mothers watch beside their children's cradles,
And kiss the snowy brows and golden hair,
They do not see the future that is coming,
Though life is made of grief, and pain, and care.

But God is good to all the tender mothers
He veils the future with its pain and sin,
Though sometimes fears may dim the present gladness,
Yet never can they quench the hope within.

Yes, God is very good to tender mothers,
They see no thorns upon the golden head
Of him who plays among life's earliest roses,
That bloom a fleeting hour and then are dead.

Yet she the model of all earthly mothers,
Was never spared the pain of knowing this:
That, though the Christ-child played with blooming roses,
The cross must come, for all her prayerful bliss.

To look—He slept—upon His snowy eyelids,
And know that they should close upon the tree,
To gaze upon his smooth and stainless forehead,
And know that there great drops of blood should be:

To catch his dimpled hands and softly warm them,
As mothers do, between her own, was pain,
She felt the nail-prints on their velvet surface,
She could not save her lamb from being slain.

When mothers watch beside their children's cradles,
And dream bright dreams for them of joy and fame,
Let them remember Mary's trust through anguish,
And ask all blessings through the Holy name.

My husband had drunken habits he could not overcome until Parker's Ginger Tonic took away his thirst for stimulants, restored his old energy of mind and nerves, and gave him strength to attend to business. [Cincinnati Lady. 20w4

Making a Dead Man's Heart Beat.

James Tracy was hanged for murder in Chicago, Sept. 15. The neck was broken. One minute after the body was taken from the gallows Drs. Mann and Bluthardt began the experiment by applying electrity with a view of resuscitation. The result is described by the doctors af follows:

"The experiment was begun by applying one pole over the spinal cord and the other over the heart—the latter by means of three needles, one over the apex and two over the base of the heart. The needles were inserted beneath the skin, so as to bring the electric current in direct communication with the heart. On turning on the current the effect was very marked. Muscular contortions began wherever the electric current reached, but especially in the face and neck. The heart began to contract feebly, not regularly. With the ear over the heart we could distinctly hear or rather feel, the heart's contractions. By removing the electrode we could produce a variety of facial expressions. The arms would contract the legs move with constrained force and the muscles of the abdomen contract strongly. The most significant fact, however, was the rhythmic action of the heart, notwithstanding the neck was broken. It is probable that a considerable portion of criminals who are hanged in this country are either mechanically strangled—that is, choked to death, or killed by shock—that is, death is the result of the terrible impression made upon the nervous system. In cases where the neck is not broken and the spinal cord is not lacerated, we are of the opinion that resuscitation would not be impossibble. It might be accomplished by electricity, friction, artificial respiration, the hot bath, and other well known means of restoration. In the present case resuscitation was impossible, as the neck was broken."

Says the Brooklyn Eagle: Mr. R. C. Moore, of Messrs Vernam & Co., 34 New street, New York, was almost instantly relieved by St. Jacobs Oil of severe pain following an attack of pleurisy. The remedy acted like magic.

Fun at a Rhode Island Auction.

There was an auction in an inland town at which there were amusing circumstances. A carriage was under the hammer and the bidding was brisk by two persons—a man and a woman—one being on one side of the group of persons around the auctioneer and one on the other. The bidding carried the price of the carriage far beyond its value. At last it was "knocked down" to the man. He went to the carriage and there met his wife. "Arrah, Biddy, I bate him." "Bate who?" "Why the spalpeen who was biddin' agin me. I'll tache him that Pat O'Shandy is too many for ——." "By me sowl," exclaimed his wife in screech owl accents, "wor it ye that bid oop so?" "Av coorse!" "Och, ye blackguard, it wor me ye bid against, an' there twinty dollars gone to waste. Why did ye not speak oop and say 'twas ye?" Pat smoothed the matter by saying the carriage was worth double the money, but he knew better.

A POWERFUL CONTRAST.

When the soldiers of the dark ages were attacked with tetter, they could do nought but suffer. Medical science had not yet developed a cure. This labor of love and humane duty was left for Dr. Swayne, whose ointment for skin diseases is as infallible in its results as was the inspiring potency of Patrick Henry's memorable words: "Give me liberty or give me death." 20w4

A Use For Canals.

Canals may be "played out" as a mode of fast freighting, but as a leverage to hold railroads level and protect the people from corporate exactions, canals are yet an important engine—in fact about the only remaining regulator the railroads cannot bribe, bulldoze or combine with. If the canals have served their time as freight carriers they have yet an important mission to perform as freight regulators, and the people of the State could afford to keep them open for that purpose if they never carried another pound of freight.

[Jamestown Countryside.

Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" cures every kind of humor, from the common pimple or eruption to the worst scrofula.

Four to six bottles cure salt rheum or tetter.

One to five bottles cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to four bottles clear the system of boils, carbuncles, and sores.

Five to eight bottles cure corrupt or running ulcers and the worst scrofula.

By druggists, and in half-dozen and dozen lots at great discount.

"How do you like our church music, by the way?" inquired the deacon of the new stylish young lady. "I just admire it ever so much. That beautiful song, '[illegible] Oh Genteel,' just suited me." [illegible] [Boston Globe.

Ben Hill and His Mother.

"In all of his life Ben Hill never did a more graceful thing," said Senator Evans in his funeral oration over the late Senator from Georgia, "than when he made his last visit to the portrait of his mother, which hung in one of his rooms. When President Garfield placed his manly arms around his venerable mother in the presence of the vast multitudes that witnessed his inauguration and kissed her with lips fresh from pronouncing the obligation of the Presidential office, he drew upon him the warm heart of the American motherhood forever. So when the great Senator went as a child to gaze upon his mother's pictured face, and murmured, 'I will soon see her.' He left the sons of this State and the Union a lession of filial love they should never forget. The portrait shows a dear, old, good face, well traced with marks of intelligence. The wrinkles are there, the stoop of age and other signs of failing life. Long since she went away. But the wasted statesman became a boy again in feeling, gazed with a true, adoring love upon the portrait, and then above the faded picture looked with eyes that saw home and heaven and mother all in the vision of transcendant glory."

Part of a bottle of Parkers Ginger Tonic cured me of rheumatism. My dyspeptic wife got so much relief from the balance that she tried another bottle and now we can truly say we nevar had better health.—A Boston Mechanic. 20t4

A Substitute for the Coroner.

Coroners' jury in Massachusetts has been abolished. "Inquests," says the Springfield Republican, "are held by medical examiners and police courts in the following manner: The law provides for about twenty-five medical examiners to be appointed by the governor for suitable districts over the State for terms of seven years. They must be able and discreet men, learned in medicine; they receive a fee of four dollars for a 'view' and thirty dollars for a 'view and autopsy,' except in Boston, where the examiner has a paid salary. When a dead body is found under suspicious circumstances, the medical examiner is sent for by the police. He takes charge of it thoroughly collects all the medical evidence of the manner of death. If he deems it to have been caused by violence he is required to notify the police court, or justice within whose district it was found, and also the district attorney, and to file with the court his report. The court thereupon holds an inquest, bringing out all the facts so far as accessible. This system, which is now in its fifth year, gives general satisfaction and is not expensive."

DOCTOR YOURSELF

and save money, and perhaps your life end two 3 cent stamps to pay postage so A P Ordway & Co. Boston, Mass, and receive a copy of Dr Kaufmann's great medical work, 100 papes elegant colored plates. 21w2

The Cost of Special Cars.

The Pullman company charges $85 a day for the use of a car, which includes the services of a conductor, a cook and two waiters. Besides that, the person hiring the car—or, in fact, any car—must buy eighteen full tickets of the railroad line over which the car passes, for hauling it. The car is usually attached to a regular train, and if a special engine is secured, which is rarely the case, the cost is greatly increased. Provisions and liquors are supplied by the Pullman company at cost, or the person to whom the car is let may stock it himself. Sleeping cars are let at the rate of $65 per day, including a conductor and porter, and hotel cars at $85 per day, including a conductor, cook and two waiters. The company also have two hunting and fishing cars. One is named Davy Crockett and the other Izaak Walton. The charge for these cars is $35 a day, which includes cook and waiter for each. These cars are provided with kennels for dogs.

There is hardly an adult person living but sometimes troubled with kidney difficulty, which is the most prolific and dangerous cause of all disease. There is no sort of need to have any form of kidney or urinary trouble if Hop Bitters are taken occasionally, 22w2

Worth Preserving.

One thousand laths will cover 70 yards of surface, and 11 pounds of nails put them on. Eight bushels of good lime, 15 bushels of sand, 1 bushel of hair, will make about enough mortar to plaster 100 square yards. A cord of stone, 3 bushels of lime and a cubic yard of sand will lay 100 cubic feet of wall. One thousand shingles laid 4 inches to the weather, will cover 100 square feet of surface, and 8 pounds of nails fasten them on. One-fifth more siding and flooring is needed than the number of square feet of surface, because of the lap in the siding and the matching of the floor. Five courses of brick will lay 1 foot in height on a chimney; 6 bricks in a course will make a flue 4 inches wide and 12 long, and 8 bricks in a course make a flue 8 inches wide and 16 long.

"A DROP OF JOY IN EVERY WORD."

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Three months ago I was broken out with large ulcers and sores on my body, limbs and face. I procured your "Golded Medical Discovery" and "Purgative Pellets" and have taken six bottles, and to-day I am in good health, all those ugly ulcers having healed and left my skin in a natural, healthy condition. I thought at one time that I could not be cured. Although I can but poorly express my gratitude to you, yet there is a drop of joy in every word I write.

Yours truly, JAMES O. BELLIS,
Flemington, N. J.

"Discovery" sold by druggists.

"What is a pessimmist, papa?" asked a bright lad. "A pessimist, my son," said the old man, "is one who would find fault with his seat in heaven, if he ever got there."—N. Y. Commercial. And an Optimist, it may be said in this connection, is a man who would swear that Hades was a new name for a refrigerator. [Boston Globe.

A LESSON IN EQUESTRINISM.

Horseback riding as an art and as a beneficial exercise is one of the most judicial habits that one could cultivate. While it affords the equestrian every opportunity for the cultivation of graceful posing, it comprising all the healthful elements of the most invigorating pleasures. Like all else in the world, however, if indulged in immoderately, the the results are extremely painful and oftimes dangerous. Galled limbs and piles that itch intently, particularly after getting warm into bed, are not frequently the [illegible]

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞Sold by all Druggists. 13 (3)

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO'S

IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR

A NEW DISCOVERY.

☞For several years we have furnished the Dairymen of America with an excellent artificial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

☞But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, and now offer this new color as the best in the world.

It Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made,

☞And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid.

☞BEWARE of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.

☞If you cannot get the "improved" write us to know where and how to get it without extra expense. (46)

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

—:o:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all kinds of Roofing and [illegible]

---

500 Reward!

We will pay the above reward for any case of liver complaint, dyspepsia, sick headache, indigestion, constipation or costiveness we cannot cure with West's Vegetable Liver Pills, when the directions are strictly complied with. They are purely vegetable, and never fail to give satisfaction. Sugar coated. Large boxes containing 30 pills, 25 cents. For sale by all druggists. Beware of all counterfeits and imitations. The genuine manufactured only by John C. West & Co., The pill makers, 181 & 183 West Madison St Chicago. Free trial package sent by mail prepaid on receipt of a 3 cent stamp. 23y1.

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

---

BROWN McALLISTER & Co,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

ill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 39tf

---

LEGAL.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of Hon T. W. Skinner, surrogate of Oswego county; notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Philetta P. Briggs late of the town of Volney in said county deceased; to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at her residence in the village of Faton, N. Y. on or before the 20th day of October 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such cases made and provided.

Dated April 19, 1882. HANNAH F. BALL,
Administratrix of the estate of Philetta P. Briggs deceased.
46 6m 6

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Lewis Fuller, late of the town of Granby in said county, deceased, to present their accounts, with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Granby, Oswego county, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

D. H. GILBERT,
Dated June 1, 1882 Executor.
2mo6

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin late of the town of Hastings in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y. on or before the first day of December 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

JOHN H. WOODIN,
Dated, May 25, 1882. Executor
2mo6 of Peter Woodin, deceased.

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co., during the year 1882 and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.

N. W. NUTTING,
4w Oswego County Judge.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.
NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK Assets over $4,000,000
HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over $3,400,663.93
SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,566.19
WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00
Each company with large surplus.
MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,769.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

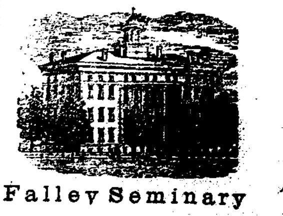
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

FALLEY SEMINARY.

Fulton, Oswego Co. N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition.......................44 00
Board and Tuition (short week).........36 00
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Sept. 5th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 [illegible]

☞Farmers' special [illegible] called to our facilities [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1882.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y. as second-class matter.

The Editor's Table.

BY WILL M. CARLETON

The editor sat in his sanctum,
Countenance furrowed with care,
His mind at the bottom of business,
His feet at the top of the chair;
His chair-arm an elbow supporting,
His right hand upholding his head;
His eyes on his dusty old table,
With different documents spread:—
There were thirty long pages from Howler;
With underlined capitals topped,
And a short requisition from Growler,
Requesting his newspaper stopped;
There were lyrics from Gusher, the poet,
Concerning sweet flowerets and zephyrs,
And a stray gem form Plodder, the farmer,
Describing a couple of heifers;
There were bills from beautiful maidens,
And bills from a grocer or two;
And his best leader hitched to a letter,
Which inquired if he wrote it, or who?
There were raptures of praises from writers,
Of the smooth and mellifluous school,
And one of his rival's last papers,
Informing him he was a fool;
There were several long resolutions,
With names telling who they were by,
Canonizing some harmless old brother,
Who had done nothing worse than to die;
There were traps on that table to catch him,
And serpents to sting and to smite him;
There were gift enterprises to sell him,
And biters attempting to bite him;
There were long staring "ads" from the city,
And money with never a one,
Which added "Please give this insertion,
And send your bill when you're done."
There were letters from organizations—
Their meetings, their wants and their laws—
Which said: "Can you print this announcement
For the good of our glorious cause?"
There were tickets inviting his presence
To festivals, parties and shows,
Wrapped in notes, with "Please give us a notice," Demurely slipped in at the close
In short, as his eye took the table,
And ran o'er the ink-spattered trash,
There was nothing it did not encounter;
Excepting, perhaps—it was cash.

In the Times, of Philadelphia, we observe: Mr. John McGrath, 4236 Christian street, was cured by St. Jacobs Oil of severe rheumatism.

THINGS BEING EQUAL.

"Things are not equal in this world," sighed Hester Thorne, sitting down at the end window of the farm-house and letting an open letter fall from her hand upon the floor.

"What is it now, dear?" asked her sister Ruth who was lying on the chintz lounge that was drawn up under the two front, vine-shaded windows. "Any new trouble?"

"Yes. O, dear! it is nothing but trouble, Ruth. I am tired, tired, tired of it all. I have lost the school. The committee preferred a teacher from the city. And how are we to get through the year now? I have just been reading about the grand doings among the court people in England, and among our own aristocracy in this country—balls, parties, operas, and all the rest of it—till my heart is 'gray,' as our old Irish nurse used to say. O, Ruth! what have they done to deserve so much sunshine in their lives? and what have we done to merit so much trouble and misery in ours?"

Hester dropped her brown head on her folded arms, and fairly cried aloud.

"It does seem hard," said Ruth; when she grew more composed. "but God knows best what is best for us dear. And I am afraid I have been a little selfish lately, while you have been toiling and thinking so hard. It has seemed so sweet to me to be free from pain, after that long fever, that I have thought of little else. To see the sun and green leaves, and to hear the autumn whistle of the birds, has been such a blessing that I have scarcely known how to be grateful enough for it."

"And I'm grateful, too, Ruth, that you are getting well again," cried Hester; "and I know that every one ought to be thankful, if they can eat, drink and sleep well, and be free from sickness and pain. But, O, Ruth, all the same there is the doctor's bill to pay, and all the bills of the year! The farm we cannot work ourselves; and I'm sure that Gonegal takes advantage of my ignorance in the way he manages it, and the land does not furnish half we need, though while our poor father lived it supported us all; and now that I have lost this last chance—the High School—I really and truly, Ruthie, don't know what is to be done."

"The debts must be paid, and paid at once," said Ruth, decidedly. "I see but one way," Hester."

"What is that?"

"Mortgage the farm."

Hester was silent.

"And, for the sake of his old liking for our father, I think Steadman Richings would lend you what you need," continued Ruth, watching her covertly.

Hester started. A crimson blush dyed her face and throat, but still she did not speak.

"Hester, come here and tell me. How was it between you and Mr. Richings?" asked her sister, gently.

The tears rose again to Hester's bright dark eyes. She looked out drearily across the reaped fields toward the high hills where the Richings homestead dominated the town.

"I—don't know Ruth," she said. "He used to come very often to see me."

"I know."

"And I thought he loved me. I had [illegible] Ruth. I looked for- [illegible] from the city—and he never came again."

"But did he not write to you?" asked Ruth.

"Not a word. He went the next day to the city, and then to Europe. It is two years since I have seen him; and I cannot go to him on an errand like this. Ruth:

Nevertheless, Hester did go to Steadman Richings before twenty-four hours had passed over her bonny head.

The next afternoon was one of those serene and lovely ones, such as are only vouchsafed in America in the latest of autumn, after the harvest is reaped and the fruits are gathered, and the sun has only to shine warmly down upon the children of men without a care. The sky, from north to south, from east to west, was a deep, deep blue, and only a gentle breeze was stirring among the tree-tops and the blossoming vines.

With infinite exertion Hester dragged and tilted the old lounge out into the sunny yard, and afterward wrapped Ruth carefully in a cloak and shawl, and half led, half carried her out there, for the first time since May.

As Hester sat by the rejoicing invalid, Gonegal, the farm-hand, entered the kitchen and laid two letters on the table. with a swift foreboding of misfortune, she left Ruth and possessed herself of them. They were from the butcher and the grocer of the village, demanding immediate payment of the accounts inclosed. The news of her losss of the High School was already known throughout the place.

One look at Ruth, so happy in the golden sunshine, and Hester's mind was made up.

She ran to her room, made a hurried toilet, stole out by the back door, and took the hill road that led from the valley to the Richings place

How calm, and restful, and happy, the grand, old red-brick house looked, with its French windows, and its double-leaved doors, standing wide open to the open sunshine. Two gardeners were at work in the grounds, but not a servant was visible in or near the house, as she stole in through the wide hall, opened the library door, Steadman Richings, just risen from his writing-table, hat in hand, and ready to go out, confronted her.

He started as if he had seen a ghost entering; for Hester was now deadly pale, and only by keeping the thought of her errand firmly before her could she summon courage to go through with the interview.

"O, Mr. Richings, we are so poor!" she began, incoherently; and Ruth has been very ill since last May. She needs nice things to strengthen her; and I have lost the school. I cannot get them for her unless we mortgage the farm. Will you take it into your hands, and allow us what you think proper for it? It may save Ruth's life! It is for her sake. I could not have come to you else," she stammered, turning crimson under his fixed gaze, and feeling a wild desire to sit down and cry her heart out then and there.

With an effort, Mr. Richings recovered himself, and set about to make his visitor comfortable and at ease.

He wheeled an arm-chair of violet velvet to the open window, and made her seat herself in it. Then he rung the bell for his old housekeeper, a quiet, neatly dressed "Friend," who had known Hester and Ruth since their earliest childhood, and their dead parents before them.

"Throw off your hat and shawl, Hester, and stay and take a cup of five-o'clock tea with Mrs Paynter and myself," said Mr. Richings, adding his entreaties to those of the gentle old lady.

And then catching sight of the anxious eyes that she lifted to his face, he smiled and whispered:

Be at ease, Hester, you shall have that money, and as much more as you need. Foolish child," he added tenderly, "you have only to ask and have, though it should be the half of my kingdom. You knew that well six years ago; and I have not changed in that time, though you have."

Mrs. Paynther had been bustling about ordering in her best silver, her prettiest china, and choicest dainties, in the way of cakes and preserves, to do honor to her unexpected guest.

She smiled a little to herself, as she presistently turned her back upon her master, and his significant whisper.

"Who knows?" she thought, tingling the heavy silver spoons against the costly "dragon" china. "In my opinion there was always some misunderstanding at the bottom of their separation. If they have been brought together again by a fortunate chance, it shall not be my fault if they part before it is all explained. Friend Steadman will be a happy man if he wins her for his wife at last."

Hester sat looking on, like one in a dream, as the good old lady did the honors of her tray.

That whisper still haunted her; haunted and puzzled her at the same time.

There had been one bitter drop in the cup of which she had not spoken to her sister.

During Mr. Richings' absence in Europe, rumor had been rife concerning his devoted attentions to a beautiful and intelligent young lady from Boston, who was traveling on the Continent with a party of his friends. Hester had heard the news like every one else, and by day, in many a lonely revery, at night in many a miserable dream, she had followed the happy pair in their wanderings among foreign scenes. Her cheeks had grown paler, her eyes less bright, in consequence, yet even Ruth, who knew all other of her secrets, knew nothing of this.

It was because of this report, because she looked upon her former lover as one lost to her forever, as completely as if the marriage vows had been spoken, that she had finally summoned courage to [illegible] marriage was true, why should he watch her now with glances of undisguised happiness and affection? Why should he whisper assurances of his friendly aid in such a tone?

Hester's cheeks grew hotter each moment as she mused over this problem. If she was mistaken—If rumor for once in the wrong—what must he think of her for coming to him in such a singular way?

"My dear, thee don't get on well with thy tea," said Mrs. Paynter, who read the thoughts of the two, who were still unconscious lovers, much better than they could do themselves. "I will make thee some that is fresh. I will see myself that the water boils."

"No, pray don't. Indeed, I need no more tea, and I must be going, or Ruth will grow anxious," said Hester, rising from her chair.

But the designing old lady trotted out with the silver teapot in her hand, saying decisively:

"One cup only. Thee must wait."

"You were more willing to stay with me once, Hester," said Mr. Richings, as the door closed upon Mrs. Paynter. "I wish I knew what changed you. Did I offend you in the old days?"

"No, Oh, no!" stammered Hester, looking for her hat.

Mr. Richings gently removed it from her reach.

"You shall have it presently. But now that we have met, I think you owe me an explanation. Why did you not tell me in that old time, dear, that you loved your cousin best?"

"My cousin? What cousin?" asked Hester wonderingly.

"Your cousin, John Thorn."

"I never cared for him, Mr. Richings, except, of course, as a cousin."

"Hester, he was here on a visit once. It was the day before I left my home for Europe."

"I remember," she said, with a sigh.

"He came to me that evening, as if from you, Hester. He told me that you had always loved him, from your childhood; but that you had been dazzled, for a time, by my superior wealth and position. He brought me a letter, purporting to come from you, begging my pardon for having encouraged me, when you ought not to have done so, when your heart was his and his alone. I have that letter now. You shall see it to-morrow. He seemed truthful and manly, and he certainly loved you with all his heart, Hester. He asked me to go away for a time, and let your mind recover its usual balance, so that you might choose intelligently between us. Under the circumstances he described it was a fair and reasonable request. I wrote a reply to your letter, and gave it to him to deliver. I then went abroad. Six months later your cousin inclosed a second letter from you, to say that your choice had fallen on him. So I gave you up at once. And I was much surprised, on reaching home, to hear that you were still single."

"My cousin John was foolishly fond of me," said Hester, as calmly as she could speak. "I never cared for him, and he was very jealous of you. Those letters were forgeries. I never even saw them. Nor did yours ever reach me."

"The scoundrel!" began Mr. Richings, hotly.

But her look stopped him.

"He is dead. We can forgive," she said, softly. "I am glad to know that you were true; and I hope you will be happy in this lovely home when Miss Senter comes to share it."

"You have heard that stupid report, eh!" said Mr. Richings, tossing her hat and shawl on the sofa behind him, as she again reached for them. "Maud Senter is a lovely girl, a good girl too; and yesterday she married one of my dearest friends, and I was 'best man' on the happy occasion. So much for her! And now, Hester, my darling, the trouble and the clouds of six years past can be cleared away at once and forever, if you will only say the word. That dead man's falsehood has kept us apart quite long enogh. We will forgive, as you say. But it must be in this house, and together, as man and wife. Hester, you won't refuse me? Say yes; and let all our troubles end here, on the spot."

"Hester must have made a satisfactory answer, for Mrs. Paynter opened the door at that moment, and flew back with her unheeded tea, after one half-startled, half-amused glance at the reconciled pair.

And Ruth an hour later, found herself gathered up from the lounge, and carried, in a light strong grasp, to her easy chair, beside the cottage window.

"I take all Hester's beloved cares on myself henceforth; and sister Ruth, I begin with you," said Steadman Richings' genial, hearty voice as he pressed a brother's kiss upon her lips and brow.

[Ballou's Magazine.]

O M Holcomb, of Bloomville, Ohio, rises to eqplain: "Had that teroible disease catarrh for 20 years; couldn't taste or smell and hearing was failing. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me. These are facts voluntarily given against a former prejudice of patent medicines."

An oil producer was requested to give a judgment note for a debt he owed, but firmly refused, saying: "No sir, I will never sign a judgment, I did it once, and I came very near having to pay it."

A St. Louis belle who has a horror of drowning, always anchors one of her slippers outside of the wintow before retiring for the night, so as to be perfectly in case a sudden rise in the river should inundate the village and carry off all the other boats.

A POWERFUL CONTRAST.

When the soldiers of the dark ages were attacked with tetter, they could do nought but suffer. Medical science had not yet developed a cure. This labor of love and humane duty was left for Dr. Swayne, whose ointment for skin diseases is as infallible in its results [illegible]

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

How New Yorkers are Kept Warm—Steam Furnished the Same as Water and Gas.

[From an occasional correspondent.]

The best plan for heating the many down town offices in this city, has long been a conundrum; but a party of capitalists have at last solved it. Many inventors have patented a large number of devices, some of which are good, but they do not fill the bill as to economy, safety and comfort. In some of our sky scraping buildings, where there are a large number of offices, the storing of coal for each office is of course out of the question. Gas has been used but with little success. Steam has to a great extent supplanted stoves, gas, etc, but its use involves a great expense and necessitates the constant attention of a licensed engineer. A number of serious accidents have occurred in this city, and elsewhere, by inattention of engineers. The boilers are usually under the sidewalk, and when an explosion does occur the pedestrians and tenants of the street are the sufferers.

About three years ago, three companies obtained charters, under the Holly patent for heating certain districts in New York. As the modus operandi of the Holly system of steam heating is not known to all of your readers, a short description may make matters more plain. By this system, steam is supplied to buildings the same as water and gas; being conducted by iron pipes, laid in the ground. Large boilers supply the steam and by aid of the engines and suitable machinery, it is driven through the main and small pipes. Traps are put in at regular intervals to allow the escape of condensed steam; but as the pipes are so well protected and so far under ground the amount condensed is very small. Besides supplying heat to innumerable offices and stores, the same steam issued to drive printing presses, light machinery and elevators. The charters before mentioned were granted to the New York, American and Cardoza, steam heating companies, but the New York and Cardoza have since consolidated, thus leaving only two companies in the field. Immediately after the charters were obtained ground was broken and after two years the work is not completed. The pipes are laid from lower Broadway to Warren street and through many of the cross streets. On Greenwich street near Dey, the New York company have their works; while the American building is found on Gold street. The former is the most extensive and is said to have cost a million dollars. The chimney is one of the landmarks of New York, for it is as high as the tower of Trinity church. Great stories are told of the vast amount of coal consumed each day, but I am not prepared to state it accurately. The laying of the conduits has involved great expense and trouble, for when the cobbles and hard pan were removed from the street, workmen had drove down heavy planks on each side of the ditch, to the depth of ten feet. Then all the earth is thrown out and carted away, but when the pipes are in place all this has to be brought back and replaced. First, the iron mains (nearly a foot in diameter) are placed in positson, surrounded with packing and lastly covered with thick wooden cylinders well coated with tar. Small pipes are then laid to the different buildings. Wells ten feet square are built of brick at the junction of streets and are accessible by small iron traps from above.

The work has been done as quickly as possible, but nevertheless it has caused much delay to travel. Both companies laid their pipes in Fulton street at the same time Edison was laying his underground wire in that street and of course this caused much confusion for some months. I have often stood at the corner of Fulton street and Broadway, an hour at a time, watching the jam made up of hundreds of stages, trucks and carriages all wedged together. By much pulling on the part of policemen, much swearing by the truckmen and drivers, the mass is kept in motion and the street will eventually become clear. A number of accidents have occured while the streets were filled with cobbles and lumber. One serious one, I had brought to my attention. An old man in attempting to cross Broadway could not climb a pile of lumber and falling back was knocked down by a passing vehicle and killed. All this may be for the public good, but at the present a great many here, think that Vanderbilt's now famous motto, "The public be damned," would look well posted up over the many piles of lumber that strew the streets. When the streets are again clear and our buildings heated at a nominal figure all this will be forgotten. Heat and power is now furnished by the companies cheaper than it could be obtained by other means and of course the expense will be less when the work is complete and more subscribers are added to the already large lists. Competent men and much capital is at the back of the enterprise and this of course is all that is necessary to make the scheme a success.

WANDERING JEW.

*The women who seeks relief from pain by the free use of Alcoholic stimulents and narcotic drugs, finds what she seek only so far as sensibility is desdroyed or temporary suspended. No cure was ever wrought by such means and the longer they are employed the more hopeless the case becomes. Leave chloral, morpha and belladonna alone and use Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

NO WOMAN

is beautiful with a bad skin, covered with pimples, freckles, moth and tan. I have been asked many times what will remove these unsightly blemishes. No face paints or powders will remove them as they are caused by impure blood. The only sure remedy I have ever seen is [illegible]

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. [illegible]

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated? [illegible]

Sulphur Bitters! [illegible]

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds.

Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. [illegible]

Don't Wait.

Dangerous.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., [illegible] fancy cards free.

CRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK   TRADE MARK

BEFORE TAKING.   AFTER TAKING.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.

Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. Snow & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries, I will continue the business at the old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6½ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

NO ONE

Should Forget

that

WATERMAN'S

is the place to find and buy almost anything you want in the line of Sporting Goods—Ammunition—Electric Stock.

FISHING TACKLE,

FINE DRAWER AND CHESS LOCKS, ALL KINDS MACHINE NEEDLES, ELECTRIC AND COMMON DOOR BELL Fixtures &c., &c.

And the

ROYAL ST. JOHN

Sewing Machine.

[illegible]

3½ First Street, Fulton, N.Y.
April [illegible]

F. D. VAN WAGENEN Jr.,

REAL ESTATE AGENT.

[illegible]

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

House and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale in [illegible] counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

[illegible]

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First-Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton, Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. R. GRIDLEY.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

TO THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with [illegible] of exhausted vitality, and you that have families [illegible] growing up whom you wish to establish [illegible] farms larger, better and cheaper than are within [illegible] in the old states, come and see this country [illegible] prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 [illegible] miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate, fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium priced. That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, no malaria; 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a good residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $525; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

D. Mc Carthy & Co.,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER DISPLAY

—OF—

Rich and Elegant

DRESS GOODS.

We announce, as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of

Combination Effects

IN—

Broche and Broche Checks,
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids,

all of which have an indentical match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.

Please call and see them.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:

Colored and Black Plushes! IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour, DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Veloves, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais. ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperatrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.

This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics ever displayed in Central New York.

Examination Invited.

Cloak Department.

The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments—both Imported and Eastern make—ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these lines of style

Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRCE!

For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell

Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,

At Cost. No trouble to show goods at the City Drug Store.

M. M. WILLIAMS.
No. 3 First Street, - - - - - Fulton, N. Y.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1882.

THE comet has decreased in brilliancy [illegible] the Ohio election. This is another [illegible]inkage argument.

JUDGE FOLGER has written another letter. Too many letters have weakened as good men as Judge Folger.

THERE has been an advance of two cents per pound in the price of butter. Judge Folger would probably attribute this advance to the Ohio election.

NEW HAMPSHIRE republicans are dissatisfied with the manner in which the State nominations were made, and like their brethren in this State are bolting the ticket.

THE Cleveland Leader says the democrats spent $128,000 to carry Ohio, the saloon keepers contributing $78,000, the brewers $30,000, and the New York free traders $20,000.

DEALINGS in confederate bonds are reported in London, the price being $1.50 per $100. They are being purchased by speculators who hope to realize handsomely from them in a few years as curiosities.

MEETINGS are being held in many places throughout the state remote from the canals, and organizations are being perfected for effective work against the amendment to make the canals free. That the amendment will be adopted by a large majority there appears to be no doubt.

THE Irish Times, published at Dublin, Ireland, accuses the parliamentary party of having used without warrant £90,000 of land league funds, collected from lovers of Ireland from all over the world. Parnell denies the accusation and courts a full investigation. Money will not liberate Ireland from British rule, but legislation will, and before contributing money to skirmishing funds, etc., for that purpose, people should think twice.

THERE has been an important and hopeless division of the members of the Irish Land League. One of the factions advocates no private ownership in land, no rent on land, and no interest on money. The other faction advocates that the tillers of the soil should be the owners thereof, and that rent on land and interest on money are as just as hire for a horse, or pay for the use of any of the products of labor. Henry George Patrick Ford and Micheal Davitt are leaders in the no-rent faction, while Parnell, O'Conner, Collins and others are leaders in the present proprietorship policy.

SINCE the trial of the Malley boys and Blanche Douglass for the murder of Jennie Cramer in New Haven, Conn., they have been happily lost sight of until a new complication brings two of them to light. Blanche is living in New York, and letters written by Walter Malley to her before the trial were abstracted from her trunk by three men who informed Walter that a large sum of money would only prevent their being published. Walter refused to be blackmailed and had the the trio of frauds arrested. They will be examined in New York to-morrow. Several of the letters have been published by New York papers but have no bearing upon anything connected with the late case.

AT a republican ratification meeting held in Albany last week, Judge Folger the republican nominee for Governor and Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, was represented by a letter in which he announces that since the Ohio election he has discovered a shrinkage in values to the extent of forty millions of dollars. It is curious that he should make such a startling discovery and speak of it only in a general way. If he wishes people to believe such a statement, he should localize. This species of reasoning is an old scare, and it is somewhat surprising that the Secretary of the Treasury should to it. But desperation knows no logic and no sense.

Jay Hubbell says that the fall election of 1882 are the skirmish lines of 1884 and possibly Mr. Folger realizes it.

How to be Weather Wise.

This is the title of a brief and plainly written book of the causes of changes in the weather, based upon the system of the United States Signal Service. It also explains the nature of that service. Comparatively few appreciate the value of the Weather Bureau, because its work is but little understood by the people who read the daily "Indications." The writer shows how the data are obtained for these indications, and how simple a matter it is to observe weather signs, when the principle involved in weather movements is understood. Everybody, he claims, can observe the weather himself and be his own weather prophet, and in good square English he indicates the way. Let those who would know How to be Weather-Wise send 25 cents in stamps to Fowler & Wells, 753 Broadway, N. Y., and receive a copy of this interesting work.

Personal! To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed. 24y1

CLOSING OUT.

I will sell my stock of goods at wholesale prices for the next 30 days to close business. Doll cabs and dolls, boys' wagons, vases, work boxes, desks, smoking stands, pipes notions, albums, scopes and views etc. Call and see before you buy. Five marble top tables, and chairs etc. Five cent cigars for three cents to close out stock.

JAMES STEVENS.

Now we have it—the best Fifty cent Corset. C. E. SACKET.

HOTEL CLARENDON,

Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.

G. E. [illegible], Prop.

The Amenities of Country Journalism.

There are many pleasant features connected with the editing of a country journal, the most ecstatic and agreeable being the reception of a peck of potatoes, a bouquet or a year's subscription in advance unsolicited. If you ever saw an editor really in earnest it was when he smoothed his heated brow and concentrated all his vast brain power while he plucked rhetorical pearls in which to return thanks to a grateful donor.

Our esteemed cotemporary, the Patriot, is particularly blessed with gratuitous donations of a varied kind with a view possibly of discovering upon which product its editors best thrive. In their last issue they relate:

> Mr.—— brought to the Patriot office on Saturday the product of a single hill of potatoes of the Burbank variety. There were eighteen potatoes, all of them good size and the whole of them weighing thirteen pounds. Mr.—— also brought samples of cabbages and pumpkins. If any body can beat the potatoes we shall be glad to hear from them.

Can any one beat the potatoes? This is a direct challenge to the community to fill their bin and at the same time recollect "Mr.—— also brought samples of cabbages and pumpkins."

Knowing that country editors and flap-jacks are closely allied—they flop before they are pronounced palatable—a buckwheat firm gets to the front with a sack of prime XXXXX flour which our neighbor, the Patriot, says:

> We know that Messrs. —— & —— make most excellent buckwheat flour and we are under obligations to them for a sack of as fine a quality as it has ever been our good fortune to come in contact with.

If a country editor isn't a competent judge of buckwheat, pumpkins, potatoes, and garden truck in general, he's nothing. That it has been the Patriot editors' good fortune to "come in contact with" this rare delicacy we will look for increased activity, rare thought and versatile gems of local doings chronicled in their columns.

There is a dark side to life, and the darkest in the country editor's existence is when the chill winds of approaching winter admonish him that no longer will the sun's rays be able to furnish gratuitous heat; that no longer will the patient compositors take orders on marble yards, tanneries or blacksmith shops. With a generous supply of buckwheat, potatoes, pumpkins, etc., on hand, a bilious winter may be safely bridged with necessary material to keep the frost from the door. No one realizes this more than our esteemed cotemporary and here is their appeal:

> Parties desiring to pay for their subscriptions to the Patriot in wood are requested to do so as soon as possible.
>
> The thermometer is creeping down every day and they would be obliged to delinquents to assist the wood pile in crawling up.

☞Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) a DRAPER'S Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 47

More of Conklin's Crookedness.

For several days past the county treasurer has been visited by a large number of people, who have received notice of the sale of property for the county tax of 1877; that the property was purchased by the county, and unless the tax with interest and expenses be paid in six months the property thus purchased will be taken possession of by the county. A number of people claim to have paid this tax, and have in their posession receipts signed by the late Luther H. Conklin, of Mexico, who was county treasurer at that time. The sale of property for unpaid county taxes of 1877 took place in 1879, when John Dowdle, of this city, was county treasurer. Mr. Conklin gave tax receipts for the amounts paid, but made no record of the payment; nor did he sell the property but this was done by Mr. Dowdle. County Treasurer Goodier is now taking up these receipts and giving a cancellation of the deed, which is filed in the office of the county clerk. The receipts already received amount to about $2,000. They will be presented at the next meeting of the board of supervisors, and the amount will probably be assessed.

[Oswego Express.

South Scriba.

Mr. Adley Greenman, an old and respected resident, died Monday, Oct. 16, 1882, aged 66 years. He moved from Oneida county with his family in the spring of 1850 on to the farm where he has lived until his death. Mr. Greenman was an exemplary man, a devoted christian, and an active Sunday School worker, and was aespected by all who knew him. His friends have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The funeral was held from Mount Pleasant church, Thursday, the Rev. George Foster of Humbolt, Iowa, officiating.

Joseph, son of Capt. John Connor, is quite sick with typhoid fever.

John Greenman, an old Scaiba boy, but now of New Camp, Pa., is spending a few days with friends in this vicinity.

Q.

THE CHEESE MARKET.

At Utica, Monday the offering was not large. There were 5,694 boxes sold, the ruling price being 12 cents.

A meeting of the board was held to consider the matter of combining to fight a patent case that is being pushed by lawyers who are determined to make dairymen pay for using a device for the introduction of steam into cheese vats between wood and tin vats. A meeting was called for next Monday, in Utica. The dairymen of Central N. Y. are invited also to combine, and call on dairymen in other parts of the state and in other states to join them, and form a large and powerful organization to defend themselves successfully. The President said the matter was one in which every factory was represented and hoped for a large turnout.

In Little Falls 7,342 boxes were sold, 12¾ cents being the ruling price.

In Fulton seventeen factories were represented with 1,453 boxes of cheese. Eight sold at 11½ to 11¾, one factory getting 12 cents. The remainder was held over for better prices.

FAVORITISM

is a bad thing, but Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" deserves its name. It is a certain cure for those painful maladies and weaknesses which embitter the lives of so many women. [illegible]

THANKS

To all our friends who so heartily responded to our Opening Invitation and who have made

OUR STORE THEIR CHOICE SINCE,

In Making Their Purchases. We shall continue to keep our Stock as Complete in the Future and NEVER allow anyone to sell at Lower Prices.

Very Respectfully,

F. E. BACON.

———:O:———

A Splendid Variety of Cloaks, Dolmans and Ulsters received to-day.

THE FLOWER CITY FURORE.

The Commotion Caused by the Statement of a Physician.

An unusual article from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, was published in this paper recently and has been the subject of much conversation both in professional circles and on the street. Apparently it caused more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows:

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well known not only in Rochester, but in nearly part of America, sent an extended article to to this paper a few days since which was duly published, detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from what seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal enquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that investigation of the subject was deemed an editorial necessity.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion, at his residence an St. Paul street, when the following interview occurred: "That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued such as you can sustain?"

"Every one of them and many additional ones. Few people ever get so near the grave as I did and then return, and I am not surprised that the public teink it marvelous. It was marvelous."

"How in the world did you, a physician, come to be brought so low?"

"By neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent headaches; felt tired most of the time; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next; felt dull indefinite pains and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think it meant anything serious."

"But have these common ailments anything to do with the fearful Bright's disease that took so firm a hold on you?"

"Anything? Why, they are sure indications of the first stages of that dreadful malady. The fact is, few people know or realize what ails them, and I am sorry to say that too few physicians do either."

"That is a strange statement, Doctor."

"But it is a true one. The medical profession have been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time it ceased. We doctors have been clipping off the twigs when we should strike at the root. The symptoms I have just mentioned or and any unusual action or irritation of the water channels indicate the approach of Bright's disease even more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. We do not trust the cough, but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headache, stomach, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it doctor?"

"Precisely. Thousands of so-called diseases are torturing people to-day, when in reality it is Bright's disease in some one of its many forms. It is a Hydra-headed monster, and the slightest symptoms should strike to everyone who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, pneumonia, marlial fever and other common complaints, which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symptoms at first?"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy—Warner's safe kidney and liver cure. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also. Why, there are no end of truths bearing on this subject. If you want to know more about it go and see Mr. Warner himself. He was sick the same as I, and is the healthiest man in Rochester to-day. He has made a study of this subject and can give you more facts than I can. Go, too, and see Dr. Lattimore, the chemist at the University. If you want facts there are any quantity of them showing the alarming increase of Bright's disease, its simple and deceptive symptoms, and that there is but one way by which it can be escaped."

Fully satisfied of the truth and force of the doctor's words, the reporter bade him good day and called on Mr. Warner at his establishment on Exchange street. At first Mr. Warner was inclined to be reticent, but learning that the information desired was about the alarming increase of Bright's disease, his manner changed instantly and he spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease has increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable statistics, that in the past ten years its growth has been 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off: Everett, Sumner, Chase, Wilson, Carpenter, Bishop Haven and others. This is terrible, and shows a greater growth than that of any other known complaint. It should be plain to every one that something must be done to check this increase or there is no knowing where it may end."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with to-day who do not realize it, Mr. Warner?"

"Hundreds of thousands. I have a striking example of this truth which has just come to my notice. A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis, and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. In order to show the contrast between healthy and unhealthy fluid, he had provided a vial, the contents of which were drawn from his own person. 'And now, gentlemen,' he said, 'as you have seen the unhealthy indications, I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health,' and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed—his color and command both left him, and in a trembling voice he said: 'Gentlemen I have made a painful discovery: I have Bright's disease of the kidneys,' and in less than a year he was dead."

"You believe then that it has no symptoms of its own and is frequently unknown even to the person who is afflicted with it?"

"It has no symptoms of its own and very often none at all. Usually no two people have the same symptoms, and frequently death is the first symptom. The slightest indications of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one. I know what I am talking about, for I have been through all the stages of kidney disease."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case?"

"Yes I have both read and heard of it."

"It is very wonderful, is it not?"

"No, a very prominent case, but no more so than a great many others that have come to my notice as having been cured by the same means."

"You believe then that Bright's dis[illegible] experience of of hundreds of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physician and friends."

"You speak of your own experience, what was it."

"A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years. But I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day, saying: 'There goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have proven true if I had not fortunately secured and used the remedy now known as Warner's safe kidney and liver cure."

"And this caused you to manufacture it?"

"No it caused me to investigate. I went to the principal cities, saw physicians prescribing and using it, and I therefore determined as a duty I owed humanity and the suffering, to bring it within their reach, and now it is in every part of America, is sold in every drug store and has become a household necessity."

The reporter left Mr. Warner, much impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of his statements, and next paid a visit to Dr. S. A. Lattimore at his residence on Prince street. Dr. Lattimore, although busily engaged upon some matters connected with the State Board of Health, of which he is one of the analysists, courteously and answered the questions that were propounded him:

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago, Doctor?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did this analysis show you?"

"The presence of albumen and tube caste in great abundance."

"And what did the symptoms indicate?"

"A serious disease of the kidneys."

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?"

"No, sir! I did not think it possible. It was seldom, indeed, that so pronounced a case had, up to that time, ever been cured."

"Do you know anything about the remedy that cured him?"

"Yes, I have chemically analyzed it and upon critical examination, find it entirely free from any poisonous or deleterious substances."

We publish the foregoing statements in view of the commotion which the publicity of Dr. Henion's article has caused and to meet the protestations which have been made. The standing of Dr. Henion, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question and the statements they make, cannot for a moment be doubted. They conclusively show that Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, alarmingly increasing and that it can be cured.

An Ode to a Stovepipe.

Infernal stuff, your nature well I know
So when I took you down six months ago,
Each piece I numbered, so that I might tell
Exactly how you'd go together well.

And now the time for chilly days draws nigh,
To put you up again I'll manly try.
But all in vain. The joints [illegible]
Now do not come within an inch of [illegible]

I get you [illegible] put in place and then
Crash you go tumbling to the floor again.
Once more I try. You're rather full of soot,
And I am getting daubed from head to foot.

I jam my thumb but still I persevere,
One piece comes down again and rakes my ear,
I grab to catch the piece, another goes,
And falling scrapes the hide all off my nose.

And then my blood gets boiling and I say
By all that's blue, I'll fix you, any way!
Once more I go to work. By patience great
I get all but a single section straight.

And that I am about to place, when oh.!
The chair I stand on tips. Down flat I go;
While on and round me with a horrid crash,
The whole comes down again in one grand smash.

And then my wife remarks: "I never saw
A man so clumsy!" I say, "Hold your jaw"
And for a human fiend, while I retire
To wash myself, and swear, to vent my ire."

[Hartford Times

West Granby.

Daniel Shattuck has raised 1800 bushels of potatoes from eleven acres.

G. Baker has a sagacious cow which shakes apples faom a tree and eats them.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baker of Oswego were guests at Mr. William Sumerville's last week.

Frederick Dan has newly sided and painted his house.

Mr. William Summerville has sold his fine crop of tobacco for twenty cents a pound.

D. Shattuck has improved his house very much by giving it a new coat of paint.

F. Randall has engaged to teach the school at Little Utica the coming winter and Mr. Smith of Little Utica has been secured to teach this school.

The converted Jew gave a lecture in the church last Wednesday evening, Subject: Ceremonies of the Jewish Synagogue. He is gifted and has a pleasing way of interesting an audience.

Madison Dominick left home last Friday morning for Ernest, Osceola county, Michigan, to visit his sister, Mrs. Julia Schermerhorn.

C. S. Chandler has erected a nice cupola on Mr. Dominick's horse barn. The roof is of Chinese style of architecture. He is also sheeting, papering and siding his house and is to replace the old sash with two lighted ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush Andrews celebrated their tenth anniversary at their residence on Monday. In the evening they adjourned to the doctor's where music and other amusements were enjoyed by all. About seventy of the friends were present. They received many useful presents.

There has been some difficulty in this school district for the past season and in consequence the school meeting was largely attended which resulted in electing Mr. William Nipper trustee, Fred Randall clerk, and Charles Rogers librarian.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets." They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet or occupation. For sick headache, constipation, impure blood, dizziness, sour eructations from the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, pain in region of kidney, internal fever, bloated feeling about stomach, rush of blood to head, take Dr. Pierce's "pillets." By druggists.

☞Joseph Marshall is now prepared to execute promptly all jobs of White-[illegible]

If You Would be Well Dressed

PATRONIZE

ROSENBLOOM'S!

Real Estate Changes.

Following are the deeds recorded at the county clerk's office the past week of local import:

John S. Conklin and wife to Peter T. DeGraff, land in Granby, Oct. 19. 1882, $1200.

Horace N. Gilbert to Harriet A. Briggs, land in Fulton Oct. 18, 1885, $1.

S. B. Mead to Benj. R. Howe, land in Oswego Falls, $1000. Oct. 7. 1882.

Edwin L. Huntington to Hiram Snel land in Volney, $195.54. Sept. 13, 1882.

Willard W. France to Nellie A. Jennings, land in Palermo, $105. Jan. 8, 1879.

Willard Johnson to Eunice Adams land in Volney, Sept. 11, 1882, $725.

Slater Laycock and wife to E. Frank Marsh, land in Oswego Falls, Sept. 14 1882, $475.

G. S. Piper, referee, to Abram Howe land in Fulton, $325, Sept. 16, 1882.

Chas. H. David, referee, to Jane Merriam, land in Volney, $1.000 Sept. 23, 1882.

Cyrus S. Hall, to Eliza M. Hall, land in Granby, April 27, $2500.

Henry V. Spencer as executor of Arabella Moore to Mary C. Gomon, land in Fulton, October 6. 1882, $1200.

Henry Rockwood and wife to Israel T. Thorpe Oct 2, 1882; land in Oswego Falls $850.

Eunice M. Mosher to Nellie Mead, Oct. 2, 1882; land in Fulton, $250.

Abram M. Bockhout and wife to N. Barnet Surdam and William Surdam, land in Granby July 3. 1882, $765.52.

Wm. E. Taylor and wife to James D. Howser, land in Volney, Oct. 7, 1882, $3,200.

Wm. G. Gage and wife to Theodore Giroux, land in Fulton, Oct. 5, 1882, $250

James E. Sheridan and wife to Russell P. Hall land in Fulton, Oct. 7, 1882, $2000.

Martha A. Locke to Hannah M. Beck, land in Fulton, Sept 20, 1882, $1,600.

DO NOT MOVE BLINDLY.

Go carefully in purchasing medicine. Many advertised remedies can work great injury—are worse than none. Burdock Blood Bitters are purely a vegetable preparation; the smallest child can take them. They kill disease and cure the patient in a safe and kindly way.

A Sunbury girl who was recently married says that her husband would soon be a wealthy man if he would work as hard now as he did when he was making love to me.

Mrs. Partington honored us with a call this morning. She is looking well and she says she is like the windows of a renovated house—all the old panes are out of her and pneumatics are things of the past.

☞Remember DRAPER always takes the lead in selling goods cheap and never allows anyone to undersell him in fair deal. [illegible]

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters,	12c per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50 " "
Tea cups and saucers,	24 " sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61 each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	14 "

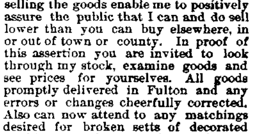
Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st,

I am your obedient servant.

JAMES MCCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



Will You

HAVE AN

M. BRAGE?

BAILEY & SON, Fulton, N. Y.

A Magnificent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Laies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of
Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Peeris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

NEW GOODS

AT THE

BAZAAR

THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

REFINING INFLUENCE

OF

EDUCATION

Teacher that garments ought to be designed for embellishment as well as for coverings, and notwithstanding the boastings of the printed Satinet element the people are daily recognizing the fallacies of their claims and are turning to

"THE FAMOUS"

for relief. Clothing bought of the

FAMOUS OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE,

2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse,

are in make and style so distinctive that they are distinguishable as far as the eye can discern, and they carry with them a mark so prominent that it bespeaks elegance, style, fit and gentility for the wearer. No other House can show as many new styles?

Such elegant fitting garments.
Such truly great bargains.
Such low prices.
If you cannot be suited anywhere else

"The FAMOUS"

2 and 3 WIETING BLOCK,

Syracuse, N. Y.

THE FULTON TIMES

[illegible]day, Oct. 25, 1882.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF FULTON.

FULTON 'BUS

The Fulton omnibus will leave the Lewis House for trains on the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the following time table:

	A. M.	A. M.	M	P. M.	P. M.
For Syracuse.......	7:40	9:00	12:10	5:30
For Oswego.........	7:40		2:40	6:00	8:15

Tickets to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, for sale on the Omnibus.

A. M. Hatch, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2.............................7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 6.................................4:22 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 41.........8:35 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1.......... ....9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5.......................11:58 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 48........5:58 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation........ ....8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express...... 9:28 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express.........12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express........ .... 5:58 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express.... .....8:06 a. m
Day Express.......................... ....8:00 p. m
Oswego Accommodation...................6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express......8:30 p. m

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

JOSEPH FRANCIS, - Local Editor.

Frank Caldwell of Cleveland, Ohio, spent Sunday in Fulton.

W. Brayley and wife, of New Haven, Conn., are visiting W. Ney and family.

Mrs. A. P. Tucker entertained a number of her friends at a tea party Friday evening.

Miss Allie Sanderson will leave Fulton in a few days for New York where she will reside with her brother.

Read the advertisement of Barney, Smith & West in another column. This is a new and enterprising house.

Conley's restaurant on Second street is pleasantly arranged and new and tasteful signs grace the windows.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Peck, of Scriba, have moved to Fulton and will reside with their son J. N. Peck, on Rochester street,

John Partrick is remodeling the basement underneath Fay's dry goods store preparatory to opening a place of refreshment.

Mrs. Peter White and children will leave in a few days for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where they will spend the winter with friends.

Whitaker had at his market Saturday a most excellent piece of beef. It was a one year old heifer that weighed when dressed 450 pounds. It was butchered by Irving Collins of Gilbert's Mills,

The following gentlemen were naturalized in Oswego Friday and made full fledged American citizens: Edward Laycock and Thomas Harrison, Fulton; George McCann and Stephen Bray, Oswego Falls.

Edward Birdsall, son of M. L. Birdsall, is at the head of the manufacturing department of one of the largest confectionery houses in Chicago. He has been very successful since he left Fulton some eight years ago.

The people of this vicinity have heard much of the case of William Henry Ostrander, who murdered his brother George, at Camden, in December, 1880. The general term has denied a motion for a new trial which seems to put an end to hope for him. He will be resentenced in January.

Harvey Smith owns and operates a cheese factory in Fulton and the enormous product of September, 250,000 lbs was sold for twelve cents per pound. This is a higer price than was received by any factory enjoying the privileges of the Fulton Board of Trade of which Mr. Smith is not a member.

Rumor has it that the Nelson Mill in this village is about to be built over into a manufacturing establishment.

[Patriot.

We understand this is a false rumor. No statement has been made by any one with authority to speak or connected with the mill regarding any proposed change. The mill is running as usual.

In the Dakota City (Iowa) Independent of Oct. 12, we find the subjoined:

Married, at the residenbe of C. G. Simmons, on Saturday, Oct. 6, by Rev. M. A. Safford, G. D. Osborn and Miss Rose L. Martin, both of Dakota City. The happy couple took the train north for a a short trip to Albert Lea, where they remained until to-day; when they returned home. A reception will be held for them at their future home on the corner of Mill and First streets. A large number of friends unite in giving joy to these most respected young folks of the town and community.

In 1881, Jacob Piper, a well-known citizen of this town, commenced an action against Willard Johnson and Geo. M. Case as railroad commissioners of this town, to declare the bonds issued by the town of Volney to aid in the construction of the Midland railroad void; and that they be cancelled and all proceedings for issuing of said bonds be declared void. Mr. Piper also asked in his complaint that the statute authorizing the town to issue bonds be declared unconstitutional, that defendants Johnson and Case and any other persons be enjoined from raising any money as railroad commissioners of the town of Volney, and that they be enjoined from selling or disposing of any unpaid bonds until the matter was settled by the courts.

A decision has recently been handed down in the Supreme Court dismissing the case and discharging the defendants Johnson and Case with payment of costs.

FIRST RATE EVIDENCE.

"Often unable to attend business, being subject to serious disorders of the kidneys. After a long seige of sickness tried Burdock Blood Bitters and was relieved by half a bottle," Mr. B. Turner, of Rochester, N. Y., takes the pains to write.

For sale.—I have on hand seventy [illegible] and a number of masks in good condition which I will sell very cheap. Enquire of

Chas. Holden.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN.

[illegible]

STEPHENS' OPERA HOUSE.

Nearly Ready for Occupancy—An Excellent Building—A General Description of the Grand Structure.

Fulton has never had a play house or place of amusement in keeping with less enterprising and populous villages, and its absence always occasions surprise in the minds of strangers, and especially managers and members of traveling entertainments. Fulton and Oswego Falls with a combined population of between seven and eight thousand, contains an amusement loving population large enough to give generous support to an opera house.

Dr. John J. Stephens, of Washington, D. C., has erected on Cayuga street in one of the most prominent and accessible points in the village, an opera house that is a valued addition to Fulton's architecture, and an honor to the mind that conceived the project. Mr. Stephens has personally superintended the work and consequently the building is one of the most secure and thoroughly well built in Central New York.

This house is 50x55 feet, and 45 feet high. It is of the Gothic style of architecture. The floor of the main auditorium is graduated with sittings distinguished as orchestra chairs and orchestra circle arranged in the same circular form, beginning at a balcony on the right and left of the proscenium opening.

The dress circle also extends in a semicircular form from balconies directly over those mentioned. A gallery across the front end of the room and in the rear of the dress circle completes the arrangements by which 750 persons will be comfortably seated with an unobstructed view of the stage. The proscenium opening is 22x24 feet.

The stage, 24x51½ feet is equipped with border and foot lights and a full set of scenery by Seavey of New York. Ample dressing rooms underneath the stage are supplied with all toilet conveniences. Access to the stage and dressing rooms is independent of the auditorium. The auditorium is lighted by side lights, and by a central chandelier of 70 lights, all to be lighted by an electrical apparatus supplied by Bogart of Madison Square, New York. All lights are to be controlled on the stage. Adjoining the main auditorium is a hall 40x51½ feet, and 18 feet high, to which is attached kitchen facilities and a stage. This hall can be used separately or with the opera house when desired.

This opera house is "built on a rock." all floors are supported on brick and iron walls; there are four ample exits from main floor, and the stability and safety of the whole building is fully recognized and appreciated by the community.

Applications for the use of this opera house after Nov. 20th is respectfully solicited. All communications addressed to J. J. Stephens will be promptly honored.

A Relic of the War.

The drafted men of 1863, of Oswego county, held a convention in Oswego Wednesday. They have a grieviance, and the nature of it is probably unknown to the majority of people and we briefly outline it:

During the war there were four drafts. They were all filled at the public expense in some portions of the State. In other places they were filled at the public expense, except the first one, in which the drafted men held and bore it as a personal burden, and after providing substitutes for themselves they were compelled to bear their portion of the expense of furnishing substitutes for their neighbors. Columbia county is an illustration. In that county 405 men were drafted and held in the first draft, and they paid for substitutes or in commutation $300 each, making $121,500. The other three drafts were filled by the towns at an expense of $1,687,126.35, or a tax of 14 per cent. on the assessed valuation of the county. The men in the first draft paid their equal proportion of this after they had paid $121,500 as a poll tax. The fifteen thousand drafted men who bore this personal unequal burden now ask the legislature to pass an act providing that if a majority of the taxpayers of their towns, cities or counties petition the board of supervisors to assume the expense of they first draft, as the did of all the others, that they provide for their reimbursement.

Resolutions were adopted declaring "that we hereafter vote only for candidates for the senate and assembly who are willing to support a bill to refer our claims for reimbursement to the tax payer of our towns."

The county committee was requested to ascertain the views of the candidates for the assembly and report to the town committees.

Among the town committees are the following:

Granby—Isaac T. Pierce Granby Center; George McClellan, German Hill, Dexterville; D. H. Gilbert, A. T. Wilcox, Oswego Falls.

Hannibal — Henry Curtis, Fairdale; Alverson Bidwell, Hannibalville; Emerson James, North Hannibal; Shubel E. Rowlee, South Hannibal; Edgar T. Hall, Dexterville.

Scriba—Ansel K. Hubbard, Scriba Corners; Henry Parkhurst, James Cliff, North Scriba; D. W. Hall, Henry Hubbard, Lansing; John Prosser, Lycoming; Charles M. Bateman, South Scriba.

Schoeppel—George F. West, Albert Peacock, Caughdenoy; Albert W. Schroeppel, Euclid, Onondaga county; Henry A. Allen, Phoenix.

Volney—Lindley A. Seymour, W. N. Osborn, Cyrus Howard, Leston Ladu, Volney.

Palermo—Nelson Cross, Palermo Center; Thomas Clark, Volney Center.

"DON'T HURRY, GENTLEMEN."

Said a man on his way to be hanged, "there'll be no fun till I get there." We say to the dyspeptic, nervous, and debiliated, don't hurry thoughlessly for some remedy of doubtful meri, uncertain of relief, when you can get at the druggists for one dollar Burdock Blood Bitters almost sure to cure and certain to benefit.

For Sale—A Bargain.

The house and lot corner First and Division streets owned by George C. Cooper. It is in good condition and will be sold cheap. It is situated within two blocks of Oswego Falls factories. Terms easy, title perfect. No working man should pay rent when a good home may be bought on such terms as offered. Enquire at Times office.

[illegible] of the late J. B. Warner [illegible]

TWO HUNDRED PAIR

Men's Double Sole and Tap KIP BOOTS Warranted Solid for $2.25 a pair at

A. E. NETTLETON' S.

CALL EARLY.

Read Skaden's advertisement.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

Election one week from next Tuesday.

It will pay you to read the "Bee Hive" advertisement.

Rev. J. S. Riggs officiated in Grace church Oswego, Sunday.

Bassett Bailey of Mannsville was a guest of Alderman Hart Sunday.

Street Commissioner Dodge is laying some excellent crosswalks at the corner of Broadway and First street.

Miss Mary Armstrong of Auburn is spending a few days with the family of Mr. John Campbell, on South First street.

On Oct. 18th D. C. Skaden will sell one pound Japan tea for fifty cents and present to every purchaser a pair of beautiful vases.

The polling place for the second district of the town of Volney will be in the store under the post-office. It has been held for years at Dan Morfa's hotel.

Dr. Woodbury has lost his pocketbook. In it was $2.00 and a few valuable papers. Keep the pocketbook and keep the $2.00 if you will—but please return the papers.

For a generous sample of unrivaled Prentiss grape we are indebted to Mr. A. D. Stowell. He is agent for shrubs, vines, fruit and ornamental trees and will fill orders for the Prentiss variety or any other on short notice.

George Knight, a boatman, and resident of this village, had a narrow escape Saturday. He was east of Syracuse, and passing under a bridge, his body became fastened between it and the cabin. He was terribly squeezed, the blood spurting out of his ears. The movement of the boat quickly released him. It was a close call, and Mr. Knight was fortunate in escaping without more serious injuries.

We learn by this morning's Oswego Express that John Sadler, nine years of age, was in the second story of the building occupied by the Oswego Times last evening, amusing himself by catching on a rope used for hoisting paper. Young Sadler attempted to catch the rope, and in doing so, missed his hold and fell to the ground, a distance of about fifteen feet. The back of his head struck on a pavement stone below fracturing the skull. The boy, on striking rebounded and turned over, face downward, in which position he lay until picked up and removed to a drug store, where he expired in a short time. His neck was fractured.

OSWEGO FALLS.

Work on the new church is being pushed.

Twenty-six operatives arrived from England last week to work in the mill.

Thomas DeLong has purchased the Clegg blacksmith shop and will open a meat market.

Miss Agnes E. Higley of Detroit, Mich., is a guest at the residence of Mr. O. J. Jennings.

Levi Kelly will leave in a few days for Cornwall, Ont. He will spend the winter there.

Hector Martin, Matthew Guile and Jesse Wright are at Bernhards Bay, running T. R. Wright's saw mill.

The editor of the Oswego Falls Observer announces a change in publication day from Tuesday to Saturday.

Miss Carrie Gardner, of lower Oswego Falls, left a few days ago for Little Falls where she will remain a few days with friends.

The most important happening at the residence of Wallace Brown last week was the arrival of a weighty little daughter.

Haynes & Switzer's horse became frightened at a bicycle operated by Mr. H. Bacchus and ran away. The wagon was slightly injured as also was the horse.

Fred Guile of Oswego Falls is going to Chicago to live. He will make that city his headquarters in purchasing wool for the Oswego Falls Manufacturing Company.

B.

Honoring Their Pastor.

The Syracuse Sunday Times contains the following notice of a reception tendered Rev. Jay N. Taft by the members of the Furman street M. E. church upon his re-appointment and return from conference. Mr. Taft is a former Fultonian and his friends here will be pleased to read:

A very enjoyable reception was tendered the Rev. Mr. Taft at the Furman street church Friday evening, after his return from conference. He was made to feel that his return was most welcome and everybody present was so glad that they could scarcely contain their sentiments. Mr. E. R. Benedict, superintendent of the Sunday School, made a very happy speech of welcome, to which Mr. Taft responded. This was followed by a song written for the occasion, and sung by three little girls, Aura Benedict, Flora Boon and Nellie Curtis. Refreshments and a general good time followed. No returning pastor is more deserving of this hearty welcome than Mr. Taft. He has labored with the utmost energy since his advent in the village, for the welfare of his church; he found it groaning with debt and to-day it is the only Methodist church in Syracuse free from debt. The people like him and he appears to like them, which is certainly a very pleasant state of affairs.

Stock For Sale at Any Price.

Miss Saunderson has determined to close out her stock of fancy goods, leggings, clouds, etc., and close her store. If the goods are not sold by the latter part of the week, they will be auctioned off Saturday evening. The store will not be opened after Saturday. Now is an excellent time to obtain a bargain.

☞ The place to buy china cups and [illegible]

After Many Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Phillips, parents of Mr. R. E. Phillips, have returned to Fulton again after an absence of forty-two years in Canada. They will hereafter make this village their home. They find that forty-two years has wrought many changes in this vicinity.

Where Bad Boys Land.

George Huntley, thirteen years old, who entered H. H. Hulett's grocery and stole $15.00, was indicted, and Friday sentenced to the Western House of Refuge at Rochester.

Henry Weiner of Phoenix, a lad sixteen years of age, indicted by the grand jury for burglary for entering a store in Phoenix a few weeks ago, was arraigned at Oswego Friday and sent to the State reformatory at Elmira until he is 21 years of age.

Circulating Library.

Mr. Joseph Walton, of Cohoes, N. Y., will open a circulating library in Fulton in a few days. He will occupy the store on Cayuga street now occupied by Mrs. Jennings. He will keep all the standard publications now extant in history, biography, travel, fiction and such other works as the tastes of the people demand. Fulton has no circulating library and it would seem Mr. Walton had filled a needed vacancy in inaugurating one in our midst. The nominal sum of ten cents per week will be charged for books. A catalogue is being compiled, and will be published and gratuitously furnished upon application.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

The undertaking establishment of Hendrick & Hubbard has been placed in the hands of a receiver. The firm, we understand, disagreed as to the manner of conducting the business. Mr. Hubbard offered to sell to Mr Hendrick, and Mr. Hendrick offered to sell to Mr. Hubbard. Neither would purchase the others' interest. It was decided to settle the dispute by arbitration, and Mr. Hendrick chose S. B. Mead, Esq., and Mr. Hubbard chose Mr. Reuben Bradshaw. These two gentlemen held a conference and selected A. Hanna, Esq., to take the stock and sell it off. After paying the debts of the firm the balance will be divided betweed the partners. The firm is solvent and will pay every debt in full.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1882:

Robert Barry,
Mrs Edward H. Briggs,
Albert Baird,
Miss Minnie Carpenter,
Miss Alice Dean,
H B Howe,
Mrs Milton Jones,
Uriah Lewis,
Miss Cora Manwarring,
Andy Gilberts,
Miss Mary Spencer,
Frank Scatten,

POSTAL CARDS

Mrs. R B Avery,
Orla Adams,
Alphonso Normonden,

HELD EOR POSTAGE

Mrs Fierron, Oswego, N. Y.
Miss Kittie McDonnell, Oswego, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above will please say 'advertised.'

N. H. Gilbert. P. M.

The Converted Jew.

Dr. M. L. Rossvally, the converted Jew, gave two lectures in the M. E. church Monday and Tuesday evening on "Jewish Rites and Ceremonies." He was greeted with large audiences and his instructiev and very interesting descriptions of Jewish religious ceremonies attentively listened to. The Dr. is an easy and fluent speaker, and illustrates his lecture with the use of the paraphernalia used in the synagogue. He was accompanied by his daughter, who assisted him in rending sacred concerts before and after his lecture. The Doctor's exposition of Jewish ceremonies needs no commendation from us, the masterly manner in which he handles his subject being a sufficient recommend of his ability. So well pleased were his auditors with his lecture, that he received an almost unanimous invitation to return and deliver his lecture on "The Jew and Jewish Marriage Ceremony," some time in December. He will be well received.

Not Much Enthusiasm.

A republican campaign meeting was held in Nichols hall Monday evening. There was no great amount of enthusiasm manifested. About two hundred people were in the hall. Mr. James D. Lasher was chairman. After a song by N. H. Gilbert, Mr. Lasher introduced Hon. B. W. Throckmorton, of New Jersey. He admonished the republicans to look the issue square in the face and work for the election of Judge Folger. His speech betrayed anxiety for the success of the ticket. He dwelt for some time upon the probable fact that if the democrats carried the State this fall they would undoubtedly do so in 1884. His remarks were free from any offensive partisan allusions, only referring to the past histories of the two great parties, and comparing their records.

As the audience passed out they were each presented with a copy of the Oswego Palladium and a pamphlet containing friendly opinions from Republican journals and leading independents, upon the candidacy of Grover Cleveland.

Public Notice.

Messrs. Hendrick & Hubbard having decided to immediately close their present business now offer their entire stock of goods without reserve at original cost price. The goods are new and in good condition and afford a rare opportunity to any [illegible]

Frank Keenan is improving.

Next Tuesday evening will be All Hallow E'en.

James Foster and family, of Bradford, Pa., are in town.

Mrs. Jennings will remove her millinery shop to the opera house buildings.

Dr. W. D. Hawley, of Syracuse, was in town Monday on a professional visit.

Mr. W. S. Wiltsie, offers his farm for sale in this issue. Read the bargain he offers.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church cleared $73 from Dr Rossvally's lectures.

Ed. F. DeGraw was in town over Sunday. He is employed on the West Shore railroad.

Druggist Spooner is recovering from his rheumatic attack and will soon be himself again.

J. J. Bonney will arrive in town in a few days from Nova Scotia, where he spent the summer.

Miss Frankie Wybron is sick at her mother's residence in Granby, with hay and malarial fevers.

The Board of trustees was without a quorum last evening and adjourned until the 14th of November.

Mary J. Holmes, of Bridgeport, Onondaga county, who was tried in Syracuse, to a Rochester gentleman.

A young lad named Matthews caught one of his fingers in a lathe at Dilt's machine shop and badly lacerated it.

Superintendent of Public Works Dutcher will address a republican meeting in Oswego to-morrow evening.

Peter Lantry who will conduct the teachers institute in Fulton, beginning November 27, is an old Fulton boy.

A. Salladin, marble cutter and dealer in monuments, etc, Oswego will open a branch store in the Stephens building.

James and Timothy Murphy have opened a meat market in store first door east of Richardson's grocery. Choice meats constantly on hand.

That a news room will be opened in one of the opera house stores is not improbable, as the Youngs Bros. are looking the ground over with that view.

Eli M. DeRusha went to Oswego yesterday and won the gold company badge for best marksmanship. It is of unique design and is valued at about $50.00.

The clergy of the Protestant Episcopal churches are going to preach on temperance next Sunday morning. This includes the Rector of the Zion church, Go and hear him.

John London who was held for the alleged entering of the house of Wallace Coe in this town a few weeks ago has been discharged, the grand jury failing to find an indictment.

A donation was tendered Rev J. P. Simmons at Pennellville Friday evening which enriched the reverend gentleman by many dollars and a generous sample of the products of some of his parishioners farms was also given him.

Ira Betts, well known in this vicinity, is chairman of the democratic city committee, of Buffalo, Mr. Betts is mentioned as superintendent of public works Dutcher's successor. If fealty to party honor and competence are the requirements, Mr. Betts is surely entitled to the position. He is a brother of Wm. G. Betts, of this village.

Charges against Merrick Stowell, county clerk, have been made and forwarded to the governor by Thos. Moore jr., a custom house employee. He charges Mr. Stowell with taking excessive fees and names the parties they were taken from. Mr. Stowell has forwarded a petition to the governor denying the charges and asking for an immediate investigation. He characterizes it as an election dodge perpetrated at this late day to defeat him.

James Gordon died at his residence on Rochester street Monday about 4 p. m., from the effects of a cancer in the mouth. He has lived in Fulton and vicinity for nearly forty-five years, and was a quiet, unassuming citizen. Three sons and three daughters survive him. The funeral will be held from the church of the Immaculate Conception at 10 a. m. to-morrow. His remains will be interred in Fulton, and those of his wife in a cemetry at Oswego will be removed here also.

HOW MUCH WILL DO IT.

How much of Thomas' Eclectric Oil is revuired to do it? Only a very little. A few drops will cure any kind of an ache; and but a trifle more is needed for sprains and lameness. Rheumatism is not so readily affected; an ounce and sometimes two ounces are required. No medicine, however, is so sure to cure with the same number of applications.

The Weather Again.

The fine mild weather of the present fall has caused much speculation as to whether we should have any winter at all; but the change of the past two days has raised the hopes of the despondent, and moreover the Hackensack prophet DeVoe, has predicted veritable winter weather for this very week. Beginning with sharp frosts—which unfortuately we have not had, he continues:

Wednesday—Warmer, with cloudy weather and east winds.

Thursday—Cool and cloudy, with rain.

Friday—Cool and cloudy, with rain and north winds.

Saturday—Sharp frost, clear with northeast winds. We will probably get some snow on Friday night.

It is safe then to remind our readers that Kent & Miller, 18 and 20 South Salina street, are prepared to give full protection against rain or frost or snow. Their stock of fall and winter overcoats, [illegible] woolens, their [illegible] for dress or ordinary wear, [illegible] like a glove, and stoutly made, [illegible] worth a visit, if it be only to [illegible]

Teacher's Institute.

The Oswego county Teacher's Institute will be held in Fulton at the Seminary chapel, commencing Monday, Nov. 27, and continuing one week. The exercises will be conducted by R. G. Post and Peter Lantry. Parties having conveniences for entertaining teachers during the institute, will leave word at The Times, or Patriot office or with Prof. Boothby.

A Rich Entertainment.

Rev. C. P. Lyford, formerly Missionary to Utah, will deliver his celebrated lecture, entitled: "Utah and the Mormons," in the M. E. churce at Gilbert's Mills, Tuesday evening, October 31st, at 7½ o'clock. In connections with the lecture, Mrs. Lyford will give musical selections. The lecture and the lecturer are too well known for extended comment.

There will be an oyster supper in connection with the lecture, and meals will be served from 5 to 7 p. m., and after the lecture and concert. All are cordially invited to attend.

Admission to lecture, 25 cents; children, 15 cents.

Musical Goods.

Mr. Bristol is constantly receiving pianos from Weber, Fisher, Pease and other manufacturers; organs from Estey, Mason & Hamlin, Sterling organ company and several other makes, which are constantly kept on hand, and will be sold at prices as low as any house in the State.

He does not claim to sell for less than cost, and every instrument has maker's name in plain sight. Best goods always bear the name of the manufacturer.

Always remember cheapness in price means cheapness in quality. Call on Mr. Bristol. His experience of fifteen years may be of service to you in selecting a piano or organ. No chromos. 23

NEIGHBORING NEWS

James Quaife and family have removed from Binghamton to Baldwinsville.

The Phoenix Register says J. D. Barnasky's loss by the burning of his cheese factory at Clay has been adjusted by the insurance company paying him the full amount of the policy, $2000.

Abner Wright, a well-known citizen of Granby, died at his home hear Bowens Corners Sunday, of paralysis. Funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the home, and the body interred at Jacksonville,

The Prohibitionists of Oswego county will hold a mass meeting in Mansard hall, Oswego, Thursday evening, November 2d. Prof. A. A. Hopkins of Rochester the Prohibition candidate for governor will address the meeting.

Two young men, named Carlin, were confined in the Syracuse penitentiary, one from Syracuse and the other from Watertown. The latter's sentence expired last week, but by mistake the Syracuse man was liberated, and before the mistake was discovered he had fled.

A strange suicide is reported from Warsaw, N. Y. An old man named Tellington, aged 71, having his health undermined by the use of opium placed the muzzle of a rifle under his chin and springing the hammer with his toes, successfully removed the top of his head.

STRAW WANTED!

For which will pay Six Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Seven dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.

14m2 Wm. Waugh & Bro.

FARM FOR SALE.

I am going west and will sell my farm of 90 acres for $35 per acre. Good house and barn, never failing spring of water; good soil, about 14 acres of timber.

Located on Battle Island road, one mile west of Oswego river, four miles below Fulton, seven miles from Oswego. Call on the premises, or address

W. D. Wiltsie,
Minetto, Oswego Co., N. Y. 23w2.

Mrs Montague has just received a fresh invoice of choice oysters and fish. She is selling them at a reasonable figure and is prepared to fill orders for any amount. Parties, balls, donations and festivals supplied.

Look Here!

All accounts I have outstanding that have been owing six months or over must be settled at once or they will be placed out for collection.

Fulton, Oct. 4th. D. C. Baker.

Lost—Between the residence of Lawrence Miller on Third street, and my residence on Seventh at the foot of Academy street, two hand saws and a carpenter's square. The finder will be rewarded.

Nelson Judd.

Oct. 28, 1882.

For sale—Household furniture and parlor coal stove and all the household effects of the late Rev. James T. Smith. Enquire at the house opposite Catholic church on Rochester street. 21w2

☞ Make your old things look like new by using the Diamond Dyes, and you will be happy. Any of the fashionable colors for 10 cents.

Just received at Draper's 30 bushels of Sweet Potatoes, to be sold nearly as cheap as common potatoes. 21

☞ I have a number of first-class Ferrets for sale. Enquire of

15 Jas. E. Miller.

C. E. Sackett is receiving new good almost every day. Call and examine.

Special Notice.

The agent for Milo's Steam Dyeing & Cleansing Establishment of Oswego, will be in Fulton during this week to call on parties wishing work done, and can be seen at the Lewis House each day from 4 p. m. until 9 p. m. Have your old clothes made new.

N. B.—I am the only practical dye doing business in Oswego county.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and

BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous publications.

Ten Cents Per Week for the use of Books.

JOSEPH WALTON,

[illegible]

FIRST CLASS CLOTH IG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRICE ASKED.

1842. 1882.

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS,

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29 31 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE

OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE.

A MAMMOUTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

I. H. Brounstein.

ANNUAL FALL EXPOSITION.

—OF—

FALL AND WINTER CLOTING!

—AT—

The Brounstein

ONE PRICE

CLOTHING HOUSE.

If you are buying or think of buying anything in the way of

Men's Youths', Boys', and Children's Clothing,

At least give us an opportunity to show our goods before purchasing elsewhere. Also an elegant

Pocket Knife GIVEN AWAY

With Every Garment Purchased.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN,

A. C. Yates' old stand 13 &15 North Salina Street, Syracuse.

Crockery, China,

Glass and Silverware.

—:o:—

D. SKADEN,

First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

Has returned from New York and is daily receiving a large and fine assortment of

CROCKERY,

Ever shown in Fulton or Oswego County.

Wewill not be undersold in

Bracket, Hanging, Stand, Lamps and Chandeliers.

D. C. SKADEN,

Next Door to Lewis House. First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

"BEE HIVE."

—o—

We are now opening our Fall and Winter Stock of Cloaks, Dolmans, and Ulsters. Every one of our Garments are cut and finished by Men Tailors, which not only makes them fit nicely but they are warranted to keep their shape. For new styles and low prices go to the Bee Hive.

BENNETT & STEWART.

Dress Goods Dress Goods. If you want anything in the way of a Dress don't fail to look at our rich and Varied Assortment of French Armours, Cashmeres, Sheodahs, Also everything new in American Dress Goods. Ladies Terra [illegible] Blue and all the [illegible] colors. You will [illegible] stock not only the L[illegible] but Prices the Lowest [illegible] "Bee Hive."

[illegible]

Situation wanted—A respectable lady wishes to obtain a situation as house keeper in a private family or would be a nurse and companion to an invalid. Has first class references. Address M. D., P. O. box 47, Fulton, N. Y. 232w

Auction of Household Goods.

There will be an auction of household goods belonging to Peter White at the residence of E. B. Collins, corner 4th and Oneida St, Saturday at 9 o'clock a. m. A good bargain in store for those who attend.

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be paid at the mill of

Gilbert Bros.

Fulton, Oct. 18.

THE

ALLIGATOR

WRENCH

Can not be beat. [illegible]

1882.

CALL AT
J. H. WOODIN'S,
No. 7 First Street, Fulton.
For Bargains In HARDWARE, DOORS, WINDOWS, BLINDS,
ROPE PULLEY BLOCKS,
HORSE FORKS, MILK CANS,

Tinware of all descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent. Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

J H. WOODIN.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made. A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop B

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA
LAKE ICE!
1882.

inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.
Ice delivered in good order.
E. BREADS.

THE LAKESIDE HOUSE.
CONSTANTIA, N. Y.
KING & GALSTER - PROPRIETORS.

The Largest, Finest, and most Convenient Hotel on the Shore of Oneida Lake.

First-Class Accommodations for Pleasure Seekers.

The Finest Row Boats, and the grandest Bass and Pike Fishing here of any place on the Lake. A Beautiful Grove near by for Picnic Parties.

A Steam Yacht leaves here twice every day, morning and evening, to meet trains at Brewerton, touching at the romantic Frenchman's Island, lower South Bay, etc.

Good Livery in connection.
Free Conveyance to and from All Trains
Board by the day or week
C. C. KING J. GALSTER

HULETT'S HULETT'S
BROADWAY LIVERY.

NEW BARN,
NEW STOCK,
NEW CARRIAGES,
NEW HARNESS,
and everything New Neat and Stylish.

Horses Let at Reasonable Rates.

☞ An excellent place for farmers and traveling people to board their horses.

HULETT'S BROADWAY LIVERY.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

HAY-FEVER

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflamation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.
ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new snow cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.
LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

DR. E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, convulsions, Nervous headache, Mental depression, Spermatorrhoea, impotency, loss of memory, involuntary emissions, premature old age, caused by over exertion, self abuse, or over indulgence, which leads to misery decay and death.

One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order recived by us for six boxes accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not affect a cure. Guarantees issued only when the treatment is ordered direct from us. Address JOHN C. WEST & CO sole proprietors, 181 & 183 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. 3ly1

Lackawanna Coal!
——IS THE——
BEST IN MARKET,
FREE FROM SLATE!
FREE FROM DUST!

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. [illegible] Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the [illegible] Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Coal Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES

25 cents per ton off at [illegible]

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.
Very Respectfully Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

--NOVELTY MILLS.--
Custom Grinding,
AT THE
NOVELTY MILLS,
is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.
Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.
PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.
FOR 1882

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 cts per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs. 15 " "
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ " "
Private families 10 pounds per day, $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers - $12 per year.

Private families' season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.

ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.
FRED SPAFFORD.

J. COLE,
The Old Reliable
UNDERTAKER,
AND
FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

---

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KNABE
PIANO-FORTES.
UNEQUALLED IN
Tone, Touch, Workmanship & Durability.
WILLIAM KNABE & CO.
Nos. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore.
No. 112 Fifth Avenue, New York.

$10 to $20,000

In legitimate judicious speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stocks on our perfected plan yields sure monthly profits to large and small investors. Address for full particulars.
R. E. KENDALL & CO.,
Com's. Merchants, 177&179 La Salle St., Chicago Ill.

CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED.
BOURNE & CO.,
Commission and Wholesale Dealers in
FRUITS AND VEGETABLES,
[illegible] Bank.

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story—A Hopless Case Cured—A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Greene County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining and permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended Favorite Remedy to others whom I knew to whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and I assure the public that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy' as I did."

Fulton Business Cards

F. E. KENYON JONES, Oculist and Physician, late of Chicago, now with [illegible], 105 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. [illegible], Attorney and Counselor at Law. Office in Kenyon Block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. [illegible] is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Windows [illegible] Jobbing [illegible]. Shop and residence [illegible] Pond street.

Dentists.

L. C. CURTIS, [illegible] Dental Surgery. Office [illegible]

G. N. EMENS, M. D. S., D. D. S., Office opposite Lewis House, First street. [illegible] ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth [illegible] persons and children a specialty.

B. F. MASON, D. D. S., Office [illegible] Phoenix, N. Y. [illegible] Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and [illegible] natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BELLS & Co., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements. [illegible] Fulton N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS., Book and Job Printers, First Street, over [illegible]. Printing of every description executed in [illegible] manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER, Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and fabulated, poster printing [illegible] and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, [illegible] carriages, cutters, etc. [illegible]

E. B. ABBEY, [illegible] Meat Market [illegible]

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D. [illegible] Oneida Street [illegible]

DR. W. L. WOODRUFF [illegible]

DR. N. H. [illegible] Physician [illegible] Office [illegible]

CHAS. E. BELL, M. D. [illegible] Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. [illegible] every Saturday at [illegible] Fulton N. Y.

E. FRANK MARSH, M. D., Office and Residence No. 83 First St., Fulton. (former residence of [illegible]) Office [illegible] and 12 to [illegible] p. m. 15

G. H. [illegible] Office in Townsend [illegible]

Sewing Machines.

E. M. [illegible] Repairs all kinds of Sewing Machines [illegible] Agent for the [illegible] Sewing Machine [illegible]

Jeweler

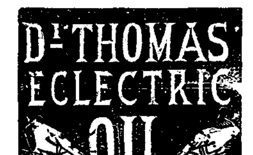
C. B. NICHOLS, Jeweler [illegible] Fulton [illegible]

Surveyor.

G. D. GALE, Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. [illegible] Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., also [illegible] Conveyancy. Office Wheeler Block, Oneida street.

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend Block. 12



Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price [illegible] cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.

☞ If you have either of these troubles

PRICE $1. USE Druggists Sell

KIDNEY-WORT

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

Lewis House Livery & Boarding Stable

I would announce to the people of Fulton and vicinity that I have taken posession of the Lewis House livery, and shall keep it first class in every respect. I respectfully invite those in need of anything in my line to give me a call. Office and stable in rear of Lewis House.

50tf R. LEONARD.

RESCUED FROM DEATH

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. [illegible] I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1882.

Funny Boy.

A funny little chin,
A funny little nose,
A funny little grin,
Ten funny little toes,
Two funny little eyes,
And funny little hands;
How funny he tries
To give his wee commands.

A funny little chat
With funny little here,
A funny little cat,
And funny toads and trees,
A funny little dress,
A funny laugh of joy;
May Heaven ever bless
My funny little boy!

A funny little sigh,
A funny little head
That funnily will try
To miss the time for bed,
A funny little peep
From funny eyes that gleam,
A funny little sleep,
A funny little dream.

Gave instantaneous relief. St. Jacob's Oil. Neuralgia. Prof. Tice.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A CORN-SHUCKING.

A Night Scene in Georgia Full of Fun and Excitement.

The farmer who proposes to give a corn-shucking selects a level spot in his lot, conveniently near the crib, rakes away all trash, and sweeps the place clean with a brush broom. The corn is then pulled off the stalks, thrown into wagons, hauled to the lot and thrown out on the spot selected, all in one pile. If it has been previously "norated" through the neighborhood that there is to be plenty to eat and drink at the corn-shucking, and if the night is auspicious there will certainly be a crowd. Soon after dark the negroes begin to come in, and before long the place will be alive with them—men, women and children. After the crowd has gathered and been moderately warmed up, two "gin'r'ls" are chosen from the most famous corn-shuckers on the ground, and these proceed to divide the shuckers into two parties, later comers reporting to one side or the other, so as to keep the forces equally divided. The next step, which is one of great importance, is to divide the corn-pile. This is done by laying a fence-rail across the top of the corn-pile, so that the vertical plane passing through the rail, will divide the pile into two equal portions. Laying the rail is of great importance, since upon this depends the accuracy of the division; it is accompanied with much argument, not to say wrangling. The position of the rail being determined, the two generals mount the corn-pile and work begins. The necessity for the "gin'r'ls" to occupy the most conspicuous position accessible from which to cheer their followers, is one reason why they get up on top of the corn; but there is another, equally important, which is to keep the rail from being moved, it being no uncommon thing for one side to change the position of the rail, and thus throw an unfair portion of the work upon their adversaries. The position of "gin'r'el" in a corn-shucker differs from that of the soldier, as the former is in greater danger than any of his followers, for the chances are that, should his side seem to be gaining, one of their opponents will knock the leader off the corn-pile, and thus cause a momentary panic, which is eagerly taken advantage of. This proceeding, however, is considered fair only in extreme cases, and not unfrequently leads to a general row. If it is possible, imagine a negro man standing upon a pile of corn, holding in his hand an ear of corn and shouting the words of a song below, and you will have pictured the "corn gin'r'l." It is a prime requisite that he should be ready in his improvisations and have a good voice, so that he may lead in the corn song. The corn-song is almost always a song with a chorus, or to use the language of the corn-shucker, the "corn-gin'r'ls give out" and shuckers "drone." These songs are kept up continuously during the entire time the work is going on, and though extremely simple yet when sung by fifty pairs of lusty lungs there are few things more stirring.

My husband had drunken habits he could not overcome until Parker's Ginger Tonic took away his thirst for stimulants, restored his old energy of mind and nerves, and gave him strength to [illegible] to business. [Cincinnati Lady. [illegible]

Remarkable if True.

A remarkable circumstance is reported from Fort Wayne, Ind. On Tuesday afternoon last, Mrs W. L. Pettit, wife of the teller of the First National bank of Fort Wayne, apparently died, and the undertaker took charge of the body. Arrangements were making for the funeral and watchers sitting with the supposed corpse. At 10 o'clock at night a faint was heard coming from the body. The watchers started to their feet in alarm, stepped to her side, found her eyes were wide open, while in a voice that was scarcely an audible whisper, she recognized them and asked for her husband. For a moment the attendants were speechless with wonder at this resurrection of the dead; then, with the revulsion of feeling, they almost screamed with exitement. The husband came in haste and with joy unspeakable clasped again his living wife in his arms. The doctor was sent for, and he was as much astonished as the rest of the household at beholding living what in his exact medical science he had declared dead. He administered the proper restoratives, and the patient rapidly recovered, and was declared at a late hour to be in a more hopeful condition than ever.

There is hardly an adult person living but sometimes troubled with kidney difficulty, which is the most prolific and dangerous cause of all disease. There is no sort of need to have any form of kidney or urinary trouble if Hop Bitters are taken occasionally. 22w2

Henry Link, of Pittstown, N. Y., killed a cow recently, and, upon opening it, was astonished to find a straight piece of wire 3 7-16 inches long pinning the first stomach to the heart. The wire is supposed to have been swallowed with some chaff last winter. It had worked its way through the stomach and buried more than half its length in the middle of the heart. The cow was in good health until a week before it was killed. Many have visited Mr Link and examined the heart and wire.

DEPEND UPON IT.

[illegible]

An Eye Man Floored.

A few days since a drummer for a New York optical instrument house happened in Evansville, and while exhibiting his samples produced a box of artificial eyes of all colors and began to descant upon their superiority. While enlarging pompously upon the beauty of his goods a little man stepped up and said:

"You may talk about your goods being the finest in the market but can you prove your assertions? No, sir, you can not. Just look at this left eye of mine if you woud see perfection."

"The optical man examined it closely, and with a half sneer in his voice asked:

"Where did you get that eye?"

"Got it in New York."

"Well, sir, I can assure you that you didn't get it at our house."

"No I got it at another place."

"Exactly such botch work as that is never allowed to leave our factory. The least defect in an eye condemns it, and yours is full of blemishes. In the first place it is too light a shade to match the other one, and anyone can see that it is size too small for you. Again, it is not natural in its appearance. It will deceive no one. Its artificial points crop out on every side, and it has not one single aspect of the natural eye. How long have you worn it?"

"Ever since I can remember. You see I was born in New York, and this eye was born with me. It's a natural one, and a mighty good one, too."

"The man picked up his grip and quietly faded from view.

If bilious, or suffering from impurity of blood, or weak lungs and fear of consumption (scrofulous disease of the lungs), take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and it will cure you. By druggists.

Fashion Notes.

Velvet will be used to combine with satin de Lyon more than plush.

Turbans to match suits are worn by younger girls, in fact, all sorts of turbans are the fashion.

Redingotes and paletots are the prevailing styles for outdoor wraps if they can be called wraps.

Among the old fancies in winter millinery is the helmet shape that projects far over the face.

Oriental lace will play a prominent part in the trimming of ball and reception dresses the present season.

Velvet vests, basques, and costumes have small flat buttons that are wooden moulds covered with velvet.

They say the old-fashioned mink is again to make its appearance—sealskin will not alone rule the market.

Children's wraps for winter will still be made in Mother Hubbard style, but the fullness will be held in box-pleats rather than shirring, and the puffs will be omitted from the shoulder.

The "Anatolie" wrap is a unique and graceful garment, cut with a dolman back partially fitted with curved seam down the middle sacque front, and sleeves inserted in dolman style, slightly gathered at the top.

Box-pleatings are much used for the trimmings of dress skirts. A puff made of box-pleats that are pulled out to form the puff, falling over a stiff narrow box-pleated palyeuse, is a favorite style for trimming the skirt around the bottom.

Round hats are still on the increase. The old-fashioned Gainsborough is nowhere now in point of size. They come as usual, in felt and beaver, and are trimmed with sweeping plumes and a succession of birds, suggestive of a flight of swallows.

Two colors are very much used in both bonnets and hats, and great care must be taken in such combination. In bonnets and hats electric blue and shrimp pink are charming together; hunters' green and old gold harmonize well. Carabinier red and crushed strawberry, two colors that fashion has dictated, may be placed in juxtaposition.

[Rome Sentinel.

"Men are but sorry witnesses in their own causes." The praise of Kidney Wort comes from the mouths of those who have been made strong and healthy by it. Listen: "It is curing everybody," writes a druggist. "Kidney Wort is the most popular medicine we sell." It should be by right, as no other medicine has such specific action on the liver, bowels and kidneys.

A Wife's Part in Married Life.

I am perfectly willing to admit that in the majority of cases this whole matter settles itself; but there is a large minority of cases where the wife is kept during her whole life in a false position, from a false theory of treasurership. There are, no doubt cases where a man earns a great fortune, while his wife's existence is that of a butterfly. These cases are rare. Taking one family with another, the wife works as hard as the husband; and the fact that his share involves the handling of the money does not make it his money. It belongs to both; and what he pays over to her is not a gift but a matter of right. "This was a present to me from my wife," said a rich man, showing an ornament. "Bought with your money?" said a friend, jocosely. "No," said: "out of her own hard earnings. She keeps house for a man of your acquaintance!"

—T. W. Higginson.

BE YOUR OWN DOCTOR.

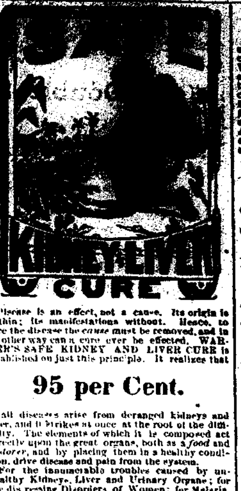
It won't cost you one-half as much. Do not delay. Send two 3 cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 23w2

Very respectable funerals are now furnished in New York at $30 each, including hearse and several carriages. Thank heaven death is getting within reach of people in moderate circumstances.

Hon. David Davis, heavy weight, 300 pounds dressed, is to wed Miss Barr, a feathor weight, who stands about 100 pounds in her stocking feet. The contracting parties will look like a double bass drum and an E flat horn when they go off on their wedding tour.

A LESSON IN EQUESTRIANISM.

Horseback riding as an art and as a beneficial exercise is one of the most judicial habits that one could cultivate. While it affords the equestrian every opportunity for the cultivation of graceful posing, it comprising all the healthful elements of the most invigorating pleasures. Like all else in the world, however, if indulged in immoderately, the the results are extremely painful and oftimes dangerous. Galled limbs and piles that itch intently, particularly after getting warm into bed, are not frequently the outcome of excessive exercise in the [illegible]



Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 per Cent.

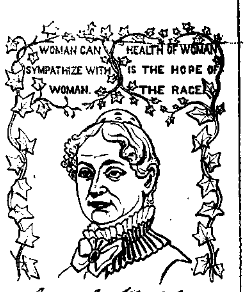
For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S
VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhea, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON
9m6

---

500 Reward!

We will pay the above reward for any case of liver complaint, dyspepsia, sick headache, indigestion, constipation or costiveness we cannot cure with West's Vegetable Liver Pills, when the directions are strictly complied with. They are purely vegetable, and never fail to give satisfaction. Sugar coated. Large boxes containing 30 pills, 25 cents. For sale by all druggists. Beware of all counterfeits and imitations. The genuine manufactured only by John C. West & Co. The pill makers, 181 & 183 West Madison St Chicago. Free trial package sent by mail prepaid on receipt of a 3 cent stamp. 3iy1.

Q. RUST
LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock
SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.
AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates.
Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN McALLISTER & Co.,
STEAM
GRANITE WORKS,

Nos431 to 439 West 14th Street,
NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,
RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS. AT ELDER'S
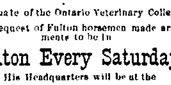
Meals Served at All Hours.
Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County
ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.



DR. GEO. W. BELL,
VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,
(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)
has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the
LEWIS HOUSE BARN,
where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 35tf

---

LEGAL.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of Hon. T. W. Skinner, surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Philetta P. Briggs late of the town of Volney in said county deceased; to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at her residence in the village of Fulton, N. Y. on or before the 25th day of October 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such cases made and provided.

Dated April 19. 1882. HANNAH F. BALL,
Administratrix of the estate of Philetta P. Briggs deceased. 43 mos 6.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Lewis Fuller, late of the town of Granby in said county, deceased, to present their accounts, with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Granby, Oswego county, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

D. B. GILBERT.
Dated June 1, 1882 Executor.
2mo6

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin late of the town of Hastings in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y. on or before the first day of December 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

JOHN H. WOODIN,
Dated, May 25, 1882. Executor
2mo6 of Peter Woodin, deceased.

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co., during the year 1882 and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phoenix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.
N. W. NUTTING,
4w Oswego County Judge.

INSURANCE
C. H. DAVID'S
INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.
NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000
HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over $2,400,082 2
SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,585.19
WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00
Each company with large surplus.
MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,309.35,
C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

——Insure With——
C. W. STREETER.
The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.
Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!
——FOR THE——
SPRING TRADE.
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS
In Great Variety and at Low Prices the Book Store of
C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

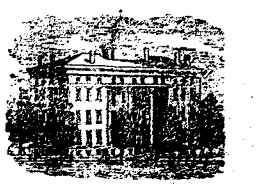
100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest
——AT——
GEO. JOHNSTON'S,
ONEIDA STREET
Stove and Tinware
ESTABLISHMENT.
——:o:——
Our Stock of
Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,
is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for
Roofing and Jobbing,
are second to none in the county.
Estimates given on all kinds of Roofing and Tin Work.

FALLEY SEMINARY,
Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition.......................44 00
Board and Tuition (short week).........36 00
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Sept. 5th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving
LARGE QUANTITIES OF
Fresh Mined Coal
And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.
Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg
☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE
SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.
FIFTEENTH YEAR.
FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1882.
VOLUME 15—NUMBER 24

THE FULTON TIMES.
IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.
Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

A Party Man.

That I am a regular temperance man
You surely all must know,
To all the meetings of the lodge
I'm always sure to go;
And well you know at every place,
Be it parlor, church, or hall,
I always try to do my best
By talking most of all.

That I'm a regular party man
You must admit is true;
I never stay at home, but vote
Its ticket through and through,
And though I am a temperance man
I really can't see why
To help elect my party's men
I should not always try.

That my party is a whiskey one
I know as well as you;
But for me to turn against it now
It really would not do,
And tho' 'mong its list of candidates
There's not a temperance man;
I think we all should do our best
And elect them if we can.

That my party is a tricky one
I know as well as you;
To get on every side the fence
It always tries to do,
And though it's promised great reforms,
And never yet done more,
It is the same old party, and
I love it as of yore.

That my party is a changing one
I know as well as you;
To suit the party to the place
We always try to do,
And tho' it's whiskey in the East
And temperance in the West
To vote its entire ticket straight
I always think it best.

The Boston Pilot says: St Jacobs Oil stands without equal.

AN HOUR OF TERROR.

I found myself on the following morning looking into the mirror to see whether or not my hair had turned white; and I have often wondered since how I managed to pass through safely; but I did somehow and am here now to tell you about it, if you will be patient and listen.

I was just sixteen years of age and the youngest of a large family, all of whom had married and left home but myself. We were residing in the country, and I had never wished to leave my quiet home until after that eventful night of which I am about to tell you.

My mother used to call me her "Tomboy" daughter, and indeed, if it had not been for my accomplishments in this direction, I hardly know how I should have taken care of myself on that eventful night—as you will observe when I have finished.

My father was a physician and had been called to the bedside of a patient who was expected to die every moment, consequently we did not expect him back until some time the next day.

My mother had dismissed all the servants for the night and closed the doors. It was past our usual bed time, but we were both deeply absorbed in our new books, and seemed indisposed to retire.

At last, however, mother closed her book, and said it was time we were in bed, as we were expecting my brother and his wife to arrive the next morning at about three o'clock, and would be called up to meet them. I had just placed my novel on the table, and was leaning back to enjoy a huge yawn, when the front gate opened and some one came rapidly up the front steps to the porch. The next moment there was a loud knock at the door, and mother and I looked at each other a moment, as if wondering who could be coming at such a late hour.

"Some one has sent for your father, I guess," said mother, going to her room door which opened into the hall. "Who's there?" she inquired; I heard the voice of my brother in law, who lived about a mile away, saying that his wife was quite ill, and he had come for father.

Of course I was sorry for my sister's illness, but at the same time was glad that the caller was not an intruder, as I had at first feared. When mother informed him that father was away, he asked her if she would not return home with him, as she might be able to render my sister some relief.

Of course she could not refuse, and so I was to be left alone, for I could not possibly leave home also, on account of my brother and his wife, whom I should be compelled to remain at home to receive.

Perhaps I was more easily frightened than most girls of my age, but the fact that I was "the baby of the family," and never had been left alone at night, I think quite a sufficient reason for my failing.

After seeing mother safely off I fastened the door, and taking my book, went up stairs to my own room, where I determined to spend the remainder of the night reading—at least until my brother and wife came at three.

A door opened from my room upon a little balcony, into which one from the hall also opened. This I left ajar to admit fresh air as I knew there could be no possible means of reaching it from the porch below except by a long ladder.

I could not centre my thoughts upon the [illegible] before me, although I had [illegible] before mother [illegible] looking down towards the servants' houses to see if they had all retired. Everything was dark and still, and I again decided to be as brave as possible, and forget all about robbers and ghosts; and so after satisfying myself once more that there was no one in the closet, or wardrobe, or under the bed, I took possession of my book and sat down to read.

I managed to read a chapter or two, and again I found myself peering out through the window into the garden, and trying to form the dancing shadows there into human forms making their stealthy way through the shrubbery.

I was about to turn my eyes to my book once more when I saw something that caused me to start and look more closely. Yes, it was indeed a man creeping along toward the servant's houses behind the hedge. Who could it be? The servants had said nothing the night before about leaving, and it was something unusual for one of them to keep such a thing a secret, as they seem to take delight in making known their pleasure trips to us for several days before they were to take place. Even if it was one of them, why should he be so careful to get to his house? And why had he come in through the garden instead of the lane?

I watched him until he had reached the garden gate, and opening it stepped into the back yard. He paused and looked about in every direction, and I saw him peering through the branches of trees in the direction towards where I stood. Shading my eyes I looked more closely to see if I could tell who it was, but could not. He wore a large, broad brimmed black hat and a long coat. He seemed to be gazing up at my window for a full minute, and then he stepped hastily across the yard and disappeared around the house. I hurried to the back window in time to see him enter the house of Uncle Ben our old gardener.

"Pshaw!" I said to myself. "It's nobody but Uncle Ben, after all. Been over to see some neighbors and come late."

But still I was not exactly satisfied, for I was thinking about the manner in which he had come to the house.

It was just half past twelve. Mercy! What was I to do with the remainder of the time till three o'clock came?

When the excitement occasioned by the appearance of the figure in the garden subsided a little, my eyelids began to get heavy, and almost before I knew it the chin rested on my chest, and I was fast asleep.

When I awoke, it was with a sudden start, and I almost sprang to my feet. I wondered why I had been aroused so suddenly, and listened to hear whether the sound or whatever it was would be repeated.

All was still as death. Nothing to meet my listening ear save the mournful breeze as it gently rustled the leaves outside of my window; and the faint tick, tick, of the large clock in the hall down stairs. Yes, a cricket was chirping from the hearth and I could hear the weird lonely hoot of an owl from the neighboring wood.

A thrill ran through me. Everything seemed so completely forsaken—so quiet and desolate. Looking at my watch I discovered that it was actually two o'clock, and indeed was surprised to learn that I had been asleep so long. Another hour before my brother would come. I thought it would never do to allow myself to fall asleep again, and remembering that there were some apples in the closet, I started to get one hoping it would assist me to keep awake. I had just stooped over the basket when I heard a strange grinding, cutting sound, very low, but distinct. I turned to listen, and it came to my ear louder than before.

I asked myself if it could be a huge rat cutting his way into the pantry below, but the next instant this hope was driven from me, for the noise was evidently made by something larger than a rat. Someone was trying to affect an entrance.

Oh, Heaven! What could I do? Suppose it were a robber attempting to make an entrance into the house? What would become os me? I shuddered and stood like one riveted to the floor. I felt the perspiration stealing out upon my forehead in great hot beads, and almost heard my heart beating. Again I listened in breathless suspense. The sound was unmistakable this time, and that it was an intruder I did not doubt, trying to cut his way through the blinds below.

There were guns in the house, and I could handle one about as good as any country girl; but the fact was they were all down stairs in the pantry, and if I attempted to go after one I might rush into the very arms of a burglar. Besides I did not know where the pantry key was. Perhaps it was in the sitting room; where mother sometimes kept it, or perhaps in her room; but in what exact place? Alas, maybe she had taken it away in her pocket. So there was no hope of obtaining a gun, and the only thing remaining for me to do was to try and make my escape. But how?

The thought struck me that I might extinguish the light and hide myself; but then I should run the risk of being discovered and perhaps killed.

I was indeed in a state of perplexity, and asked myself what I should do. The sound still grew louder. Whoever the intruder was he was certainly getting bolder.

I unfastened my shoes and carefully slipped them off, then blew out the light, and cautiously making my way to the door which opened to the balcony, stood just inside and listened. Yes, it most certainly at one of the front windows! Lying down on the floor, I crawled to the edge of the balcony and peeped carefully over at the windows of my mother's room.

way to the other end of the balcony, and looked over in the same manner. To my inexpressible horror, I saw the dark figure of a man at one of the parlor windows. If he once managed to get in, he could go all through the house except the pantry.

I saw in an instant it was the same man whom I had seen in the yard. Could it be that our old gardener had learned of father's and mother's absence and meant to take advantage of it to rob our house? I could scarcely believe it for we had always reposed such confidence in Uncle Ben that I did not believe him capable of such a deed.

The noise ceased for a moment, and looking closely I saw him thrust his hand in through the hole he had cut and unfasten the blinds. Opening them, he tried the window, but fortunately it could not be lifted from the outside. He then set to work with his knife again to cut out the sash.

How I shuddered. He would soon be in, and what would become of me? Could I make my way down stairs and out the back door before he cut through? Was there nothing I could do to prevent him from taking away mother's valuables? There were several handsome articles of silver in the parlor, besides all the table silver on the sideboard in the hall. If I could only get out, I might send for help before he had sufficient time to make away with the stolen property.

I spent little time, however, in planning for their safety, for I was wondering how I was to take care of myself.

I had crept back to my room door, and stood looking around for some means of escape. The noise had ceased altogether now, and stepping back to the edge of the balcony, I looked over—and the man had disappeared. He had succeeded in entering the parlor window!

There was no possible means of getting out by the lower story now, for the stairs went down immediately at the parlor door, and I could not escape being seen should I attempt to descend. I had almost made up my mind to jump from the balcony into the porch, but it was a foolish thought, for it was entirely too high, and I would be sure to break a limb or sprain my ankle, and thus throw myself into the villain's power.

Once more I turned into my room, and my brain was in such a whirl that I could think of no course to pursue—nothing but to stand and listen. My heart fluttered. I heard a soft step on the stair, and the next moment saw a light thrown upon the wall in the entry. He was coming!

I wrung my hands and glanced hurriedly about. Must I hide myself between the feather-bed and mattress! Good Heaven! I hadn't time for that, for he was half way up the stairs.

The closet door stood open, and springing to it I took out the key, and stepping in, closed the door, locking it on the inside. Peeping through a knot hole, I saw the dark form of a man stepping cautiously across the hall to my room, holding a small lantern in his hand. When he stood on the threshold, he threw the light in and peered anxiously about. Coming into the room he examined the bed—he even stopped and looked under it, then turned to the table and stood looking at my book and the lamp, as if trying to solve some mystery. He turned over one of my shoes with his foot, and glanced up at the open door.

Mercy! could it be that he was searching for me? If so, he would not fail to examine the closet and if he should succeed in opening it—alas! I pressed my hand involuntarily upon my heart to quiet its wild throbbing.

"Well," I heard him mutter from beneath his mask, "I am sure I heard a noise as I was coming up. She must be here somewhere, for there was a light burning in here. If I could only find her—but it may be that—"

Again he glanced up at the door. In my anxiety to watch his movements I rubbed against the key, and it fell to the floor with a loud ring. Instantly his gaze was riveted upon the closet door as he came slowly toward it. Taking hold of the bolt, he shook it gently and then stood very quiet for some time, as if listening.

"Yes," he said at length, "I saw a bunch of keys down stairs somewhere, and I guess I can find one to fit this lock; If I don't, I can make use of these tools on it."

So saying, he turned away, and as he went into the hall I heard him shut my room door and lock it on the outside.

I felt for the key on the floor, and hastily opened the closet, stood and listened in breathless suspense. With a bold heavy step he descended into the hall, and although I had not recognized him as such, I now firmly believed him to be no other than our gardner, for he seemed to be aware that I was the only occupant of the house, and to believe that he had me securely locked in my room; but, strange to say, he had forgotten the door leading into the balcony, and stepping out, I again looked about me for some means of escape.

I tried the front hall door, and to my delight found it unfastened. From it a little flight of stairs led up into a room in the roof, where there were two dormer windows.

Hastening up these steps, I raised one of the windows and stepped out upon the roof lowering the sash after me. The moon was shining brilliantly, and I looked up and down the road to see if any one was in sight; but not a moving object could I discern from among the clustering bushes and shadows.

Once more I listened, and heard the intruder coming up the first stairway, and knew he was coming to break into the closet. I had been thoughtful enough to lock it when I came out, in order to keep him employed as long as possible, hoping aid might arrive before he was gone.

[illegible]

and start to come up the second flight of stairs.

Dear me! Would he suspect what I had done, and come out on the roof to look for me! Perhaps he had heard me raise the window.

Running to the far end of the house, I saw the limb of a tree extending out quite near the edge of the roof, and thought perhaps I might swing down by it. It was very small and weak, and I was almost afraid to risk it; but perhaps it would sustain my weight until I could reach another limb. But suppose that it should break? The fall would be quite sure to kill me.

I was almost ready to abandon the idea, and make myself contented upon the roof until my brother came, allow the robber to carry away everything in the house if he chose, when a loud rattle upon the dormer window aroused me, and without even thinking further of what might be the consequences, I took hold of the limb and stepped off the roof, swinging far out over the yard.

As I looked down I grew faint, and came near letting go my hold. There I was hanging high up in the air, suspended by a frail limb, and to fall would be certain death.

Climbing hand over hand, I soon reached the trunk of the tree, where I let go my hold and caught on a large limb. Lowering myself from one branch to another until I reached the lowest limb, I stood for a moment, and looking back up at the roof, listened, to ascertain whether or not I was being pursued.

I could hear nothing, however, and climbing carefully out to the smallest end of the limb, I bent it down, and swinging off by my hands, reached the ground in safety.

The next thought was to seek assistance, so that the robber might be captured and the valuables recovered. I ran hastily to the house of our gardiner, and finding the door slightly ajar, pushed it open and looked in at the bed. By the light of the moon falling full upon it, I saw that it was unoccupied and had not even been disturbed. I had hoped that he was innocent, and that I should find him in his bed asleep; but I saw plainly now that my hopes were in vain.

I then went to our cook's room and called her. She sprang out of bed with a frightened exclamation and ran to the door to know what I wanted. I told her in as few words as possible, asking her to go for our nearest neighbor, who lived about half a mile away from us.

Of course she would, and while she drew on her clothes I took up an old gun from a corner of the room, and finding that it was loaded, hastened back to the house.

I stationed myself at the end of the porch, behind a clump of vines, and stood with my gun ready to shoot at the shortest notice. I could hear the intruder in the house, going up and down stairs, turning over chairs and keeping up a general racket. At last he appeared at the window, and stepping out upon the porch stood looking up the road.

"Guess I'd better be gittin' away from here, 'cause that young miss has got out, and first thing I know somebody'll be comin' in here to eat me up, skin and bone. I've got the money, anyway, and that's all I wanted, 'cept missus' watch and chain; but I'll git it some day."

He turned as if to leave, and I let him have a load from my gun in one of his legs. He fell to the floor with a terrible yell, and kept quiet. I thought if I could keep him there until help came without taking his life, I should be satisfied.

Raising himself on his elbow with a moan he looked about and said—

"Oh, I am shot! I'm killed! Please don't shoot me any more, and I'll give the money all back—every cent!"

I did not show myself, but prepared the other barrel to shoot, if it should become necessary. It did not, however, for it was not long before the cook returned, accompanied by our neighbor and his two sons, who took possession of the gentleman, and relieved me of my watching.

A few moments later my brother and his wife arrived, and I discovered that it had been exactly one hour since I was aroused from my slumber in my room.

The robber was no other than the old gardener, and he afterward confessed he knew father was not at home, and saw mother when she went away with my mother. He was very much in need of the opportunity to go into the house and search for some. He also said that he meant to force me to tell him the whereabouts of father's money, but he said nothing about intending to take my watch.

When I saw him come through the garden into the yard, he had been off to borrow the hat and coat from his brother, with whom he promised to divide the proceeds of the night.

The mask he formed himself of a piece of black cloth, and indeed, had I not seen him enter his own house, I should never have known him, for the disguise was perfect.

Rest assured that I have never since remained in a large house alone at night.

CALLED TO PREACH.

We feel called upon to preach a few gospel facts—facts that are worth knowgin. We want everybody to enjoy all that is possible in this world. We want all those who are suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, add all aches, sprains to know that Thomas Eclectric Oil is an unfailing and splendid cure.

GALLANT RESCUES.

There can be something heroic in a medicine as well as individuals. Burdock Blood Bitters have effected many a gallant rescue among the suffering sick. Thousands have escaped the miseries of dyspepsia and nervous debility through the of this wonderful medicine It is emphatically the best stomach and blood tonic in the world.

Remember one fact, Burger has taken the [illegible]

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.
Directions in Eleven Languages.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.
A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER
It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.
Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.
In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.
KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS
The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.
This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take
BLUE PILLS
or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.
Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?
IT IS Dangerous!
Don't Wait!
Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters!
Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is
The Invalid's Friend.
The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,
Try a Bottle To-Day!
Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you.
A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.
TRADE MARK
TRADE MARK

BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.
The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.
☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.
Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything
NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.
Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.
—A First-Class line of—
TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.
An Inspection of Stock is asked.

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at
FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."
Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.
We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.
A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.
100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.
Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.
E B. FAY.

NO ONE Should Forget
that
WATERMAN'S
is the place to find and buy almost anything you want in the line of Sporting Goods—Ammunition—Electric Stock,
FISHING TACKLE,
FINE DRAWER AND CHESS LOCKS, ALL KINDS MACHINE NEEDLES, ELECTRIC AND COMMON DOOR BELL Fixtures &c., &c.
And the
ROYAL ST. JOHN
Sewing Machine.
There is no use trying to enumerate all our facilities for supplying the public want. Seeing is believing! Come and see for yourselves, at 34 First Stret, Fulton, N. Y.
April 18tf.

F. D. VAN WAGENEN Jr.,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office.)
In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.
Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.
Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY
(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)
General Jobbers in Wood.
PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,
And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.
Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,
Manufactured to Order.
Estimates Given on Buildings.
Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.
Fulton Sept 6.
GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."
To THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.
I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate, fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 346 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.
Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.
Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

D. Mc Carthy & Co.,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER
DISPLAY
—OF—
Rich and Elegant
DRESS GOODS.
We announce, as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of Combination Effects
—IN—
Broche and Broche Checks
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids,
all of which have an indentical match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.
☞ Please call and see them.

SILK
DEPARTMENT.
We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:—
Colored and Black Plushes! IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour, DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Velovrs, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais. ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperatrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.
This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics ever displayed in Central New York.
☞ Examination invited.

Cloak Department.
The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments—both Imported and Eastern make—ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these are lines of styles—
Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.
D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.
The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.
J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRCE!
For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell
Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,
At Cost. No trouble to show goods at the City Drug Store.
M. M. WILLIAMS.
No. 3 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR. FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1882. VOLUME 15—NUMBER 24

THE FULTON TIMES.
IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.
Office: Second Floor, Sanderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

A Party Man.

That I am a regular temperance man
You surely all must know,
To all the meetings of the lodge
I'm always sure to go;
And well you know at every place,
Be it parlor, church, or hall,
I always try to do my best
By talking most of all.

That I'm a regular party man
You must admit is true;
I never stay at home, but vote
Its ticket through and through,
And though I am a temperance man
I really can't see why
To help elect my party's men
I should not always try.

That my party is a whiskey one
I know as well as you;
But for me to turn against it now
It really would not do,
And tho' 'mong its list of candidates
There's not a temperance man;
I think we all should do our best
And elect them if we can.

That my party is a tricky one
I know as well as you;
To get on every side the fence
It always tries to do,
And though it's promised great reforms,
And never yet done more,
It is the same old party, and
I love it as of yore.

That my party is a changing one
I know as well as you;
To suit the party to the place
We always try to do.
And tho' it's whiskey in the East
And temperance in the West
To vote its entire ticket straight
I always think it best

The Boston Pilot says: St Jacobs Oil stands without equal.

AN HOUR OF TERROR.

I found myself on the following morning looking into the mirror to see whether or not my hair had turned white; and I have often wondered since how I managed to pass through safely; but I did somehow and am here now to tell you about it, if you will be patient and listen.

I was just sixteen years of age and the youngest of a large family, all of whom had married and left home but myself. We were residing in the country, and I had never wished to leave my quiet home until after that eventful night of which I am about to tell you.

My mother used to call me her "Tomboy" daughter, and indeed, if it had not been for my accomplishments in this direction, I hardly know how I should have taken care of myself on that eventful night—as you will observe when I have finished.

My father was a physician and had been called to the bedside of a patient who was expected to die every moment, consequently we did not expect him back until some time the next day.

My mother had dismissed all the servants for the night and closed the doors. It was past our usual bed time, but we were both deeply absorbed in our new books, and seemed indisposed to retire.

At last, however, mother closed her book, and said it was time we were in bed, as we were expecting my brother and his wife to arrive the next morning at about three o'clock, and would be called up to meet them. I had just placed my novel on the table, and was leaning back to enjoy a huge yawn, when the front gate opened and some one came rapidly up the front steps to the porch. The next moment there was a loud knock at the door, and mother and I looked at each other a moment, as if wondering who could be coming at such a late hour.

"Some one has sent for your father, I guess," said mother, going to her room door which opened into the hall. "Who's there?" she inquired; I heard the voice of my brother in law, who lived about a mile away, saying that his wife was quite ill, and he had come for father.

Of course I was sorry for my sister's illness, but at the same time was glad that the caller was not an intruder, as I had at first feared. When mother informed him that father was away, he asked her if she would not return home with him, as she might be able to render my sister some relief.

Of course she could not refuse, and so I was to be left alone, for I could not possibly leave home also, on account of my brother and his wife, whom I should be compelled to remain at home to receive.

Perhaps I was more easily frightened than most girls of my age, but the fact that I was "the baby of the family," and never had been left alone at night, I think quite a sufficient reason for my failing.

After seeing mother safely off I fastened the door, and taking my book, went up stairs to my own room, where I determined to spend the remainder of the night reading—at least until my brother and wife came at three.

A door opened from my room upon a little balcony, into which one from the hall also opened. This I left ajar to admit fresh air as I knew there could be no possible means of reaching it from the porch below except by a long ladder.

[illegible] my thoughts upon [illegible] although I had [illegible] looking down towards the servants' houses to see if they had all retired. Everything was dark and still, and I again decided to be as brave as possible, and forget all about robbers and ghosts; and so after satisfying myself once more that there was no one in the closet, or wardrobe, or under the bed, I took possession of my book and sat down to read.

I managed to read a chapter or two, and again I found myself peering out through the window into the garden, and trying to form the dancing shadows there into human forms making their stealthy way through the shrubbery.

I was about to turn my eyes to my book once more when I saw something that caused me to start and look more closely. Yes, it was indeed a man creeping along toward the servant's houses behind the hedge. Who could it be? The servants had said nothing the night before about leaving, and it was something unusual for one of them to keep such a thing a secret, as they seem to take delight in making known their pleasure trips to us for several days before they were to take place. Even if it was one of them, why should he be so careful to get to his house? And why had he come in through the garden instead of the lane?

I watched him until he had reached the garden gate, and opening it stepped into the back yard. He paused and looked about in every direction, and I saw him peering through the branches of trees in the direction towards where I stood. Shading my eyes I looked more closely to see if I could tell who it was, but could not. He wore a large, broad brimmed black hat and a long coat. He seemed to be gazing up at my window for a full minute, and then he stepped hastily across the yard and disappeared around the house. I hurried to the back window in time to see him enter the house of Uncle Ben our old gardener.

"Pshaw!" I said to myself. "It's nobody but Uncle Ben, after all. Been over to see some neighbors and come late."

But still I was not exactly satisfied, for I was thinking about the manner in which he had come to the house.

It was just half past twelve. Mercy! What was I to do with the remainder of the time till three o'clock came?

When the excitement occasioned by the appearance of the figure in the garden subsided a little, my eyelids began to get heavy, and almost before I knew it the chin rested on my chest, and I was fast asleep.

When I awoke, it was with a sudden start, and I almost sprang to my feet. I wondered why I had been aroused so suddenly, and listened to hear whether the sound or whatever it was would be repeated.

All was still as death. Nothing to meet my listening ear save the mournful breeze as it gently rustled the leaves outside of my window; and the faint tick, tick, of the large clock in the hall down stairs. Yes, a cricket was chirping from the hearth and I could hear the weird lonely hoot of an owl from the neighboring wood.

A thrill ran through me. Everything seemed so completely forsaken—so quiet and desolate. Looking at my watch I discovered that it was actually two o'clock, and indeed was surprised to learn that I had been asleep so long. Another hour before my brother would come. I thought it would never do to allow myself to fall asleep again, and remembering that there were some apples in the closet, I started to get one hoping it would assist me to keep awake. I had just stooped over the basket when I heard a strange grinding, cutting sound, very low, but distinct. I turned to listen, and it came to my ear louder than before.

I asked myself if it could be a huge rat cutting his way into the pantry below, but the next instant this hope was driven from me, for the noise was evidently made by something larger than a rat. Someone was trying to affect an entrance.

Oh, Heaven! What could I do? Suppose it were a robber attempting to make an entrance into the house? What would become os me? I shuddered and stood like one riveted to the floor. I felt the perspiration stealing out upon my forehead in great hot beads, and almost heard my heart beating. Again I listened in breathless suspense. The sound was unmistakable this time, and that it was an intruder I did not doubt, trying to cut his way through the blinds below.

There were guns in the house, and I could handle one about as good as any country girl; but the fact was they were all down stairs in the pantry, and if I attempted to go after one I might rush into the very arms of a burglar. Besides I did not know where the pantry key was. Perhaps it was in the sitting room; where mother sometimes kept it, or perhaps in her room; but in what exact place? Alas, maybe she had taken it away in her pocket. So there was no hope of obtaining a gun, and the only thing remaining for me to do was to try and make my escape. But how?

The thought struck me that I might extinguish the light and hide myself; but then I should run the risk of being discovered and perhaps killed.

I was indeed in a state of perplexity, and asked myself what I should do. The sound still grew louder. Whoever the intruder was he was certainly getting bolder.

I unfastened my shoes and carefully slipped them off, then blew out the light, and cautiously making my way to the door which opened to the balcony, stood just inside and listened. Yes, it most certainly at one of the front windows! Lying down on the floor, I crawled to the edge of the balcony and peeped carefully over at the windows of [illegible] way to the other end of the balcony, and looked over in the same manner. To my inexpressible horror, I saw the dark figure of a man at one of the parlor windows. If he once managed to get in, he could go all through the house except the pantry.

I saw in an instant it was the same man whom I had seen in the yard. Could it be that our old gardener had learned of father's and mother's absence and meant to take advantage of it to rob our house? I could scarcely believe it for we had always reposed such confidence in Uncle Ben that I did not believe him capable of such a deed.

The noise ceased for a moment, and looking closely I saw him thrust his hand in through the hole he had cut and unfasten the blinds. Opening them, he tried the window, but fortunately it could not be lifted from the outside. He then set to work with his knife again to cut out the sash.

How I shuddered. He would soon be in, and what would become of me? Could I make my way down stairs and out the back door before he cut through? Was there nothing I could do to prevent him from taking away mother's valuables? There were several handsome articles of silver in the parlor, besides all the table silver on the sideboard in the hall. If I could only get out, I might send for help before he had sufficient time to make away with the stolen property.

I spent little time, however, in planning for their safety, for I was wondering how I was to take care of myself.

I had crept back to my room door, and stood looking around for some means of escape. The noise had ceased altogether now, and stepping back to the edge of the balcony, I looked over—and the man had disappeared. He had succeeded in entering the parlor window!

There was no possible means of getting out by the lower story now, for the stairs went down immediately at the parlor door, and I could not escape being seen should I attempt to descend. I had almost made up my mind to jump from the balcony into the porch, but it was a foolish thought, for it was entirely too high, and I would be sure to break a limb or sprain my ankle, and thus throw myself into the villain's power.

Once more I turned into my room, and my brain was in such a whirl that I could think of no course to pursue—nothing but to stand and listen. My heart fluttered. I heard a soft step on the stair, and the next moment saw a light thrown upon the wall in the entry. He was coming!

I wrung my hands and glanced hurriedly about. Must I hide myself between the feather-bed and mattress! Good Heaven! I hadn't time for that, for he was half way up the stairs.

The closet door stood open, and springing to it I took out the key, and stepping in, closed the door, locking it on the inside. Peeping through a knot hole, I saw the dark form of a man stepping cautiously across the hall to my room, holding a small lantern in his hand. When he stood on the threshold, he threw the light in and peered anxiously about. Coming into the room he examined the bed—he even stopped and looked under it, then turned to the table and stood looking at my book and the lamp, as if trying to solve some mystery. He turned over one of my shoes with his foot, and glanced up at the open door.

Mercy! could it be that he was searching for me? If so, he would not fail to examine the closet and if he should succeed in opening it—alas! I pressed my hand involuntarily upon my heart to quiet its wild throbbing.

"Well," I heard him mutter from beneath his mask, "I am sure I heard a noise as I was coming up. She must be here somewhere, for there was a light burning in here. If I could only find her—but it may be that—"

Again he glanced up at the door. In my anxiety to watch his movements I rubbed against the key, and it fell to the floor with a loud ring. Instantly his gaze was riveted upon the closet door as he came slowly toward it. Taking hold of the bolt, he shook it gently and then stood very quiet for some time, as if listening.

"Yes," he said at length, "I saw a bunch of keys down stairs somewhere, and I guess I can find one to fit this lock; If I don't, I can make use of these tools on it."

So saying, he turned away, and as he went into the hall I heard him shut my room door and lock it on the outside.

I felt for the key on the floor, and hastily opened the closet, stood and listened in breathless suspense. With a bold heavy step he descended into the hall, and although I had not recognized him as such, I now firmly believed him to be no other than our gardner, for he seemed to be aware that I was the only occupant of the house, and to believe that he had me securely locked in my room; but, strange to say, he had forgotten the door leading into the balcony, and stepping out, I again looked about me for some means of escape.

I tried the front hall door, and to my delight found it unfastened. From it a little flight of stairs led up into a room in the roof, where there were two dormer windows.

Hastening up these steps, I raised one of the windows and stepped out upon the roof lowering the sash after me. The moon was shining brilliantly, and I looked up and down the road to see if any one was in sight; but not a moving object could I discern from among the clustering bushes and shadows.

Once more I listened, and heard the intruder coming up the first stairway, and knew he was coming to break into the closet. I had been thoughtful enough to lock it when I came out, in order to keep him employed as long as possible, hoping aid might arrive before [illegible] and start to come up the second flight of stairs.

Dear me! Would he suspect what I had done, and come out on the roof to look for me! Perhaps he had heard me raise the window.

Running to the far end of the house, I saw the limb of a tree extending out quite near the edge of the roof, and thought perhaps I might swing down by it. It was very small and weak, and I was almost afraid to risk it; but perhaps it would sustain my weight until I could reach another limb. But suppose that it should break? The fall would be quite sure to kill me.

I was almost ready to abandon the idea, and make myself contented upon the roof until my brother came, allow the robber to carry away everything in the house if he chose, when a loud rattle upon the dormer window aroused me, and without even thinking further of what might be the consequences, I took hold of the limb and stepped off the roof, swinging far out over the yard.

As I looked down I grew faint, and came near letting go my hold. There I was hanging high up in the air, suspended by a frail limb, and to fall would be certain death.

Climbing hand over hand, I soon reached the trunk of the tree, where I let go my hold and caught on a large limb. Lowering myself from one branch to another until I reached the lowest limb, I stood for a moment, and looking back up at the roof, listened, to ascertain whether or not I was being pursued.

I could hear nothing, however, and climbing carefully out to the smallest end of the limb, I bent it down, and swinging off by my hands, reached the ground in safety.

The next thought was to seek assistance, so that the robber might be captured and the valuables recovered. I ran hastily to the house of our gardner, and finding the door slightly ajar, pushed it open and looked in at the bed. By the light of the moon falling full upon it, I saw that it was unoccupied and had not even been disturbed. I had hoped that he was innocent, and that I should find him in his bed asleep; but I saw plainly now that my hopes were in vain.

I then went to our cook's room and called her. She sprang out of bed with a frightened exclamation and ran to the door to know what I wanted. I told her in as few words as possible, asking her to go for our nearest neighbor, who lived about half a mile away from us.

Of course she would, and while she drew on her clothes I took up an old gun from a corner of the room, and finding that it was loaded, hastened back to the house.

I stationed myself at the end of the porch, behind a clump of vines, and stood with my gun ready to shoot at the shortest notice. I could hear the intruder in the house, going up and down stairs, turning over chairs and keeping up a general racket. At last he appeared at the window, and stepping out upon the porch stood looking up the road.

"Guess I'd better be gittin' away from here, 'cause that young miss has got out, and first thing I know somebody'll be comin' in here to eat me up, shin and bone. I've got the money, anyway, and that's all I wanted, 'cept missus' watch and chain; but I'll git it some day."

He turned as if to leave, and I let him have a load from my gun in one of his legs. He fell to the floor with a terrible yell, and kept quiet. I thought if I could keep him there until help came without taking his life, I should be satisfied.

Raising himself on his elbow with a moan he looked about and said—

"Oh, I am shot! I'm killed! Please don't shoot me any more, and I'll give the money all back—every cent!"

I did not show myself, but prepared the other barrel to shoot, if it should become necessary. It did not, however, for it was not long before the cook returned, accompanied by our neighbor and his two sons, who took possession of the gentleman, and relieved me of my watching.

A few moments later my brother and his wife arrived, and I discovered that it had been exactly one hour since I was aroused from my slumber in my room.

The robber was no other than the old gardener, and he afterward confessed he knew father was not at home, and saw mother when she went away with my mother. He was very much in need of the opportunity to go into the house and search for some. He also said that he meant to force me to tell him the whereabouts of father's money, but he said nothing about intending to take my watch.

When I saw him come through the garden into the yard, he had been off to borrow the hat and coat from his brother, with whom he promised to divide the proceeds of the night.

The mask he formed himself of a piece of black cloth, and indeed, had I not seen him enter his own house, I should never have known him, for the disguise was perfect.

Rest assured that I have never since remained in a large house alone at night.

CALLED TO PREACH.

We feel called upon to preach a few gospel facts—facts that are worth knowgin. We want everybody to enjoy all that is possible in this world. We want all those who are suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, add all aches, sprains to know that Thomas Eclectric Oil is an unfailing and splendid cure.

GALLANT RESCUES.

There can be something heroic in a medicine as well as individuals. Burdock Blood Bitters have effected many a gallant rescue among the suffering sick. Thousands have escaped the miseries of dyspepsia and nervous debility through the of this wonderful medicine It is emphatically the best stomach and blood tonic in the world.

Remember one fact. [illegible]

ST JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,
Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

41- SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you.

A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.
TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave. TRADE MARK

BEFORE TAKING.

AFTER TAKING.

☞Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per packages, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at
FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."
Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

NO ONE Should Forget
that
WATERMAN'S
is the place to find and buy almost anything you want in the line of Sporting Goods—Ammunition—Electric Stock,

FISHING TACKLE,

FINE DRAWER AND CHESS LOCKS, ALL KINDS MACHINE NEEDLES, ELECTRIC AND COMMON DOOR BELL Fixtures &c., &c.
And the
ROYAL ST. JOHN
Sewing Machine.

There is no use trying to enumerate all our facilities for supplying the public want. Seeing is believing! Come and see for yourselves, at 34 First Stret, Fulton, N.Y.

April 18tf.

F. D. VANWAGENEN Jr.,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office.)

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY
(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)
General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,
Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6. Geo. J. Emeny.
H. H. Gridley.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."
To The Farmers of New York.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate, fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc., to suit buyers. Full description lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 346 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished. Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

D. Mc Carthy & Co.,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER
DISPLAY
—OF—
Rich and Elegant
DRESS GOODS.

We announce, as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of

Combination Effects
—IN—
Broche and Broche Checks
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids.

all of which have an indentical match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.

☞Please call and see them.

SILK
DEPARTMENT.

We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:—

Colored and Black Plushes! IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour, DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Velovrs, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais. ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperatrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.

This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics ever displayed in Central New York.

☞Examination invited.

Cloak Department.

The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments—both Imported and Eastern make—ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these are lines of styles—

Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRCE!
For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell
Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,
At Cost. No trouble to show goods at the City Drug Store.

M. M. WILLIAMS.

LTON TIMES

We[illegible], Nov. 1, 1882.

[illegible] has taken out thus far 287 patents, [illegible] of which are in connection with electric lighting.

THOMAS A. HENDRICKS of Indiana is in a dangerous condition suffering from [illegible]pelas in his right foot. Gangrene has set in.

The Congregational state association of New York in the past thirty years has disbursed $600,000 to assist in the building of churches.

THERE [illegible] have fallen [illegible] yesterday. Dakota and Montana also had their first storms of the season.

NOTWITHSTANDING Ben Butler is a popular politician in Massachusetts, and has run for Governor many times. he will not take his seat before Long.

A VERDICT has been rendered in the Scoville insanity case. It declares Mrs. Scoville insane. Her whereabouts is unknown. She is a sister of Guiteau.

THE president and governor are rather early in the field with their Thanksgiving proclamations. But probably it is necessary to give the turkeys a month's notice.

IN the high school of Dedham. Mass. the experiment is made of using daily newspapers instead of text books in the reading class. The principal thinks that the plan is successful.

GOVERNOR CORNELL has named a day for Thanksgiving. It would have been a pardonable breach if he had incorporated in his message how thankful he feels for not receiving the nomination for governor this fall.

Judge Churchill rendered a decision in the case of the Chenango Valley railroad ordering the receiver, James J. Belden to sell the road. The Burt intercet have appealed from the order and a stay of proceedings has been obtained until the case can be heard by the general term.

FOREMAN DICKSON of the Star route jury appears to be a very bad man. Affidavits have been filed by the counsel for the government showing that he offered to secure a verdict of conviction for $25,000. This astounding revelation will probably stimulate the prosecution to renewed efforts in the new trial.

WORD comes from Washington that the work of the special agents of the pension department has already proved beneficial. Quite a number of cases of fraud have been discovered and payment stopped. The work will be prosecuted in any locality where the Secretary of the Interior is notified that fraud exists.

. ONE of the most honorable men now running for office is the Hon. Judge Nutting. During all of his canvass he has not aluded to personalities in the oast, and has been straightforward, and acted on true principles in every respect. He is well qualified to fill the position, and his election is sure without a doubt.

THE six day walking match in New York city was a financial fizzle. Fitzgerald came in first with 577 miles to his credit, and took first money. The withdrawal of Rowell and Hazael weakened the interest in the match. The gross receipts were $26,000 and the expenses $24,000. It was a gigantic failure all around and who cares?

IN the heat of the conflict President Arthur pauses to issue a Thanksgiving proclamation. It is well written with the usual eloquent recitation of the manifold blessings we have enjoyed during the past year. In the present divided condition of the republican party it is pleasant for him to learn there is something to be thankful for.

BEN BUTLER is the democratic candidate for governor in Massachusetts. He has introduced a new feature in political campaigning that is drawing great throngs. He has an educated and beautiful young lady, 23 years old, who is a fluent speaker, and she addresses herself principally to the fair sex, with a view of impressing on them the importance of having their brothers, husbands and fathers support and help elect Butler.

A FIRE broke out in the Park theatre New York, Monday at 5 p. m. Mrs. Langtry, the "Jersey Lily," of whom so much has been said and written was to make her first appearance in this country in that theatre Monday evening, in "The Unequal Match." The magnificent scenery and buildings were a total loss. One life was lost, Had the fire fire occurred two hours later the loss of life would have been terrible. Mrs. Langtry will appear in Union Square theatre next week.

MANY churches take a decidedly noncommittal and gingerly stand on the liquor question for fear of giving offense. The Free Methodists held a conference in Burlington, Iowa, last week, and the disposition they made of the liquor and tobacco question was "that the manufacture of wines and cider, the brewing of the beer to be used as a beverage or trafficking in the same, the raising or selling hops for brewing purposes, and the growing, using, or trafficking in tobacco for commercial purposes or common use, is a sin against God and our neighbor, and those guilty of any of the above practices are not worthy of membership in a Christian church."

THE Flint Mill, at Fall River Mass., a magnificent granite structure five stories high, was burned Saturday afternoon, the fire starting in the picker room and spreading by the main belt to all the floors. The main building was 300 feet long and 94 feet wide. The picker house which adjoining was also of granite and three stories high, with an engine and boiler house on the first floor. When the fire was discovered the employees made every effort to extinguish the flames, but without success. It being Saturday nearly all the employees had gone home an hour before and the regular fire department of the mill was not available to handle the force pumps and hydrants with which the mill was supplied. The loss is nearly a million. The insurance is mostly in New England companies. The mill employed [illegible] 90,000 spindles, and the [illegible] was 18,000,000 pieces [illegible]

NEIGHBORING NEWS

Sandy Creek News:—Mr. George Knight, manufacturer of potato mashers, etc. has removed to Fulton.

Central Square News—Shipping pumpkins for canning purposes is a new industry in this place. We understand that $7 per ton is being paid for them at the depot.

Louisville Journal—Ten car loads, or about 4,500 bushels of potatoes were shipped from this market last week. Forty-five cents is the leading price, that being paid for early and late rose and Burbank seedlings. All other varieties are worth only 40 cents per bushel. In the opinion of commission merchants that prices will soon decline.

In his speech at Utica, Mr. S. B. Dutcher, Superintendent of Public Works spoke in favor of free canals. The cost of supporting them by taxation would be trifling, he said. Tax payers would have to pay only about $1 on an assessed valuation of $4000. The abolition of tolls would reduce the expenses of boatmen 20 per cent.

Oswego Palladium:—Patrick Golden, a young man who lives at the foot of West Second street, while on a hunting expedition, leveled his gun at a duck and pulled the trigger, but the charge did not explode. He laid one end of the gun on the ground with his hand over the muzzle and commenced examining the trigger. He had not fully investigated when a 44 calibre bullet passed through his left hand.

Robert Torbett of Sterling drove to Oswego on Saturday and bought a load of shingles, which he placed on his wagon, and a quantity of whisky, which for convenience he swallowed. On his way home he drove into a swamp where he was found lying on the ground wounded and bleeding with two bunches of shingles on his body and a fractured spine. It was evident that the wagon had passed over him. He probably will not recover.

The coroner's jury in the case of the three ladies killed by the cars at Syracuse several days ago in their verdict "censure and hold the New York Central railroad company responsible for the accident," in allowing a train to be run at an unwarrantable rate of speed over a crossing unprotected by a flagman or gate. Suits have been commenced by the friends of the ladies killed to recover damages from the railroad company.

William Wolf suicided in Syracuse last week. When the friends of the deceased sought the service of Rev. Mr. Nicum, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church to perform the burial ceremony at the grave, the clergyman refused, saying that the dead man ought to be buried by the sheriff at the dead hour of night. After some discussion the clergyman finally consented to go to the house and conducted brief services. His actions will be investigated by some of his parishoners.

NOT A CASE.

Not a case of rheumatism, not a case of neuralgia, not a case of lameness, not a pain or sprain—not one—has failed to go when attacked by Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

Rumored.

That the shallows murmur while the deeps are dumb.

That Stowell is making an effective still hunt in Volney and Granby.

That where there's a will there's a way.

That it is not all gold that glitters.

That S. B. Mead will manage the Stephens opera house.

That the customer who refuses to make large bills is of small account.

That they who never pay for its sacrifices talk boldest of patriotism.

That "Sharpless" strawberries are really luscious.

That the Stephens opera house will cost completed nearly $30,000.

That Henry C. Howe will succeed Hon N. W. Nutting as county judge.

That the prospect of democratic success is making plenty of applicants for Superintendent Jennings' position.

That the people are generally better satisfied with license and no litigation than no license and plenty of law suits.

That Judge Nutting will be elected member of congress by 5,000 majority.

That he will serve his district in a creditable manner.

That his canvass has been strictly honorable.

That the Republican party is gaining in strength every eay.

That Cleveland will be elected by 25,000 majority.

Fuller & Montague have taken up the eel weirs. The season has not proved to be a good one for the men, financially.

FROM CLEVELAND, OHIO,

Comes a letter signed T. Walker, saying: About six months ago commenced taking Burdocd Blood Bitters for protracted state of lumbago and general debility, and now am pleased to state have recovered from my appetite and wonted strength. Feel bettsr altogether.

Parish.

Politics are quiet. Now and then something is said about county clerk. Hon. Thurlow Weed Barnes delivered a republican speech here last Wednesday night. The people appeared to be under the control of general apathy so they failed to enthuse on the occasion. He ordered all republicans to vote for Folger. We learn that some republicans refuse to obey orders. They appear to Cleve (land) to the Buffalo mayor.

The school commissioners who were here last Wednesday licensing teachers passed only one. Those who intend to teach begin to learn the importance of qualifying themselves. They will not get the people's money until they do so.

Dr. J. N. Betts of Pulaski, the People's and Democratic candidate for assembly, is making a canvass for that office. He was in town last Friday. The Doctor is one of the very best of progressive democrats and believes that great moral questions should be legislated upon in the interests of the people, not citizens, or bad men.

George Thayer of this town raised a Burbank potato this year that weighed four pounds. OCCASIONAL.

WHAT CAN'T BE CURED MUST BE ENDURED

This old adage does not signify that we must suffer the miseries of dyspepsia, when a medicine with the curative properties of Burdock Blood Bitters is available. It is one of the most substantial and reliable remedies sold to-day.

THANKS

To all our friends who so heartily responded to our Opening Invitation and who have made

OUR STORE THEIR CHOICE SINCE,

In Making Their Purchases. We shall continue to keep our Stock as Complete in the Future and NEVER allow anyone to sell at Lower Prices.

Very Respectfully, F. E. BACON.

—:O:—

A Splendid Variety of Cloaks, Dolmans and Ulsters received to-day.

THE WIDE WORLD OVER.

News of the Past Week Condensed —Important Happenings at Romote Points.

—About 150,000 tons of ice are left over along the Hudson river.

—Elections will be held next week Tuesday in all the territories and in 33 states.

—The collection of Peters pence for the Pope in New York Sunday amounted to $21,000.

—The Universalist general convention adopted a resolution denouncing the death penalty.

—In Wichita, Kansas, the earthquake Sunday swayed the walls of buildings and moved furniture.

—Deaths in New York city last week, 596; births, 520; marriages, 240; arrests, 1163; excise licenses granted, 92, and fees collected, $5,320.

The public debt of the United States is $1,675,000,000, and being constantly reduced while the debt of England is $3,843,518,460 and nearly stationery.

—"Prince" Harry Genet has been nominated for alderman by the democrats in the 23d district in New York. He was a member of the Tweed gang and has only been out of prison a few months.

—Xerxes A. Willard, the well-known writer on dairy and agricultural topics, died suddenly of neuralgia of the heart, at his residence near Little Falls, on Thursday. He was the author of several valuable works on agriculture.

—The three men who attempted to blackmail Walter Malley by threatening to publish letters written by him to Blanche Douglass have been held to await the action of the grand jury. They were examined in New York Friday.

—In Homer Bronson's garden, in Waterbury, Conn., was buried the arm he lost last August. He complained that the arm felt tired and cramped, but he experienced instant relief when, without his knowledge, the arm was exhumed and reinterred in a different position. Three times the severed limb has been moved to give relief to the sufferer, and each time successfully.

CHEESE MARKET.

UTICA, Oct. 30. The improvement in price to-day is about ¼c per lb., taking it all around. That is the difference in the ruling price. And the pet factories which sell above the ruling got about as much more than they did last week. The selling to-day was very general, and there were probably not more than two or three lots held back. We know of two long lots of September make, which were held in hopes of better prices another week. The majority of the salesmen, however, were satisfied to accept the present. As a rule, to-day's sales close out the September make.

The meeting called to take action in the steam vat patent mentioned in THE TIMES last week was held Monday in Utica. The matter was actively discussed, and speeches were made by the president, by Robert McAdam and others all, urging the necessity of organization among the dairymen to defend themselves against this outrageous demand. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee. This committee was authorized to perfect an organization among the dairymen, and give due notice through the press for persons interested to join. It was resolved that as soon as subscriptions from parties owning 250 vats, at a sum not to exceed $5 per vat, should be received, the organization should be complete, and legal counsel should be employed to defend all members who might be sued. Meanwhile until such number should be obtained the Utica board voted to sustain the preliminary expenses.

We repeat the statement made last week, that the patent now being pushed is one for the use of steam between the inner and outer parts of a cheese vat for the purpose of heating the milk and curds. Every vat in the country is subject to this royalty if it is maintained, and it is for the interest of every factory-man to join in defeating it. If the owners of the patent are allowed to go on and collect the royalty without hindrance, there will be some other patent brought to light next year for the purpose of mulcting the dairymen, and there will never an end to it until a bold and decided stand is taken to resist. B. D. Gilbert of Utica. was elected secretary snd treasurer, and the parties who desire to join can send their names to him or to any one of the committee.

[Factorymen wishing information regarding the organization will do well to write Mr. Gilbert ED.]

LITTLE FALLS, Oct 30.—Quite a flurry was produced on the market to-day by the announcement that the firm of Snell & Co, had failed to meet their obligations, and had gone under. They have been heavy purchasers upon this market during the season, taking much of the finest cheese sold here. This firm also failed in 1878, and many factories hareabouts then suffered heavily by them. Following are the transactions for the day:

Lots.	Boxes.	Price
4	218	13 "
4	210	12¾ "
28	2,227	12⅝ "
23	2,950	12¾ "
2	145	p. t.
6	330	com.
87	6,069
Farm dairies	785
Total	6,874

[Utica Herald.

AT FULTON

1041 boxes of cheese were offered from 15 factories which sold at 12c. The price one year ago was 15c, two years ago 12½c. three years ago 13c.

[illegible]

LET US GIVE THANKS.

Proclamation by the President and Governor Appointing a Day of Thanksgiving.

In conformity with the custom of an annual observance which is justly held in honor of this people, I. Chester A. Arthur, President of the United States, hereby set apart Thursday, the thirtieth day of November next, as a day of public thanksgiving.

The blessings demanding our gratitude are numerous and varied. For the peace and amity which subsists between the republic and the nations of the world; for freedom from eternal discord and violence; for increasing friendship between different sections of this land of liberty, justice and constitutional government; for the devotions of the people to our free institutions and the cheerful obedience to mild laws; for the constantly increasing strength of the republic, while extending it's privileges to men who come to us; for the improved means of internal communication and the increased facilities of intercourse with other nations; for the general prevailing health of the year; for the prosperity of all our industries, the liberal return for the mechanic's toil, affording a market for the abundant harvests of the husbandman; for the preservation of the national faith and credit; for the wise and generous provisions to affect the intellectual and moral education of our youth; for the influence upon the conscience of a restraining and transforming religion, and for the joys of home—for these and many other blessings we should give thanks.

Wherefore, I recommend that the day above designated be observed throughout the country as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer that the people ceasing from their daily labors and meeting in accordance with their several forms of worship, draw near to the throne of Almighty God, offering to him praise and gratitude for the manifold goodness he has vouchsafed to us, and praying that his blessing and mercies may continue. And I do further recommend that the day thus appointed be made a special occasion for deeds of charity and kindness to the suffering and needy, so that all who dwell within the land may rejoice and be glad in this season of national thanksgiving.

CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

The lengthening shadows of waning autumn betoken the return of the season, hallowed by our ancestors many generations, for returning thanks to the Supreme Being for His merciful protection and support. Following this time-honored custom, now recognized by our statutes, Thursday, the thirtieth day of November next, is hereby designated and set apart as a day of Thangsgiving to Almighty God for manifold blessings vouchsafed unto the people of this State during the past year.

Fruitful harvests and prosperous industries have rewarded the diligent hand of labor; healthfulness, peace and contentment dwell with the people. The authority of the law has been respected; public order observed; and the interests of Christianity, education and morality have been especially promoted. Seldom, indeed, has a single year in the history of our State been more signally favored with gracious manifestations; while throughout our common country general prosperity has prevailed; the tide of immigration to our shores has been unprecedented, and in all material development the Nation has progressed in a degree never before equalled.

For happiness and prosperity enjoyed, and all the evidences of Divine favor shown unto us, we owe grateful acknowledgment to our Heavenly Father on whom alone for life and strength we depend. It is therefore, recommended that on the day hereby designated the people of this State lay aside their ordinary pursuits, and gather together in the accustomed places of worship, to give thanks in His Holy name for all the blessings of the closing year. And furthermore, by the reunion of families and friends; by the restoration of ties of friendship broken; and by deeds of blessed charity, let the day be so observed that it shall honor every christian virtue and Him from whom all good descends.

ALONZO B. CORNELL.

BEECHER ON HIS CRITICS.

A Witty and Caustic Reply to a Boston Query.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who was invited by the Boston Traveler to express his views on the criticisms of his recent withdrawal from the Congregational association made by various ministers in New England says:

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1882.

MY DEAR SIR—I thank you for the letter and papers. I have read the somewhat large expressions of these many and excellent men in regard to my orthodoxy, consistency, influence and general merit without wishing for a moment to reply, as you kindly request me. When a dead man is lying on the dissecting table under the hands of experts, it would be unbecoming in him to rise up suddenly and discuss with his surgeons the propriety of their methods and the truth of results.

It is not often that one can see himself as others see him, and especially as Boston sees him, and more than all as Boston clergymen see him. I am reduced to pulp; but, thank Heaven, not to ashes. When you suggest a reply to these I am sure you have no conception of the subdued and enlightened state of my mind. I am bent on improvement. Laying aside all my old notions of my beliefs and my standing, I am carefully putting together the real man that I am taught I am. When I get my new personal identity together and in working shape I intend to study theology somewhere, though in my present confusion I cannot yet see whether I shall study at Andover or Boston. New Haven is nearer, but Dr. Smyth has been settled there and I fear laxity of doctrine in his neighborhood. Princeton is not far to the south of me, but Dr. McCosh is a christian revolutionist, and it would be folly after what I have suffered to come under the malarial influence of that philosophy. On the whole, I inclined to study at Park street. But wherever I may go I am determined to before I die to find a theology which will pass muster at Bangor, at Andover, at Cambridge, at New Haven, at Princeton, at Alleghany, at Oberlin, at Chicago and at Park street, then I shall willingly die.

Yours,
HENRY WARD BEECHER.

CASH PAID FOR PRODUCE.

Butter, Beans, Dried Apples and produce generally wanted for cash. For fresh made Butter in Tubs will pay extra price. MILLER & WHITAKER. 24w4

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be [illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days.
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

☞ Remember DRAPER always takes the lead in selling goods cheap and never allows anyone to undersell him in fair deal. 47

Cash buys Dry Goods Cheap at Sackett's.

A LESSON IN EQUESTRINISM.

Horseback riding as an art and as a beneficial exercise is one of the most judicial habits that one could cultivate. While it affords the equestrian every opportunity for the cultivation of graceful posing, it comprising all the healthful elements of the most invigorating pleasures, Like all else in the world, however, if induiged in immoderately, the the results are extremely painful and oftimes dangerous. Galled limbs and piles that itch intently, particularly after getting warm into bed, are not frequently the outcome of excessive exercise in the saddle. In such cases, however, the evil can be thoroughly eradicated by applying Swayne's ointment, which, as a cure for piles—itching or otherwise, has no equal. 361

CLOSING OUT.

I will sell my stock of goods at wholesale prices for the next 30 days to close business. Doll cabs and dolls, boys' wagons, vases, work boxes, desks, smoking stands, pipes notions, albums, scopes and views etc. Call and see before you buy. Five marble top tables, and chairs etc. Five cent cigars for three cents to close out stock.

JAMES STEVENS.

Now we have it—the best Fifty cent Corset. C. E. SACKET.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.

13 G. E. SQUIER, Prop.

☞ Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) a DRAPER'S Fulton and Oswego Falls tores. 47

Real Estate Changes.

Following are the deeds recorded at the county clerk's office the past week of local import:

F N Grant and Mary A Green to Dorcas A Perkins, land in Granby, $75.

M Egbertson et. al. to O J. Perkins, land in Granby, $275. Feb. 18, 1883.

Livingston Ketchum et. al. to Marion Woodbury and others land in Fulton, Sept. 16, 1882, $900.

Strayed Cattle.

Strayed on the premises of Ed. Van Buren, Sunday, Oct. 29, 1882, two and one-half miles north of the village on the east side river road, four yearlings—three heifers and one bull; one two year old heifer, one spotted heifer. The [illegible]

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

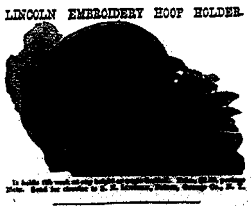
contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters,	12c	per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50	" "
Tea cups and saucers,	24	" sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61	each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	14	"

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st.

I am your obedient servant.
JAMES MCCARTHY.
Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



[illegible]

☞ Joseph Marshall is now prepared to execute promptly all jobs of Whitewashing, fitting, blacking and putting up stoves. He does his work good and solicits jobs. Leave orders at Tucker's grocery, or Eggleston's book store. 17

☞ GO TO ROBINSON & LANGDON'S for choice Coffee! The only place in [illegible]

A Magnificent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of

Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,
14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Peeris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

NEW GOODS
AT THE
BAZAAR
THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

REFINING INFLUENCE
OF EDUCATION

Teacher that garments ought to be designed for embellishment as well as for coverings, and notwithstanding the boastings of the printed Satinet element the people are daily recognizing the fallacies of their claims and are turning to

"THE FAMOUS"

for relief. Clothing bought of the

FAMOUS OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE,
2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse,

are in make and style so distinctive that they are distinguishable as far as the eye can discern, and they carry with them a mark so prominent that it bespeaks elegance, style, fit and gentility for the wearer. No other House can show as many new styles?

Such elegant fitting garments.
Such truly great bargains.
Such low prices.
If you cannot be suited anywhere else

"The FAMOUS"
2 and 3 WIETING BLOCK,
Syracuse, N. Y.

[illegible] for 207 [illegible] in connection [illegible]

[illegible] of Indiana is [illegible] suffering from [illegible]

[illegible] state association [illegible] past thirty years [illegible] the [illegible] day. Dakota and Montana also had the first storms of the season.

NOTWITHSTANDING Ben Butler is a popular politician in Massachusetts, and has run for Governor many times, he will not take his seat before Long.

A verdict has been rendered in the Scoville insanity case. It declares Mrs. Scoville insane. Her whereabouts is unknown. She is a sister of Guiteau.

THE president and governor are rather early in the field with their Thanksgiving proclamations. But probably it is necessary to give the turkeys a month's notice.

IN the high school of Dedham, Mass, the experiment is made of using daily newspapers instead of text books in the reading class. The principal thinks that the plan is successful.

GOVERNOR CORNELL has named a day for Thanksgiving. It would have been a pardonable breach if he had incorporated in his message how thankful he feels for not receiving the nomination for governor this fall.

Judge Churchill rendered a decision in the case of the Chenango Valley railroad ordering the receiver, James J. Belden to sell the road. The Burt interest have appealed from the order and a stay of proceedings has been obtained until the case can be heard by the general term.

FOREMAN DICKSON of the Star route jury appears to be a very bad man. Affidavits have been filed by the counsel for the government showing that he offered to secure a verdict of conviction for $25,000. This astounding revelation will probably stimulate the prosecution to renewed efforts in the new trial.

WORD comes from Washington that the work of the special agents of the pension department has already proved beneficial. Quite a number of cases of fraud have been discovered and payment stopped. The work will be prosecuted in any locality where the Secretary of the Interior is notified that fraud exists.

ONE of the most honorable men now running for office is the Hon. Judge Nutting. During all of his canvass he has not aluded to personalities in the east, and has been straightforward, and acted on true principles in every respect. He is well qualified to fill the position, and his election is sure without a doubt.

THE six day walking match in New York city was a financial fizzle. Fitzgerald came in first with 577 miles to his credit, and took first money. The withdrawal of Rowell and Hazael weakened the interest in the match. The gross receipts were $26,000 and the expenses $24,000. It was a gigantic failure all around and who cares?

IN the heat of the conflict President Arthur pauses to issue a Thanksgiving proclamation. It is well written with the usual eloquent recitation of the manifold blessings we have enjoyed during the past year. In the present divided condition of the republican party it is pleasant for him to learn there is something to be thankful for.

BEN BUTLER is the democratic candidate for governor in Massachusetts. He has introduced a new feature in political campaigning that is drawing great throngs. He has an educated and beautiful young lady, 23 years old, who is a fluent speaker, and she addresses herself principally to the fair sex, with a view of impressing on them the importance of having their brothers, husbands and fathers support and help elect Butler.

A FIRE broke out in the Park theatre New York, Monday at 5 p. m. Mrs. Langtry, the "Jersey Lily," of whom so much has been said and written was to make her first appearance in this country in that theatre Monday evening, in "The Unequal Match." The magnificent scenery and buildings were a total loss. One life was lost, Had the fire fire occurred two hours later the loss of life would have been terrible. Mrs. Langtry will appear in Union Square theatre next week.

MANY churches take a decidedly noncommittal and gingerly stand on the liquor question for fear of giving offense. The Free Methodists held a conference in Burlington, Iowa, last week, and the disposition they made of the liquor and tobacco question was "that the manufacture of wines and cider, the brewing of the beer to be used as a beverage or trafficking in the same, the raising or selling hops for brewing purposes, and the growing, using, or trafficking in tobacco for commercial purposes or common use, is a sin against God and our neighbor, and those guilty of any of the above practices are not worthy of membership in a Christian church."

THE Flint Mill, at Fall River Mass., a magnificent granite structure five stories high, was burned Saturday afternoon, the fire starting in the picker room and spreading by the main belt to all the floors. The main building was 300 feet long and 94 feet [illegible] picker house which adjoined [illegible] of granite and three stories [illegible] an engine and boiler house [illegible] first floor. When the fire was [illegible] the employees made every [illegible] to extinguish the flames, but without [illegible]. It being Saturday nearly [illegible] employees had gone home an [illegible] regular fire department [illegible] available to [illegible]

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

Sandy Creek News.—Mr. George Knight, manufacturer of potato planters, etc. has removed to Fulton.

Central Square News—[illegible] pumpkins for canning purposes is a new industry in this place. We [illegible] that $7 per ton is being paid for them at the depot.

Lowville Journal.—Ten car loads, of about 4,500 bushels of potatoes were shipped from this market last week. Forty-five cents is the leading price, that being paid for early and late rose and Burbank seedlings. All other varieties are worth only 40 cents per bushel. [illegible] the opinion of commission men [illegible]

In his speech at Utica, Mr. S. B. Dutcher, Superintendent of Public Works spoke in favor of free canals. The cost of supporting them by taxation would be trifling, he said. Tax payers would have to pay only about $1 on an assessed valuation of $4000. The abolition of tolls would reduce the expenses of boatmen 20 per cent.

Oswego Palladium:—Patrick Golden, a young man who lives at the foot of West Second street, while on a hunting expedition, leveled his gun at a duck and pulled the trigger, but the charge did not explode. He laid one end of the gun on the ground with his hand over the muzzle and commenced examining the trigger. He had not fully investigated when a 44 calibre bullet passed through his left hand.

Robert Torbett of Sterling drove to Oswego on Saturday and bought a load of shingles, which he placed on his wagon, and a quantity of whisky, which for convenience he swallowed. On his way home he drove into a swamp where he was found lying on the ground wounded and bleeding with two bunches of shingles on his body and a fractured spine. It was evident that the wagon had passed over him. He probably will not recover.

The coroner's jury in the case of the three ladies killed by the cars at Syracuse several days ago in their verdict "censure and hold the New York Central railroad company responsible for the accident," in allowing a train to be run at an unwarrantable rate of speed over a crossing unprotected by a flagman or gate. Suits have been commenced by the friends of the ladies killed to recover damages from the railroad company.

William Wolf suicided in Syracuse last week. When the friends of the deceased sought the service of Rev. Mr. Nicum, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church to perform the burial ceremony at the grave, the clergyman refused, saying that the dead man ought to be buried by the sheriff at the dead hour of night. After some discussion the clergyman finally consented to go to the house and conducted brief services. His actions will be investigated by some of his parishoners.

NOT A CASE.

Not a case of rheumatism, not a case of neuralgia, not a case of lameness, not a pain or sprain—not one—has failed to go when attacked by Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

Rumored.

That the shallows murmur while the deeps are dumb.

That Stowell is making an effective still hunt in Volney and Granby.

That where there's a will there's a way.

That it is not all gold that glitters.

That S. B. Mead will manage the Stephens opera house.

That the customer who refuses to make large bills is of small account.

That they who never pay for its sacrifices talk boldest of patriotism.

That "Sharpless" strawberries are really luscious.

That the Stephens opera house will cost completed nearly $30,000.

That Henry C. Howe will succeed Hon N. W. Nutting as county judge.

That the prospect of democratic success is making plenty of applicants for Superintendent Jennings' position.

That the people are generally better satisfied with license and no litigation than no license and plenty of law suits.

That Judge Nutting will be elected member of congress by 5,000 majority.

That he will serve his district in a creditable manner.

That his canvass has been strictly honorable.

That the Republican party is gaining in strength every eay.

That Cleveland will be elected by 25,000 majority.

Fuller & Montague have taken up the eel weirs. The season has not proved to be a good one for the men, financially.

FROM CLEVELAND, OHIO,

Comes a letter signed T. Walker, saying: About six months ago commenced taking Burdocd Blood Bittars for protracted state of lumbago and general debility, and now am pleased to state have recovered from my appetite and wonted strength. Feel bettar altogether.

Parish.

Politics are quiet. Now and then something is said about county clerk. Hon. Thurlow Weed Barnes delivered a republican speech here last Wednesday night. The people appeared to be under the control of general apathy so they failed to enthuse on the occasion. He ordered all republicans to vote for Folger. We learn that some republicans refuse to obey orders. They appear to Cleve (land) to the Buffalo mayor.

The school commissioners who were here last Wednesday licensing teachers passed only one. Those who intend to teach begin to learn the importance of qualifying themselves. They will not get the people's money until they do so.

Dr. J. N. Betts of Pulaski, the People's and Democratic candidate for assembly, is making a canvass for that office. He was in town last Friday. The Doctor is one of the very best of progressive democrats and believes that great moral questions should be legislated upon in the interests of the people, not citizens, or bad men.

George Thayer of this town raised a Burbank potato this year that weighed four pounds. OCCASIONAL.

[illegible]

THANKS

To all our friends who so heartily responded to our Opening Invitation and who have made

OUR STORE THEIR CHOICE SINCE,

In Making Their Purchases. We shall continue to keep our Stock as Complete in the Future and NEVER allow anyone to sell at Lower Prices.

Very Respectfully, F. E. BACON.

—:O:—

A Splendid Variety of Cloaks, Dolmans and Ulsters received to-day.

THE WIDE WORLD OVER.

News of the Past Week Condensed —Important Happenings at Remote Points.

—About 150,000 tons of ice are left over along the Hudson river.

—Elections will be held next week Tuesday in all the territories and in 33 states.

—The collection of Peters pence for the Pope in New York Sunday amounted to $21,000.

—The Universalist general convention adopted a resolution denouncing the death penalty.

—In Wichita, Kansas, the earthquake Sunday swayed the walls of buildings and moved furniture.

—Deaths in New York city last week, 590; births, 529; marriages, 240; arrests, 1163; excise licenses granted, 92, and fees collected, $5,320.

—The public debt of the United States is $1,675,000,000, and being constantly reduced while the debt of England is $3,843,518,460 and nearly stationery.

—"Prince" Harry Genet has been nominated for alderman by the democrats in the 23d district in New York. He was a member of the Tweed gang and has only been out of prison a few months.

—Xerxes A. Willard, the well-known writer on dairy and agricultural topics, died suddenly of neuralgia of the heart, at his residence near Little Falls, on Thursday. He was the author of several valuable works on agriculture.

—The three men who attempted to blackmail Walter Malley by threatening to publish letters written by him to Blanche Douglass have been held to await the action of the grand jury. They were examined in New York Friday.

—In Homer Bronson's garden, in Waterbury, Conn., was buried the arm he lost last August. He complained that the arm felt tired and cramped, but he experienced instant relief when, without his knowledge, the arm was exhumed and reinterred in a different position. Three times the severed limb has been moved to give relief to the sufferer, and each time successfully.

CHEESE MARKET.

UTICA, Oct. 30—The improvement in price to-day is about ¼c per lb., taking it all around. That is the difference in the ruling price. And the pet factories which sell above the ruling got about as much more than they did last week. The selling to-day was very general, and there were probably not more than two or three lots held back. We know of two long lots of September make, which were held in hopes of better prices another week. The majority of the salesmen, however, were satisfied to accept the present. As a rule, to-day's sales close out the September make.

The meeting called to take action in the steam vat patent mentioned in THE TIMES last week was held Monday in Utica. The matter was actively discussed, and speeches were made by the president, by Robert McAdam and others all, urging the necessity of organization among the dairymen to defend themselves against this outrageous demand. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee. This committee was authorized to perfect an organization among the dairymen, and give due notice through the press for persons interested to join. It was resolved that as soon as subscriptions from parties owning 250 vats, at a sum not to exceed $5 per vat, should be received, the organization should be complete, and legal counsel should be employed to defend all members who might be sued. Meanwhile until such number should be obtained the Utica board voted to sustain the preliminary expenses.

We repeat the statement made last week, that the patent now being pushed is one for the use of steam between the inner and outer parts of a cheese vat for the purpose of heating the milk and curds. Every vat in the country is subject to this royalty if it is maintained, and it is for the interest of every factory-man to join in defeating it. If the owners of the patent are allowed to go on and collect the royalty without hindrance, there will be some other patent brought to light next year for the purpose of mulcting the dairymen, and there will never an end to it until a bold and decided stand is taken to resist. B. D. Gilbert of Utica, was elected secretary snd treasurer, and the parties who desire to join can send their names to him or to any one of the committee.

[Factorymen wishing information regarding the organization will do well to write Mr. Gilbert ED.]

LITTLE FALLS, Oct 30.—Quite a flurry was produced on the market to-day by the announcement that the firm of Snell & Co, had failed to meet their obligations, and had gone under. They have been heavy purchasers upon this market during the season, taking much of the finest cheese sold here. This firm also failed in 1878, and many factories hareabouts then suffered heavily by them. Following are the transactions for the day:

Lots.	Boxes.	Price
4	213	12 "
4	210	12¼ "
28	2,227	12⅜ "
23	2,950	12¼ "
2	145	p. t.
6	330	com.
67	6,075
Farm dairies	799
Total	6,874

[Utica Herald.

AT FULTON

1041 boxes of cheese were offered from 15 factories which sold at 12c. The price one year ago was [illegible] two weeks ago [illegible]

LET US GIVE THANKS.

Proclamation by the President and Governor Appointing a Day of Thanksgiving.

In conformity with the custom of an annual observance which is justly held in honor of this people, I, Chester A. Arthur, President of the United States, hereby set apart Thursday, the thirtieth day of November next, as a day of public thanksgiving.

The blessings demanding our gratitude are numerous and varied. For the peace and amity which subsists between the republic and the nations of the world; for freedom from eternal discord and violence; for increasing friendship between different sections of this land of liberty, justice and constitutional government; for the devotions of the people to our free institutions and the cheerful obedience to mild laws; for the constantly increasing strength of the republic, while extending it's privileges to men who come to us; for the improved means of internal communication and the increased facilities of intercourse with other nations; for the general prevailing health of the year; for the prosperity of all our industries, the liberal return for the mechanic's toil, affording a market for the abundant harvests of the husbandman; for the preservation of the national faith and credit; for the wise and generous provisions to affect the intellectual and moral education of our youth; for the influence upon the conscience of a restraining and transforming religion, and for the joys of home—for these and many other blessings we should give thanks.

Wherefore, I recommend that the day above designated be observed throughout the country as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer that the people ceasing from their daily labors and meeting in accordance with their several forms of worship, draw near to the throne of Almighty God, offering to him praise and gratitude for the manifold goodness he has vouchsafed to us, and praying that his blessing and mercies may continue. And I do further recommend that the day thus appointed be made a special occasion for deeds of charity and kindness to the suffering and needy, so that all who dwell within the land may rejoice and be glad in this season of national thanksgiving.

CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

The lengthening shadows of waning autumn betoken the return of the season, hallowed by our ancestors many generations, for returning thanks to the Supreme Being for His merciful protection and support. Following this time-honored custom, now recognized by our statutes, Thursday, the thirtieth day of November next, is hereby designated and set apart as a day of Thangsgiving to Almighty God for manifold blessings vouchsafed unto the people of this State during the past year.

Fruitful harvests and prosperous industries have rewarded the dilligent hand of labor; healthfulness, peace and contentment dwell with the people. The authority of the law has been respected; public order observed; and the interests of Christianity, education and morality have been especially promoted. Seldom, indeed, has a single year in the history of our State been more signally favored with gracious manifestations; while throughout our common country general prosperity has prevailed; the tide of immigration to our shores has been unprecedented, and in all material development the Nation has progressed in a degree never before equalled.

For happiness and prosperity enjoyed, and all the evidences of Divine favor shown unto us, we owe grateful acknowledgment to our Heavenly Father on whom alone for life and strength we depend. It is therefore, recommended that on the day hereby designated the people of this State lay aside their ordinary pursuits, and gather together in the accustomed places of worship, to give thanks in His Holy name for all the blessings of the closing year. And furthermore, by the reunion of families and friends; by the restoration of ties of friendship broken; and by deeds of blessed charity, let the day be so observed that it shall honor every christian virtue and Him from whom all good descends.

ALONZO B. CORNELL.

BEECHER ON HIS CRITICS.

A Witty and Caustic Reply to a Boston Query.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who was invited by the Boston Traveler to express his views on the criticisms of his recent withdrawal from the Congregational association made by various ministers in New England says:

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 26. 1882.

MY DEAR SIR—I thank you for the letter and papers. I have read the somewhat large expressions of these many and excellent men in regard to my orthodoxy, consistency, influence and general merit without wishing for a moment to reply, as you kindly request me. When a dead man is lying on the dissecting table under the hands of experts, it would be unbecoming in him to rise up suddenly and discuss with his surgeons the propriety of their methods and the truth of results.

It is not often that one can see himself as others see him, and especially as Boston sees him, and more than all as Boston clergymen see him. I am reduced to pulp; but, thank Heaven, not to ashes. When you suggest a reply to these I am sure you have no conception of the subdued and enlightened state of my mind. I am bent on improvement. Laying aside all my old notions of my beliefs and my standing, I am carefully putting together the real man that I am taught I am. When I get my new personal identity together and in working shape I intend to study theology somewhere, though in my present confusion I cannot yet see whether I shall study at Andover or Boston. New Haven is nearer, but Dr. Smyth has been settled there and I fear laxity of doctrine in his neighborhood. Princeton is not far to the south of me, but Dr. McCosh is a christian revolutionist, and it would be folly after what I have suffered to come under the malarial influence of that philosophy. On the whole, I inclined to study at Park street. But wherever I may go I am determined to before I die to find a theology which will pass muster at Bangor, at Andover, at Cambridge, at New Haven, at Princeton, at Alleghany, at Oberlin, at Chicago and at Park street, then I shall willingly die.

Yours,
HENRY WARD BEECHER.

CASH PAID FOR PRODUCE.

Butter, Beans, Dried Apples and produce generally wanted for cash. For fresh made Butter in Tubs will pay extra price. MILLER & WHITAKER. 24w4

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which [illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days,
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

☞ Remember DRAPER always takes the lead in selling goods cheap and never allows anyone to undersell him in fair deal. 47.

Cash buys Dry Goods Cheap at Sackett's.

A LESSON IN EQUESTRINISM.

Horseback riding as an art and as a beneficial exercise is one of the most judicial habits that one could cultivate. While it affords the equestrian every opportunity for the cultivation of graceful posing, it comprising all the healthful elements of the most invigorafing pleasures. Like all else in the world, however, if indulged in immoderately, the the results are extremely painful and oftimes dangerous. Galled limbs and piles that itch intently, particularly after getting warm into bed, are not frequently the outcome of excessive exercise in the saddle. In such cases, however, the evil can be thoroughly eradicated by applying Swayne's ointment, which, as a cure for piles—itching or otherwise, has no equal. 2044

CLOSING OUT.

I will sell my stock of goods at wholesale prices for the next 30 days to close business. Doll cabs and dolls, boys' wagons, vases, work boxes, desks, smoking stands, pipes notions, albums, scopes and views etc. Call and see before you buy. Five marble top tables, and chairs etc. Five cent cigars for three cents to close out stock.

JAMES STEVENS.

Now we have it—the best Fifty cent Corset. C. E. SACKET.

HOTEL CLARENDON,

Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.

13 G. E. SQUIER, Prop.

☞ Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) a DRAPER'S Fulton and Oswego Falls tores. 47

Real Estate Changes.

Following are the deeds recorded at the county clerk's office the past week of local import:

F N Grant and Mary A Green to Dorcas A Perkins, land in Granby, $75.

M Egbertson et. al. to O J. Perkins, land in Granby, $275. Feb. 18, 1882.

Livingston Ketchum et. al. to Marion Woodbury and others land in Fulton, Sept. 16, 1882, $900.

Strayed Cattle.

Strayed on the premises of Ed. Van Buren, Sunday, Oct. 29, 1882, two and one-half miles north of the village on [illegible] four yearlings— [illegible]

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phoenix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

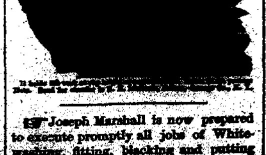
1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters,	12c	per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50	" "
Tea cups and saucers,	24	" sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61	each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	14	"

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st,

I am your obedient servant.
JAMES MCCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18; 1882.

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



☞ Joseph Marshall is now prepared to execute promptly all jobs of Whitewashing, fitting, blacking and putting up stoves. He does his work good and solicits jobs. Leave orders at Tucker's grocery, or Eggleston's book store. 17

A Magnificent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of

Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

NEW GOODS

AT THE

BAZAAR

THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

REFINING INFLUENCE

OF

EDUCATION

Teacher that garments ought to be designed for embellishment as well as for coverings, and notwithstanding the boastings of the printed Satinet element the people are daily recognizing the fallacies of their claims and are turning to

"THE FAMOUS"

for relief. Clothing bought of the

FAMOUS OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE,

2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse,

are in make and style so distinctive that they are distinguishable as far as the eye can discern, and they carry with them a mark so prominent that it bespeaks elegance, style, fit and gentility for the wearer. No other House can show as many new styles?

Such elegant fitting garments.
Such truly great bargains.
Such low prices.
If you cannot be suited anywhere else

"The FAMOUS"

2 and 3 WIETING BLOCK,

[illegible] & WESTERN R. R.

[illegible]

DEL. L'K'W'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation....6:05 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express....9:26 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express....12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express....5:55 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express....8:05 a. m.
[illegible] Express....2:05 p. m.
[illegible] Accommodation....6:24 p. m.
[illegible] York and Philadelphia Express....9:30 p. m.
[illegible] train runs Sundays.
[illegible] cars attached to the Night Express [illegible] Philadelphia.
W. B. Phelps, Supt.

JOSEPH FRANCIS, - Local Editor.

November 1st.

Dr. Hall has placed a telephone in his office.

Wm. E. Taylor has returned from his western trip.

Mrs. A. S. Morse of Syracuse was in town yesterday.

Thursday, November 30th, is designated as Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. R. C. Scott of Oswego was a guest of Mrs. Geo. L. Smith last week.

The polling place for Dist. No. 2 Volney will be held in the store under the postoffice.

Miss Cora E. Lasage has returned from a three months' sojourn with friends in Quebec and Montreal.

Don't fail to witness "Nip and Tuck" in Nichols hall to-morrow evening by Harry Webber and his company.

Mr. Maro Armour of Chicago was in town over Sunday, a guest of Mr. Silas Reeves. He is a member of the famous Armour packing house in that city.

Marcus J. Tait of Little Utica, Onondaga Co., and Miss Helen Barto of Palermo were married Saturday by Justice of the Peace W. C. Crombie at his office.

A. P. Cook who has been managing the Western Union office during Mr. Boardman's absence returned to Syracuse yesterday. He is in the employ of the company.

Dr. J. N. Betts, of Pulaski, has accepted the nomination for member of assembly on the democratic ticket in that disdrict. The doctor is a competent and popular man and is making a vigorous push for election.

Next Tuesday will be election. Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at sunset. There will be seven separate tickets to vote this year, viz:—State, Judiciary, Congress, Assembly, County and two regarding the proposed amendments to the constitution on canals and judiciary.

We learn from the Buffalo Express that Mr. A. Cole Cheney of Rochester, formerly of Fulton, was surprised at his Charlotte cottage on Tuesday evening last by the exclamation, "I have a dead sure thing on you now," and looking over his shoulder saw a revolver aimed at his head. The man with the revolver was Mr. Terrace Burns, who had mistaken Mr. Cheney for a burglar. The latter was recognized as he turned and this saved unpleasant consequences.

The last two weeks have been ones of great activity among our merchants, who are counting upon an extensive fall trade. Several of them have just returned from New York, where they purchased heavily, and they are now busy unpacking their goods. The number of new patterns is unusually large. Novelties abound in every department of the trade, and it seems as if the most fastidious taste must be gratified by the elegant things which the merchants are bringing on this season. No one should go out of town to make purchases when as good or better bargains may be obtained at home. A walk through any of our business houses will convince you of the correctness of our statement.

The penal code, which will go into effect on the 1st of December next, puts a stop to all traffic and secular work on Sunday. All trades, manufactures and mechanical employments are prohibited. All manner of public selling or offering for sale of any commodity upon the first day of the week is prohibited, except that meats, milk and fish may be sold before 9 o'clock in the morning, and except that food may be sold to be eaten on the premises where sold, and drugs, medicines and surgical appliances may be sold at any time of day. Sunday breaking is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $1 or more than $10, or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding five days, or both. In addition to this fine and imprisonment upon conviction, all goods exposed for sale on the first day of the week shall be forfeited and sold at one day's notice, and the proceeds of such sale devoted to the poor fund of the city or town in which the offense occurs.

When I Have a Baby at breast nothing is so useful for quieting my own and baby's nerves as Parker's Ginger Tonic. It prevents bowel complaints, and is better than any stimulant to give strength and appetite.
24 w4 [A Newark Mother.

Musical Goods.

Mr. Bristol is constantly receiving [illegible] from Weber, Fisher, Pease, and [illegible] manufacturers, organs [illegible]

[illegible] and [illegible] Republican candidates for Congress will address the [illegible] of this vicinity in Nichols hall this evening. The glee club will furnish excellent music. Ladies are especially invited.

Star Lecture Course.

A select course of lectures will be given the coming season, at the New Stephens Opera House under the management of S. B. Mead who has so successfully conducted these entertainments for the past three or four years. The course as now contemplated will comprise the London Royal Hand Bell Ringers, Lieutenant Danenhower of the Famous Arctic Expedition, Judge Albion W. Tourgee, the popular author of Fools Errand etc., Hon. William Parsons and Mrs. Mary A. Livermore,—a galaxy of Stars unsurpassed in the American Lyceum. Watch for the advertisements.

All Hallow E'en.

Last evening was All Hallow E'en Gates were carried off, fences broken down, signs misplaced and portable property of every description moved. At H. J. Case's grocery, Broadway and Second street, the most mischief was done. His sign was removed to the foundry and upon his wooden awning were placed boards and saw horses taken from the brick building at Broadway and First. Boards were also taken from the platform in front of the store and thrust through a glass door and window wrecking things. Windows in the residence of Mr. Michael Edick were broken, and reports from various parts of the village show a general wrecking. Such work can be prevented.

A Rare Treat.

"Nip and Tuck," played by Harry Webber and company is pronounced by those who are fortunate enough to have seen it as one of the best entertainments given to the public. It is a play with an excellent plot. They never visit small towns, but on this occasion they were disappointed in getting a date as the Academy of Music was engaged, and to fill in the time, they will appear here in Nichols hall to-morrow evening. Harry Webber and H. A. Abbott are both noted in the profession, and their names alone are a sufficient guarantee that the entertainment will be first-class. If you wish to be favored with something rare, do not fail to attend.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1882:

Mrs. Robert N Bell,
Wm Birrell,
Mrs Harriet F Cole,
J H McMahon, (boat Henry Hastings)
A. Normandin,
Mrs Fanny Salsbury,
Theodore Wright,
Miss Addie Wrightson,

POSTAL CARDS

Mrs H M Barry,
Mrs Cornelia Goodrowe,
B N Hinman,
Wm Pierce,

HELD FOR BETTER DIRECTIONS

Miss Nettie Lamphear, Champion. Lewis county.

Persons calling for the above will please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

Grand Ball and Free Concert.

The Fulton Amateur Band will give a ball in Nichol's hall Friday evening of this week. Arrangements have been perfected for an excellent time. The band balls have always been conducted in a gentlemanly manner and those who attend may be assured of a pleasant evening. Previous to the ball and beginning at 8:30 o'clock, a free concert will be given by the band in the hall. This is generous on the part of the musicians and they will render selections in as credible a manner as many professional bands. Following will be the program:

1. Grand March—Burgess Corps, Pettee
2. Waltz—Lenore, Webb
3. Cornet Solo—Cosmopolitan Polka, Prosho
4. Serenade—To Ida Webb
5. Andante & Waltz—Beautiful Star, Kellar
6. Gallop—Storm King, Moscow

D. D. Eames was in town yesterday.

S. G. Hart and family of Syracuse are in town.

C. C. Fuller is confined at his house in this village by sickness.

A new water wheel is being placed in Herrick & Emerick's box factory.

Rev. A. U. Hutchins will preach in Pennellville next Sunday at 3 p. m.

Mrs. A. B. Wolcott and daughter have returned to their home in Jersey City.

James Mack, captain of the state scow, is at his home near Bundys Crossing suffering from a slight attack of typhoid fever.

A little son of Dr. Barringer was bitten by postmaster Gilbert's dog while playing with it Monday. The dog was killed last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Mason returned Monday evening from McLean, Tompkins Co., where they had been to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mason's mother who died Saturday.

The musical of Zion church organ guild was held at the residence of Dr. W. A. Hall last evening. There was a large attendance and the selections rendered of a high order.

☞ Dresses, cloaks, coats stockings and all garments can be colored successfully with Diamond Dyes. Fashionable colors. Only ten cents.

"BEE HIVE."

Dress Goods Dress Goods.
If you want anything in this line call at Bee Hive don't fail to look at our rich and Varied Assortment of [illegible]

Men's Double Sole and Tap [illegible] Boots [illegible] Warranted

Sold for $2.25 a pair at

A. E. NETTLETON'S.

CALL EARLY.

Dr. W. L. Woodbury is in Ithaca.

Tam O'Shanter hats are numerous.

November 4th, 1881, we had our first snow.

John F. Boardman has returned from Michigan.

"Nip and Tuck" in Nichols hall to-morrow evening.

The comet is still visible at six o'clock in the morning.

Schuyler C. Schenck of Toledo, Ohio, was in town last week.

Husking bees and apple parings are all the rage in the rural districts.

The next term of school at Falley Seminary begins on Monday, December 4th.

Dr. Woodbury addressed a temperance meeting at North Hannibal Saturday evening.

Robert McKay and family have taken up their residence in Fulton. They come from Hannibal.

Simeon Osborn is shipping about four hundred bushels of potatoes per day. He pays fifty cents per bushel.

Cullen has returned from Buffalo with another car load of choice western beef. He is carving delicious steaks.

The spire on the Presbyterian church has been placed in position and surmounted by a handsome weather vane.

From four to eight tons of dressed poultry are shipped weekly from Fulton to the New York market. Six or seven men are engaged in the business.

Some fine music will be rendered in Nichols hall this evening by a quartette composed of Messrs F. A. Gage, N. H. Gilbert, W. P. Hillick and James Cooper.

The Lakeside Press, published at Cleveland, N. Y., says:

Rev. Father Green is liked better every day by his parishioners and our people generally.

Butter thirty-two cents per pound, eggs twenty-eight cents per dozen and every other article of necessity correspondingly high isn't a pleasant fact to contend with at the outset of winter.

District Attorney N. B. Smith, of Pulaski and Mr. S. H. Wandell, formerly in Pardee & Piper's office in this village, and lately admitted to the bar, have formed a co-partnership under the firm name of Smith & Wandell.

The residence of Dr. D. E. Lake at the corner of Third and Oneida streets has been remodeled and modernized. A handsome veranda extends across the front and a bright coat of paint assists in adding to its attractions.

The gentleman stepped on the coal dealer's platform scales and asked to be weighed. The dealer said, 'Why, certainly!" and called to the man inside to take the weight. And the man thought it was coal he was weighing, and shouted back the weight, "Six hundred pounds!"

Died, in Oswego town, Oct. 20, 1882, of cancer, Dorothy, wife of Wm. F. Elmer, aged 62. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer were many years resident of this town and moved into Oswego town last spring. Funeral was held from the house and remains interred in Mount Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Elmer was a sister of Mrs. William Osborn and Esquire, Nathan, Washington and Heman Rowlee of this town.

"Spike" Pierce's canvass has been attended with innumerable blunders and those who have been his most ardent supporters seem to take most pleasure in pointing them out. The charges made against Mr. Stowell take the phase of political persecution rather than a desire on the part of his accusers to punish him for dishonesty—if such there be. Republicans who have been inclined to favor "Spike" Pierce and now see his following diminishing must reccollect that Merrick Stowell is as good a republican and was as brave and true a soldier as "Spike" Pierce.

"By their Fruits," etc.

Men and women judge between stores by way of contrast when they are out shopping and where they find the largest assortment. That is one attraction. While they are examining goods, if the salesmen showing them is polite, accommodating, and always patient, that is another attraction. If the prices are low for desirable merchandise, the inducement is irresistible and selections are made on the spot. How few stores can present those essentials. No one is willing to pay large profits and a wise merchant never asks large profits and none but a fool would attempt to play upon the credulity of the public in that way.

"By their Fruits," etc.—and well may the cunning merchant of this or any other town be sure of failure if he deceives the people for the people pass by on the other side after that.—"The Famous Opera Clothing House, 2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse, are doing the largest business in the retail clothing trade. And why? Because by fair dealing and a strict adherence to the one price and low price system, has gained the confidence of every one whose custom he has received. The best advertising medium is a pleased customer. The proprietor of the "Famous" 2 and 3 Wieting block, will be gratified if every man or woman, before calling, has shopped elsewhere first, the contrast will be found altogether in favor of "The Famous" both as regards prices, variety and fit of clothing. We bespeak a comparison for the "Famous." 24

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. Cooley Tucker presents compliments [illegible]

OSWEGO FALLS.

Mrs. Kinmouth and son are in Seneca Falls.

Hall & Wood are shipping potatoes from the lower depot. Fifty cents is the ruling price.

Our new church is rapidly taking definite shape and some idea of its proportions can be surmised. It is being well built.

Michael McMahon a former well known resident of this village died in Auburn Saturday, aged 54 years. Funeral was held yesterday in Oswego.

About sixty persons joined the advance class in Prof. Chase's singing class in Howe's hall Saturday evening. The people are to be commended for their zeal in taking hold of the matter. The price of instruction for thirteen weeks is only $1.75.

Harry Rowland, a cloth boss in the Oswego Falls factory, was in the new building yesterday forenoon when he made a misstep and fell between the joists to the floor below, a distance of about twelve feet. He was assisted to his home and Dr. Wells summoned. He was badly bruised and shocked by the fall and fortunately no bones were dislocated or broken.

Mr. Chase who is instructing a singing class at Howe's hall on Saturday evenings has consented to teach a primary class on Saturday afternoon if a sufficient number desire it. The method of instruction in this class will be adapted to pupils under twelve years of age and is the method used in the schools of Boston. The musical readers by L. W. Mason which have contributed much to Mr. Holt's success in the Boston schools will be used. The terms are put at the low figure of $1.00 for the term of thirteen weeks. All who desire to join this class should meet at the hall at four o'clock, Saturday afternoon. Parents may accompany their children if they do not wish them to go alone. B.

Teachers' Institute.

The next session of the Oswego county teachers' institute, will be held at the seminary chapel, Fulton, beginning Nov. 27, 1882. The institute will be conducted by Prof. F. P. Lantry, with Prof. R. G. Post as assistant.

C. R. PARKHURST, Com.

Those Strawberries.

"THE FULTON TIMES chaps 'got on to' a box of Sharpless strawberries last July, intended for the Patriot. They sampled those berries, and said they were very nice and the Patriot uses up a quarter of a column to protest against the outrage."

[Oswego Times.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Last Sabbath being the close of the Sabbath school at the Luddington school house, Mr. H. L. Crane, the Superintendent, was remembered by his Bible class with a present of a very nice coffee pot. At the same time Mrs. A. E. Taylor, foamerly of Oswego, was presented by her class with a handsome Majolica set.

Brand New Citizens.

The following Oswego Falls gentlemen attended a special term of the Supreme court in Oswego last Wednesday and were made citizens of the United States: Albert Holmes, William Ellis, Miles Ellis, John Greenwood, James Falkner, Edwin Dawson, John Smith, Wilkes Shoesmith and John Kennedy.

Granby Centre.

Mr. Isaac Pierce will teach our school this winter. The school house has undergone extensive repairs and been fitted up with patent sittings.

W. H. Wybron died Wednesday evening of Brights disease of the kidneys, aged 65 years. Mr. Wybron moved into our midst about eighteen months ago from Brewerton where his remains were taken and interred Sunday. Several people from this vicinity attended the funeral.

Special Notices.

WANTED—A dining room girl. Inquire at Falley Seminary. 24

FOR SALE OR RENT—A small house in eastern part of village. Enquire of 24t3 MRS. M. L. LEE.

FOR SALE.—I have on hand seventy masquerade costumes and a number of masks in good condition which I will sell very cheap. Enquire of
CHAS. HOLDEN.

WANTED—A competent woman to wash on Monday and assist with the ironing on Tuesday or Wednesday. Apply immediately to MRS. E. W. ROSS, 24w2 83 First Street.

LOST—A boy's seal skin hat on Monday between the residence of H. J. Case and Genesee mills. Finder will be rewarded by leaving it at THE TIMES office.

LOST—Between the residence of Lawrence Miller on Third street, and my residence on Seventh at the foot of Academy street, two hand saws and a carpenter's square. The finder will be rewarded. NELSON JUDD.
Oct. 28, 1882.

LOST—On Sunday last a pair of Spectacles, gold frame. Either in the basement of the M. E. church or between the church and Academy St., on the line of Third and across the park. The finder will be liberally dealt with by leaving them at this office. 24

SITUATION WANTED—A respectable lady wishes to obtain a situation as house keeper in a private family or would be a nurse and companion to an invalid. Has first class references. Address M. D., P. O. box 47, Fulton, N. Y.
23w

NEW MUSIC.

Bristol has just received a new lot of Oliver Ditson's popular music. Also a full line of New Books suitable for Holiday presents. 24

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 116 acres in the town of Volney [illegible]

Beautiful building weather.

"Spike" Pierce is in town to-day.

Wm Rigney and wife are in town.

"Nip and Tuck" to-morrow night.

Bristol's Cutters, they are beauties.

If you want the news read THE TIMES.

Cheese factories are closing for the season.

Fill your coal bins. The commodity is slowly advancing.

Mrs. A. M. Roe has returned from her visit to Cincinnati, Ohio.

Attend the free concert given by the Fulton Amateur band Friday evening.

Mr. Carlon Church has gone for a short ocean voyage in quest of health.

Mr. Dickinson of Michigan is visiting friends in this vicinity for a few days.

Melville A. Hatch has sold the 'bus barn property to Wm. G. Gage for $1000.

Grocer Stoneburgh will occupy the Harvie building at the corner of First street and Broadway.

The town Auditors will meet Thursday Nov. 10th for the purpose of auditing the town accounts.

Dr. D. Pardee was confined to the house during last week and Dr. Denike attended to his patients.

Fasten well your doors and windows. Several burglaries have been committe the past week in neighboring villages.

Mrs. S. B. Mead gave a tea party to a large number of her friends at the residence of her father in Granby Ftiday evening.

Miss Alma Richardson, daughter of Mr. L. T. Richardson, will spend the winter in Boston perfecting her musical education.

L. A. Belshaw, who left this county over a year ago, and well known in dairy circles, was in Phœnix last week. He lives in Chicago.

The receipts for taxes which have been paid by various persons during the term of L. H. Conklin and not accounted for continue to come in to the county treasurer.

Rev. O. C. Cole has been appointed by G. M. Mead, presiding elder of the Oswego district to fill a vacancy in the M. E. church in Constantia. He will remove to that village.

Gilbert Bros. have presented THE TIMES with a sack of buckwheat flour and in the language of our careless contemporary "it is the best we ever came in contact with."

The Presbyterians will occupy the opera house for holding Sunday services until their church is completed. The opera house will be ready for them the latter part of this month.

In making a mention of the production of H. W. Smith's cheese factory for the month of September in last week's TIMES we stated it at 250,000 pounds. It should have read 250 cheese.

About four months ago Millie Phillips, for many years in the family of Mr. C. P. Tucker, married a young man named Floyd and moved to Syracuse. Word comes that Mr. Floyd died recently of typhoid fever.

There is hardly a day passes that strangers are not compelled to leave Baldwinsville on account of no hotel accommodations. How long is this condition of things to last? [Gazette.

Send them to Fulton. We have plenty of good hotels and prices are reasonable.

The Grand Army of the Republic held a meeting last evening and twelve members were present. After the regular business was transacted and the meeting adjourned a vote was taken on county clerk "Spike" Pierce receiving ten votes and Stowell one—one member refraining from voting. A vote on the State ticket stood nine for Folger and two for Cleveland.

The Oneida correspondent of the Syracuse Herald writes to that journal yesterday:—G. D. Ball, who has been despatcher at one end of the block used on the N. Y. O. & W. railroad, from the gravel pit to the West Shore road, has been transferred to Cleveland, N. Y., to take the place of A. Whitney, who has not fully recovered from an accident of two months ago. Mr. Ball is a careful and painstaking railroad man, and is to be relied on at all times.

"AN AMBITIOUS INDIVIDUAL."

"Oh! I'm boiling over to do some good act" shouted a politician the other day, as his red nose protruded from a face ornamented with unhealthy blotches. "Well, sir," replied a friendly listener, "unless you want to be an animated sign for a drug store, and make the passers-by sick, I would advise you to use Swayne's Ointment and be cured of that skin disease." The ambitious man acted upon the advise, and is now a living exemplification of what this excellent remedy can accomplish. 24w4

FIRST RATE ARTICLE.

J. Cooley Tucker does not propose to hire people to buy his teas by offering them a valueless present and charging them double price per pound, but to give them a first class article at one half the price, thereby enabling the purchasers to select and buy their own presents for less money than they pay for poor tea. 24

MILO'S STEAM DYE WORKS.

The agent for the above works is in town. Parties wishing work executed in a first-class manner and promptly will find him at the Lewis House. Goods returned within ten days.
Fulton, Nov. 1, 1882.

A DEAD SHOT

[illegible]

[illegible] party in power and [illegible] to strengthen and perpetuate their power and are recognized as the lawful fruits of victory. The vast army of office holders who are appointed principally for the influence they exert and their willingness to contribute a portion of their salary to pay the legitimate (?) expenses of a campaign have become a stench in politics and an effort is being made to remedy it.

A branch Civil Service Reform Association was formed in Oswego Saturday evening. Its principal object is to advocate the selection of administrative officers (with such exceptions as may be necessary,) by competitive examination, open to all citizens of the United States, irrespective of political affiliations—the appointment of such officers upon probation for the purpose of ascertaining their fitness by practical tests, and their removal for legitimate cause only, such as dishonesty, negligence, incompetency and not for political reasons.

Rev. H. H. Stebbins was elected President. Vice-presidents: J. A. Barry, A. H. Failing, Edwin Allen, J. K. Ford, W. G. Robinson; secretary, Geo. W. Parkhurst; treasurer, Gard T. Lyon.

Both the republican and democratic candidates for congress declare themselves to be in harmony with the tenets of the Civil Service Reform Association.

A Beautiful Reminiscence.

There are political times when we are reminded that there are many who now find themselves consorting with strange company and looking regretfully back to the old times when their admiration for party leaders had not weakened, as a beautiful reminiscense. A great many good people who think they know a "bar'l," when they see it are yearning longingly after that good old time and wishing they would return again. Alas! for them they must ever remain a beautiful reminiscence. Less unfortunate and more sensible are those who buy their clothing at Kent & Miller's, 18 and 20 South Salina street. They not only have the beautiful reminiscense of excellent clothing that has served its purpose well and eventually gone where all good clothing goes, but they can repeat tue experiment as often as they please, and every new satisfaction experienced is sure to bring greater joy and comfort than the preceding. For the fall and winter of 1882 Kent & Miller have a stock os overcoats, suits and single garments surpassing all that has gone before. Their styles are the latest; their prices are the lowest; the satisfaction they give is the most solid. Call and examine; critically compare and if satisfied with the truth of what we have said, purchase.

PERSONS WHO STAND UPON THEIR FEET, whether men or women, are often troubled with serious pains and weakness in the back, loins and other parts of the body. It has been proven beyond a dout, however, that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure is a certain preventive of these troubles.

FARM FOR SALE.

I am going west and will sell my farm of 90 acres for $35 per acre. Good house and barn, never failing spring of water; good soil, about 14 acres of timber.

Located on Battle Island road, one mile west of Oswego river, four miles below Fulton. seven miles from Oswego. Call on the premises, or address

W. D. WILTSIE,
Minetto, Oswego Co., N. Y. 23w2.

Look Here!

All accounts I have outstanding that have been owing six months or over must be settled at once or they will be placed out for collection.
Fulton, Oct. 4th. D. C. BAKER.

☞ Make your old things look like new by using the Diamond Dyes, and you will be happy. Any of the fashionable colors for 10 cents.

Just received at Draper's 30 bushels of Sweet Potatoes, to be sold nearly as cheap as common potatoes. 21

STRAW WANTED!

For which will pay Five Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Six dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.
24m1 WM. WAUGH & BRO.

AUCTION!! AUCTION!!

The subscriber will sell at public auction on Wednesday November 15, 1882, at 10 a. m., at his residence, one mile north-east of Battle Island cheese factory, the following property; 11 cows, 5 three-year-old heifers, three calves, one yoke four-year-steers, ayreshire. A bull, quantity of hay, one two-horse threshing machine, one reaper, one Buckeye mower, two lumber wagons, one new; one buggy, one skeleton, one Democrat wagon, cutters and sleighs, one pair heavy bob sleighs, lumber sleigh and all my farming utensils. Farm for sale at private sale. Terms—Nine months time will be given on good approved notes, payable at the Citizens' National Bank, Fulton.
FRED FOSTER.

☞ The place to buy china cups and Saucers, Vases, Majolica Ware, &c. is at D. C. Skaden's who has the largest assortment ever in Fulton. 22

☞ I have a number of first-class Ferrets for sale. Enquire of 15 JAS. E. MILLER.

For Yarns, Zephyrs, Worsted and Canvas go to C. E. SACKETT'S.

"BEE HIVE."

We are now opening our Fall and Winter Stock of Cloaks, Dolmans, and Ulsters. Every one of our Garments are cut and finished by Men Tailors, which not only makes them fit nicely but they are warranted to keep their shape. For new styles and low prices go to the Bee Hive.

BENNETT & STEWART.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and

BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous [illegible]

Ten Cents Per [illegible] the use of [illegible]

JOSEPH WALTON.

2 and 3 WIETING BLOCK.

FIRST CLASS CLO THIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRICE ASKED.

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS,
CARPET
—AND—
Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE. A MAMMOUTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

I. H. Brounstein.

ANNUAL FALL EXPOSITION.

—OF—

FALL AND WINTER CLOTING!

—AT—

The Brounstein

ONE PRICE

CLOTHING HOUSE.

If you are buying or think of buying anything in the way of

Men's Youths', Boys', and Children's Clothing,

At least give us an opportunity to show our goods before purchasing elsewhere. Also an elegant

Pocket Knife GIVEN AWAY

With Every Garment Purchased.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN,

A. C. Yates' old stand 13 &15 North Salina Street, Syracuse.

Crockery, China,

Glass and Silverware.

—:o:—

D. SKADEN,

First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

Has returned from New York and is daily receiving a large and fine assortment of

CROCKERY,

Ever shown in Fulton or Oswego County.

We will not be undersold in

Bracket, Hanging, Stand, Lamps and Chandeliers.

D. C. SKADEN,
Next Door to Lewis House. FIRST STREET, FULTON, N. Y.

COMING. COMING. COMING.

Nichols Hall.

One Night Only.

Harry Webber,

THURSDAY EVENING NOV. 2d, 1882,

IN "NIP AND TUCK."

Mr. Webber is supported by an excellent company [illegible]

1856. 1882.

CALL AT

J. H. WOODIN'S,

No. 7 First Street, Fulton.

For Bargains In

HARDWARE, DOORS, WINDOWS, BLINDS, ROPE, PULLEY BLOCKS, HORSE FORKS, MILK CANS,

Tinware of all descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent. Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

J. H. WOODIN.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop B.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA

LAKE ICE!

1882.

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.
Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.

Ice delivered in good order.

K. BREADS.

MUNN & Co. PATENTS ESTABLISHED 1846 NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

HAY-FEVER

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new show cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.

LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

DR. E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT, a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, convulsions, Nervous headache, Mental depression, Spermatorrhœa, impotency, loss of memory, involuntary emissions, premature old age, caused by over exertion, self abuse, or over indulgence, which leads to misery decay and death.

One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order received by us for six boxes, accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. Guarantees issued only when the treatment is ordered direct from us. Address JOHN C. WEST & CO sole proprietors, 181 & 183 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. 22y1

Lackawanna Coal!

IS THE

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

FOR SALE BY

Q. RUST.

Will You

HAVE AN

[illegible]?

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls, Screened and Free from Slate!

AT

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES:

25 cents per ton [illegible]

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp'ly Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAM

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

AT THE

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.

FOR 1882

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 cts per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs. 15 " "
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ " "
Private families 10 pounds per day, $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private families' season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.

ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.

FRED SPAFFORD.

J. COLE,

The old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

KNABE

PIANO-FORTES.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship & Durability.

WILLIAM KNABE & CO.

Nos. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore. No. 112 Fifth Avenue, New York.

$10 to $20,000

In legitimate judicious speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stocks on our perfected plan, yields sure monthly profits to large and small investors. Address for full particulars,

R. E. KENDALL & CO.,

Com'n. Merchants, 177 & 179 La Salle St., Chicago Ill.

CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED.

BOURNE & CO.,

Commission and Wholesale Dealers in

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES,

[illegible]

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story—A Hopless Case Cured—A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Greene County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining and permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended Favorite Remedy to others whom I knew to whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and I assure the public that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy' as I did."

Fulton Business Cards

F. E. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair work and office work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 1 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 35

B. F. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

W. G. BLETS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural Implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. [illegible] First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed [illegible] manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of [illegible] law and full sheet poster printing [illegible] and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. [illegible] First street.

E. B. ABBEY, Jobber and Plasterer, all kinds of Mason Work [illegible] at Whitaker's Meat Market [illegible] attention. Mortar [illegible]

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. [illegible] No. 32 [illegible]

DR. W. L. WOODBURY, [illegible] above [illegible] Smith's [illegible] 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No. [illegible] street. Office hours until 9 a. m., and from 1 to 2 and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 103 So. Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office over post office Fulton N. Y.

E. FRANK MARSH, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 First St. Fulton, (former residence of Thos. Kinlerch) Office hours 7 to 8 a. m., and 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p. m. 48

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in [illegible] formerly occupied by W. J. [illegible]

Sewing Machines.

E. H. M. DERRIS [illegible] Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and [illegible] Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No. 3 First street.

Jeweler

C. E. NICHOLS, Jeweler (successor to Stevenson), No. 3 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL, Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE

FOR

RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

It cleanses the system of the acrid poison that causes the dreadful suffering which only the victims of Rheumatism can realize.

THOUSANDS OF CASES of the worst forms of this terrible disease have been quickly relieved, and in short time PERFECTLY CURED.

PRICE, $1. LIQUID OR DRY, SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Dry can be sent by mail.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington Vt.

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

Lewis House Livery & Boarding Stable

I would announce to the people of Fulton and vicinity that I have taken possession of the Lewis House livery, and shall keep it first class in every respect. I respectfully invite those in need of anything in my line to give me a call. Office and stable in rear of Lewis House.

50tf R. LEONARD.

RESCUED FROM DEATH

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass. says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise I began to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past. [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1882.

The Long Journey.

When our feet become heavy and weary
On the valleys and mountains of life,
And the road has grown dusty and dreary,
And we groan in the struggle and strife,
We halt on the difficult pathway;
Glance back over valley and plain,
And sigh with a sorrowful longing
To travel the journey again.

For we know in the past there are pleasures,
And seasons of joy and delight,
While before all is doubting and darkness,
And dread of the gloom and the night;
All bright sunny spots we remember—
How little we thought of them then?
But now we are looking and longing
To rest in those places again.

But vain of the vainest is sighing,
Our course must be forward and on;
We cannot turn back on the journey,
We cannot enjoy what is gone.
Let us hope, then as onward we travel
That oases may brighten the plain,
That our road be beside the sweet waters,
Though we may not begin it again.

For existence forever goes onward—
From the hill to the mountain we rise,
On, on, o'er invisible summits,
To a land in the limitless skies.
Strive on, then with courage unshaken—
True labor is never in vain—
Nor glance with regret at the pathway
No mortal can travel again.

Prof. Robert Odlum, of the Natatorium, this city was cured of a severe attack of rheumatism by the use of St. Jacobs Oil.—Washington (D.C.) Star.

Fashion Notes.

Black velvet bonnets are shot over with gold beads.

Red and green velvets are combined in dress bonnets.

Fine Irish poplins are brought out in various shades.

Velvet Scotch caps are imported for misses and school girls.

Small bonnets are shown more in velvet than any other material.

Arabi red bonnets are shown for both blondes and brunettes.

Very small velvet bonnets are worn by young ladies to match their suit.

For elderly ladies there are black velvet bonnets trimmed with real chantilly lace.

The fashionable linen collar is a standing military band with a vine of embroidery near the edge.

It is decided by the late millinery openings in New York that dress bonnets will be very small for ladies of all ages.

Heavy repped silk have taken the place of satin to a great extent, in construction of dresses and bonnets.

Poke bonnets will be worn more by young ladies than old ones and will poke more downward than above the forehead.

Electric blue velvet bonnets, lined with ficelle gray shirred velvet, and trimmed with a ficelle plume or bird, are fashionable contrasts.

Black lace bonnets are fashionable for evening wear; these are sometimes embellished with gilt garniture of various kinds.

Gold and silver braids are imported in great variety for both millinery and costume use. They are frequently employed in combination with tinted soutache braid.

Small boys two or three years of age wear white pique suits that are made warm enough for autumn by the addition of a gay little cloth sack of bright Turkey red cloth.

Round hats will be extremely small turbans or caps worn back on the head as bonnets are, or else they will be very large with wide fronts that shade the forehead and cover the front hair entirely.

Dressy poke bonnets of terra cotta, electric blue or copper red felt are trimmed with ostrich feathers of the same shade passing round the front and sides far forward on the brim, but not meeting behind the crown.

BE YOUR OWN DOCTOR.

It won't cost you one-half as much. Do not delay. Send two 3 cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 23w3

A Plum for Scientists.

About six months ago Charles Addington, of Sacramento, son of Mrs. W. H. Coker, of Auburn, carried home a bunch of bananas. Among the bananas he found a small egg, about the size of that of a canary. His wife took the egg and put it in a small covered toy dish on the mantlepiece. During fair week Mr. Addington's sister went down from Auburn and while in her brother's house very naturally inspected the toys and ornaments in sight. She lifted the lid off the said little dish, but dropping it, with a scream that attracted the household, jumped back and tremblingly wanted to know what kind of an animal they had in that dish. "None," they all insisted. After due argument and not a little amusement at what what was believed the sister's imagination, the lid was carefully raised, and sure enough out jumped an animal. In the excitement of the moment Mr. Addington put his foot on it and killed it. It was of the crocodile species, from four to five inches in length, and it had been hatched from the little egg put in there some six months previously.

Pieces of the egg shell still remained in the dish, but some bird seed that was in the dish when the egg was put there had all been consumed, and on this alone had the animal subsisted. As a case of self-incubation and suspended animation this would afford interest to the scientists.

THE SECRET OUT AT LAST.

It has long been a source of wonder, as to why Courtney failed to meet Hanlan in a sculling contest. The general explanatory argument was, that he feared the little Canadian. This opinion, however, is exploded by the authentic announcement, that on the days fixed for the race, Courtney was unable to sit in his shell, on account of the intense itching and soreness caused by the Piles. Having recovered through the use of Swayne's Ointment, he now announces that he will row Hanlan any time this summer. 24w2

A hint to young fathers: If you want to keep the baby quiet, give it a feather dipped in molasses.

The Detroit Free Press thinks that the man who, while asleep, was eaten up by a bear, will be a much astonished citizen when he wakes up and finds where he is.

My husband had drunken habits he could not overcome until Parker's Ginger Tonic took away his thirst for stimulants [illegible]

A SHAKY COUNTRY.

Missouri Scenes Near The Kansas Line—A Place Where Everybody Shakes.

"As I have already stated," writes a correspondent, "this part of Missouri for healthiness would take the cake and prize medal at any world's fair in the country. But there are certain parts of the State where malarial fevers and ague riot to an alarming extent. Only a few miles from here, down toward the Kansas line, is one of the most prolific hotbeds for chills and shakes that mortal man ever came across. I went down there the other day just to see the havoc. It beat anything I ever saw. It was a regular circus, with three side shows and a public parade thrown in. Talk about people shaking, that is the place to see it in all its glory. It is undoubtedly the shakiest place in the whole universe, and don't you forget it. Everybody and everything that has any shake to it shakes the whole time; no closing for repairs whatever. These shakes shake the people hereabouts annually, always getting a grip on them about the middle of August and lasting from six to eight weeks, during which time the place becomes—as it were—a regular Shaker community. I had no trouble in getting the people to shake hands with me. They seemed to take it kind of natural like. I did not dream that this disease could make such fearful savages.

"The people were shaking at such a rate that it was impossible to count them. At times a man would shake so that he would look like five or six. They find it hard work to keep their clothes from being shaken off. Even the dogs shake their tails the whole time, and what I first supposed to be pure disinterested sociability on the part of the canines, was caused by the ague and chills concentrating in their caudle appendages. Either the dog or the tail is bound to shake and as a general thing the tail, being the lighter, has to give in. Once in a while, however, when there is a small dog with a big tail there is a serious time of it, as the tail tries to shake the dog and both struggle for the supremacy. I saw an instance of this kind during my visit and was highly edified at the scientific contest. I stayed around two days in hopes of seeing the thing settled, but when I left it was nip and tuck between them, and pools were selling about even.

"Those of the people who are obliged to wear store teeth are forced to have their jaws bound fast together to prevent the plates from shaking out, and during that period are fed by means of a goose quill; but in spite of their precaution, you can hear their teeth rattle about like shot in a tomato can. I was greatly surprised to learn that the people were very much pleased over having the shakes on them, and found they took great pride in showing off their shaking qualifications to the best advantage. No one is in fashion unless he or she are shaking for all there is in it, and if a stranger comes to town and escapes being taken down with the shakes inside of three days, he is snubbed and looked down on, and considered no great shakes.

"During the time of these great annual shakes, the good citizens make the most of it, and try to use it to the best of their ability. They never riddle their ashes only when the shakes are upon them leaving it to accumulate during the balance of the year. Then all they have to do is to fill up a sieve full and hold it out at arm's length, and it shakes itself. I also went to a carpet shaking party while in the fever district. These parties are all the rage during the 'shaking' season, and are looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by both old and young for many miles around. In fact they are the social events of the year, and take the place of our 'harvest homes' and 'corn-huskings' in the East.

"A day is set apart upon which all are supposed to have the shakes upon them in full force, when they assembled at one of the neighbor's and the fun begins. All hands—old and young, big and little—come shaking, shivering and tottering up to where the carpet is spread on the lawn and gather around it, commencing to chant one of those good, old time camp-meeting hymns. At a given signal from the 'boss shaker' they all seize hold of the carpet and raise it about two feet from the ground.

"About the time the chorus is finished, at the end of the fifth verse, the carpet is pronounced clean, and all hands partake of refreshments, after which dancing, games, etc., follow until a late hour, when they adjourn to meet again a few days later at another neighbor's for a similar purpose."

_"There's no arguing a coward into courage." But even a coward may be brave after trying Kidney-Wort, that medicine of wonderful efficacy in all diseases of the liver and kidneys. It is prepared in both dry and liquid form and can always be relied on as an effective cathartic and diuretic. Try it.

"Jump up, Johnny, the school house is on fire," said an Austin mother to her sleeping son. "Is the school teacher burned up?" "I guess not." "O, pshaw!"

"SPENT FIFTY DOLLARS

In doctoring for rhumatism before I tried Thomas Electric Oil. Used a 50c bottle of the medicine, and got out in one week. For burns and sprains it is excellent. James Dunham, East Pembroke, N. Y.

"Oh! George," a Boston girl intensely exclaimed while gazing at the comet, "how transcendantly beautiful and rapturously precious it is; I should so love to study botany."

Two Montana men, while sinking a mine, broke into a subterranean cavern filled with skeletons. From the number of deadheads in the pit it must have been an old theatre.

"WOMAN AND HER DISEASES."

is the title of an interesting treatise (96 pages) sent, post paid, for three stamps. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

"How's Shuttle? What's his reputation in the street?" inquired an anxious broker. "Shuttle? Why, his word is as good as his bond." "And what is his bond worth?" "About three cents on a dollar."

"DID SHE DIE?"

"No! she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters, the [illegible]

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that

95 per Cent.

of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,

Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose a cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞Sold by all Druggists.☜ (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.

9m6

500 Reward!

We will pay the above reward for any case of liver complaint, dyspepsia, sick headache, indigestion, constipation or costiveness we cannot cure with West's Vegetable Liver Pills, when the directions are strictly complied with. They are purely vegetable, and never fail to give satisfaction. Sugar coated. Large boxes containing 30 pills, 25 cents. For sale by all druggists. Beware of all counterfeits and imitations. The genuine manufactured only by John C. West & Co., The pill makers, 181 & 183 West Madison St. Chicago. Free trial package sent by mail prepaid on receipt of a 3 cent stamp. 22y1.

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock

SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14*th Street,*

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER. THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 33tf

LEGAL.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of Hon. T. W. Skinner, surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given, to all persons having claims against Philetus P. Briggs late of the town of Volney in said county deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof to the undersigned at her residence in the village of Fulton, N. Y. on or before the 25th day of October 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated April 19, 1882. HANNAH F. BALL,

Administratrix of the estate of Philetus P. Briggs deceased. 46 mos 6.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Lewis Fuller, late of the town of Granby in said county, deceased, to present their accounts, with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Granby, Oswego county, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated June 1, 1882. D. H. GILBERT,

2mo6 Executor.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin late of the town of Hastings in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y. on or before the first day of December 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

JOHN H. WOODIN.

Dated, May 26, 1882. Executor

2mo6 of Peter Woodin, deceased.

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co., during the year 1882 and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.

4w N. W. NUTTING,
Oswego County Judge.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York, Assets, over $2,400,882.2?

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,089,585.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON MASS.

Assets, $1,271,760.30,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,

40 Fulton, N. Y.

——Insure With——

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

——FOR THE——

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

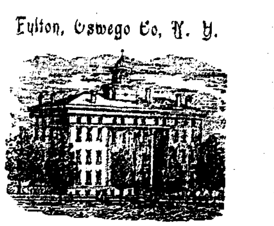
In Great Variety and at Low Prices the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition....................44 00
Board and Tuition (short week).......26 00
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Sept. 5th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.

PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

[illegible]

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

AT

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware, is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all kinds of Roofing and Tin Work.

45 GEO. J[illegible]

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1882.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

[illegible] be accompanied by a [illegible] as a private guarantee of good [illegible]

[illegible] promptly

[illegible] Office at Fulton, N. Y., as [illegible]

A ROMANTIC STORY.

A Woman who beats Corporations [illegible] Perjurers and Courts.

There is not a case in the annals of American jurisprudence which approaches it in interest and complexity, in what really might be called romance, as the damage suits instituted by Walburga Wackerle against the Ætna and the Mutual life insurance companies in the history therein contained. To the impartial observer Mrs. Wackerle does not look at all like a heroine. She is a plain featured, washed out, nervous-looking little woman, wiry in build, blue eyed, partly gray and bearing upon her shoulders the burden of fifty years of hard work. She does not look at all like one of the women of whom we read in novels, whose nature has been transformed, and who devote themselves, body and soul, to retribution thereafter. Mrs. Wackerle has been about as deeply wronged as any of these heroines, however, [illegible] has always been poor, [illegible] fought and won a battle at desperate odds against two powerful corporations. She has travelled from Connecticut to Texas, and from Louisiana to Minnesota time and time again without money. When kindly people secured a passage for her, she rode, when there was no other way she walked, often walking fifty and sixty miles at a stretch. In a word, this woman, with her pale, marked face, her hard hands, and her jarring nerves, is and has been a very volcano, a steam engine of energy, in righting the wrong which have been done her.

The history of the case as it came up in the St. Louis courts has been already told in the daily press. Mrs. Wackerle brought suit against the Mutual Life Insurance Company to recover $4,000, the amount of a policy upon her husband's life. For answer the insurance company produced the dead man in court. It was the supreme moment of the widow's life. After a hard legal fight the bogus Wackerle was stripped of his false feathers and exposed in open court as a fraud and a perjurer, and the long, weary nine years' struggle for justice was closed with justice won. Thus, in brief, does the legal story run. Beneath all this lies the story of how the carefully built house of lies was battered down by a poor old woman engaged single handed and alone in a siege against thieves, perjurers and insurance companies. She does does not tell her story willingly. It has to be drawn from her, question after question. In fact all along she has been a better worker than a historian. Put together, however, after many interviews in snatches here and there, this is the record which has been burnt into Valburga Wackerle's memory in the nine years' search for justice.

She was married to William Wackerle in Shakopee, Scott county, Minn., in 1858. He was one of three brothers—Chris, William and John—at that time a farmer and afterward a laborer, turning his hand to whatever might come in sight. They moved uneasily back and forth over the country, now at Milwaukee, now at Detroit, again back in Minnesota, then to California, Illinois and Missouri. They earned very little money and a bad break was made in their earnings when Wackerle went into the army. The couple had seven children, the first born at Carver, Minn., and buried in New Orleans, where another was born.

Then they moved to Cincinnati where another was born, then to Milwaukee, where two more children were born, died and buried. It was while in Milwaukee that the policy for $4,000, on which this suit was brought, was taken out. They went back to Cincinnati and thence to San Francisco. At Sacramento the oldest child died and was buried. All this roving over the country shows how difficult it must have been for the bogus Wackerle to prove his identity, and the peculiar [illegible] which [illegible] to his memory and [illegible]. From Quincy, Ill., Mr. and [illegible] to St. Louis, he going [illegible] for the harvesting, and [illegible] down to Texas. They parted [illegible] and in August she [illegible] when alone she supported [illegible] for work. [illegible] killed in a railroad [illegible] December 1872, but [illegible] Wackerle, heard of [illegible]

[illegible] Louisiana. His [illegible] hands [illegible] had been [illegible] all about his [illegible] their testimony [illegible] to make her way to Hartford, Conn. This she accomplished by walking and [illegible] helped along by conductors who took pity on the queer little woman with the close shut mouth; often repulsed and hungry, making her way as best she could, she got to Hartford, and the insurance company would do nothing for her. They understood there was [illegible] of Wackerle's death, and declined to pay the policy. Taking legal advice there she set out on her return to Texas, in the meantime making powerful friends in such persons as Benjamin F. Butler and Thomas Scott. The latter, president of the Pennsylvania road and the Texas Pacific, gave her a general letter of passage on his road, and called on the railroad officials to do likewise. With this in her hands, transportation was easier to get. The press and pulpit in New York took up her case, and a great deal of sympathy was expressed for the poor little woman, battling against fearful odds. She went back to Shreveport and interested Alex. Boarman, now United States Circuit Judge in Louisiana, in her case. He found a special ally in the little woman, whose champion he was. She had no money; she had no time to work for money, but her energy and industry made up for it. Up and down Texas she travelled, from one end to the other, hunting down the people who knew of William Wackerle's death. The coroner and several of the jury had died of the yellow fever, the section hands had been dispersed as only such roving people can scatter. But one by one she ran them down and made them swear to Wackerle's death. She found the doctor who had made the post-mortem and the grave digger who had buried the remains.

Here comes in one incident which shows the wonderful nature of this woman. Going to a number of people before the exhumation of the body, she staked everything upon the identification. "If my husband is dead," said she in her broken English, "he lies in this grave. If he is my husband you will find that this tooth," pointing to one of her own, "is broken—not pulled out, but broken. His hair will be of this color," showing a lock, "and he will be clothed in a suit of this color," laying a piece of cloth down beside the grave.

Mattock and spade went to work, and in a few minutes the box with the dead man in it was lifted to the top and laid upon the sod. It was opened and the tooth was found broken where she said, the cloth of the dead man's clothes was of the same dull brown, the hair was of the same straw-yellow color. Her proofs were so conclusive that, in a suit for $3,000, against the Ætna Insurance company, brought before the court at Shreveport, decision was promptly rendered in her favor.

At this point the conspiracy began. One Joseph Weinmann, an attorney at law and insurance agent in Carver, Minn. notified the Mutual and Ætna companies that he could for a consideration defeat the claim of Walburga Wackerle, which had been appealed to the Supreme Court of Louisiana. Correspondence followed, and Weinmann agreed to find William Wackerle alive. For this he got $1000 from each company. Weinmann went to California, to Los Angelos, and returned with an affidavit made out by William Wackerle to the effect that he was alive and in the enjoyment of good health. This affidavit was presented to the Louisiana Supreme Court, and upon it the decision of the court below, was reversed, a thing unprecedented in the annals of jurisprudence, the affidavit being ex parte, and no opportunity being given Mrs. Wackerle to traverse it. In the court below a day was set for the hearing of the case, and Mrs. Wackerle, indomitable, went to work to prove that the false Wackerle was not her husband. To do this she had to make her way to Minnesota without money, and before she could get back the case was called and decided against her virtually by default, before the time set for her return, and upon the evidence offered of Wackerle being still alive.

This would have been enough to cast down an ordinary woman, and certainly the case looked hopeless and desperate enough. But a woman with a purpose is not easily turned aside. Like Bruce's spider, she went patiently to work to reweave the web that had been brushed aside by fraud. The battle ground was changed to Minnesota, and here the two parties met again. Judge Boarman, long after he had gone on the bench, and hence out of the case, still maintained the [illegible] interest in it. Here is an extract from the written advice given by Judge Boarman on the bench to Mrs. Wackerle and her counsel. Weinmann claimed that he had first heard of Mrs. Wackerle's suit through a paragraph in the New York Weekly Mail, which did not mention the companies the widow was suing, and that [illegible] a letter from [illegible] in by the insurance companies. I believe the letter [illegible] by Weinmann after he was [illegible] the company. When the case [illegible] here it became necessary to [illegible] ants, and worked up the fraud, and [illegible] can be defeated in his conspiracy by proper management."

This is strong language from the bench, but Mrs. Wackerle does not charge anybody but Weinmann and the false Wackerle with being in the conspiracy. She went to Minnesota and found that Weinman had brought her bogus husband there and was coaching him in the part he was to play. Mr. Wienmann and the Wackerles had been among the first settlers of Corwin, and if, as is believed, this bogus Wackerle is really Chris Wackerle, the dead man's brother, the lesson, although a hard one, was not impossible. She found that the identity which the neighbors of the dead man swore to, was based not so much on the appearance of the false Wackerle, but on that appearance joined to his knowledge of things which had happened years before.

The impostor met her at last face to face, and braved it out that he was really her husband. She let him go on, perfecting her case against him in a secretive and prudent way, digging a pitfall which she was sure that he must fall into. Too much credit cannot be given to the little woman for the intelligent manner in which she set out to trip the false Wackerle. Leaving him alone to make up the best case he could in Minnesota, she disappeared, and nobody knew where she went to. Really, her objective point was Quincy, Ill., where she and her husband had come from California. There she went to George Terdinger, a wholesale druggist of Quincy, and Mr. Helmer, another well-known citizen of the town, both men of unimpeachable integrity, from whom she secured the material for the defense. Now this is what followed: When the bogus Wackerle went on the stand he was asked about the child which had died in Sacramento, and which he promptly and truly said was exhumed and brought to Quincy. How had he ordered the transfer? He had had the coffin dug up and put just as it was into a rough wooden box, and shipped to Quincy. Did he remember anything about the condition of the coffin? Well, it was just such a coffin as poor people used; there might have been some flowers about it, etc. Nothing else? Nothing else. Quite sure? Quite sure. And what happened in Quincy, Well, the child was buried there. Nothing else that a husband would be apt to remember? Nothing else. Sure? Yes, certain. Another child was born in Quincy? Yes; one. When? About three weeks after they arrived there, and after buried the one brought from Sacramento. Absolutley no other circumstance which a husband would be apt to remember? Nothing else happened. Did he remember the circumstances attending the birth of the child born in Quincy? Oh, yes; they did not impress themselves on his memory particularly. Where did the birth occur? In the house they had rented and lived in at Quincy. And there was nothing in this birth to distinguish it from any other in his family? Nothing. And this child was born some time after the other was Yes.

This was all that Mrs. Wackerle wanted. Her moment of triumph was at hand, and the little woman broke down with hysterics when she recognized that the fight was over and she had won. Her Quincy witnesses were upon the stand, and the false Wackerle almost fainted when the story was told. Yes, they recollected clearly when Mr. and Mrs. Wackerle came back from Sacramento to Quincy, because the fact had been impressed upon their memory by the remarkable manner in which Mrs. Wackerle became a mother, on the day of her arrival. She was taken in labor the moment they got off the cars, and had to lie down in the open street. Wackerle had run for a doctor, and Terdinger and Helmer found the woman lying on the pavement groaning and suffering the most horrible agony. They picked up the woman and carried her into a vacant house, where the child was born before the husband had returned with a midwife. And they both swore that they remembered seeing the coffin with the dead child in it, lying a few feet away on the bare floor from where the mother and the living one were.

The Sacramento undertaker's deposition was read proving that Wackerle had taken the dead child out of the coffin and put it in a new zinc box which was enclosed in a rough wooden case before the corpse was shipped to Quincy. After this the false Wackerle floundered hopelessly. He swore that he had not been in Detroit at all, and witnesses were brought and papers shown proving that the real Wackerle had let his policy of $2,000 in the Ætna Company run out, and was re-examined and reinsured for $3,000 in the Ætna Company in Detroit. After that Mrs. Wackerle had no more trouble, the broken tooth in the false Wackerle's mouth was proven to be a fresh break. The witnesses brought down from [illegible]

[illegible] years and benefits amounting to [illegible],000; besides he swore to [illegible] a month and board and [illegible] from the Mutual Life Insurance [illegible] for his services in this suit. [illegible] believes that he got a [illegible] allowance from the Ætna. Weinmann gets $3,000 and his expenses. Mr. Bliss, the District Attorney, has ordered the pension stopped, but the impostor cannot be arrested until he returns to the place where the pension fraud was committed, or until the United States Court in California orders his arrest. He has left St. Louis; no one knows for what place. Mrs. Wackerle is living at Seventh and Rutger streets in a tenement, and is just now in wretched health. She was out to work every day, and it may be two or three months before the case is definitely settled. There are technicalities to which the defense may still cling which can delay, but which cannot bar, ultimate justice being done to this most indomitable and wonderful woman. —[St. Louis Republican.

The Ithaca (N Y) Ithacan observes: Our druggist reports that St Jacobs Oil goes off like hot cakes.

Hermann in a Market.

Among the industrious market women at Union Market yesterday morning Hermann, the magician, threaded his way, creating great excitement wherever he went; juggling here with eggs, cutting open squashes lined with gold dollars yonder, and astonishing many of the women around him, some of whom imagined that he was the St. Louis representative of the demoniacal sovereign familiarly called "Old Nick." Hermann was relentles in his tricks as he passed from stand to stand buying articles which he took care, on parting from the vender, to open and expose to view large sums of money which he made them believe they contained, as well as jewels that sparkled and glittered like miniature stars. The first thing he did after reaching the market was to walk up to a huckster stand kept by a credulous old German lady named Mrs. Orf, asking her, as he looked over her stock of provisions, whether the eggs she had on hand were good.

"Yes," replied the old lady, "they are the freshest eggs in the market. If you don't think so just break one and see for yourself."

The magician did as he was requested, picked up the egg and broke it open. To her astonishment three ten-dollar gold pieces rolled from the broken shell, which she grabbed at convulsively, but Hermann was too quick for her and pocketed the money, while she gesticulated wildly and insisted that he should return it on the spot. Instead of complying with her request, however, he broke another egg, from which four ten dollar gold pieces rolled out among the vegetables. This was too much for Mrs. Orf, who told him to leave instantly, as, she added she had no more eggs to waste. [St. Louis Rep.

A LESSON IN EQUESTRINISM.

Horseback riding as an art and as a beneficial exercise is one of the most judicial habits that one could cultivate. While it affords the equestrian every opportunity for the cultivation of graceful posing, it comprising all the healthful elements of the most invigorating pleasures. Like all else in the world, however, if indulged in immoderately, the the results are extremely painful and oftimes dangerous. Galled limbs and piles that itch intently, particularly after getting warm into bed, are not frequently the outcome of excessive exercise in the saddle. In such cases, however, the evil can be thoroughly eradicated by applying Swayne's ointment, which, as a cure for piles—itching or otherwise, has no equal. 20t4

If a man could only lose both cuff buttons at the same time it would be all right. It is losing one that kills him.

The compositor who tortured "Old Bay Line" into "Old Baby Mine," has been given a fifty years furlough.

Do you want fast colors?" queried the dry goods clerk. "No indeed!" she answered with a blush. "Charley doesn't like anything fast!"

When I Have a Baby at breast nothing is so useful for quieting my own and baby's nerues as Parker's Ginger Tonic. It prevents bowel complaints, and is better than any stimulant to give strength and appetite.
24 w4 [A Newark Mother.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

GERMAN REMEDY
FOR
RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,
Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.
KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

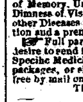
Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

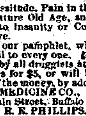
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss TRADE MARK



BEFORE TAKING.



AFTER TAKING.

of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

A First-Class line of [illegible]

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."
Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasse and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz. Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

NO ONE
Should Forget
that
WATERMAN'S
is the place to find and buy almost anything you want in the line of Sporting Goods—Ammunition—Electric Stock,
FISHING TACKLE,
FINE DRAWER AND CHESS LOCKS,
ALL KINDS MACHINE NEEDLES,
ELECTRIC AND COMMON DOOR BELL Fixtures &c., &c.
And the
ROYAL ST. JOHN
Sewing Machine.

There is no use trying to enumerate all our facilities for supplying the public want. Seeing is believing! Come and see for yourselves, at 34 First Stret, Fulton, N Y.

April 18tf.

F. D. VANWAGENEN J ,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY
(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)
General Jobbers in Wood.
PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,
And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.
Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,
Manufactured to Order.
Estimates Given on Buildings.
Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.
Fulton Sept 6. GEO. J. EMENY, H. H. GRIDLEY.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."
TO THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 160 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 246 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber, perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 65 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $225; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon. M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G. G. Vest, United States Senators from Mo., and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

D. Mc Carthy & Co.,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER
DISPLAY
—OF—
Rich and Elegant
DRESS GOODS.

We announce, as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of

Combination Effects
—IN—
Broche and Broche Checks
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids.

all of which have an indentical match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.

☞ Please call and see them.

SILK
DEPARTMENT.

We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:—

Colored and Black Plushes
IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets
FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour.
DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Velovrs, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais.
ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperratrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.

This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics ever displayed in Central New York.

☞ Examination invited.

Cloak Department.

The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments—both Imported and Eastern make—ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these are lines of styles—

Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS
A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRICE!
For the next 30 days M. M. Williams [illegible]
Wall Paper, Borders, Window [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible] follow Ohio's [illegible] majorities [illegible] The [illegible] doubt supply by men who [illegible] that have affiliated with that party. The people have made up their minds to down bosses and down they must go.

Congress will be democratic in the house of representatives, as the result of yesterday's elections. The republican losses are general and the gains are [illegible] if there are any. Just what the majority will be it is hard to estimate, but it will be so large as to control the organization, and may reach twenty, unless gains are shown in the south. Losses of senators will also follow by the choice of the democratic legislatures, so that the next congress will be democratic in both branches.

EVERY man knows what is right oven if, as Swift says, this understanding, at the best, is of but middling size."

THE Mormon recruits that have arrived in New York from the old world during the past year number 3,000.

THERE are thousands of acres of government land in California suitable for agricultural purposes that are open to settlers. Go west young man.

THE postoffice department decides that letters may be returned to senders before delivered to the address of the telegraphic order of the postmaster at the office where mailed.

MORMON converts continue to arrive in this country by the hundreds; 423 arriving in New York Saturday, 280 of which were English and 143 Scandanavians. They immediately left for Utah.

THE acting Secretary of Interior has decided that seven years absence may be taken as proof presumptive of a soldier's death, and such proof shall warrant the issue of a pension to his family, if the other requirements are complied with.

FIFTY colored people sailed from New Yord on Tuesday morning, in the ship Moravia, for Liberia, Africa. When they arrive there each family will be given 25 acres and shelter for six months after which they are expected to become self-supporting. Since 1860 over 5000 colonists have been sent from this country to Liberia.

FOLLOWING the burning of the Park theatre in New York with the loss of one life is the burning of the Arlington theatre in Baltimore with the loss of two lives. Thursday the "Alhambra" another New York theatre burned. Luckily none of the playhouses were burned during amusement hours or the loss of life would have been something terrible.

INDIANS take unkindly to the ways of civilized people and none feel more outraged at them than "Brave Bear" a Sioux chief under sentence of death in Yankton, Dakota, for the murder of a soldier last March. "Brave Bear" was tried according to the most approved civilized methods and found guilty. The President has refused to pardon him and he will pay the penalty of his crime the same as his palefaced brother. He will be hung the 15th inst.

THERE is a feature worthy of especial notice in the career of Christopher Newton, a leading merchant of Sydney, New South Wales, who has lately been entertained at a complimentary banquet by the merchants of London. Twelve years ago he became seriously embarrassed in business, and was forced to seek settlement with his creditors on a basis of fifteen shillings on the pound. This was accepted and he was released from further obligations. By untiring energy he at length retrieved his fortunes, and, all unexpectedly to them, a few months ago paid to his creditors the full amount due them, aggregating more than $200,000. In recognition of his sterling honesty, his creditors have now presented with a steam yacht, and his wife with some costly diamond jewelry.

Palermo.

Aaron Keller died at his residence in this town, Oct. 30th, after a long and painful illness with consumption. Mr. Keller was a man highly respected in the community in which he lived for his many good qualities. His funeral was largely attended at Dentons Corners M. E. church last Wednesday, of which church deceased was a member. Rev. Mr. Buck officiated. His age was forty-eight years. He leaves a wife who has the sympathy of the entire community.

Mrs. Ralph Strong of Syracuse is visiting her mother, Mrs. Parson.

"Will you hold my baby while I look out for my baggage?" asked a woman of a railroad man employed in a Chicago depot the other day. "No," said the man, "but I will hold your baggage while you look out for your baby." He held a baby for a woman once and she never came back for it, and that was what made him so careful.

STRAW WANTED!

For which will pay Five Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Six dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.

24m1 WM. WAUGH & BRO.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on [illegible] Broadway [illegible] and will be [illegible] The most [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] existing in [illegible] party and the [illegible] prevailing [illegible] Democrats a greatly reduced majority on old time Republican counts was expected but to see Oswego county placed in the Democratic column is more than any one expected. The election in this vicinity passed off quietly and [illegible] Below [illegible] a summary of the vote in the towns of Volney and Granby.

VOLNEY.

GOVERNOR.

	Cleveland	Folger
First Dist.	346	199
Second "	288	159
Third "	54	61

LIEUT. GOVERNOR.

	Hill	Carpenter
First dist.	347	197
2d "	285	157
3d "	54	60

CONGRESSMAN AT LARGE.

	Slocum	Carroll
First dist.	328	238
2d "	221	171
3d "	50	65

CHIEF JUDGE

	Ruger	Andrews
First dist.	318	249
2d "	219	172
3d "	50	60

CONGRESS.

	Rhodes	Nutting
First dist.	309	257
2d "	230	175
3d "	51	63

ASSEMBLY.

	Poucher	Littlejohn
First dist.	314	249
2d "	252	187
3d "	70	33

COUNTY CLERK.

	Gardenier	Stowell	Pierce
First dist.	330	181	45
2d "	226	140	25
3d "	51	57	7

CON. AMEND'T—CANALS

	For	Against
First dist.	475	34
2d "	270	20
3d "	14	86

GRANBY.

	Cleveland.	Folger.
First dist.	266	207
2d "	136	85

LIEUT. GOVERNOR.

	Hill	Carpenter
First dist.	256	233
2d "	131	96

CHIEF JUDGE.

	Ruger.	Andrews.
First dist.	253	229
2d "	151	99

CONGRESS

	Rhodes.	Nutting.
First dist.	255	232
2d "	151	99

ASSEMBLY.

	Poucher	Littlejohn
First dist.	269	226
2d "	136	94

COUNTY CLERK.

	Gardenier	Stowell	Pierce
First dist.	242	201	36
2d "	138	90	00

CON. AMENDT.—CANALS

	For	Against
First dist.	330	33
2d "	85	116

The Result in Oswego County.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

OSWEGO, Nov. 8, 11:30 a. m.

Official returns from the First Assembly District place Poucher's majority at 214; Cleveland carries the county by about 600 majority. Reliable returns from all towns in the county place Gordiniers majority for county clerk at about 270. Nutting is elected to congress but by a greatly reduced majority. Bulger is elected recorder by over five hundred majority. C.

From New York City.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8, 1882.

Cleveland's majority in this city is placed at 80,000 and in Brooklyn and Long Island at 40,000. Cleveland's majority in the State is estinated to be 135-000. The next State Legislature will be largely Democratic. There is a gain of four Democratic Congressman. S.

We give the result in the towns of Palermo and Schrœppel.

SCHRŒPPEL—FIRST DISTRICT.

Folger, 185; Cleveland, 209; Carpenter, 185; Hill, 209; Carroll, 196; Slocum, 199; Andrews, 200; Ruger, 198; Nutting, 208; Rhodes, 189, Helm. 195; Betts, 199; Stowell, 181; Gardenier, 196; Pierce, 19; Walkup, 208; Barker, 198; Barnes, 201; Desaulniers, 196.

SECOND DISTRICT.

Folger, 120; Cleveland, 63; Carpenter, 165; Hill, 62; Carroll, 128; Slocum, 60; Andrews, 126; Ruger, 59; Nutting, 127; Rhodes, 57; Helm, 122; Betts, 61; Stowell, 120; Gardenier, 61; Pierce, 1; Walkup, 124; Barker, 60; Barnes, 118; Desaulniers, 64.

PALERMO.

Folger, 179; Cleveland, 120; Carpenter 179; Hill, 121; Carroll 197; Slocum, 86; Nutting, 195; Rhodes, 88; Helm, 178; Betts, 101; Stowell, 89; Gardenier, 78; Pierce, 146; Barnes, 149; Desaulniers, 75.

POLITICAL FLASHES.

New Hampshire elects a democratic governor.

Ben. Butler is elected governor of Massachusetts.

The latest estimate places Cleveland's majority at 190,000.

"Secor" Robinson was defeated for Congress in New Jersey.

The next house of representatives will be largely democratic.

[illegible] of the state of New York will be democratic.

[illegible] in Dist. 24; [illegible]

OUR STORE THEIR CHOICE SINCE,

To all our friends who so heartily responded to our Opening Invitation [illegible]

In Making Their Purchases. We shall continue to keep our Stock as Complete in the Future and NEVER allow anyone to sell at Lower Prices.

Very Respectfully,

F. E. BACON.

—:O:—

A Splendid Variety of Cloaks, Dolmans and Ulsters received to-day.

In the Oneida District, Spriggs, Democrat is elected to congress over Fox.

The election of Member in the Second district is very close. As we go to press we learn that Helm is elected by a small majority.

In the second election district of this town Jay Gould received one vote for governor and Roscoe Conkling one for lieutenant governor.

Granby Centre.

Mrs. M. Chandler of Rensselaer Falls, St. Lawrence county, is visiting for a few days at her brother-in-law's, Mr. Clark Chandler.

Mrs. M. Hickok and son of Flint, Michigan, formerly of this place made a flying visit in this vicinity.

Mrs. Ward is very low from the effects of bleeding at the nose.

Samuel Phipin and family will start for Iowa in a few days where they intend to make their future home.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by the young people at Mr. N. Dumas's last Friday evening.

The funeral of Clinton Dunnum took place at the church last Wednesday. He was taken sick with typhoid pneumonia in western Dakota and his remains were brought to this place. Rev. Mr. Phelps officiated.

A special school meeting was called on Monday evening to elect a new trustee in the place of Henry Noteman who has resigned. John Cornell was elected to fill the vacancy.

John Cornell is building an addition to one of his houses. S.

CASH PAID FOR PRODUCE.

Butter, Beans, Dried Apples and produce generally wanted for cash. For fresh made Butter in Tubs will pay extra price. MILLER & WHITAKER.

24w4

CHEESE MARKET.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 6—The drop of one-fourth cent in the price of cheese, was rather unpalatable to salesmen to-day, but it was hardly to be expected that October cheese would bring as much as September in a dull season like the present. Only two lots of Septembers are now held by factories in this vicinity, and for one of these 12½c. was offered to-day and refused. Several lots of October make were also held over. But in general the factorymen could see no better prospect ahead, and sold for what they could:

Of our sales to-day, 50 boxes were at 11½c., 200 at 11⅝c, 4645 at 12c. 83 at 12⅛c, 800 at 12¼c being 6 lots and 305 at private terms. Sales 5993 boxes; commissions 331, total 6324 boxes. Ruling price, 12c. The corresponding day last year, transactions were 5382 boxes with a leading price of 12c, and the average of 11⅞c. In 1880 prices were 12c and 12½c and in 1879 they were 12c to 12½c.

MEETING OF THE BOARD.

At a formal meeting of the board, Mr. G. Merry was made chairman in the absence of the regular presiding officer. The secretary read the articles drawn up for signature of those who desire to join in defending themselves against the steam vat patent. Signatures were then in order, and names to the extent of 100 vats were quickly subscribed. Parties who are willing to join are requested to send their names and the numbers of vats used by them to any member of the committee, or to B. D. Gilbert, Utica, secretary of the association. Two hundred copies of the article were ordered printed, and the secretary was authorized to send them to all dairy boards of trade in the country, and to other prominent locations and manufacturers for signatures. According to the articles there must be 259 vats represented before the organization can be completed. As 100 were obtained to-day, 150 more are required in order to put the affair in working order. If dairymen are alive to their own interests they will come forward and fill up their ranks at once.

LITTLE FALLS, Nov, 6—This has been a very dull day upon the cheese market. Prices are a half-cent lower, and a few buyers were willing to take the offering at even this decline, and claimed that 12 c. was as high as the cheese could be sold. It is claimed that there is no demand for cheese by skippers at these rates, and that the home trade is well supplied which accounts for the decline. Further than this election week generally shows a dull market.

Following are the transactions:

3	112	11¾	"
15	1,150	12	"
24	3,735	12¼	"
42	2,803
Farm dairies	488
Total	3,290

[Utica Herald.

AT FULTON.

Eleven factories were represented with 677 boxes of cheese which was sold at 11¾ to 12c. The price one year ago was 13c, two years ago 12½c.

Dress flannell in all colors, also those 25 cent dress flannells. C. E. Sackett,

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

All persons indebted to me are requested to call and settle at my old place of business Saturday Nov. 11th After that date all accounts will be placed out for collection.

MISS A. SAUNDERSON.

Fulton Nov. 8, 1882.

☞ Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) at Draper's Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 47

"BEE HIVE."

We are now opening our Fall and Winter Stock of Clothing, [illegible]

THE WIDE WORLD OVER.

News of the Past Week Condensed—Important Happenings at Remote Points.

—There are 117,000 Sunday-school scholars in the State.

—Portland, Maine was visited by a $50,000 fire Monday morning.

—The tomb of James A. Garfield in Cleveland, Ohio, is still being guarded by United States soldiers.

—The immigration statistics just furnished show the arrivals for the last three months to have been 158,021, against 171,021 for the corresponding period last year.

—In the course of a few years the Northern Pacific will run through an avenue of shade trees hundreds of miles in length. This extensive tree planting is being done to protect the road from storms and snow drifts.

—The Rev. Chatles Clinton Beatly, probably the oldest Presbyterian minister in the country, died at Steubenville, Ohio, on Monday, in his 83d year. He was licensed to preach in 1822. He contributed to public institutions during his life over $400,000, and leaves an estate valued at $150,000.

—The oil excitement is booming in Pennsylvania. The discovery of new wells in Cherry Grove district dropped oil to 45 cents per barrel. A sudden cessation of the flow has forced prices up to $1.26 and still going upward. Speculators are managing the market and a grand crash would not be surprising.

—The gross receipts of Barnum's show for the season—186 days—amounted to a million and three-quarters of dollars. This is said to be more than the combined receipts of any three traveling shows in the world. The season closed at Chester, Pa., Oct. 14th. All the animals including Jumbo, with the other show belongings are now comfortably quartered in Bridgeport, Connecticut.

—Mrs Langtry made her debut Monday evening in Wallack's theater, New York, before one of the largest and most fashionable audiences ever assembled. She made a very favorable impression, and her impersonations of Hester Grazebrook in the "Unequal Match," is considered by critics to be a fine performance. The debutante was repeatedly called before the curtain and recived many floral tributes.

—Nicholson & Weaver have been obliged to suspend the operations of their shirt factory in Greenwich, Washington county, on account of several attempts on the part of some one to destroy the buildings and the lives of the employees by tampering with the engine boiler. At one time a white powder was put in the boiler, which was in danger of exploding therefrom; at another time all the screws of the engine were loosened and a valve misplaced so that no steam could enter the steam chest; later still two quarts of powder were found in the fire pan.

—During the last fiscal year, 496 persons were arrested for violation of the postal laws; 207 were convicted and 25 acquitted. The number of registered letters lost was 5087. Actual loss resulted in about 726 cases; 21,527 ordinary letters were reported lost, 15,180 with valuable inclosures; 2,175 were found to have been delivered. The number of ordinary packages reported lost was 8362, of which 859 were found to have been delivered; 387 postoffices were reported burglarized, and 116 burned; 39 mails were robbed by highwaymen; 10 mails were burned in railway accidents, 50 lost by carriers in floods, blockades, etc.

Young or middle aged men suffering from nervous debility, loss of memory, premature old age, as the result of bad habits should send three stamps for Part VII, dime series pamphlets. Addtess World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

An Insane Mother's Deed.

Mrs. Edward Seguin, aged thirty-six, wife of Dr. Edward C. Seguin of New York, the noted specialist on diseases of the brain, shot and killed her three children on Tuesday afternoon and then killed herself. No other cause is known for the tragedy than insanity of the mother. Mrs. Seguin took the children to an empty room in the top of a five story house in the absence of her husband, and when the servants were engaged in the basement and locked herself in with them. The servants believed they had gone out for a walk. What happened in the room will never be known. When Dr. Amidon, Mrs. Seguin's brother, called at five o'clock, and with his suspicions aroused by the long absence of the family, made a search of the house, the mother and children were found dead, all shot through the head. The children's hands were all tied behind their backs with whip cords. They were blindfolded with handkerchiefs, and from all appearances it seemed that they must have been shot while playing at "blindman's buff" with their executioner. It is learned that Mrs. Seguin had been despondent from physical causes for some time but had shown no evidence of insanity. Her domestic life has been very happy, and there was no family trouble.

"AN AMBITIOUS INDIVIDUAL."

"Oh! I'm boiling over to do some good act" shouted a politician the other day, as his red nose protruded from a face ornamented with unhealthy blotches. "Well, sir," replied a friendly listener, "unless you want to be an animated sign for a drug store, and make the [illegible] I would advise you to use [illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days,
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

Real Estate Changes.

Following are the deeds recorded at the county clerk's office the past week of local import:

H. R. Woodworth to Henry Crouch, land in Volney, $400. Nov. 2, 1882.

Josiah C. Mosher and wife to Melinda LeGraw, land in Oswego Falls, Oct. 26. 1882, $125.

Willard Johnson to Lydia Dewey, Nov. 4, 1882, land in Scriba, $1,400.

VERY DESIRABLE

To Know the Fact that

WATERMAN'S

—Stock Of—

Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place.

Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of tee same, at 34 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

D. A. WATERMAN.

LAUNDRY.

The Steam Laundry Agency continues to give Good Satisfaction with new customers every week. Give them a trial order. WATERMAN Agt.

☞ Remember DRAPER always takes the lead in selling goods cheap and never allows anyone to undersell him in fair deal. 47.

CLOSING OUT.

I will sell my stock of goods at wholesale prices for the next 60 days to close business. [illegible]

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc.. that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters,	12c	per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50	" "
Tea cups and saucers,	24	" sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61	each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	14	"

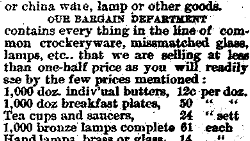
Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st,

I am your obedient servant.

JAMES MCCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



☞ Joseph Marshall is now prepared to execute promptly all [illegible]

A Magnificent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of
Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

NEW GOODS

AT THE

BAZAAR

THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

BABIES!

A CROP THAT NEVER RUNS SHORT.

We are happy to state as American Citizens, that we are proud of the early products in the early history of our country and feel ourselves ready at any time to take issue with any individual who fails to duly appreciate living exponents of liberty, who will doubtlessly at some day in the not far distant future "be heard raising their voices in Congressional debate, heading an Arctic expedition or gallantly defending our country's flag." A Baby is an individual of immense possibilities. There is no telling where he'll stop in his eratic and uncertain career. The future belongs to him, and a place awaits him in love, war and politics. The temple of fame has some special niche held in reserve for these ambitious rascals. Generally the Baby turns his back on the world at large. This indicates his independence, and shows that he is ready to begin the uncertain march of life and fight his own way. We hope that his path will be strewn with flowers; in fact we predict for your baby a glorious career, and for the present bid him adiu, while we inform his fond parents that we carry the largest stock of Baby Suits and Overcoats, and sell them at lowest possible figures and that our salesmen are all educated up to "Baby talk," and can keep the worst baby in town quiet by simply smiling on him while you fit your baby with a Suit or Overcoat. The "Baby corner" in our store has hundreds of attractions.

"THE FAMOUS"

OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE

2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

[illegible] Infants from [illegible] to 60 Years [illegible]

[illegible] A. M. A. M. P. M. P. M. [illegible]
[illegible] Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R.
Trains leave Fulton station as follows:
GOING SOUTH.
[illegible] No. 3 .... 7:25 a. m.
[illegible] No. 6 .... 5:50 p. m.
[illegible] Accommodation No. 47 .... 8:30 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
Ontario Express No. 1 .... 5:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5 .... 11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 48 .... 5:35 p. m.

DEL., LACK'WNA & WESTERN R. R.
OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.
Trains leave Fulton station as follows:
GOING SOUTH.
Syracuse Accommodation .... 8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 9:25 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express .... [illegible]
New York Night Express .... 5:05 p. m.
GOING NORTH.
New York and Oswego Express .... 9:06 a. m.
Day Express .... 2:08 p. m.
Oswego Accommodation .... 6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 8:50 p. m.
The 6th train runs Sundays.
Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.
W. B. [illegible], Supt.

The agony is over.

The comet is fading out.

Mr. M. A. Brando is in town.

The "I told you so" man is plenty.

Hops have reached $1.10 per pound.

Frank Keenan is rapidly convalescing.

Miss Eva Case is visiting in New York.

Hon. R. K. Sanford of New York is in town.

Fred Vogelgsang arrived Monday evening from his European visit.

George Jennings of Palermo will take a position in Fay's dry goods store.

Louis Gomon, the genial barber, is a father. It's a winsome little daughter.

D. F. Ottman, who has been in New York city for the past year, is in town.

The John U. Smith property in Oswego Falls is offered for sale. Read advertisement.

Norwood Dine picked a plump, ripe strawberry from his vines last Wednesday morning.

E. F. Blanchard and family have removed to the old homestead corner Academy and Third streets.

Persons having bills against the town will bear in mind that the town board meets to-morrow to audit accounts.

Robert Scott exhibited to THE TIMES a vegetable curiosity in the shape of four heads of cabbage grown on one stalk.

Charles Kinney and Carrie Murry of this village were united in marriage Saturday evening by Justice of the Peace W. C. Crombie.

D. H. Case and family have removed from the Lewis house and have taken rooms in the Bradshaw block, formerly occupied by Judge Tyler, as law offices.

H. D. Merriam, who has been a salesman in Fay's dry good store since it started, has resigned and will teach school this winter in upper Oswego Falls.

The concert and ball given by the Fulton Amateur Band in Nichols hall Friday evening was a success. The band has improved of late and dispense first-class music.

Miss Mary McCormick has returned to her old position in the Western Union telegraph office. She is a first-class operator and is recognized as such among the fraternity.

Waugh Bros., who are interested to the extent of $11,000 by the failure of Culver Bros., paper dealers in Syracuse, expect to realize but little from their assets of the firm.

Remember the Sunday afternoon temperance meeting at 4 o'clock in the Sons of Temperance rooms. These are union gatherings composed of all churches and temperance societies. They are interesting and instructive and well attended.

Friday's Oswego Times says: John B. Birdsall of Fulton has to-day filed papers in the county clerk's office asking for a discharge as an insolvent debtor. His creditors are three in number and are as follows: Kennedy & Tracy of Syracuse, for legal services, $316.90; Willard Johnson of Fulton, balance on judgment $188.60; Morgan L. Birdsall of Fulton, for board and washing during the last six years $335.46. Birdsall's assets reach the total of $59.37 made up largely of necessary wearing apparel.

In a recent lecture, Henry Ward Beecher said: "In this country, smart men have always a chance." That is true enough; but after they have had it hundreds of them shake their country and go to Canada, and stay until the directors fix up the affairs with the stockholders. [New Orleans Picayune.

"No eye like the master's eye." Had Æsop lived in our day he might well have added, "No popular curative like Kidney-wort." All eyes are beginning to turn to it for relief from disease of the liver, bowels and kidneys. Kidney-Wort is nature's remedy for them all. Those that cannot prepare the dry can now procure it in liquid form of any druggist.

☞ Call and see the New Genuine Singer Sewing machines at Bristol's. Sold at popular prices. 2013

☞ Dresses, cloaks, coats stockings and all garments can be colored successfully with Diamond Dyes. Fashionable colors. Only ten cents.

Musical Goods.

Mr. Bristol is constantly receiving [illegible] from Weber, Fischer, Pease and [illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] France, Spain, Germany, England and all the principal places of the Eastern Continent attended with a lecture descriptive of each place. The United States, especially the far west will be exhibited. It will be an instructive and entertaining affair. The price of admission will be 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under twelve years of age.

Slashed With a Knife.

Peter Youngs, a horse jockey, and John Althouse, a lock tender, became involved in a dispute in front of Pomphrets saloon in Wall street about 7:30 p. m., Monday. The men had been drinking. Althouse is a powerful man weighing over two hundred pounds, while Youngs is slightly built. In the course of the altercation Althouse was stabbed in the lumbar regions in the muscles of the back to a depth of about three inches the wound being about the width of a common jack knife blade. As soon as Althouse discovered he was stabbed he entered Pomphrets saloon and exhausted from loss of blood sank upon the floor. Dr. W. A. Hall was summoned and dressed the wound and he was removed to his home, where he is quietly resting. It is not a serious cut and nothing fatal is likely to result from it.

As soon as Youngs realized what he had done he left and later in the evening officer Ney found him in bed at his home in Granby. He was taken before Justice Piper charged with assault and battery by means of a deadly weapon with intent to kill. He plead not guilty and was remanded for examination yesterday. He was brought up and waived examination and was held in the sum of $2,000 for his appearance before the Grand Jury. He has not obtained bail and probably will be unable to.

When he was arraigned yesterday morning his face presented a hideous look. Both eyes were blackened and swolen until nearly closed, his nose broken and his face barked and scratched in a horrible manner, the result it is said of blows administered by Althouse after being cut.

Peter's face was patched by Dr. W. L. Woodbury.

"Experience"

Is the name of a cook book lying before us compiled by Mrs. Mary Butler and Miss Helen S. Wolcott of this village. It contains over two hundred recipes the major portion of which have been tested and have proven to be excellent. This work should find a place in every household as the recipes have not been indiscriminately put together for the purpose of filling a book but careful trial has demonstrated the worth of its contents. To attempt to impress upon housewives the value of a work like this would be superfluous. Its compilation, arrangement and indexing of various recipes make it easy for reference and the work is one that mirrors credit to the ladies' literary ability.

In their preface they truly say:

> "More useful far than arts æsthetic,
> Orewel work and peacock fans,
> Are these studious dialetic
> Carried on 'mid pots and pans."

The preface concludes:

"Our aim has been to furnish recipes reliable, so that no time may be lost in trying, and while we solicit patronage in our little undertaking in trying to earn our mite to give to our new church we at the same time wish to give full value for the amount received."

Those who purchase will appreciate the work, which, while affording profit is presented in an elegance of the printers' and binders' art that attracts the eye and prepossess every one in its favor. It was printed by Morrill Brothers, Fulton.

Bad temper often proceeds from those painful disorders to which women are subject. In female complaints Dr. R. V Pierce's Favorite Prescription" is a certain cure. By all druggists.

A Beautiful Reminiscence.

There are political times when we are reminded that there are many who now find themselves consorting with strange company are looking regretfully back to the old times when their admiration for party leaders had not weakened, as a beautiful reminiscence. A great many good people who think they know a "bar'l" when they see it are yearning longingly after the good old times, and wishing that they would return again, Alas! for them they must ever remain a beautiful reminiscence. Less unfortunate and more sensible are those who buy their Clothing at Kent & Miller's, 18 and 20 South Salina street. They not only have the beautiful reminiscence of excellent clothing that has served its purpose well and eventually gone where all good clothing goes, but they can repeat the experiment as often as they please, and every new satisfaction experienced is sure to bring greater joy and comfort than the preceding. For the Fall and Winter of 1882, Kent & Miller have a stock of Overcoats, Suits and single garments surpassing all that has gone before. Their styles are the latest, their prices are the lowest; the satisfaction they give is the most solid. Call and examine; critically compare and if satisfied with the truth of what we have said purchase.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver or biliousness. In many cases of liver complaint only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures. At all drug stores.

NEW MUSIC.

Bristol has just received a new lot of Oliver Ditson's popular music. Also a full line of New Books suitable for Holiday presents. 24

FIRST RATE ARTICLE.

[illegible]

[illegible] Double Sole and Tap Kip Boots Warranted

Solid for $2.25 a pair at

A. E. NETTLETON'S.

CALL EARLY.

Turkeys begin to attract attention.

W. A. Warner of Syracuse was in town over Sunday.

Ladies Social was held at J. W. Pratt's residence last evening.

The Chatauqua Club met at Mrs. G. H. Salmon's last evening.

W. Razey and family of Constantia, have taken up their residence in Fulton.

M. M. Williams, the druggist, leaves next Monday for New York to purchase a large stock of goods for the holiday trade.

Miss Kittie Lomasney has opened a Dress Making establishment in the rooms formerly occupied by Mrs. Clark over the Bee Hive.

The Hannibal News is to be enlarged. The News is a bright, independent journal, and we are pleased to learn it is prosperous enough to warrant an extension of borders.

N. H. Gilbert will assist in the grand semi-annual reunion of the Ancient Accepted Scotish Rite to be held in Rochester commencing Tuesday Nov. 14, and continue four days.

David Smith was in town last week. Mr. Smith is located in Chicago and occupies a responsible position in a wholesale grocery. It is about fourteen years since he left Fulton.

Oscar Dine is a bee keeper indeed. He has one hundred and seventy swarms and this year sold 5000 pounds of honey. If he experiences no ill luck he expects next season to market ten or twelve thousand pounds.

Mr. L. A. Stockwell left yesterday morning for Portsmouth, Ohio, where he has accepted a position as auctioneer. He is an excellent man at the business and a better auctioneer is hard to find—being a voluminous and fluent talker and to the manner born.

William Patterson was agreeably surprised Wednesday evening to find his home in the possession of a large party of friends when he returned from his work. The evening was pleasantly spent in social converse and games and surmounted with a rich and highly palatable spread.

A series of meetings under the general direction of Rev. A. U. Hutchins will be held in the Universrlist church at Phœnix commencing the 21st instant. Rev. O. A. Rounds of Utica will preach the opening sermon. Clergymen from other cities will be present and the meeting will continue through the week. The full program will be given next week.

Syracuse Journal:—The hide and leather business formerly conducted by Barnet & Hamburger, and recently by Mr. Barnet, has undergone another change. A lease has been filed at the county clerk's office, by which Mr. Barnet retires from the business which, will hereafter be run by Mr. Hamburger, who will continue the store on James street, in connection with his tannery at Oswego Falls.

Syracuse Standard's art report:—Mr. Stiles of Fulton has here a head of an Abyssinian woman. The color is clear and harmonious and the tone is good. There is also in the new collection of pictures a large picture called The Alderneys, a companion to The Jerseys. Its subject is a milkmaid, evidently German, and close at her side, as the subject suggests, are some Alderney cattle. This picture was sold before it was two hours on sale. The price of The Jerseys was $150.

A Pleasant Affair.

Last evening a few friends of the Rev A. U. Hutchins dropped in at his residence and had a nice little picnic. The ladies had filled numerous baskets with eatables and after a social interview between 35 and 40 sat down to a sumptuous repast. There was music and friendly greetings. Every one seemed in the best of humor. Several tokens of friendship were left by the friends. A patent rocking chair upholstered with raw silk and plush trimmed was presented to Mrs. Hutchins: also a beautiful tidy of satin and linen. She also received a darning bag of curious device. Rev Mr. Hutchins was presented with a full china bread and milk set and a spoon. Two bags of fine apples and pears were left besides an amount of wholesome provisions. The host kindly thanked the friends for this manifestation of their esteem and friendship. At a little past ten o'clock the peaceful raiders began to organize for a retreat. They bade the host and his family a cheerful good night, and in tolerable order filed out the front door and while the aroma of coffee and the remembrance of a happy evening lingered with them still, sought their homes.

The committee who made out the program deserve much praise for their successful carrying out of the details of the impromptu affair. Their modesty prevents us from mentioning their names.

Estey, Mason & Hamlin and Sterling organs kept by Bristol. Best prices given on all kinds of musical goods. 20

"BEE HIVE."

Dress Goods Dress Goods. If you want anything in the way of a Dress don't fail to look at our rich and Varied Assortment of French, Armures, Cashmeres, [illegible], Also everything new in American [illegible]

Severely Injured.

John Darling, a Fulton boatman, while attempting to board his boat in Syracuse Monday morning was severely injured. In stepping from a salt scow to his boat he slipped and fell between them and was squeezed to such an extent that his right hip bone was broken. He was otherwise badly bruised. He has been brought to his home and Dr. D. Pardee attends him.

Parade and Drill.

The Uniformed Patriarchs of Konoshioni Encampment I. O. O. F. of Oswego will visit Neahtawanta Lodge in Fulton next Wednesday. They will arrive in Fulton on the 3:22 p. m. Midland train and give a street parade in this village and Oswego Falls. They will be accompanied by the Oswego City Band. In the evening they will give a grand free drill in Nichols hall. The Uniformed Patriarchs are a fine appearing body of men and the parade and drill should be witnessed by all our citizens. They will be entertained by Neahtawanta Lodge.

Bitten by a Dog.

Thursday evening as Mr. Reuben Bradshaw was passing through the Cornell house a dog owned by Mr. Cornell sprang at him and fastened his teeth in the back of his right hand inflicting an ugly wound. Dr. W. A. Hall dressed the wound and Mr. Bradshaw has been about as usual. We understand the dog has been killed.

Fulton is overrun with vicious, worthless dogs and the only wonder is that more people are not attacked. The village authorities have power to legislate on the dog question and express a willingness to take some prompt and decisive action upon it.

Looking For a Place to Locate.

W. H. Baker, of Manlius Station, inventor and patentee of the "Baker Gun," late with L. C. Smith in Syracuse, was in Fulton Friday looking over our water power and village with a view of purchasing a site for the erection of a factory for the manufacture of the guns. He was particularly impressed with the old tannery site and is now negotiating with Mr. Bradshaw for its purchase. If successful in securing a location in Fulton a company will be formed and a factory built.

Mr. Baker says the demand for the gun is good, and plenty of capital is at his command to push things when he becomes suited as to location. This is the gun Mr. Harry Comstock of this village has introduced in nearly every part of the country.

Mr. Baker will look in vain for a more propitious manufacturing point than Fulton and every encouragement should be extended him to induce the works to locate here. For first-class water power and shipping facilities Fulton is equal to larger towns on the Central.

A Fulton Boatman's Serious Loss.

William Back owner of the canal boat Carrie & Cora last Friday and left Oswego for Fair Haven to load with produce for New York. About 4 p. m. Saturday he left Fair Haven for Oswego in tow of the tug J. C. Cummings. At 7:30 p. m., when about four miles from Oswego a heavy sea struck the boat driving in the bow cabin and filling the craft with water. The sea continued to grow in fury and the crew signaled the tug and boarded it—the entire cargo being swept into the lake and lost. In the bow cabin was a $300.00 team of horses which were drowned. All the furniture, provisions and wearing apparel of Mr. Back and family was lost. He valued the boat at $900. It was built at North Bay in 1872 and was rebuilt in Fulton in 1881 at an expense of $700. The boat was towed into Oswego the remaining parts being the bottom and sides.

Mr. Back was in THE TIMES office yesterday and informed us that his loss would foot up about $600—all swept out of existence in fifteen minutes. His boat was insured for all damages it might meet upon the canal, but in going upon the lake at this season of the year he did it at his own risk, and loses all. He carried no insurance on his furniture or clothing. It is a severe and sorrowful blow to Mr. Back.

A few barrels of apples have been picked up in the lake.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1882.

Mrs. Martha Ackley, M. A. Fillmore, R. B. Fisk, Counsellor-at-law, Miss Libbie Goodrich, Libbie Green, Frank Heughes, Mrs. C. Hunter, Miss Nettie Morris, Anna Roe, Jennie Shean, C. T. Wood.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

James H. Leeds & Co., 233 Front St. New York, N. Y., Box 14 Main St. Station, Meriden, Conn., C. C. Castle, Higginsville, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above will please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

"The Babies"

Messrs. Frankenburg & Co. of "The Famous" 2 & 3 Wieting Block present our readers under the head of advertisements an eulogy on Babies which cannot help but be of little interest to mothers, fathers and bachelors alike. We advocate a careful reading and study of that article from those in search of knowledge, and feel sure that the smiling clerks will be taxed to the utmost by waiting upon young and old babies who are ever anxious to secure the best and most stylish at the least amount of money.

☞ Have you seen the immense stock they have [illegible]

W. J. Townsend is in town.

Dr. Sinclair of South Hannibal was in town yesterday.

Judge Huntington has been in town for a few days on a referee suit.

A little girl has made its appearance in the family of Mr. John H. Merton.

Fred Kesler has severed his connection with the Oswego Falls cooperative store.

LOST—Carriage lamp between this village and Sterling. The finder will please leave the same at this office.

The American Express Co. are now prepared to sell money orders on each of their 4000 offices in the United States and Canada.

Mr. G. A. Burtch of 18 Rochester St. is doing some excellent work in the line of taxidermy. He sets up birds on the shortest notice.

New Goods just received at the new Millinery and Fancy Store over Western Union telegraph office. Now is your time to buy before it is too late. 25tf

Mrs. A. Clark occupies the store recently vacated by Miss Saunderson. She has placed in a full and fashionable stock of millinery. Dressmaking will also be conducted.

Miss Frankie O'Hara of Oswego was married Oct. 31st to William H. Elmore of Shed's Corners, Madison Co. The ceremony was performed in Homer, N. Y., by Rev. M. S. Seet.

Miss Isa Markham and Eddie Bonner, who reside near Mt. Pleasant, were united in marriage Wednesday evening November 1, 1882, by Rev. E. C. Bruce of this village at the parsonage.

The sale of the Oswego river flouring mills, which was advertised to be sold at referee's sale last Wednesday was postponed until March 1, 1883. Gilbert Bros. will continue the mill as usual.

Joseph W. Butler died last evening at his residence in the eastern part of the village aged 81 years. He was an old and highly respected resident of this locality. He was father of Mrs. Frank Dilts. Funeral not announced.

Smith D. Pierce, who ran as independent candidate for county clerk, has been sued by Merrick Stowell for libel, damages being placed at $5,000. The alleged libelous utterances appeared in a campaign paper printed and circulated by Pierce.

The California papers are full of notices for Mr. Harry Comstock of this vilage. Wherever he goes he is taken for President Arthur. The Sacramento Bee says he was followed about by the people supposing the President was paying them a visit. [Fulton Patriot.

Mr. K. E. Sanford and Miss Carrie E. Taylor will be united in marriage this evening at the residence of the bride's parents, a short distance south of Fulton. Mr. Sanford and Miss Taylor have a legion of friends who will wish them unbounded pleasure and prosperity.

Died, on Tuesday morning at her residence in South Hannibal, Mrs. Polly Watson, aged 76 years. Deceased was the widow of S. G. Watson, formerly of Oswego Falls, and was a sister of Henry Broadwell late of that village. Funeral will take place to-morrow at South Hannibal.

Samuel Black, an individual with a heavy black beard, was arrested for public intoxication Monday and Justice Piper gave him his choice $10 or ten days in jail, or get out out of town and keep out. Samuel Black has been traveling around this vicinity for some time and claimed to be a skillful piano tuner. He got out of town.

Mr. H. N. Gilbert left Fulton last evening for Mansfield, Ohio, to be present Thursday at a grand re-union of the Gilbert family, to occur at the residence of Mr. Frank Gilbert in that city. Invitations have been extended to relatives living in the states of New York, Ohio, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota. Mrs. Dr. F. G. Barnes of Syracuse accompanies him.

Alexander Thompson of Pennellville was found by nightwatchman Curtis at 12:30 Tuesday morning gloriously drunk on the steps of the residence of James Prentiss corner Cayuga and Second streets. He was toted to the cooler and yesterday morning as Justice Piper sized him up and said $10 or ten days a sigh of relief escaped him. He expected a heavier dose and if he comes to the front again he'll get it.

We learn by the Plattsburg Republican of the advancement of an old Fulton boy to the following honorable and responsible position:

Wm. H. Sisson, formerly connected with the Savage Island Slate Company, has received an appointment of paymaster in the construction department of the New York West Shore & Buffalo Railway Company., with headquarters at Fort Plain, and leaves Plattsburg next Monday morning to assume his new duties.

PERSONS WHO STAND UPON THEIR FEET, whether men or women, are often troubled with serious pains and weakness in the back, loins and other parts of the body. It has been proven beyond a doubt, however, that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure is a certain preventive of these troubles.

Teachers' Institute.

The next session of the Oswego county teachers' institute, will be held at the seminary chapel, Fulton, beginning Nov. 27, 1882. The institute will be conducted by Prof. F. P. Lantry, with Prof. R. G. Post as assistant.

C. R. [illegible], Com.

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

[illegible]

[illegible] bringing $9 per barrel in Wolcott.

Patrick Corbett of Syracuse was attacked with a severe hemorrhage of the stomach Saturday and for some time was in a precarious condition. He is improving.

Phœnix Register—Mr. Jesse Reynolds, a prominent farmer in Granby, father of H. D. Reynolds of this village, is dangerously ill with a complication of diseases, and but little hope of his recovery is entertained.

Syracusans are being supplied with dressed beef and pork brought directly from Chicago in refrigerator cars. It takes forty-five hours for a car to come through. The Herald says local butchers are opposed to the scheme.

A dispatch from Hannibal to the Oswego Express Saturday says:

An eight year old son of William Cary of Bowens Corners was seriously burned yesterday. He was building a fire with paper and his clothing took fire. His right side was badly burned and his right arm literally roasted. Dr. Sinclair is attending him.

Mexico Independent—About two years ago Dr. Heaton caused a well in his field to be filled up. Last year the field was plowed and grain was raised where the well had been as on the other portions. Now the well is open without a stone left around its sides, and it is fourteen feet deep—about as it was at first. The doctor wants to know what has become of the stones and the filling. It is supposed by some that they have gone below.

Syracuse Herald—In the Herald yesterday was given the particulars of a purchase of hops by a Waterville man who made $4,100 by the transaction. When hops were fifty cents a pound, a Syracusan bought ten thousand pounds, which now can be sold at $1.10 a pound, showing a surplus value to-day of $6,000. The holder declined to sell, believing that before Christmas hops will be worth $1.50 a pound, when he intends to sell. He will, in that case, realize the handsome sum of $10,000.

An Auburn paper says the physicians of that city have formed a union for self-protection, so that they may be able to collect their accounts. The by-laws provide for an association collector to whom bills are to be sent against such persons as any member may believe to be wilfully negligent or dilatory. When bills are thus sent to the collector, the persons against whom they are held shall be entitled to no medical service from members of the association, until the bills are settled, except in cases of accident or emergency, when two visits may be made. The collector is to notify, when he receives a bill, the person against whom it is made out and also all members of the association. One doctor said that $25,000 was lost annually to the profession in that city through "bad debts."

LYSANDER, Oct. 30—Mrs. Countryman aged sixty years, and residing near this village, says that about eight weeks ago while hanging out some clothes she had been washing, something fell into her mouth which she swallowed and which has been going up and down in her throat ever since. She has consulted five physicians but without relief. She goes into the doctor's office feeling the thing, whatever it may be, almost in her mouth, but as soon as she opens her mouth for the doctor to make an examination, the object runs down out of sight and then she is told that there is nothing there but that she is nervous. This she denies and says she knows there is something there. One of the physicians asserted that he took a pin out of her throat with a pair of forceps. This, Mrs. Countryman says, was done to deceive her. However, the doctor did put a pair of forceps in her mouth, and when he took them out there was a bent pin in their jaws.

Ladies' and childrens' hand knit hoods in all colors and styles. C. E. Sackett.

S. S. S. S.

Holders of invitations to the above named socials should remember that the opening one occurs next Friday evening at the Armory parlors. First-class music has been secured, and a good time guaranteed to all.

The Good Templars.

At a regular meeting of Fulton lodge held at their rooms last Monday evening the following were the

OFFICERS INSTALLED:

W. C. T.—N. R. Cole,
W. V. T.—Mrs R. B. McCully,
W. S.—Ida Miller,
W. A. S.—Jas. Morton,
W. F. S.—G. A. Burtch,
W. Treas.—Mrs. Helen Foster.
W. Chap.—Rev. E. C. Bruce,
W. M.—John Fuller,
W. D. M.—Mrs. Jas. Morrow,
I. G.—Miss Cole,
O. G.—Frank LeRoy,
R. H. S.—Alma Haven,
L. H. S.—Dora Harman.

The lodge has over one hundred members and is now using the prize silver pitcher for for the largest gain in membership in the county last quarter.

Buy the Weber piano at Bristol's music store. 20

☞ Go to the Bazaar and get you a pair of all wool knit mittens any size and fine at only 10 cents. The greatest bargain ever offered in Fulton.

Look Here!

All accounts I have outstanding that have been owing six months or over must be settled at once or they will be placed out for collection.

Fulton, Oct. 4th. D. C. BAKER.

Draper's new 50c. Jap Tea can't be beat for strength and fine flavor. 31

C. E. Sackett has floor oil cloth in all colors and widths.

IF YOU WANT
dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
[illegible]

FIRST CLASS CLOTHNIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRICE ASKED.

[illegible] DRY GOODS
CARPET
—AND—
[illegible]
[illegible] and 29 [illegible] 33 Clinton Streets, Syracuse, N. Y.
THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE
OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.
ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO with a capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE. A MAMMOTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.
—GO TO—
MILTON S. PRICE'S
[illegible] Old Reliable Establishment [illegible] tions for the FALL AND WINTER [illegible]
Remember the Place 25 and 27 South Salina and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets,
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S
ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,
13 and 15 North Salina Street,
A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

Crockery, China,
Glass and Silverware.
—:o:—
D. SKADEN,
First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

Has returned from New York and is daily receiving a large and fine assortment of

CROCKERY,

Ever shown in Fulton or Oswego County.
Wewill not be undersold in

Bracket, Hanging, Stand, Lamps and Chandeliers.

D. C. SKADEN,
Next Door to Lewis House. FIRST STREET, FULTON, N. Y.

Special Notices.

WANTED—A dining room girl. Inquire at Falley Seminary. 24

FOR SALE OR RENT—A small house in eastern part of village. Enquire of 24t3 MRS. M. L. LEE.

LOST—On Monday, in this village, $112 by the [illegible]. The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to the owner. DAVID [illegible], South Hannibal.

FOR SALE—I have on hand seventy masquerade costumes and a number of masks in good condition which I will sell very cheap. Enquire of CHAS. HOLDEN.

WANTED—A competent woman to wash Monday and assist with the [illegible] Tuesday or Wednesday. Apply [illegible] to MRS. E. W. [illegible], 88 First Street.

LOST—A boy's seal skin hat on Monday [illegible] the residence of H. J. [illegible]. Finder will be rewarded by leaving it at THE TIMES office.

FARM FOR SALE.

[illegible]

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and
BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.
Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous publications.
Ten Cents Per Week for the use of Books.

JOSEPH WALTON,
Fulton, Oct. 26th, 1882.

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted [illegible] the highest market price will be paid at the mill of [illegible] BROS.

[illegible]

SPEY BLOCKS,

[illegible] KS, [illegible] DANS,

Tinware plain descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent. Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

J. H. WOODIN.

[illegible]

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure [illegible]

Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA

LAKE ICE!

1882.

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to 500 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.
Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.
Ice delivered in good order.

E. BREADS.

MUNN & CO. PATENTS

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

HAY-FEVER

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new show cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.

LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

DR E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, convulsions, Nervous headache, Mental depression, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, loss of memory, involuntary emissions, premature old age, caused by over exertion, self abuse, or over indulgence, which leads to misery decay and death.

One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order recived by us for six boxes accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not affect a cure. Guarantees issued only when the treatment is ordered direct from us. Address JOHN C. WEST & CO. sole proprietors, 181 & 183 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. 39y1

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

[illegible]

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Coal Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls, Screened and Free from Slate!

AT

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp't'y Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.

FOR 1882

—{o}—

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 cts per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs. 15 " "
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ " "
Private families 10 pounds per day, $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.
Private families season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.
ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.

FRED SPAFFORD.

J COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line.

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 31t

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

[illegible]

$10 to $[illegible]

[illegible]

CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED.

[illegible] & CO.

An [illegible] Cure [illegible] for [illegible]

Statement of Mr. Washington [illegible], of Catskill, Greene County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining and permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended 'Favorite Remedy to others whom I knew to whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and I assure the public that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy' as I did."

Fulton Business Cards

FR. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM G. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 35

B. F. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

E. B. ABBEY, Jobber and Builder in all kinds of Mason Work. Orders left at Whitaker's Meat Market will receive prompt attention. Mortar constantly on hand and for sale.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D. Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homœopathic Physician. Office and residence No 31 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9.30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

E. FRANK MARSH, M. D. Office and Residence No. 53 First St. Fulton, (former residence of Thos. Keeler.) Office hours 7 to 8 a. m., and 12 to 2 and 6 to 9 p. m. 48

G. R. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs, also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

Burdock

BLOOD

BITTERS

Cures Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples and Face Grubs, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sores, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Juandice, Affections of the Liver, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and General Debility.

A course of Burdock Blood Bitters will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the Greatest Blood Purifier on earth. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eleven languages. PRICE, $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's, Buffalo, N.Y.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE

FOR

RHEUMATISM

As it is for all the painful diseases of the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

It cleanses the system of the acrid poison that causes the dreadful suffering which only the victims of Rheumatism can realize.

THOUSANDS OF CASES of the worst forms of this terrible disease have been quickly relieved, and in short time PERFECTLY CURED.

PRICE, $1. LIQUID OR DRY, SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. [illegible]

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

Acts at the Same Time on Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

Lewis House Livery & Boarding Stable

I would announce to the people of Fulton and vicinity that I have taken possesion of the Lewis House livery, and shall keep it first class in every respect. I respectfully invite those in need of anything in my line to give me a call. Office and stable in rear of Lewis House.

50tf R. LEONARD.

RESCUED FROM DEATH

William J. Coughlin, of [illegible], Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the [illegible]

[illegible]

Here is the [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Filled with the love of glory; and the path
That shines about them in the morning light
Seems beautiful and difficult to scale.

But farther on, a little higher up,
The easy slope grows broken, and so steep
That careless feet slip back and lose their hold,
And dizzy brains reel forward and are lost;
And those who press on to the pausing place,
A little higher stand with weary limbs
And aching hearts, just near enough to hear
The sneers and hisses of the crowd below—
The angry crowd that cannot climb at all,
Or, having climbed, has fallen back again.

Half way they stand upon the mountain side
Where cold winds blow and loose rocks crumble down,
And strange birds beat them with their wide, wild wings.
No longer of the hurrying throng beneath,
Not yet of that immortal few above,
How lonely and how all alone are they?

Be not afraid, O toilers up the height!
The gods are very near, yet out of sight;
They reach out helpful hands and say, "come higher."
All earnest souls must climb if they aspire.

The Kansas City Times reports that its book keeper suffered very severely for a long time with rheumatism. He tried St. Jacobs Oil and was cured by one bottle of it.

Fashion Notes.

Old-fashioned delaine has appeared greatly improved.

Turban hats are trimmed with the feathers of as many different birds as possible.

Silver bracelets have a very narrow ring around the wrist, from which hang old coins of gold and silver.

Velvet and brocaded basques will be worn with every kind of skirts this season, and they are very handsome.

India camel's hair borders, like those used on India shawls, are fashionable trimmings for dark cashmere dresses.

Dark red cloth costumes are braided with black soutache, set on relief, in designs representing bunches of grapes.

Poppy red is in fashion for cloth and cashmere dresses, and imported blue cashmere dresses are trimmed with band of poppy-colored velvet.

Handsome black costumes have a long redingote of terry velvet with heavy reps, and a plain velvet skirt trimmed with two narrow flounces of Spaish lace.

Tabliers of lace covered with colored silk needlework, satin cord, colored beads, and the new embroidery made of ribbons, are used on satin and corded silk trained dresses for dinner and receptions.

New dresses are less clinging to the figure than they have been for years. Skirts are cut to give a fuller appearance, and the puffed and drapery is very large, as it is mounted on a cushion of hair sewn to the skirt lining.

Rich brocades or corded silk with plush or velvet spots of large size, will not lose favor this winter. They will be used for the skirt or the overdress, in combination with a plain material, but not for an entire dress.

A stylish dress for a miss of 16 is of cashmere and velvet; the skirt in alternate box pleats of the two materials. The jacket is of cashmere, with side pleats and satin ribbon bows, the drapery in high side panniers, forming a sash at the back. [Rome Sentinel.

CAN'T SAY ENOUGH.

"I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters; they have been a great blessing to me. Cured me of biliousness and dyspepsia from which I suffered for years. Mr J Marsh, Bank of Toronto.

Lime Kiln Proverbs.

"I take pleasure in informin' dis club," began Brother Gardner, "dat de committee on juciciary has reported de followin' special decisions to cover cases which may arise among the members. De seckretary will read 'em in an ol'igible tone, so dat all kin h'ar, and de cha'r will take it as a pussonal favor if Elder Toots will keep awake durin' de nex' six minutes."

The secretary then read as follows:

In case a man finds a sack ob flour in de road it am his duty to take it home an' keep it in a dry place.

No man am expected to poun' his own dog, in case he finds him fightin'.

Signs of "Keep of the Grass," No Admittance," "Elevator not Running," and "Shut the Door," are put up for ornaments and receive no attention.

Eleven ounces of beef and five ounces of bone make a pound of beef steak which will stand in law.

Wills written in chalk on de ba'n door won't stan' in law.

Doan' praise a man 'cause he borrys yer hoe an' returns it on time. Wait until he strikes you fer a dollar.

A person kin be arrested fur stealin' an umbrella same as fur stealin' a hog, but no one eber will be.

Dar am ninety-eight chances out ob a hundred agin de man who bets on de weight ob a hog, but moas' any man will take de chances if it doan cost ober two shillings.

Callin a man a liar doan' prove it. It am simply your opinion, and may not be worf a cent.

Befo' complainin' ob yer naybor fur keepin' a barkin' dog be sure dat your goat does his browsin' at home.

Honesty in public officials kin be lookfur wherever the amount of the bond exceeds the amount of cash he kin handle at one time.

"DID SHE DIE?"

"No she lingered and suffered along, "pining away all the time, for years, "the doctors doing her no good; and at "last was cured by this Hop Bitters, the "papers say so much about. Indeed! "Indeed! How thankful we should be "for that medicine." 24t2

Clarence R Carley, an old Fulton boy is now a successful architect in Marshall, Texas.

"N. W. preferred," my husband mutters in his sleep, and I know as well as I want to that he means that nasty whiskey. I can tell it by his breath!"

THE SECRET OUT AT LAST.

It has long been a source of wonder, as to why Courtney failed to meet Hanlan in [illegible]

[illegible]

W. H. Vanderbilt	[illegible]
Jay Gould	100,000,000
Leland Stanford	100,000,000
C. P. Huntington	100,000,000
Charles Crocker	60,000,000
Mrs. Hopkins	50,000,000
Russell Sage	40,000,000
James Flood	40,000,000
James G. Fair	30,000,000
J. G. Mackey	30,000,000
Cyrus W. Field	25,000,000
James Keene	20,000,000
Estate of Tom Scott	20,000,000
John W. Garrett	20,000,000
Samuel J. Tilden	15,000,000

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Railroad men, mechanics, commercial travelers, base ballists, farmers, and others who labor out of doors, are peculiarly liable to accident and injury. Thomas Eclectric Oil for bruises, burns, and sprains is one of the finest applications yet devised.

Farm Notes.

Many western farmers are substituting millet and Hungarian grass for oats.

Western wool-growers assert that sorghum cane is a grand success for sheep.

Nebraska has 100,000 acres of cultivated timber land all planted within the last ten years. And mostly since the timber claim act was passed.

The total receipts of cattle at Chicago for the month of September were 165,000, being 14,000 in excess of any previous month on record.

Texas has fully 7,000,000 sheep, and the wool crop of the present year will be worth $6,500,000.

The annual cheese product of the United States, for an average good season, is now estimated at 400,000,000 pounds, and the butter product at 1,200,000,000 pounds.

At a recent sale of Jersey cattle in New York an average of $624 was paid for each of 75 head. The highest price was $5,100 for the bull Sir George.

The use of mules in place of horses seems to be increasing in the Northern States. They are not so much used in ordinary farm work as in teaming and hauling heavy loads on hard roads, to which their feet are better adapted than those of heavy horses.

Small cheeses, weighing from 33 to 50 pounds, are coming to occupy quite a prominent place on the Utica market, and as they bring from ¼ to ½ cent above the rates for shipping cheese, their number is increasing form year to year.

In Great Britain there is a sheep on every acre and one-third of cultivated land. In this country there is an average of but one sheep on 34 acres.

The creameries of Iowa now aggregate upwards of 500, while the high price of dairy products this year will cause an increase in the number for another season.

It is better not to graze pastures very closely at any season of the year. Pastures when bare are much more likely to suffer from either drouth or cold than when covered with grass two or three inches deep, and they grow much more slowly.

At Elgin, Ill., the first of this week higher prices for butter were obtained, 33,000 pounds were sold at 32½ cents per pound, as against 31 to 32 cents last week.

If by accident plants become frost-bitten, they may be restored by immersing them immediately, while they are stiff, in cold water, and keeping them thus in a dark room for an hour or so or placing them in the cellar for a night or two.

BE YOUR OWN DOCTOR.

It won't cost you one-half as much. Do not delay. Send two 3 cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 23w2

An Irish woman entered one of the National banks in Providence the other day, and presented a check at the cashier's desk. The cashier looked at her and said politely: "Madam you must get identified." "Faith and what's that?" "Why, you see, you are a stranger to me. I don't know you." "Will then, I'm proud to introjuce meself to ye. My name's Sary McFlin, an' I'm not ashamed of it!" "Well, but you are the person whose name is on the check," said the cashier who was too polite to tell her that perhaps she was lying about it. And what did ye say I must do?" "Identify yourself. Bring some one here that knows you." "Indade! An' who knows me better than I know mesilf?" The cashier paid without another word.

HONESTY THE BEST POLICY.

In advertising a medicine it is best to to be honest; deception will never do; the people won't stand it. Let the truth be known that Burdock Blood Bitters cure scrofula, and all eruptions of the skin. This medicine is sold everywhere by druggists.

"Consistency: "Ah, Brown! Understand you're going to marry again!" "Yes; my first wife always said I was a fool, and so I am going into matrimony again, in order to be consistent, you know."

Women are not allowed to be out on the streets of Chicago after ten o'clock at night. After that hour the men want the whole street to themselves and they take it.

Unless it Had Great Merit Parker's Ginger Tonic could not be so popular. Its sale has rapidly spread all over this country, because invalids find it gives them new life and vigor when other medicines fail entirely.

24w4 [Ohio Farmer.

A woman in Lincoln, Ill., left $200 in cash by will "to the widow who shall first secure a husband." One woman secured the cash and a husband in forty minutes.

Personal! To Men Only!

The Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Voltaic Belts and Electric appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and Manhood, and kindred troubles, [illegible]

[illegible]

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and, by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

'95 per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good. For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞Sold by all Druggists.

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON

9m6

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's

Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

—:0:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all kinds of Roofing and [illegible] Work.

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock

SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN, McALLISTER & CO.

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 39tf

[illegible]

Dated June 1, 1882. D. H. GILBERT, Executor.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin, late of the town of Fulton in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated, May 25, 1882. JOHN H. WOODIN, Executor of Peter Woodin, deceased.

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co., during the year 1882 and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.

N. W. NUTTING,
Oswego County Judge.

4w

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York, Assets, over $2,400,082.34

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,089,588.10

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK, Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS. Assets, $1,271,569.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
Fulton, N. Y.

46

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

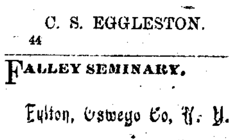
In Great Variety and at Low Prices the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	36 00
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞This school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. Tuition and the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, [illegible]

[illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

FIFTEENTH YEAR. FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1882. [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS—One Dollar [illegible] a Year in Advance. An additional [illegible] for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

Dot Schmall Leetle Baby.

CHARLES FOLLEN ADAMS.

Drue as I leev, most efery day
I laugh me wild to der way
My schmall young baby drie to play—
Dot funny leetle baby,

Ven I look of dem leetle toes,
Und see dot funny leetle nose,
Und hear der way dot rooster crows,
I shmile like I vas grazy.

Sometimes dere comes a leetle schquall,
Dot's ven der vendy vind will crawl,
Right in his leetle stchomack schmall,
Dot's too bad for der baby.

Dot makes him sing at night so schveet,
Und gorry barric he must ead,
Und I must chump sphry on my feet
To help dot leetle baby.

He bulls my nose und kicks my hair,
Und grawls me ofer eferywhere,
Und shlobbers me—but vot I care?
Dot vos my schmall young baby.

Around my head dot leetle arm
Vos schquozin me so nice and varm—
Oh! may dere never come some harm
To dot dot schmall leetle baby.

A SHREWD YOUNG LADY.

Turner Barrett was as good natured an old bachelor as ever lived, and as eccentric.

It was said of him that in his youthful days he had a flame, and decidedly serious intentions; but it was a tradition that his "ideal" snubbed him; and all the rest, for he was even in his old age a magnificent castle builder, "dissolved into air, thin air, and like the baseless fabric of a vision passed away."

Turner Barrett's heart was not utterly indurated by his early disappointment. Quite the contrary. He was as genial as he was unfortunate in wooing.

The love he could not lavish upon a wife because of his "life's young dream" [illegible] good, whole souled women who would have been only too glad to unite their destiny with his, singly, of course and not collectively, as the Lowell ladies seem to desire—was given in abundance to the young personage of the negative gender, who was as modest as the daisy of the field, and as beautiful as a rose, and who was known to many an aspiring youth under the name of Sallie Jason. Sallie was certainly an attractive girl. She was as sweet in disposition as they make them now-a-days. Miss Jason was Turner Barrott's neice, and she was proud of her relationship—not because her uncle (he was such on the maternal side) was a "gilt edged" gentleman, and always welcomed by his banker with exceeding deference. She loved him for the largeness of his heart, the unselfishness of his nature and the openness of his purse to the needy.

I do not wish it to be understood that Sally Jason was a model young lady of the lacadaisical order. Rather the opposite. She was sensible as modest, and that is saying a great deal for a feminine in her teens and in this century of civilization. Miss Sallie—she never signed her name Sara or Saida—knew she was Turner Barrett's pet, and what is more, was firmly persuaded in her own mind that she would, should she survive him, be his heiress.

Now a possible heiress is not to be sneezed at. And that being the case, it was really wonderful how her path was strewn with roses, and what attentions were paid to her. No picnic, no reunion, no ball, in fact no gathering of young people could be perfect that Sallie was not at; and before her eighteenth birthday, although far from being a flirt, she could say what no other young woman of her acquaintance dared—namely, that she quietly and firmly rejected proposals of marriage from six eligible gentlemen, every one of whom in succession swore they could not exist without her.

Sallie never boasted of her conquests. Not a soul, save Turner Barrett, to whom she confided everything, knew that an offer of marriage had been made to her, excepting, of course, the Lotharios who had assailed the citadel of her heart.

It doesn't become us to know why she declined, one and all, the aspirants for her hand, except, perhaps, that she was "o'er young to marry yet."

Of one thing we are certain, she was then heart whole. It is true there was a quiet, industrious youngster, without the slightest pretensions to the "gentlemanly," who had never worn kid gloves in all his life, although his hands [illegible] delicate—she was sometimes seen walking slowly down the street with. But no one ever supposed Sallie Jason cared a [illegible] for Edward Lander. Indeed, if the question had been plumply put to her at any time between her seventeenth and nineteenth [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] gentlemanly way, poured out the riches of his soul with eloquent tongue to please her sense of the beautiful in music and elevate and enlarge her mind.

The young typographer without really knowing or desiring it, exercised a wonderful influence over the affection of Sallie, and perhaps had saved her from being captured and made prisoner for life by some of the glittering beaux, those who had never thought of Edward if indeed they had known of his existence.

With those who "moved in her set," as the cant phraze is, she unconsciously contrasted Edward, and she more than once yearned for his presence when the "fun was at its height" in the social gathering, where he had never entered although more than once urged.

"Come, Mr. Lander, to-night," Sallie would plead, "you know I like your company. Indeed I do. And you ought, you know, to make an effort to enjoy yourself. Why, I declare, you are quite an old man already, and when you are a centenarian what will you be, Mr. Philosopher?"

"A hundred years old," Edward would laughingly reply. "Quite a respectable age, Miss Jason. But pardon me," his answer now found in a softer tone—one almost in melody in Sallie's ears—"you are aware that I am otherwise engaged. I hope I am not a misanthrope; but I reserve myself for my poor mother, who, I have told you, is bed ridden. It pleases me to pass my spare hours with her. She is never tired listening to me when I read to her the master productions of the master minds who have made the world of thought all glorious."

"You are an enthusiast, Mr. Lander," Miss Jason would reply, "and I suppose you will soon be an anchoret."

Then she would part with him and return to her home and there listen to the sayings of men she felt were his inferiors.

"Why don't you get married, Sallie?" asked her uncle one day, as he entered the room in which she was seated in a low chair, an open book on her lap, but her eyes and thoughts away from it. "I'm sure pet, you've had chances enough, goodness knows. Ah! ha! niece when I was a young fellow, I —I—"

"Yes—yes, I know it all, uncle dear—every word of it," interrupted Miss Jason, a smile lighting up her mobile face. "I have been dreaming, uncle dear, and wishing you'd do just as I would like."

"And, pray, pussy, what do you like?"

"It's this, dear uncle. I want you to become poor, very poor!"

"Indeed!" responded Mr. Barrett, quite bewildered. "But I don't want to be poor, Sallie, that is, I would rather not for your sake; Ha! Ha! I have an idea that a poverty beau and Miss Jason, according to the fitness of things, would not go very well together."

"Perhaps not, dear uncle," said the young lady, quite seriously. "But you see, it would greatly oblige me if you would impoverish yourself. I am in earnest."

"Why, you little goose," said the old bachelor, wonderingly, "do you want me to enact the part of Lear to his daughters, give all my wealth to a pretty little lady, whom the world in advance proclaims his heiress, and then be turned out of doors for being such a consummate donkey."

"Indeed, no, uncle," murmured Miss Jason, coaxingly. "I really don't mean that you may be poor, and for your own sake, I wish you may be as rich as you desire. But then, you know, I am pestered to death by importunate gentlemen who declare"—and the fair creature arched her brows with quite a comical expression in her dark, bright eyes—"that without my presence to smooth for them the rough road through life, they will surely die—"

"At the barber's," laughed Turner Barrett.

"Now," persisted Miss Sallie with a demure look, "if you will oblige me by being poor, announcing in that brilliant organ of local and general intelligence for Grapplingtown, the Weekly Slasher, that the banks and railroad companies in which you are largely interested, had failed and swept all your fortune away, and then, immediately upon that, dispose of all your magnificent furniture and this stately house for the benefit of your creditors, and thereafter remove into the lodgings, you would greatly please your loving niece."

And the eccentric young lady thereupon rose from the ottoman upon which she had been seated, stole to the side of the bachelor uncle, wound a fair and shapely arm around his neck, and gave him, unsolicited, what ninety-nine hundredths of the young men of the city of Grapplingtown would have given their whiskers for—videlicit, a kiss!

"Really, Miss, returned Turner Barret putting a serious face upon the matter "this making one's self poor for the sake of carrying out a young lady's whim is no joke. You know, Sallie—"

Yes she knew all about it. She was quite conscious of the fact that she could wind the old bachelor around the smallest of her shapely fingers, and so at last he consented to do precisely what she had made up her mind he should when she first concocted her eccentric scheme.

The succeeding edition of the Slasher contained a leading editorial that set the whole town agog. Never before had their "intelligently conducted" [illegible]

Balloon Insurance Company, the Inflated National Bank of Splurgetown, and the unlooked for bankruptcy of the Slow Coach Railroad Company in Arkansas, had lost all his property. The editor of the Slasher regretted all this, and in addition stated that it was his painful duty to add that Mr. Barrett had, in the most honorable manner, executed a trust deed, by which for the benefit of his creditors, he dispossessed himself of his elegant mansion, furniture, etc., etc.

"The little minx," said the old bachelor, having laid down the paper preparatory to wiping the beads of perspiration from his heated face. Really, until this moment I didn't know that I was such an important personage in Grapplingtown! Well, wonders will never cease. But, what is the next wave? I declare, I don't know. Ah! here comes Sallie. Perhaps she can tell me."

A moment later and the young lady bounded into the apartment, her eyes dancing with joy, while holding it carelessly by the ribbons, she swung her hat to and fro, and then placed it upon a centre table, for it was "a love of a bonnet."

"Oh, uncle," she exclaimed as she again osculated the old bachelor, "what do you think?"

"Think, child! I think you have got me in a confounded bad scrape—'a condemned difficulty' as Mantilini would say."

"Pshaw! Nonsense! Why do you know, I've been cut dead in the streets by Clara Peters, her sister Melissa, Sophronia Goodrich, Matilda Welfar, Oscar Bennett, who on his knees swore he couldn't live a day without me, and —and—"

"Stop! stop! child!" cried Turner Barrett, in a tone of alarm; his rather rosy face becoming quite serious and decidedly pale, "I must go and put a stop to this. Explain it all. You know, Really——"

"Nonsense, dear uncle, said Sally, with a laugh. "Why, I like it! I never had such fun before. Do you know, sir, that not one of those fashionable gentlemen who were so devoted to me up to precisely 6 o'clock this morning knew me at noon to-day.

"No, really!" answered, with additional confusion of manner, bothered Turner Barrett.

"And, pursued Miss Jason, "that coxcomb, August St. John, actually, when I walked past the hotel, the steps of which he honors at lunch time with his presence, put a glass to his eyes and stared [illegible]

"The puppy!" cried the old bachelor, jumping from his chair in great wrath. Seizing a stick, he was about to proceed to do summary execution on the presuming scamp.

"Where are you going, uncle?" asked Sallie, quite innocently.

"To teach August St. John manners."

"Pshaw!" returned the young lady. "He is not worth the notice of an honest man, such," she added, coaxingly, "as my dear uncle Turner."

"But you have got us all into a dev—ahem!—of a scrape! Now, how am I to get out of it?"

"I've engaged a second-story front for you, uncle," answered the girl gravely, while her eyes fairly danced with mischief. "It is in Mrs. Lander's house. You know Edward Lander?"

"Yes—yes. I know him well. A smart young fellow. He'll make a first-class man."

Miss Sallie blushed slightly upon hearing this eulogium upon the typographer.

"Well, sir, of all my acquaintance, male and female, he was the only one who approached me respectfully on the street, and, in language that proved him to be a gentleman, referred to our announced misfortunes. He was even more courteous to me than he had ever shown himself before. Ere we parted, he tendered half of his mother's house for our acceptance, adding, with a smile, that we could fix the rent to suit ourselves or our purses. Now, uncle, that was considerate. If his mind was of coarse texture, however generously inclined, he would have told us that the rent would be nothing—treating us as paupers."

"Then I suppose," said Turner Barrett, with a groan, "we shall have to give up this comfortable—this luxurious home, and live in a second-story front—and all for what, Sallie?"

"That I may find out who my friends are," responded that young lady.

"Pshaw, girl! The candle is not worth the price. Have you found who are not friends!"

"Yes," was the prompt answer.

"There's wisdom for you!" as Captain Cuttle remarked of Bunsby! Well, what is to be the next move?"

"This, uncle. Enclose in an envelope—saying in a note that it is for special use and from a friend, five one thousand dollar bills—and superscribe it so: "Edward Lander, Esq., Grabblingtown,', etc. Have it postmarked New York. And then, uncle, I'll give you a vacation of a month! Go whither you please. Your trunks are all packed and here are tickets for a trip to San Francisco. When you return you will find everything as you would have it."

"Well!" said the old bachelor, greatly puzzled. "Well, Sallie, you so dispose of your uncle as you take it into that little head of yours. What next, pray?"

"This," was the response, and Turner Barrett found himself embraced by a pair of the whitest arms in all the world; and then a pair of lips as red as roses, behind which were rows of pearl-like teeth, [illegible]—were [illegible] to be own! [illegible] about to return. His niece replied that he would be welcomed home.

In the meantime the story in the Slasher was corrected—not contradicted. It was found to be all a mistake—Turner Barretts losses. The companies mentioned had not failed. They had merely passed through a "crisis," and having promptly met their liabilities, had resumed business with renewed confidence and standing.

All the fashionable acquaintances of Miss Jason, including August St. John, who had snubbed her, and Oscar Bennett, who had sworn he could not exist without her, called, but one and all were refused admittance—their cards being promptly returned—Miss Jason declining to renew their acquaintance.

Edward Lander wondered much who had mailed him [illegible], but, like a sensible man, having first assured himself that the bills were really intended for him, proceeded to dispose of them by making his sick mother comfortable; and with the remainder, he commenced business on his own account.

Miss Jason was now satisfied. When her foolish uncle returned she confided to him another and altogether more startling secret than any she ever before had imparted to him. It was to the effect that she loved Edward Lander and she was quite sure he loved her; and she sententiously added, a man who loves his mother, as Edward does his, will adore his wife.

"AN AMBITIOUS INDIVIDUAL."

"Oh! I'm boiling over to do some good act" shouted a politician the other day, as his red nose protruded from a face ornamented with unhealthy blotches. "Well, sir," replied a friendly listener, "unless you want to be an animated sign for a drug store, and make the passers-by sick, I would advise you to use Swayne's Ointment and be cured of that skin disease." The ambitious man acted upon the advise, and is now a living exemplification of what this excellent remedy can accomplish. 24w4

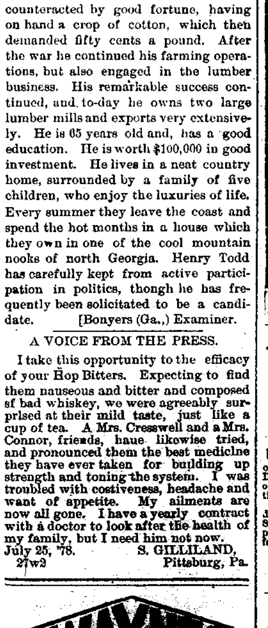
Wealthiest Colored Man in Georgia

His name is Henry Todd, and he lives at Darien, in this state. When a youth his master died, and left him his freedom as a reward for his faithfulness. Young Todd was so esteemed by the family that they insisted on his remaining in their employ, and paid him a handsome salary. He was a sort of assistant overseer on the plantation. By the kindly aid of white folks he soon became a land owner, and then a prosperous farmer. In a few years his affairs showed the result of industry and natural business talent in a snug little fortune. His quiet manner and strict uprightness guarded him from the bitter prejudice which in those days both races felt for the average "free nigger." Henry Todd soon had money enough to own slaves himself, and he purchased several as a matter of economy. When the confederacy fell he lost twenty negroes and some money in confederate bonds. The blow was in some measure counteracted by good fortune, having on hand a crop of cotton, which then demanded fifty cents a pound. After the war he continued his farming operations, but also engaged in the lumber business. His remarkable success continued, and to-day he owns two large lumber mills and exports very extensively. He is 65 years old and, has a good education. He is worth $100,000 in good investment. He lives in a neat country home, surrounded by a family of five children, who enjoy the luxuries of life. Every summer they leave the coast and spend the hot months in a house which they own in one of the cool mountain nooks of north Georgia. Henry Todd has carefully kept from active participation in politics, though he has frequently been solicitated to be a candidate. [Bonyers (Ga.,) Examiner.

A VOICE FROM THE PRESS.

I take this opportunity to the efficacy of your Hop Bitters. Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and composed of bad whiskey, we were agreeably surprised at their mild taste, just like a cup of tea. A Mrs. Cresswell and a Mrs. Connor, friends, haue likewise tried, and pronounced them the best medicine they have ever taken for building up strength and toning the system. I was troubled with costiveness, headache and want of appetite. My ailments are now all gone. I have a yearly contract with a doctor to look after the health of my family, but I need him not now.

July 25, '78. S. GILLILAND,
27w2 Pittsburg, Pa.



ST. JACOBS OIL

REMEDY.

RHEUMATISM,

[illegible] Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

—LIVER—

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use

Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is

The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK

BEFORE TAKING.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

TRADE MARK

AFTER TAKING.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.

Sold in Fulton by E. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. Snow & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

F. D. VAN WAGENEN Jr.,

REAL ESTATE AGENT.

(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond& Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and

BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous publications.

Ten Cents Per Week for the use of [illegible]

JOSEPH WALTON,
[illegible]

An Elegant line of [illegible]

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE,"

Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods [illegible] shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmeres, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz. Army, Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamentaries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

VERY DESIRABLE

To Know the Fact that

WATERMAN'S

—Stock Of—

Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place.
Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of tee same, at 34 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

D. A. WATERMAN.

LAUNDRY.

The Steam Laundry Agency continues to give Good Satisfaction with new customers every week. Give them a trial order. WATERMAN Agt.

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6. Geo. J. Emeny, H. H. Gridley.

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

D. McCarthy & Co.,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER DISPLAY

—OF—

Rich and Elegant

DRESS GOODS.

We announce, as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of

Combination Effects

—IN—

Broche and Broche Checks
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids.

all of which have an indentical match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.

☞ Please call and see them.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:—

Colored and Black Plushes! IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour. DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Velovrs, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais. ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperratrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.

This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics ever displayed in Central New York.

☞ Examination invited.

Cloak Department.

The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments—both Imported and Eastern make—ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these are lines of styles—

Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRICE!

For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell

Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,

At Cost. No trouble to show goods. [illegible]

[illegible]LTON TIMES

W[illegible], Nov. 16, 1882.

After the Election.

Federal interference and dictation in politics, frequent and oppressive assessments levied upon government officials to carry on the legitimate (?) expenses of campaigns, Star Route swindles, River and Harbor jobs and reckless and extravagant management of the affairs of the nation were the causes of the complete and surprising rout of republicans throughout the country last Tuesday.

Money, bribes, promises and threats were powerless to stay the epidemic and never before was our republican form of government utilized to better example or the power of a free ballot made to voice its potency with greater effect. It somewhat explodes the fallacy that "Money is King" and instances to the people of the State and Nation that when the honest men and independent voters of all parties whose only platform is honest and economical government stand shoulder to shoulder in the fight to achieve those ends, its accomplishment is easy and sure. The unprecedented majority Grover Cleveland received for governor of this state must not be viewed by the democratic party as a victory that occasions or permits rejoicing only within their ranks, for many thousand republicans labored assiduously for him as a rebuke to the dishonest machine methods employed in managing their party.

The lesson is a timely and wholesome one and the party first to abide by its teachings will undoubtedly win the presidential prize in 1884. The people demand and will have honesty in the administration of public affairs and if neither of the two great parties possess the elements necessary to render it, a third one will supplant them. The independent voters are beginning to realize the fact that they are a power and hereafter intend to make themselves felt.

The democrats will have a majority in the next House of Representatives and the course they pursue in dealing with the leading questions of the day will in a great measure effect the party's chances of success in 1884. The tariff and internal revenue are likely to be two of the leading questions. The democract must be conservative in their actions and deal justly with all the great industrial, financial and commercial interests of the country if they wish to retain within their ranks the sea of independent men that have been instrumental in placing the legislation of the nation in their hands.

In this state the democrats are united while the republicans are divided and almost hopelessly so. Rare tact will have to be used by Governor Cleveland in naming men for the important offices which he will be called upon to fill or an internal war will be waged fiercer than that of 1879, and one that will prove more disastrous to the party.

CONKLING is credited with saying that he has not been consulted as to political matters since he resigned his seat in the Senate.

A NEW cable is to be built across the Atlantic ocean. Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, is said to be largely interested in it.

"BULK but not beauty," is Oscar Wilde's criticism of Niagara Falls. Oscar goes for beauty, whether there is any visible size to it or not.

FORTUNATE for President Arthur he issued his Thanksgiving proclamation before election as the result leaves but little for him to see to be thankful for.

JOHN G. CARLISLE of Kentucky and Samuel J. Randall of Pennsylvania are candidates for Speaker of the next House of Representatives. They are both good democrats, honest, capable and economical. Randall is a Protectionist while Carlisle is a Tariff for Revenue Only man. The canvas will be spirited but free from bitterness.

THERE was sorrow and then joy among the friends of Henry Brown and wife in Reading, Pa., Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Brown and child were suffocated with coal gas and the house placed in mourning and an undertaker notified, but physicians after four hours of earnest work succeeded in resuscitating the family. There was joy unspeakable.

THE Thanksgiving proclamation of Governor Bell of New Hampshire, is not full of studied phrases and glittering generalities. It is brief and to the point:

> "It behooves all men to show gratitude for benefits received; it is especially becoming to a Christian community at stated intervals, to acknowledge publicly their obligations to their bountiful Father."

THE comet has regained much of its brilliancy since the moon has withdrawn from its vicinity, and its gauzy drapery can now be seen flowing in a train of fine proportion and beautiful texture across the sky in the early morning. It will not depart entirely from this region of sky until January, when it will rise about midnight, and it is expected that a large portion of the time it will be bright enough for observation.

JOHN A. COBBEN, the superintendent of public schools at Wakeman, Ohio, became enamored of Miss Welsh, a pretty pupil. Having made up his mind to go away with her, and make his wife and children believe that he was dead, he began by pretending ill health. Then he went on a trip as though to recuperate. He wrote home from Milwaukee that he was about to drown himself, and, leaving his baggage at a hotel, disappeared. His family mourned him as a suicide, while he was alive and well at Moore's Hill, Ind., where he and Miss Welsh had obtained employment as teachers in an academy under false names, and were about to get married. Cobben had been an active church member at Wakeman, and his [illegible] went to Milwaukee to recover the body if possible. There the clergyman noted that several valuable books were missing from the [illegible] and [illegible] the truth. Working upon that [illegible]

Political News Local and [illegible]

Mr. Poucher's majority over Mr. [illegible]john was 187.

The next Assembly will [illegible] Republicans to 84 Democrats.

Gardinier was [illegible] by 223 [illegible] Stowell and 2,526 over Pierce.

Out of fifteen governors elected last Tuesday fourteen are democratic.

Cleveland's majority in this county was 878 and in the state about 196,000.

Michigan elected a democratic governor for the first time in thirty years.

The democrats will have a majority in the next House of Representatives of 77.

Only seven counties in the state gave Folger a majority the aggregate making [illegible].

Oswego county gave a majority of 5,000 for free canals. The amendment received a majority of about 200,000 in the state.

Gen. James B. Weaver is elected to Congress from Iowa as a greenbacker. He is an able man.

Stowell was third man in Oswego the vote standing Gardinier 1504; Pierce 1,302 and Stowell 1,232.

Judge Nutting's majority in Madison county was 393 and in Oswego county 1,215, total 1,608. In 1880 congressman Mason's majority in Oswego county was 3,386; in Madison, 2,205; total 5,591.

Wm. J. Pentelow's name is mentioned in connection with search clerk in the county clerk's office. Mr. Pentelow was in the office under clerk Taylor and is thoroughly conversant with the duties.

It is generally understood that Francis M. Baker, of Fulton, is to be deputy County Clerk. Volney's majority for Mr. Gardinier was piled up through the personal efforts of Mr. Baker. He is a gentleman thoroughly competent to fill any position in the office.

FOUND—A brown dog. The owner can have the same by paying charges. Call at my residence on west side of river on Oswego road.

RICHARD FRAZER.

Teachers' Institute.

A teachers' institute for the county of Oswego, conducted by Professors Lantry and Post, will be held at the seminary in this village, commencing Monday, Nov. 27 and continuing one week.

Teachers! The time has arrived when it is not sufficient for us to know what to teach but we must know how to teach it. It is probable that an examination for the benefit of those who have failed to obtain license, will be conducted by us jointly at Fulton, on Saturday, following the close of the institute, and a strict adherence to the methods of teaching as presented by our institute instructors will be observed. For these and other apparent reasons the universal attendance of the teachers of this county, during the entire session, is very earnestly desired and confidently expected.

C. R. PARKHURST,
H. D. NUTTING,
JAY B. COLE.
Commissioners.

Vennor on November.

Here is Vennor's forecast of the weather for the remainder of this month: Probably fair in most sections up to 14th and 15th. After these dates very stormy weather with heavy snow falls, will prevail over a large portion of the United States and Canada; 18th and 19th very stormy weather and snow falls general. 19th to 26th—A wintry week general. Cold snap due about the 20th and 21st. Frost far to the southward, neighborhood of 24th and 25th snow storm, and in Newfoundland gulf gales. 29th to 30th—High winds in northern sections entry of week. Storms, Scotch coast and generally on Atlantic. Cold weather in northwest, winter weather in Canada. Stormy up to the end of month on Atlantic. Prevalent wind north-westerly and westerly. The month will terminate severely. An earthquake in November is not improbable. Lower Canadian winters used to commence by the 15th of November. Changes in November are likely to occur upon or close to same dates as in 1881. Bad storms in majority of sections in Canada and United States (northern) about 25th, 26th and 27th of November. There will be fair sleighing in November in province of Quebec, Canada and New York state, if not in adjoining states.

☞ Remember DRAPER always takes the lead in selling goods cheap and never allows anyone to undersell him in fair deal. 47.

Mrs. Montague is receiving fresh invoices of Fish Oysters, Clams, Lobsters, etc., every day. Prices are reasonable.

Golden Rule Lodge No. 78, I. O. O. F. of Phœnix will give a reception at Windsor Opera House Phœnix, Thursday evening Nov. 30. Several Fulton people will attend.

The N. Y. O. & W. road will run another of its popular excursions to New York on Tuesday, Nov. 21. Fare for the round trip will be only $7.00, and tickets will be good in returning up to and including December 1st. The train will leave the depot in Fulton at 7:15 a. m.

Last Saturday evening when Wm. H. Henderson and wife returned from shopping they found their home on Sixth street in possession of their children and grand-children to the number of thirteen who had met to surprise them. Refreshments were served, old time days reviewed, and a good time the result.

The Young People's Literary Association of the M. E. church met at the residence of Dr. Bruce Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, 1883. The exercises were as follows: Song-Duett, "Beautiful Home," Mr. Cooper and Mattie Parkhouse; selections from Ten Days in Spain by Kate Field—read by Mrs. Hattie Patterson; Selection "My winter on the Nile" by Charles Dudley Warner—Mrs. Robinson; Song, "Kathleen," by Whittier—Mr. Cooper; Selection, poem, "Sunday Fishin," Mrs. Dr. Emens; Song "Kerry Dances," Zulies Hubbard.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustee Proceedings.

FULTON, Oct. 10, 1882.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present, President, Trustees Hetrick, LaLonde and Hard.

[illegible]

W M [illegible]

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!

[illegible]

[illegible] SILKS

We have received to-day from New York from a large Silk Sale, the cheapest line of BLACK SILKS we have ever shown. Any one wishing a new silk dress should call immediately at

F. E. BACONS.

More New Cloaks, Dolmans and Jackets received to-day. Another handsome variety of Ladies' Neckwear.

NEIGHBORING NEWS

T. A. Farnsworth has been appointed postmaster at Williamstown.

Ira Page's cheese factory at East Palermo burned last Thursday morning about three o'clock. There was no insurance. There was no cheese in the factory.

Sunday evening November 12, Elisha Demott of Volney and Mrs Maria D. Baker of Scriba, were joined in marriage by Rev. L. Brown at his residence in Mt Pleasant.

Elmer Palmer, aged 16, was found guilty in Canton, St. Lawrence Co., last week of murdering his grandfather and sentenced to the Elmira Reformatory for life. He poisoned the old gentleman because he made a will distasteful to him.

Oswego Palladium:—Major Van Forstner on Wednesday made a survey of the line for the telephone company between Oswego and Fulton. The distance from the central office at Fulton to the city limits is 9½ miles and it will require 390 poles to cover the distance.

Oswego Palladium—The county treasurer's office is still besieged with Conklin receipts for which the property has been sold. County treasurer Goodier estimates that 75 per cent. of the re-assessed tax of 1877 and 1878 for which the property was sold in 1879 is covered by these receipts.

Frederick Wiltsie et. al. vs. Richard Perrin is the title of an action brought in the supreme court to recover the price of 4971 pounds of cheese. The plaintiff is a Hannibal farmer, the defendant a New York commission merchant. The cheese was forwarded last September. [Oswego Palladium.

Messrs Baylor and Bouteile, members of the United States Coast Survey, who have been taking observations in this vicinity left for Norfolk, Va., Saturday evening. A signal station will be erected next season on Loomis Hill in the town of Palermo. Mr. W. H. Hannan of Palermo Centre has the contract to furnish the lumber for the station.

Oswego Times:—A contest is being waged before the supervisors of Wayne county as a board of canvassers between Gaeenwood, republican candidate for the assembly in the second district and Hotchkiss, democratic candidate. The returns first filed gave Greenwood a majority of one but the returns from the third district of the town of Lyons were afterward changed, there being 8 votes for assembly cast there in the judiciary box. Of these seven were for Hotchkiss and one for Greenwood, giving Hotchkiss a majority of six. The contest hinges on the legality of this change of votes once filed.

CHEESE MARKET.

UTICA, N. Y. Nov. 13—The sales to-day were all of October stock. Only the largest factories still remain open, and they are making only five or six cheeses a day. Among the shipments this week will be three monster cheese from the Whitesboro factory, which will weigh something over a ton apiece. They go to a New York firm, but will be sent at once to England as a holiday advertisement for some large retail establishment. The total sales were 7,335 boxes. Ruling price 11¾c.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

The secretary stated that he had during the past week received letters from several dairymen who desired to have their names enrolled in the protective association. Enough names were added to make 150 vats already pledged, providing the requisite number shall be obtained. One hundred more are needed to put the organization in working shape. Factorymen in the northern, eastern and western parts of the state, are all invited to join, as none can receive any benefit from the acts of the association unless they become members of it.

LITTLE FALLS, Nov. 13.—To-days sales, we estimate, will take cheese upon the average, up to October 18 to 20. A few very exceptional factories have their stocks from October 5 to 10, but very many have closed out their October make. A few factorymen were not satisfied with to-day's prices, and would not sell, but most are ready to accept the ruling rates. Some factories have closed for the season, and quite a number more will follow suit this week.

Following are the transactions:

Lots.	Boxes.	Price
9	555	11½ "
44	2,854	11¾ "
6	539	12 "
59	3,978
Farm dairies	415
Total	4,393

[Utica Herald.

AT FULTON.

There were three hundred boxes offered and all sold to S. Osborn for 13 to 12¼ cents, this is the last of the season.

When I Have a Baby at breast nothing is so useful for quieting my own and baby's nerues as Parker's Ginger Tonic. It prevents bowel complaints, and is better than any stimulant to give strength and appetite.
24 w4 [A Newark Mother.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 5tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

☞ GO TO ROBINSON & LANGDON'S for choice Coffee! The only place in [illegible] roasted fresh twice every week. 15tf

STRAW WANTED!

[illegible]

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

An Election in the Metropolis—Illegal Registration—Seeing President Arthur Vote.

[From an occasional Correspondent.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 14, 1832.

Mrs. Langtry and election is about all that a person can hear in this city at the present, but as things stand now the election seems to have the upper hand altho' the Jersey Lily has made her debut the papers don't give her quite as many columns as they devote to politics.

Cloudy was the day and so were the faces of the leaders of the Republican party, before night-fall. As I crossed the Fulton Ferry in the a. m. one of the deck hands remarked that "This nor-east wind surely means a storm." "Yes" said another, "It does in some of the down town wards." Such was the democratic majority was large in these lower wards. Repeaters, colonizers and pipelayers of both parties bloomed in abundance, but some did not "vote as early and as often," as they expected, on account of the action of our District Attorney.

District attorney McKeon determined, about six weeks ago, to take vigorous action in regard to fraudulent registration. Trustworthy reports as to the colonization of repeaters, who were expected to register and vote under many names, reached Mr. McKeon. Nearly all of them came from the Eighth Assembly district, the stronghold of John J. O'Brien, chief of the Bureau of Elections of the Police Department, and the Republican candidate for County Clerk. Mr. McKeon, learning that it would be useless to depend upon the police of the district, who are, as a rule, chosen for duty in the district because they are machine Republican supporters of Mr. O'Brien, engaged detectives in the employ of Robert Pinkerton. The detectives went to the lower election districts of the Eighth Assembly district, where, according to the reports received by Mr. McKeon, repeaters were massed, and lived unsuspected among them in the cheap boarding and lodging houses. The detectives frequented the saloons of O'Brien's chief workers, and saw and heard much. Last Monday the registration being over the detectives reported to Mr. McKeon who took steps that prevented the illegal casting of thousands of votes. Many of the rascals are awaiting trial, and several have already been sentenced.

Inducements were held out by both parties to secure voters and they ranged from poor cigars and whisky to promises of office. During the week before election day large wagons containing usually a poor band and large transparences, setting forth the virtues of the different candidates paraded the streets and fairly made "Rome howl."

Among the various mottoes were "Vote for the hero of the Spuyten Duyvel Disaster" "Labor against Capital" "Patrick Duffy the workingman's salvation." Vote for this and vote for that greeted you everywhere.

President Arthur came from Washington to help save the city, but to no avail, for, as an old timer said on Wednesday, "Proxy" French and the Saratoga racket, flopped the Republican party this time." The internal workings of the political machine in this city and Brooklyn is something to ponder over. All a man needs here is "inflooence" or money in abundance and he is assured of some fat office. It seems that brains or education takes no part in politics nowadays but money rules the day. This applies more particularly to this city. Everything was quiet at the polls and no demonstration was made until the reports began to come in and then the Democrats let themselves loose. Some one talked of challenging President Arthur's vote on the ground of non-residence, but I saw him put in his ballot just before the polls closed and no one molested him. He voted straight for Folger and free canals. If any arrests were made the detectives did their work quietly and of course the trials will be speedy.

Ben Butler's good luck in Massachusetts has been town talk and every one wonders how he did it. Business again assumes its wonted air and the victors begin to look for the spoils. Politics like some women are rather "unsartin."

WANDERING JEW.

CAUSES ASTONISHMENT.

"Completely prostrated for days with indigestion and bilious fever. The effects of two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters astonished me; visible improvement right off." Mr. Noah Bates, Elmira, N. Y.

Real Estate Changes.

Following are the deeds recorded at the county clerk's office the past week of local import:

William G. Gage, et al to John Butler, et al., Nov. 7, 1882, land in Volney, $1, 5000.

Willard Johnson to Charles Hughes, et al, September 20, 1882, land in Granby $5,000.

Henry C. Gardner to Stephen Cain, November 26, 1880; land in Granby, $295.

Mary J. Cain to Henry C. Gardner, November 26, 1880; land in Granby, $295.

Oliver Sykes to Stephen Sykes, Dec 14 —; land in Volney, $200.

"BEE HIVE."

We are now opening our Fall and Winter Stock of Cloaks, Dolmans and Ulsters [illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days,
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

Almost Human!

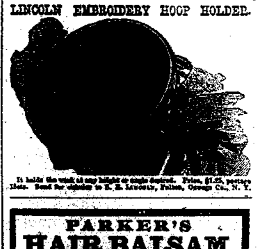
The Norton Door Check and Spring.

NO SLAMMING OF DOORS!
NO BREAKING OF GLASS!
SILENT AND PROMPT.

WATERMAN,
Sole Agent.

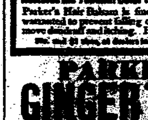
Nov. 15tf

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



It holds the work at any height or angle desired. Price, $1.25, postage 10cts. Send for circular to E. B. Lincoln, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.



This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

[illegible]

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters,	12c	per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50	" "
Tea cups and saucers,	24	" sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61	each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	14	"

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st.

I am your obedient servant.
JAMES MCCARTHY.
Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store — First St. the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

A Magnificent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of
Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

NEW GOODS

AT THE

BAZAAR

THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

LOST,

Strayed or Stolen

A small boy about the size of a man with an empty bag of meal on his shoulder, marked "R. T. S.," with the letters rubbed out.

Whoever will return the same to the North west corner of South Salina and Water streets and pay $5.00 will greatly oblige

Von Frankenburg & Co

OF

"THE FAMOUS"

who want immediately

451 BOYS

to fill suits made especially for the wearer and guaranteed to give satisfaction.

MORE BOY'S AND MENS' CLOTHES than in any two stores combined, and at prices that will please you, because they are extraordinary low

Central N. Y. Greatest Clothiers.

Central N. Y. Finest Clothers.

[illegible] TIMES

[illegible]

FULTON BUS

The [illegible] will leave the Lewis House [illegible] the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the [illegible]

A. M. A. M. M. P. M. P. M.

[illegible]......7:40 9:00 2:10 5:00 8:15

Tickets to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, for sale on the Omnibus.

A. M. Hayes, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2......7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 4......6:22 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 42......6:35 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1......9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 3......11:34 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 43......5:33 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation......8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express......9:26 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express......12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express......5:38 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express......8:06 a. m.
Day Express......3:03 p. m.
Oswego Accommodation......6:21 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express......8:20 p. m.

[illegible] trains run Sundays.
[illegible] Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. D. Phelps, Supt.

Geo Prosser of Lyons is in town.

Stores are filling up with holiday goods.

Hops are selling from $1.10 to $1.50 per pound.

Mrs. W. E. Williams will return to St. Louis next week.

Work upon the interior of the Presbyterian church is being pushed.

Henry Pollard has a new arrival in his family. It is a twelve pound boy.

Mr. and Mrs Julius Heimburger of Penn Yann, N. Y., are guests of Dr. J. Watson.

Remember the Metropolitans in Nichols hall next week, commencing Monday evening.

Situation Wanted—Young lady of experience wants a situation in a first-class family to do housework. Enquire at Times office.

Peter Young, who cut Althouse, has been taken to Oswego jail to await the action of the grand jury. Althouse is recovering.

William Cook an employe in the Riverside mills caught his hand in some machinery Thursday morning and lost a portion of two fingers.

Eggs are only thirty cents per dozen. A man that can figure three or four productive hens among his assets is looked upon as a well to do citizen.

Dr. T. Dwight Stowe, formerly of this village, is reported to have been elected to the Assembly from the Fall River district in Massachusetts on the Greenback ticket.

The scenery, chandeliers and all the sittings but the orchestra chairs have arrived for the Stephens opera house. Everything will be in good shape by the 28th inst.

The next district quarterly meeting of the Free Methodist society will be held at the chapel in Fulton Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 18 and 19. Rev. J. B. Freeland, formerly of Syracuse, will officiate.

W. R. Hamilton will remove his jewelry store from Oneida street to First street, occupying a portion of the store used by D. Hendrick. Mr. Hamilton intends to increase his facilities for doing work and will carry a larger stock of goods.

The neatest, nicest dressing for ladies' and misses' shoes is Button's Raven Gloss polish. Mr. M. V. Connell has a large stock of it and it is no trouble for him to explain its merits and show you what it will do. Drop in and purchase a bottle.

The Oswego Palladium nominates Hon Wm. A. Poucher for Speaker. He has the ability to make a capital presiding officer and his course in the legislature last winter is ample evidence that he is a democrat and not a factionalist. The Palladium's suggestion meets the approval of scores of representative democrats throughout the state.

The publication of the Oswego Morning Express ceased last Thursday. It has consolidated with the Oswego Times and that journal will hereafter be known as the Times-Express. The Express was not yielding a fair return for the capital and energy involved in its publication. There appears to be no room for a third paper in Oswego as the experiment has been disastrously tested several times. The Times and Express will be published as a Half-breed paper.

The parade and drill of the Uniformed Patriarchs, I. O. O. F., of Oswego, announced to take place in Fulton, to day been postponed. Saturday evening's has Oswego Times and Express says:

> Last evening at the meeting of the Konoshioni encampment it was decided that the uniformed patriarchs would not go to Fulton as has been announced and give an exhibition drill. The people of Fulton will be much disappointed as they had been given to understand that the excursion was arranged. It was given up on account of the uncertainty of the weather at this season of the year.

Women that have been pronounced incurable by the best physicians, have been completely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Co's. 36

Musical Goods.

Mr. Bristol is constantly receiving pianos from Weber, Fisher, Pease and other manufacturers; organs from Estey, Mason & Hamlin, Sterling organ company and several other makes, which are constantly kept on hand, and will be sold at prices as low as any house in [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Jubilee [illegible] Halls, Parties, Etc., Etc.

IN AMUSEMENT [illegible]

Two of the finest entertainments of the season will be given at the Methodist church, this (Wednesday) and tomorrow evening. The wonders of the world will be exhibited by Prof. C. C. Coe, of Rome, the celebrated aeronaut, on a canvas fourteen feet square under the most powerful light known, the dissolving view apparatus. Famous temples, monuments, buildings, cities, memorable scenes and places in every land will be brought vividly to view and short descriptions of the most important given. These illustrated lectures will be attractive and instructive alike to old and young. Dr. Tully, of Oswego, in whose church this entertainment was given last week commends it most highly as one of the very best and most worthy of patronage. Admission 10 and 20 cents. Exhibition beginning at 7:30 p. m.

NUGENT & GLEASON'S METROPOLITANS.

This excellent dramatic company will hold forth in Nichols Hall for one week commencing next Monday the 20th inst. They have been in Fulton the past two seasons, have been warmly welcomed and their presentation and rendition were of a high order of worth. They are first class and no objectionable features are introduced. The week's program contains a variety of plays which will be enjoyed in this locality as the frequent rendition has not made them dull or uninteresting. The company is under the management of S. B. Mead. Admission 25 cents, reserved seats 35 cents. Tickets now on sale at Nichols' and at box office in the evening. Monday evening will be brought out "Arrah Na Pogue"; Tuesday, "Lost in London"; Wednesday, "Russian Serf"; Thursday, "Circumstantial Evidence"; Friday "Match for a King" and Saturday, "Dangerous Game to Follow."

TENNESSEE JUBILEE SINGERS.

Will give one of their unique and popular concerts in Nichols hall Friday evening November 17, under the auspices of the M. E. church. The Jubilee Singers are colored people and their style of singing and the pieces they produce carry one back to slavery days. They come to Fulton highly recommended by the neighboring press and many clergymen of note. Admission 25 cents. Children 15cts.

The Owego Blade says of a recent performance by the company there: A well-filled house greeted the Tennesseeans at the Methodist church last evening in spite of the bad weather. The singing, which consisted of a number of negro melodies, was grand. Miss Pinkie Johnson has a splendid voice, and is rightly named as "the Great Shouting Soprano." The solo, "Old Black Joe," by Mr. Robinson, was immense, and as an encore he sang "The Sweet Sunny South." The song "Pick up de young lamb and tote it to your bosom," was the best of all sung during the evening. The "Old Slave's Prayer," composed by Miss Johnson, was sung by her in a charming manner.

STEPHENS' OPERA HOUSE.

This new and beautiful play house will be formally opened to the public Tuesday evening November 28, by the Florences who will produce a play that is known the world over "The Mighty Dollar." The engagement of this company insures an excellent entertainment and a crowded house. The Philharmonic Society's orchestra of Syracuse has been engaged by Mr. Stephens to furnish music. This orchestra is composed of twenty-two members and all are finished musicians. A diagram may be seen at the box office of the Opera House, where tickets are now on sale.

The third annual masque ball and concert under the auspices of the Oswego Falls Cricket Club and Reading Room will be held in Nichols hall, Wednesday evening, November 29, 1882. The entertainment given by these societies are always first-class and are well attended. Geo. E. Smiddy, Geo. Clark and Miles Ellis are the committee on arrangements; Thomas Carr, jr., W. Roberts, J. Jones and Eli DeRusha will act as floor managers; Thomas Lambert, W. Kelley, John Smith committee on carriages. Invitations must be shown at the door. Tickets 75 cents.

A thanksgiving party will be given at Hannan's hotel, Palermo Centre, Thursday, November 30. In the afternoon the hotel will be open to guests and music will be in attendance for those who wish to dance. Supper will be served at 4 p. m. In the evening there will be the usual Thanksgiving ball. Parker's orchestra furnishes music.

There will be a social hop at the Briggs House, Seneca Hill, Thursday evening, Nov. 30. An invitation is extended to everybody.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1882.

Miss Sarah A. Abrahams, Albert Allen, Miss Matie Allen, Mrs. Libbie Foster, C. L. Graves (2), John Hall, (Boat builder), Miss Ida Worcester, A. Whittemore.

DROPS AND POSTAL CARDS.

Cap. A. Hungeford, Henry Rill, Fred Roberts.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. Gilbert P. M.

MILO'S STEAM DYE WORKS.

The agent for the above is in town at the Lewis house. Parties wishing work executed in a first-class manner and promptly will do well by calling on him. Special attention paid to overcoats ulsters, and all kinds of clothing. Goods returned in ten days.

☞ Conley's Billiard and Refreshment saloon opposite the Midland depot has been thoroughly refitted. Step in and see him. 36

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. [illegible]

[illegible] Ladies a Calf [illegible]

150 " " " " 60ct.

A. E. NETTLETON.

We had our first snow storm Monday.

Regents' examination is in progress in No. 2 school.

Nichols hall has been leased for another year by Mr. S. B. Mead.

If you wish your beds renovated leave orders with John C. Highriter.

A little boy made its bow in the family of Mr. Cornelius Murphy Monday

The Metropolitans will entertain the people of this vicinity every evening next week in Nichols hall.

For sale or rent—A small house in eastern part of village. Enquire of 24t3 Mrs. M. L. Lee.

M. E. Cornell has made a few changes in the interior of his place of business and added a billiard and pool table.

Mr. Stoneburg has not rented the new brick block at the corner of First street and Broadway and will remain where he is until spring.

E. E. Johnson and family have removed from the Lewis House, and occupy rooms in the Bradshaw block, foremerly occupied by Dr. Hall.

Mr. Fred Foster who offers his farm for sale, brought to The Times office a cabbage weighing eighteen pounds. It is a perfect and noble specimen.

Miss Fannie Stevenson was agreeably surprised Wednesday evening by a visit from a large company of her young friends at the residence of Mr. Clayton Sackett on Oneida street.

Chas W. Smith made his many Fulton friends a visit this week. He returns this evening to Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Smith occupies an excellent position with an agricultural firm in Kansas City. He has been industrious and owes his success to his own efforts.

Phœnix Register—Through the earnest efforts of Rev. Mr. Hutchins the obligation resting against the church at Pennellville has been reduced to less than one hundred dollars, and there are the most encouraging indications that the small balance remaining will be provided for also.

Carlon Church left Fulton Monday evening for New York from which point he will leave for an ocean voyage. As he was boarding the evening train for Syracuse on the D. L. & W. road he was taken hold of by his brother Warren who requested him to pay $4000 he owed him before proceeding further. Carlon informed the gathering crowd that his assailant was crazy and asked for assistance. Warren replied: "I am not crazy; you owe me $4000 or $5000 and are worth $100,000 and I want you to pay me." Carlon became loosened from Warren's grasp and made his way to a sleeping car and the disturbance was ended. A story current that Carlon struck Warren with his cane is untrue. During the excitement Carlon's pantaloons were badly torn.

Obituary Notices.

Eliza, wife of Daniel Hennessey, died at her home in Upper Oswego Falls Monday aged 33 years. Funeral was held at 10 a. m. to-day from the church of Immaculate Conception. Seven children survive her, the eldest twelve years and the youngest two weeks of age.

W. C. West died at his residence on East Utica street yesterday morning at 8 o'clock of consumption aged 66 years. Funeral will be held at the residence of Mr. J. T. Owen on Oneida street at 9 a. m. to-morrow. Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. church will officiate. The remains will be taken to Hastings for interment.

Joseph W. Prosser, aged 75, dropped dead from heart disease Sunday at 1 p. m. at the residence of his son-in-law, Wm. E. Fuller on Cayuga street. He was about the house during the fore part of the day in usual health. He had been troubled with heart disease for some time. Mr. Prosser was born in Easton, Washington Co., in 1804 and moved into Oswego county in 1812. He has resided in Fulton and vicinity for 41 years. He was a quiet, unassuming gentleman and an honored and respected citizen. Four children survive him, his wife having died about four years ago. His children are Mrs. Wm. E. Fuller and Judson Prosser, Fulton; Mrs. S. W. Mason, Syracuse and Geo. Prosser, Lyons. Funeral was held from his late residence yesterday at 3:30 p. m., Revs. Golden and Riggs officiating.

The funeral of Joseph Wetmore Butler took place from his late residence on Emory street Friday. It was largely attended by his old friends and neighbors from various parts of this town. A choir composed of the Misses Morton and Messrs Chas. Clark and W. McCracken rendered appropriate music. J. S. Butler of Buffalo opened the services by speaking of his father's chief characteristics and closed by paying to his memory a truly beautiful tribute. By request of Mr. Butler and sister, Mrs. F. Dilts, Dr. W. L. Woodbury read two selections from Whittier's poems and also two chapters from the New Testament. He was followed by Mr. L. B. Babcock who commended the life of his deceased friend and spoke of him as a true and honorable man. Squire Tinker, who had been intimately acquainted with deceased for 40 years spoke feelingly of his life and the many good qualities he possessed. The choir then sang "Nearer my God to Thee." The remains were interred in Mt. Adnah cemetery.

FATHER IS GETTING WELL.

My daughters say, "How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters." He [illegible]

The Old Reliable.

James Cole speaks to the public to-day through his advertisement in The Times. For nearly twenty-five years he has been in the undertaking business in Fulton and as a respected citizen and honorable business man he needs no commendation from any one to establish the fact. He gives special attention to the undertaking department which is replete with goods demanded in that line. Mr. Cole will give personal attention to making arrangements for carriages, etc., for funerals when requested.

Star Lecture Course.

The lecture course for the season of 1882-3 will open at Stephens' Opera House, Tuesday, Dec. 12th, with a lecture by Lieutenant Danenhower one of the survivors of the ill fated Jeanette Arctic Expedition, to be followed Dec. 28th by Hon. Wm. Parsons; January 23, Judge Albion W. Tourgee; February ——The Famous London Royal Hand Bell Ringers; March 1st, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore. This is the best course of lectures ever offered to the people of Fulton and the fact that the entertainment will be given in the new Opera House should guarantee an unusually large sale of course tickets.

Course Tickets - -	$2.00
Three Course Tickets to one family	5.50
Single Admission	50c.

No Reserved Seats.

A Long Fall.

The only accident that occurred during the construction of the opera house happened Friday morning. Barney Ingersoll and a man named Smith were painting the conical shaped ceiling, standing upon a scaffolding made from suspended ladder which was held by a pulley block at either end to lower it. A hook fastened to the beam gave way and Ingersoll was precipitated with great force to the gallery, a distance of about twenty feet, which he struck with sufficient force to rebound and fall fifteen feet further to the floor below. The result of his fall was two fractured ribs. Smith escaped without serious injury. Ingersoll is getting along nicely. The men employed on the opera house made up a purse and presented it to Ingersoll Saturday evening besides he is the recipient of many kind favors at the hands of Mr. J. J. Stephens.

A Commendable and Active Ride.

A few days ago a ride that deserves a place in history besides those of Sheridan and Paul Revere was accomplished by a young lady in this vicinity. Called to watch in company with her mother at the bedside of a neighbor whose condition was critical, a sudden change occurred at midnight. She was lying on the couch and heard the request made that a physician be summoned immediately. Without a moment's delay to ascertain if a man could be easily notified to summon help she repaired to the stable and leading out a horse rode bare back in the dead of night one mile and summoned Dr —— returning with him, the journey being completed in just twenty minutes. In a few minutes after the arrival of the physician the patient died.

It was a noble and heroic act and deserves more than a passing notice. The young lady is but twenty years of age and her sagacity and heroism is well worthy of emulation. Our informant, a most estimable gentleman, requests that her name be withheld from the public.

A Pleasant Wedding.

Yesterday morning in the church of St. Louis of Oswego, N. Y., was solemnized the happy union of Mr. Mederic LaPorte, a young business man of Holyoke, Mass, and nephew of Alfred and Edmund Laporte of this village, to Miss Amelia Hainault, until recently of F. E. Bacon's dry goods store. The nuptial high mass was celebrated by the bride's brother, the Rev. Father Hainault, Chaplain of the House of Providence, Syracuse, N. Y., assisted by the Rev. Father Charrette, pastor of the church. The bride was given away by her father, and the bridegroom was accompanied by his brother, Mr. Leon LaPorte, also of Holyoke. Mr. Edward Hainault, another brother of the bride, of McHugh's dry goods store in Oswego, acted as best man, and Miss Maggie Deschamps, her cousin, of Fulton, as bridesmaid. After the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends, the happy couple returned to Fulton, where a reception and dinner were tendered them by the sister of the bride, Mrs. Ed LaPorte. A large number of relatives and friends of Oswego and Fulton attended during the afternoon and evening, among others the Rev Father Kearney, of Fulton, Charrette of Oswego, and Hainault of Syracuse, as well as the clerks of Mr. Bacon's store, in a body. Mr. and Mrs. LaPorte left this morning for Holyoke, their future place of residence.

They were the recipients of many presents: Lace bed spread and shams from Mr. F. E. Bacon; fruit set from Mr Bacon's clerks; pair woolen blankets from Mr and Mrs Ed LaPorte; table spread from Mr and Mrs Alfred LaPorte; set of silver nut picks, Miss Maggie Deschamps; silver pickle castor, Mrs Salmon and Miss Mary O'Hare; majolica tea set, Misses Hattie and Agnes Deschamps; silver butter dish, Miss Mary McCormick; painted plush plaque, Miss Fannie Stevenson; silver alarm clock, Albert Mitchell; Christmas in Art and Music, Mr and Mrs Willard Patterson; [illegible], Mrs G. H. Patterson; beautiful vase, Mrs McDonald; silver pickle castor [illegible]

☞ The depot for cutters is at McCully & Co's. 36

A telephone has been placed in R. E. Phillips' drug store.

Herman Lang is a new salesman in Fay's dry good store.

Don't forget the Metropolitan Comedy company next week.

Mr. L. K. Hewitt has on hand eleven thousand dozen of eggs.

The president is already writing his annual message to congress.

The canals will be closed Thursday December 7, three weeks from to-morrow.

Mrs James Denton of Rochester formerly of Fulton is visiting friends in town.

A plump little boy has made its appearance in the family of Mr. Warren Church.

Mr. J. S. Butler of the Buffalo Express who has been here the past few days returned to-day.

D. Hendrick has resumed business at the old stand having purchased the interest of Mr. Hubbard.

Miss Loma Stay will conduct the Sunday afternoon temperance meeting at 4 p. m. All are invited.

The next social of the S. S. S. S. Society will be held in the Armory parlors Friday evening, November 24.

Wanted.—An intelligent boy with a fair education to learn the printing business. Apply at The Times office.

Mrs. James T. Pratt of the Lewis House is issuing invitations this p. m., for a party to be held Friday evening. Music from Syracuse.

Patrick Darby and Miss Bridget Kennedy of Oswego Falls, were married yesterday afternoon at the church of the Immaculate Conception, by Rev. Father Kearney.

Invitations are out announcing the approaching marriage of Rev. Jay N. Taft of Syracuse to Miss Sarah A. Read of Brooklyn, N. Y. The ceremony will be performed at the residence of Miss Read Thursday, November 30th.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. Thomas Kilfoyle and Miss Margaret Ward were married at the church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev Father Kearney. Mr. and Mrs. Kilfoyle took the evening train same day for a brief wedding tour. They enter the sea of married life with the heartiest congratulations of innumerable friends.

☞ Go to the Bazaar and get you a pair of all wool knit mittens any size and fine at only 10 cents. The greatest bargain ever offered in Fulton.

Large Oaks From Little Acorns Grow.

A little more than a year ago Foster Bros., E. F. and J. A. Foster, commenced the manufacture of various sizes of knives, the leading ones being butchers' and tanners' knives besides cleavers. The building they occupy just north of Waugh's paper mill is a small unpretentious one but the industry displayed by the firm has found ready market for their goods and more room is needed that the works may be extended. They broke ground Monday in Oswego Falls for the erection of a two story building 40x100 feet. It will be located west of T. R. Wright's saw mill receding back to Frst street. Four trip hammers will be kept busy, more forges set going and employment given to quite a number of men. Foster Brothers are tireless and ambitious young men and we hope to see them build up a business that will yield them a handsome revenue.

Election is Over.

Good-bye, and good riddance to its bitterness and contentins. Now shall we be able to learn a little more of what is going on in the wide, wide world; and a little less we hope, about the unpardonable sins of our neighbor, who, until he was made a candidate for office, had maintained an excellent reputation for kindness of heart, probity and integrity; and whom we had never suspected in all the years of neighborly intercourse to have been the double dyed, sin-steeped villain, that his political opponents, comparative—perhaps—total strangers, have asserted him to be. Yes, good-bye and good riddance to the political campaign. As for the election it matters but little how it has gone so long as the majority of voters are satisfied. The main thing is to make your calling and election sure. You are "called" to Kent & Miller's, 18 and 20 South Salina street, to inspect their fall and winter clothing, for which they claim superiority in material, in make, in style, in fit, in low prices. Overcoats for men, youths and boys in all the latest styles and certain to give satisfaction. Heed the "call" and we shall have no tears concerning the "election" you will make. Compare intelligently and your choice will fall every time on Kent & Miller's elegant suits and overcoats.

Functional derangement of the female system is quickly cured by the use of Dr R V Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." It removes pain and restores health and strength. By all druggists.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

All persons indebted to me are requested to call and settle at my old place of business Saturday Nov. 11th After that date all accounts will be placed out for collection.

Mrs A. Saunderson.

Fulton Nov. 8, 1882.

☞ Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) at Dearing's Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 47

[illegible]

[illegible] Wanting in Everything save Promises.

Justice Piper has been holding a continuous reception during the past week, and he has entertained his lady callers right royally. He has been "at home" to all evil doers and will continue to be as long as any exist.

Ellen Helm, a matronly dame who has frittered away fifty years of her existence, was ushered into the police court Monday morning, leaning gracefully upon the arm of Officer Ney. She was charged with being drunk and disorderly upon the streets Saturday evening. His Honor gave her a look that carried with it about thirty days. Ellen opened the conversation by remarking.

"Mr. Piper, if you'll let me go, I'll go to Oswego and work, and stay there."

"You were drunk, were you not?" asked His Honor.

"I called on Mrs. Buck Robinson Saturday night, and she made me a sling, and when I got into the street—"

"It slung you down," interposed the Justice.

"Guilty, your Honor," said Ellen.

"Thirty days in Oswego jail, or $15.; and don't you come back to Fulton in three months, or I'll commit you again."

Rose Barnard sent in her card. The Justice smiled as she entered, as she was an old caller.

Rose was picked up in the vicinity of Mason's planing mill Thursday night, hilariously drunk, and her call was to explain things as of yore, and go and get full again.

"Your Honor," pleaded Rose, "I was bilious and only took two drinks, and I am ashamed of it."

"So am I," said His Honor, "and I sentence you to three months in the O. P." She has been taken.

Mary Demaraugh completed the trio of female intoxicants. She stood before His Honor pale and trembling, while the charge of public intoxicaton was read to her. She held a hurried conversation with the Court, and she drew a prize that entitled her to four months in the O. P.

The next to toe the mark was Marcus Tait, of Little Utica, charged with bigamy. On Aug 3d, 1879, Marcus was married to a Miss Saunders, by Justice W. W. Palmer of Granby, and on Oct. 28, 1882, he was married to Helen Barto, of Palermo, by Justice W. C. Crombie, his first wife was living and he knew it.

"So you are a bigamist, Mr Tait?" asked His Honor.

"No, sir; I'm a farmer," innocently replied Marcus.

"Well, you are charged with a serious crime, Mr. Tait. States prison stares you in the face," remarked the Court.

Marcus was scared. He said a Baldwinsville lawyer told him it was all right. His wife had left his bed and board and if he wanted to get married to go ahead. He had known Miss Barto only a couple of months and he didn't believe she would like it when informed he had another wife.

"Rather than have any trouble about this affair," said Marcus, "I will go and live with my first wife; but I awfully hate to."

Marcus is in jail awaiting $500 bail, or he will be cared for in Oswego until the Grand Jury meets.

Walter Pollock dropped $5.00 in the public treasury for being drunk Saturday night, and quietly departed.

Charles Sylvester is to be disposed of for being drunk and creating a disturbance in the house where his father and mother are lying sick with typhoid fever.

The police are after Joseph Nichols, charged with stealing two mink skins from the hat store of J. C. Highriter.

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned has received from the Board of Education of School District No. 2, Village of Fulton, Town of Volney the warrant and tax list to collect the sums therein specified from the persons therein named as liable to pay the same in said District, and that I will attend at the store of G. C. Lathrop No. 22, First St., Fulton, N. Y., every week day between the hours of 10 a. m. and 7 p. m., and all persons who pay their taxes to me within two weeks from this date will be charged but one per cent fees, and five per cent will be collected from all persons who do not pay their taxes until after the expiration of said two weeks.

Eugene V. Lathrop.
Collector School Dist. No. 2.

Dated Fulton, N. Y., Nov. 15th, 1882.

Ladies' and childrens' hand knit hoods in all colors and styles. C. E. Sackett.

Teachers' Institute.

The next session of the Oswego county teachers' institute, will be held at the seminary chapel, Fulton, beginning Nov. 27, 1882. The institute will be conducted by Prof. F. P. Lantry, with Prof. R. G. Post as assistant.

C. R. Parkhurst, Com.

☞ Have you seen the immense stock they have at the bazaar. New things opened every day at prices that make folks smile when they think how they can save money by buying at the Bazaar.

New Goods just received at the new Millinery and Fancy Store over Western Union telegraph office. Now is your time to buy before it is too late. 25tf

Estey, Mason & Hamlin and Sterling organs kept by Bristol. Best prices given on all kinds of musical goods. 20

"BEE HIVE."

Dress Goods Dress Goods. If you want anything in the way of a Dress don't fail to look at our rich and Varied Assortment of French Armours, Cashmeres, Shoodahs. Also everything new in American Dress Goods. Ladies Cloth, Terracotta, Cadet Blue and all the new colors. You will find our stock not only the Largest but Prices the Lowest, at the "Bee Hive."

BENNETT & STEWART.

NEW MUSIC.

Bristol has just received a new lot of Oliver Ditson's popular music. Also a full line of New Books suitable for Holiday presents. 24

FIRST-RATE ARTICLE.

J. Coller Tucker does not propose to [illegible]

FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

1842. 1882.

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS,
CARPET
—AND—
Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29 and 33 Clinton St street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE
OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE.

A MAMMOUTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED
An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That onr garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S
ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,
13 and 15 North Salina Street,
A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

Crockery, China, Glass and Silverware.

—:o:—

D. SKADEN,
First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

Has returned from New York and is daily receiving a large and fine assortment of

CROCKERY,

Ever shown in Fulton or Oswego County.

Wewill not be undersold in

Bracket, Hanging, Stand, Lamps and Chandeliers.

D. C. SKADEN,
Next Door to Lewis House. First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

Warner, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.
Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877, I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition [illegible]

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be paid at the mill of

Gilbert Bros.

Fulton, Oct. 18.

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
[illegible]

CALL AT
J. H. WOODIN'S,
No. 7 First Street, Fulton.

For Bargains In

HARDWARE, DOORS, WINDOWS, BLINDS, ROPE, PULLEY BLOCKS, HORSE FORKS, MILK CANS,

Tinware of all descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent. Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

J. H. WOODIN.

The [illegible] Medicine ever Made. A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. [illegible] use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop B[illegible]

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co. Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA

LAKE ICE!
1882.

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to 500 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.
Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.
Ice delivered in good order.

E. BREADS.

MUNN & CO PATENTS ESTABLISHED 1846 NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new snow cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets, and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.

LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

DR E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, convulsions, Nervous headache, Mental depression, Spermatorrhoea, impotency, loss of memory, involuntary emissions, premature old age, caused by over exertion, self abuse, or over indulgence, which leads to misery decay and death.

One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order received by us for six boxes accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. Guarantees issued only when the treatment is ordered direct from us. Address JOHN C. WEST & CO sole proprietors, 181 & 183 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. 8y1

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,
FREEST FROM SLATE!
FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

[illegible] You

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp'ly Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.

—{o}—

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily	20 cts	per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs.	15	" "
Over 1000 lbs.	12½	" "

Private families 10 pounds per day. $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private families' season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.

ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.

FRED SPAFFORD.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

TO THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 150 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate, fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 346 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $325; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches; post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished. Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, Governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

I CURE FITS!

[illegible]

THE BEST Family Magazine [illegible] MONTHLY.

[illegible]

[illegible] An Inveterate [illegible] Case Cured—A [illegible] Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Greene County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining and permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended Favorite Remedy to others whom ~~I knew to~~ whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and I assure the public that the 'Favorite Remedy' has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy' as I did."

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM O. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. F. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

W. M. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

E. B. ABBEY, Jobber and Builder in all kinds of Mason Work. Orders left at Whitaker's Meat Market will receive prompt attention. Mortar constantly on hand and for sale.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homoeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

E. FRANK MARSH, M. D., Office and Residence No. 53 First St. Fulton, (former residence of Thos. Keeler.) Office hours 7 to 8 a. m., and 12 to 2 and 6 to 9 p. m. 48

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL.

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs, BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE GREAT CURE FOR

RHEUMATISM

[illegible] KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS. [illegible] THOUSANDS OF CASES [illegible] PERMANENTLY CURED. [illegible]

Acts at the Same Time on [illegible] Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

KIDNEY-WORT

Lewis House Livery & Boarding Stable

I would announce to the people of Fulton and vicinity that I have taken possession of the Lewis House livery, and shall keep it first class in every respect. I respectfully invite those in need of anything in my line to give me a call. Office and stable in rear of Lewis House.

50tf R. LEONARD.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

[illegible]

THE FULTON T[illegible]

[illegible]

Brigham's Widow.

[illegible] Brigham's grave is looking as bare and desolate as a boulevard now. At first, when her grief was fresh, his widow used to march out there five abreast, and just deluge the grave with scalding tears, and at that time the green grass grew luxuriantly, and the pig-weed waved in the soft summer air; but as she learned to control her emotions the humidity of the atmosphere disappeared, and the grief's grand irrigation failed to give down. We should learn from this that the man who flatters himself that in marrying a whole precinct during life, he is piling up for the future a large invoice of ungovernable woe is liable to get left. The prophet's tomb looks to-day like a deserted buffalo wallow, while the widow has dried her tears and is trying to make a mash on the Utah Commission. Such is life in the far West, and such the fitting resting place of a red-headed old galvanized prophet who married a squint-eyed-fly-up-the-creek and afterwards gets a special revelation requiring him to marry a female mass meeting. Let us be thankful for what we have, instead of yearning for a great wealth of wife. Then the life insurance will not have to scatered so, and our friends will be spared the humiliating spectacle of a bereft and sorrowing herd ot widows, turned loose by the cold hand of Death to monkey o'er our tomb.

[Laramie Boomerang.

GRINS.

Pleasant, healthy grins are seen only on the faces of healthy persons. The dyspeptic and debilitated can smile only in a half-hearted way. Purify the blood tone the stomach, and strengthen the tissues with Burdock Blood Bitters, if you wish to laugh well and often.

Fashion Notes.

Silks now have full lustre, like satin.

Blue-black silks are giving away to jet black.

Beaded trimmings are not in favor for black wool dresses.

Silk and velvet form a nice combination for dresses this season.

Faille and gros grain are more generally worn than the most costly ottoman silks.

The return to repped fabrics has restored to favor the black silk so little used while satins were in favor.

The most luxurious petticoats are made of colored satin or black, with eiderdown quilted in them in fanciful patterns. They cost $14 each in New York.

The robe toilets have a style peculiar to themselves. They are imported in cases; each piece composing the garniture placed just where it should go to complete the design.

Polka-dotted fabrics are a feature. The spots occur and recur in every possible size and variety, from a dot the size of a pin's head to a spot resembling a trade dollar. They may be interwoven with the threads, or else appliqued tufted, or embroidered.

Short skirts certainly carry off the palm at present, the long train being reserved for grand toilet; elegant matinees are made demi-training, yet ladies of matronly age may wear sweeping robes on all occasions as better suited to the dignity of years.

For young ladies, a pretty evening toilet has a bodice made with a leutre, as well as the panniers and black drapery, are made of figured silk. The wide puffs and scarf drapery on the skirt consists of a light airy material. Bouquets of roses and ribbon bows complete the costume.

The very becoming gathered bonnets are equal favorites for ladies and children. If intended for elegant bonnets, they can be made of satin or silk, or a silk crown with a lace poke. Rosettes and loops of narrow ribbon or lace form the simple trimming; strings must never be forgotten.

For young ladies the present fancy is to brighten black dresses with facings and vests of colored cashmere, or to wear an entire basque of a gay color, or else a Jersey waist, but the greater number of black wool dresses are now made in the simple styles adopted for cloth dresses, as these are more serviceable because less likely to go out of fashion, and are inexpensive because they require no trimming but stitching, or else very simple braiding.

[Rome Sentinel.

Unless it Had Great Merit Parker's Ginger Tonic could not be so popular. Its sale has rapidly spread all over this country, because invalids find it gives them new life and vigor when other medicines fail entirely.

24w4 [Ohio Farmer.

It may be set down as an axiom tha when a person grows fat he grows waistful. [Boston Transcript.

An enterprising foundry man has named an economical stove he has invented the "Semicoal'un."

Bumbleton had a severe strain on his conscience the other day. He aims to be the most honest of critics, and on being asked by the father of an animated foghorn hew he liked his daughter's voice, he replied: "She sings like a Patti-(under his breath)-gonian!"

[Musical Herald.

THE SECRET OUT AT LAST.

It has long been a source of wonder, as to why Courtney failed to meet Hanlan in a sculling contest. The general explanatory argument was, that he feared the little Canadian. This opinion, however, is exploded by the authentic announcement, that on the days fixed for the race, Courtney was unable to sit in his shell, on account of the intense itching and soreness caused by the Piles. Having recovered through the use of Swayne's Ointment, he now announces that he will row Hanlan any time this summer. 24w2

"Ma" howled a boy running into the house and approaching his mother, "Ma, little brother hit me with a stick." "Well I'll whip your little brother," said the mother abstractedly tacking together a pair of stockings she had been darning. "No don't whip him. Don't let him have any supper. I whipped him before he hit me."

[illegible]

[illegible] Will Remit Soon.

[illegible] Paper! The editor [illegible] to-day, he has gathered together $10, and needs but $90 more. Letter after letter opened, and he finds a wonderful unanimity of sentiment upon the part of his debtors, a kindly feeling, a disposition to remit soon. Any wonder that the imbibed tears of gratitude well up as he considers this uniform kindness. Yes, they will remit soon, and the next time the editor duns them they will remit soon, and if he tackles them again they will remit soon. These fellows who say they will remit, apparently have a confused notion as to the real meaning of the word, a sort of undefined idea that that setles it. We a man to say he will pay, or settle, or whack up, or come time, and then we feel that we have some show of realizing; but experience has taught us that to depend upon the remit soon man is "Like dropping buckets into empty wells,

And growing old in drawing nothing up."

WILL IT REALLY CURE RHEUMATISM?

We answer, honor bright, it will cure rheumatism, and the severest cases too. D. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was speedily prepared for the rheumatic and lame. Notice letters from the people relative to its merits in nearly every paper in the country.

How an Aligator Dines.

An alligator's throat is an animated, sewer. Everything which lodges in his open mouth goes down. He is a lazy dog, and instead of hunting for something to eat, he lets his victim hunt for him. That is he lies with his great mouth open, apparently dead, like the 'possum. Soon a bug crawls into it, then a fly, then several gnats, and a colony of mosquitoes. The alligator doesn't close his mouth yet. He is waiting for a whole drove of things. He does his eating by wholesale. A little lizard will cool himself under the shade of his upper jaw. Then a few frogs will hop up to catch the mosquitos. Then more mosquitoes and gnats will light on the frogs. Finally a whole village of insects and reptiles settle down for an afternoon picnic. Then all at once there is an earthquake. The big jaw falls the alligator blinks one eye, gulps down the whole menagerie, and opens his great front door again for more.

WHAT THREE APPLICATIONS DID.

"I was troubled very much with sore feet. Three applications of Thomas' Eclectric Oil entirely cured them. Nothing better in the market." Jacob Butler, Reading, Pa.

The Richest Man in Maine.

Every morning, Sundays excepted, at a few minutes before nine o'clock a pair of black horses and a two-seated phæton halt at the door of the First National Bank in Skowhegan. The team is commonplace in respect to horses, carriage and driver. The horses are good, strong, clean limbed beasts, but their trapping and grooming evince a disregard of appearances. The carriage is free from gloss and style. The old gentleman who alights and enters the bank is the richest man in Maine, ex-Governor Abner Coburn. His wealth is estimated at $6,000,000 or 7,000,000, but can only be be approximated. He and his brother Philander owned at one time timber lands worth $4,000,000 in Michigan and Minnesota. The brother is now dead. Besides his large possessions in Maine, the ex-Governor is said to own extensive timber lands in the region of Puget Sound. There are no heirs to his property but neices. He was never married. His only living brother, Alonzo, is in very feeble health and the ex-Governor will probably survive him. There is no one to perpetuate the Coburn name. Of eight brothers not one has left, a male heir. The last of them (Stephen's son) was drowned with his father a few months ago. Ex-Governor Coburn is 80 years old, and is for more reasons than one a remarkable man. In appearance he is venerable, but exceedingly well preserved. The frosts of eighty winters have given his head and face a whiteness that at first sight startles one and invarably evokes a feeling of extreme respect in approaching him. His memory was never better. His sentences are quick, clean-cut and business-like. His own efforts and astuteness have accumulated his immense fortune. He was a farmer's boy. He was born in Skowhegan, about three miles out of the village. He lived on the farm till 1840, when he entered into the lumbering business, from the profits of which, mainly have come the his present possessions, He began as surveyor and an explorer. He penetrated the wilderness for hundreds of miles, and in this adventurous and hardy pursuit gained the knowledge and skill which led to his profitable investments in timber land. He is still actively engaged in lumbering, and personally directs and superintends the management of his affairs. He has neither a clerk to keep his accounts nor a secretary to write his letters. If a man comes in to buy a township of land, he conducts the negotiations and makes all the calculations himself. If another man comes in to pay a note the millionaire of 80 years computes the interest with his own hand. He writes all his letters and mails them himself. He frequently comes to the post office of a morning with a whole armful of corrependence. He makes no display of his wealth whatever. Until recently he hasn't had a coachman even. He is extremely charitable, and no one whom he believes deserving appeals to him in vain.

[Lewistown, Me, Journal.

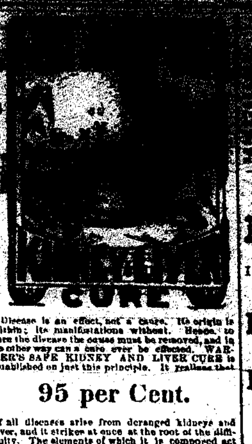
DETECTIVES & PRIVATE OFFICERS

Usually wear their badges of authority concealed under their clothing, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil wears its badges in the form of printed labels attached to each and every bottle, so that all may know its mission. It is given full and complete authority to arrest all aches and pains, and does its duty every time.

Parson Jones had just concluded his long discourse, the benediction had been pronounced and the congregation was dispersing. Said Deacon Brown, a great admirer of the parson: "A fine sermon; and well-timed too." "Yes," said fogg, "it was certainly well timed. About half the congregation had their watches out most of the time he was talking." [Boston Transcript.

THE KIND WE LIKE.

[illegible]



Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 per Cent.

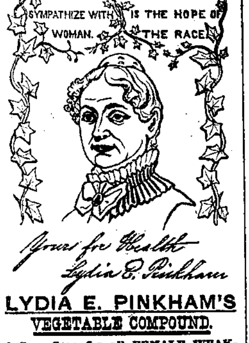
For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞Sold by all Druggists.☜ (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m6

[illegible] 1ny1

Q. RUST
LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

---

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞Telegrams and communications addressed to Pouchers Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 9tf

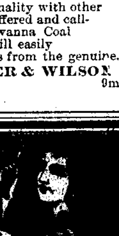
---

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.



Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,
ONEIDA STREET
Stove and Tinware
ESTABLISHMENT.

—:O:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware, is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all [illegible]

LEGAL.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

[illegible]

Dated April 18, 1882. HARRIET [illegible] Administratrix of the estate of Phineas F. Briggs deceased.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Lewis [illegible] of the town of Granby in said county, deceased, to present their accounts, with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned at his residence in the town of Granby, Oswego county, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated June 1, 1882. D. H. GILBERT, Executor.
3m6

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner Esq. Surrogate of Oswego county, Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin, late of the town of Hastings in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his place in Fulton, N. Y. on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated, May 25, 1882. JOHN H. WOODIN, Executor of Peter Woodin, deceased.
2m6

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co. during the year 1882 and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.

N. W. NUTTING, Oswego County Judge.
4w

INSURANCE
C. H. DAVID'S
INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.
NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.
NEW YORK Assets over $4,000,000
HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,
New York. Assets, over $2,400,683.98
SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Assets over $2,082,585.19
WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,
NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00
Each company with large surplus.
MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASS.
Assets, $1,271,709.35,
C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.
Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

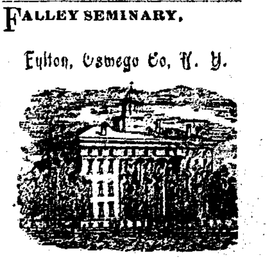
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	35 00

Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction: Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person. [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE | SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR. | FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1882. | VOLUME 15—NUMBER 27

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Sanderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

THE RED EAR.

It was October when I came to the Sumac farm—red, rare October, with the maple trees all dyed in scarlet, the woodland streams choked with dead leaves and the nuts ripening on the chestnut boughs, and I can well remember the thrill that went through all my veins at the glorious landscapes as the stage driver set me down on the doorstep with my trunk and carpet bag just as the sunset bursting through a shield of lowering clouds, blazed across the old house, painting its eaves with orange light and turning the small window panes to quivering tables of gold.

For I had been born and brought up in the city, and all this wide, wild landscape, colored with autumn forests and scented with dead leaves, was new and marvelous in my sight.

"Do you like it, Cousin Olga?"

Coquettish Barbara Blake asked this question as she flitted to and fro, apparently intent upon the arrangement of the supper table, while all the time she kept a bright eye on Walter Mildmay, who sat by the light mending a defective spot in the harness.

"Very much," I said quietly.

Walter did not look up but I could feel his quiet eye upon me all the time. I wondered what he thought of me. I thought uneasily of my dusty dress, my dishevelled hair, my stiff, linen collar which I had chosen to wear instead of the frill which best suited my face. Not that I wanted him to admire me, but every woman wants to appear to the best advantage and I was no whit different from the rest of my sex.

I was a Philadelphia shop girl. There was no glamour of romance about my life. I worked for my living, like many another, lived quietly in scant and forlorn lodgings and felt, sadly enough that my life was to be that of a chrysalis rather than a butterfly—until Fayal & Co. failed, and hearing that I was out of employment, my unknown cousin of the sumac farm wrote to me to come and spend the winter with them. They welcomed me kindly after a fashion. Uncle Blake gave me a kiss and remarked dubiously that I "didn't favor any of the Blakes that ever he knew of." Barbara, his daughter, wondered why I looked so pale. Jonas brought his pretty young wife—who had been a Mildmay—to greet me, and her brother Walter who was boarding there, and also shook hands politely and "hoped I would like the country" in an indifferent way.

The fire of huge logs blazed and cracked in the deep smoky chimney place, the leaves rustled against the doorstep outside, a cricket chirped shrilly under the hearth, and it was all so strange yet so restful.

After supper they left me alone. Mrs. Jonas Blake went out to skim the milk. My cousin and his father went to attend a district school meeting somewhere. Walter and Barbara had been invisible for some time, and after sitting dreamily for a while before the fire, I rose and went out into the kitchen beyond, vaguely desirous of some companionship beside my own.

No one was there, but I heard the sound of voices in the shed at the rear, where Barbara was holding the light for Mildmay to sharpen some edged tool on the grindstone. Unwittingly I advanced towards the door just in time to hear their words.

"A stiff, ugly old maid," said Walter indifferently. "A little higher, Barbara please. If that is the sort of girls they turn out in Philadelphia, I prefer the country specimens."

I stood rooted to the floor, feeling myself grow hot all over. They went on talking and laughing, but I did not hear a word they said.

Noiselessly I crept back into the room lighted the candle and looked into the muslin draped glass that hung over the home made dressing table.

Stiff, ugly, and an old maid! The latter I certainly was not, at four and twenty. Stiff, I might be, but who could avoid that in the presence of utter strangers, surrounded by an atmosphere that was entirely novel to me? And ugly? Was I that? I looked into the glass, to see hair braided straight back from a pale, oval face, eyes heavy with weariness, cheeks quite colorless. Did he think I always looked like that? He should see.

So I went to bed and cried myself to sleep.

The next morning I got up and dressed myself with care. I brushed the soft, crimpled mass of jet black hair away from my temples, and fastened a spray of coral red berries, which I had gathered by the roadside, into it and [illegible] a loose scarlet silk [illegible] my lace collar, I smiled to see the new glow of color that was returning to [illegible] cheeks and the [illegible] of my [illegible]

So I went down stairs. Uncle Blake stared at me over his spectacles.

"Mercy on us," cried Mrs. Jonas, "what has the girl been doing to herself?"

"Some one must have changed her off while she slept!" said Barbara, running up to me and giving me a kiss.

Walter Mildmay said nothing, he only drank his coffee.

How I enjoyed the next fortnight! The weather was beautiful and balmy beyond description. We had nutting expeditions and boating parties and long walks to gather brilliant autumn leaves. At night we sat around the blazing logs and on the few rainy days Mrs. Jonas showed me how to make butter and Barbara took me up into the great garret, where there were chests of old relics, piles of books and papers, and all the antique belongings of a whole century of Blakes.

But all this time Walter Mildmay kept his quiet distance; and to save my life I could not tell whether he thought me "a stiff old maid" or not.

And then came the husking frolic.

The barn was illuminated by candles stuck in the sconces along the sides—I had never seen so wild and romantic a sight. The neighborhood gathered to the gala. Mrs. Jonas and Barbara had been baking cakes and buttering sandwiches all day, while Uncle Blake had rolled a barrel of sparkling cider close to the barn door. Merry laughter sounded, bright faces glanced to and fro in the Rembrandtesque of the candles while over and anon the tones of the flute and the fiddle tuning in the loft were plainly audible.

I had been helping Mrs. Jonas to put the icing on the big fruit cake which held the ring, and it was late when I came into the big, sweet smelling barn with my black bows and a cluster of deep scarlet autumn leaves in my hair.

"Here's Olga!" cried my cousin Jonas cheerfully. "Come here little Olga and sit by me and I'll give you some corn to husk!"

I laughed and nestled down into the hay close at his side; and just at this moment a storm of laughter arose on the air.

"The red ear! the red ear!" they cried in chorus, clapping their hands and cheering vehemently. "Walter Mildway has got the red ear!"

I looked at cousin Jonas in bewilderment.

"What is the red ear?" said I.

Cousin Jonas laughed.

"What a little greenhorn!" said he. "The red ear is——"

Just then Walter Mildway came up and stood before me the rich maroon colored ear of corn in his hand. He laid it at my feet.

"I claim my privilege, Olga," said he.

I looked at him in amazement.

"I don't understand you" I managed to say.

The next moment he had stooped over me and, putting his hands on my shoulders, had imprinted a kiss upon my astonished lips.

I sprang up feeling myself grow scarlet, and rubbed my lips passionately with my handkerchief as if to wipe off the insult.

"How dare you?" I cried. "Oh, Ill never forgive you in the world—never, never."

And then, half maddened by the noisy laughter of the crowd, the din of jubilant voices, I tore myself from Jonas Blake's detaining hand and flew out into the starry cold of the outer air. Mrs. Jonas followed me.

"Olga, What is the matter? Come back, child," she cried.

"He has insulted me!" I sobbed.

"Insulted you? Oh what nonsense, Olga," said Mrs. Jonas, he has paid you the highest compliment a man could pay to a woman. There's not a girl in the barn to-night but that envies you, child. Don't you know what the red ear means?"

"No," said I, looking up with wondering eyes.

She laughed.

"It means that the lucky finder thereof is entitled to kiss the prettiest girl in the room," said she. "It has been his privilege from time immemorial and in this case it means that Walter Mildmay thinks you the prettiest girl in all that crowd of rustic beauties.

"Olga, you are not really angry with me?"

It was Walter's voice close to me. Mrs. Jonas made some exclamation about the cake she promised to cut, and slipped away into the darkness, leaving us alone.

"Angry," I repeated, "yes, I was angry, I didn't know—no one had told me—"

"About our rustic usage? But you will forgive me, Olga?"

My presence of mind was slowly coming back to me. I drew my hand from his.

"But you didn't seriously think me—pretty?" said I.

"Do you want me to say what I seriously did think?" he asked.

"Yes," said I laughing. "The truth now, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

"Then," said he "I thought you were the sweetest, prettiest, most actually perfect creature that Providence ever made!"

"Not at all," I replied demurely. "I am a stiff, ugly old maid. And if this is the kind of girls they turn out in Philadelphia, you prefer the country specimens!"

I could see the color flood in his face, even in the starlight.

"Olga, did you hear that?" he asked.

"I did hear it, Walter," I responded.

"[illegible]

"Listen Olga. Even the most wretched criminal that stands at the bar is entitled to assist upon a hearing in his own defense. Shall I be less favored then he?"

"Well," I hesitated, "if you really have anything to say—"

When we came back into the barn the husking was over, and the debris was all cleared away and they were dancing to the rude music of the band—"Killarney" I believe was the air. My cheeks were burning, my eyes shone, my heart also danced to the wild, swaying music.

Mrs. Jonas looked keenly at me.

"Ah!" she said "I thought it would be. You are—engaged? I am so glad for your sake and Walter's, too."

"And so am I," said I quietly.

I am a farmer's wife now, and live in a little brown cottage near the Sumac farm. And fancifully tied with blue ribbon, over the mantel hangs an ear of corn—a red ear.

And Walter says that as long as both of us live we shall have a yearly husking bee in the barn we are building.

"MY GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK,"

Was once a very popular song, but like many other sentimental tunes it doesn't wear well. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will wear; it will wear away all aches, sprains, and pains, and repay its purchaser a hundred fold.

Fashion Notes.

Victoria repped silks are in favor.

Red is the popular color for young ladies' large round hats.

Pouf turbans of velvet are preferred to the turbans of last year.

Turbans are small and are worn back from the forehead to show the front hair.

Polonaise suits made entirely of red habit cloth will be worn by young ladies.

Young ladies' skating dresses are made of dark green, or green cloths, trimmed with chinchilla fur.

The latest street costume from Paris consists of a princess under-dress which is entirely concealed except in front by a redingote.

Beaded white and scarlet Jerseys are shown for young ladies very gay and dressy toilets. Plain wool Jerseys are worn with simpler costumes.

Two materials are used for the new Parisian street costume, such as brocaded velvet for the under dress and light ficelle gray cloth for redingote.

Worth, the Paris man dressmaker, again brings out short mantles introduced by him last year, declaring that rich costumes must not be concealed by long cloaks.

The Bazaar says that the long cloaks that are designed to envelop the wearer are now given the new touch by being made to tip up shorter behind than in front, as if drawn upward by the very bouffant drapery beneath.

Buttons that represent stags' heads or those of hounds or horses, made with a bit of natural skin, are much used on young ladies' cloth and velvet dresses. Another novelty is a pretty hanging velvet ball button inside a net of silk.

The new India figured cloths for parts of young ladies' dresses, especially for draperies are made of camel's hair woven smoothly like cloth, but more sleazily, and these are of bright India red, or or light blue, or brown, with palm figures as large as a lady's hand, and of all the mingled colors of India cashmeres.

The newest shape for short mantles has a talma back, which is a cape that reaches just below the waist line, and has one seam down the middle; the shoulder seam stops at the bottom of the arm, and curves over to the front of this cape where it extends down to the the arm in Dolman shape. Indeed this Dolman resemblance is sometimes further given by a slight point on each side.

Leading modistes do not use the long bustle with springs, nor the small hoop skirts. The most graceful and most bouffant costumes worn have this large tournure effect given by the drapery itself, assisted, when necessary, by a small, light cushion of hair attached inside the dress skirt, or else just below the waist of a polonaise or redingote.

A Model Cheese Factory.

The celebrated Nickerson cheese factory at Houlton, in Aroostook County, Maine, is said to be one of the most perfect establishments of its kind. It is one story high, cheaply but well built, double wall around the storing-room, which makes it possible with a little fire heat to keep the cheese till cold weather or till the prices offered suit the patrons. The factory with all its equipments cost but $1,200, but it now contains, piled upon its shelves, over 900 cheese, each weighing 55 pounds. The price asked is 18½ cents, and if sold at that price, as it will be, there will be nearly $8,000 to divide among 56 patrons, many of whom keep but a small number of cows. This summer it received 6,000 pounds of milk per day, and it is expected that next summer at least 10,000 lbs. per diem will be furnished.

The Albany (N. Y.) Argus observes: Judge McGowan this city, was cured of rhumatism by St. Sacobs Oil.

Thanksgiving stories are now ripe and they fill a long-felt want. In these stories the long-absent son, who left home a smooth-faced youth of nineteen, and is mourned as dead by his parents, returns home a bearded man of thirty, just as the family are sitting down to their Thanksgiving dinner, and the only member of the household that appears to recognize the wanderer is the old dog, who never saw him before; and there is great joy in the house. Many of these happy meetings would never take place if it were not for the annual Thanksgiving story. [illegible] Herald.

AN ERRONEOUS BELIEF.

How a Mistaken Theory Nearly Cost a Well-Known Minister His Life.

[Chicago Standard.]

The following remarkable statement, made by a well-known Baptist clergyman, besides the unusual matter of value it contains, will be found most readable and interesting:

MESSRS. EDITORS: I have always believed most firmly in the brotherhood of men, and that every human being is in duty bound to assist his fellow man to the fullest extent of his power. The relation, therefore of my personal experience will, I trust, prove of benefit to many thousands in this land.

My earlier years were full of health and pleasure. After the completion of my educational studies I undertook the profession of teaching, and under the severe strain to which I was subjected I gradually became reduced so that the least exposure or excitement would bring on sick headache, bilousness and general prostration. I gave up teaching and began to prepare for the ministry, and although I studied hard my health seemed to grow no worse. Finally I commenced preaching, and then my old physical troubles returned. The slightest amount of certain kinds of food distressed me and brought on heavy dullness, dizziness and often great depression of mind. A change of room, atmosphere or clothing was almost certain to cause a cold, accompanied by most painful suffering. I attributed all this to the severe work I was obliged to do in the ministry, and so did not attempt to remove it. I next began to grow nervous and noticed that my feet were cold, while my left side and back frequently pained me. I felt a drowsy or sleepy sensation after eating, while a little excitement caused me to lose my appetite entirely. At times my spirits would be light and I would feel as if I might live to a good-old age, when possibly in less than an hour my head would reel, my body ache and I would be overcome with a deathly sickness. After such an attack a cold sweat would break out upon me and this would be followed by complete prostration. It would be impossible to describe the suffering I endured at these times, and yet I attributed it att to overwork and not to any special trouble or disease.

It was more than a year from the time the attacks first began that I consulted a physician. He examined me and declared that my lungs were affected and that I was on the road to consumption. I derided the idea and so called upon another doctor. But he told me the same thing, as did also the other medical men whom I consulted. Indeed, they all informed me that unless I went to Colorado, Dakota or the sea coast there was little hope. However, I did not change climate, but tried to continue my work as best I could. A year ago last May and in the November and December following I had three severe attacks of what the doctors said was lung fever or pneumonia. I recovered from these by the most faithful nursing, but I felt all the time as I know now that my troubles did not originate in my lungs but in some other organs of the body. It is true I felt severe pains in my lungs and I expectorated a great deal. I was extremely sensitive to cold, and the least draft or change of apparel tended to bring on a cold. My breathing was often most difficult and it frequently seemed that with all my exertions I could not get air enough into my lungs to satisfy them or keep my blood pure. As I am large in statute, weighing over 200 pounds, and being in the prime of my usefulness, you can imagine how I shrank from the inevitable fate which seemed to stare me in the face.

One Sunday evening last February, upon coming down from pulpit, almost prostrated and feeling that possibly it would be the last time I should ever enter it again, a member of my church approached me and said: "Brother Humphrey, I know just what you need to restore you to health. I have been troubled just as you are and I am perfectly well now." I thanked him for his suggestions, but shook my head sadly, for I felt that there was little hope for me. However, after I returned home I began to reflect upon the subject, and finally sent my son to procure some of the medicine which had been so highly recommened. If faith were an element necessary to the success of a medicine, it certainly was lacking in this case, for I was really hopeless. Greatly to my surprise, however, I began to feel much better, and the following Sunday I was able to preach with comparative ease. I continued to grow better as I continued to use the medicine, for it seemed to reach my entire system. I was able to preach, sing, and work without exhaustion, and to-day I am a well man, sleep soundly, eat heartily, feel no lung troubles, and I believe I owe my life and health wholly to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, which I consider a benefaction to suffering humanity.

It is only natural that since my recovery I should feel enthusiastic over the remedy which has restored me and also observe its effects upon others. As a result I am forced to the conclusion that very much sickness which is supposed to roiginate in the lungs, arises wholly from disordered kidneys and liver. I believe thousands of people are suffering to-day and looking forward as I was, to a consumptives grave, when their lungs are wholly sound and they might be restored to perfect health by the same means that I employed. Believing these truths and realizing their importance to the world, I come out thus openly, and say that I believe, under God, this remedy is a public benefaction, and I would most cordially and earnestly commend it to the world as a blessing to humanity.

(REV.) B. F. HUMPHREY,
Pastor Baptist Church.
AMBOY, Ill., July 24, 1883,

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait!

Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters!

Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend.

The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

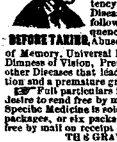
Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

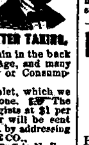
Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave. TRADE MARK



BEFORE TAKING.



AFTER TAKING.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money. by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

F. D. VANWAGENEN JR.,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and
BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous publications.

Ten Cents Per Week for the use of Books.

JOSEPH WALTON,
[illegible] Oct. [illegible]

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E B. FAY.

Fulton Business Cards

F R. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularitie of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

W M. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

E. B. ABBEY, Jobber and Builder in all kinds of Mason Work. Orders left at Whitaker's Meat Market will receive prompt attention. Mortar constantly on hand and for Sale.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

E. FRANK MARSH, M. D., Office and Residence No. 83 First St. Fulton, (former residence of Thos. Keeler.) Office hours 7 to 8 a. m., and 12 to 2 and 6 to 9 p. m. 48

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.

Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls.

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

D. Mc Carthy & Co.,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

FALL AND WINTER DISPLAY —OF— Rich and Elegant DRESS GOODS.

We announce, as ready for sale, our Fall Importation of fine Foreign Dress Goods. These Fabrics are the latest and most effective designs in plain and fancy weaves brought out this season. Several of the most desirable styles were manufactured to our own order and cannot be found elsewhere. These specialties once sold cannot be duplicated. As a prominent feature for this season we mention our magnificent line of

Combination Effects
—IN—
Broche and Broche Checks
Plain Checks, Stripes,
Figures and Plaids.

all of which have an indentical match in plain colors, and which latest advices from Paris indicate will reign supreme in the fashion world. These goods are in every instance exceptional values.

☞ Please call and see them.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

We announce that our Fall Importation of the following very desirable goods is now ready for inspection:—

Colored and Black Plushes! IN ALL GRADES.
Colored and Black Velvets FOR TRIMMINGS AND COSTUMES.
Colored and Black Brocaded Velvets.
Black Escalier, Plushes.
Colored and Black Velour. DU NORD.
Colored and Black Striped Velvets and Plushes.
Colored and Black Gros de Ecosse.
Colored and Black Ottoman Silks
Extra Quality Colored Gros Grains.
Black and Colored Matelasse Silks.
COLORED VELONTINE.
Colored Velovrs, Ottoman Faconne.
Colored and Black Moire Francais. ALL GRADES.
BLACK GROS GRAINS.
BLACK ARMURES.
RHADAMES.
SATIN DE LYONS.
VELOURS Imperratrice.
VELOURS Ottoman.

This is the finest line of Silk Fabrics ever displayed in Central New York.

☞ Examination invited.

Cloak Department.

The leading Garment this Fall and Winter will be the DOLMAN, worn longer than last year. We display the finest variety of these Garments—both Imported and Eastern make—ever seen in Central New York. In addition to these are lines of styles—

Paletots, Ulsters, Walking Jackets, Circulars, Sacques, Ulsterettes, and Fur-Lined Cloaks.

D. McCARTHY & CO.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

DOWN GOES THE PRICE!

For the next 30 days M. M. Williams will sell

Wall Paper, Borders, Window Shades, &c.,

At Cost. No trouble to show goods at the City Drug Store.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Nov. 29, 1882.

De[illegible] [illegible]tton, for many years on exhibition as lilliputian, has been placed in an insane asylum.

GROVER CLEVELAND'S majority is put down at 193,991. There will be no occasion for going behind the returns.

THERE is a strong probability of another European war. Russia and Austria are making warlike preparations.

COLONEL INGERSOLL believes General Sherman will be the next President. The Colonel also believes other equally foolish things.

ONE of the strongest workingmen's organizations is the Knights of Labor. They have representatives in nearly every State Legislature in the Union.

"BRICK" POMEROY, who has been publishing the Great West in Denver for some time, and for the past four years has been an ardent greenbacker has gone back to his first love, the democrat party. He has consequently changed the name of his paper to Pomeroy's Democrat.

MISS GABRIELLE GREELEY has recently given a building site to the Episcopal church at Chappaqua, a fact which indicates her religious preferences. Her father was a Universalist, and her sister a Roman Catholic, which shows what a variety of opinions may exists in even a small family.

GOVERNOR-ELECT PATTISON of Philadelphia declines an escort on the day of his inauguration and says: "There is no reason that I can see why the mere taking of an oath by a citizen called by the people to execute a public trust should be made the occasion for scenes of pageantry and demonstration."

FRANCE has sent two ladies to America to investigate our system of public schools with a view of introducing it in that country. It ought to be an encouragement to the advocates of women's rights that work of such exceptional importance should have been confided to representatives of the weaker sex, who seem to have demonstrated, by the nature of their errand, that their weakness is not, at least, in respect to intellectuality and fitness for practical labor in the paths of mental and moral progress.

THE following petition, which speaks for itself, is being circulated among the people of New York state:

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York.

The undersigned, adult residents of ——— assembly ——— county, repectfully and honestly pray your honorable body to adept, and submit for ratification to the voters of the state, as duly and legally provided, an amendment to the state constitution, to prohibit the manufacture and sale as a beverage of all intoxicating liquors within the jurisdiction of the state.

MR. WILLIAM H. VANDERBILT'S stable in New York is one of the notable buildings of its kind in the country. It cost $60,000 without the land, which is said to have cost as much more. It is constructed of pressed brick and brown stone. It has a frontage of seventy-five feet in Fifty-second street, and one hundred feet in Madison avenue. All the rooms are spacions, and the appointments of the finest. The box stall of Maud S. is twenty by twenty-four feet, and the others, though not so large, are of good size. There are at present in the stable Maud S., Aldine, Early Rose, Leander, Lysander, Bay Dick, Small Hopes, Charles Dickens and four coach-horses. There are six large coaches, eight light wagons, and two sulkies. Six men are employed as grooms and hostlers.

Palermo.

James W. K. Loomis has gone to Wisconsin to visit his son Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Eaton, who have been spending the summer with Mrs. Eaton's brothers, J. F. and W. S. Lansing, started for their home in Detroit, Mich. Monday morning.

Dr. Rossvally, the converted Jew, will lecture at the Denton's Corners M. E. church, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Nov. 22 and 23.

Leman Phelps of Palermo met with a painful accident a few evenings ago. He was splitting kindling wood, a piece flying up and striking him full in the eye completely destroying its sight.

Victor Loomis was severely injured about the head and shoulders, caused by a falling limb, while trimming a tree. C.

It was at the shore, and a gentleman was talking on his cottage porch with two or three guests. His pretty daughters comes up from the beach, just out of the surf: Oh, papa!" she exclaimed; "only think I was nearly drowned!" Papa turned pathetically to his friends: "By the powers, gentlmen, do you hear that? I have spent more than $5,000 on that girl's education, and to-day she was nearly drowned." [Progress.

Ready For The Change.

"All things are ready, if our minds are so." [Henry V,

The chilling winds of winter, rushing through our streets and howling about our houses admonish that the change of seasons is at hand. Are you ready for it? Are you prepared to meet and face these chilling blasts with warm and comfortable dress which Kent & Miller so well know how to provide, benefitting rich and poor alike by the excellence of their garments? The advice of old Dolonius to his son Laertes was very sound:—

> "Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy
> But not expressed in fancy, rich, nor gaudy;
> For the apparel oft proclaims the man."

Good clothes are not essential to that inward quality of character which makes the gentleman, but they are essential to the outward seeming of the part, and it is every man's privilege to be at least well dressed. The changing seasons afford excellent opportunities for such a rehabilitation, so that none need be illy dressed, nor uncomfortably dressed. The [illegible] stock of Kent & Miller for 1882 [illegible]

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence Emma Thursby and Mrs Langtry Discussed by a Fultonian— A Rich and Readable Letter.

(Special Corre[illegible] Fulton [illegible]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20, 1[illegible]

Cloudless skies, charming sunshine, and invigorating atmosphere crowd the streets of New York and make her look like herself—the true Paris of America. This lovely weather is taken advantage of by this great crowded city and at times the crush and jam down Broadway is terrific. The brilliantly lighted streets and parks at night are filled with a moving tide of humanity not only from her own population but of the thousands who come here from the outside world. All the places of amusement are crowded, so much so that matinee's are becoming of daily occurrence. At the Grand Opera House, 23d street, Saturday evening, the distinguished artists Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence closed an engagement in the popular play "The Mighty Dollar." Every seat was sold, and even standing room brought a premium. So great was the rush to witness this play—as this company is engaged to open the new Stephens Opera House in Fulton on the 28th inst. a few words in description may be in order in this connection. The play is a humorously satiracal picture illustrativa of lobby life and society at the National Capital. Mr. and Mrs. Florence appearing in their world renowned characters of the Honorable Bardwell Slote, and Mrs. General Gilflory. The Hon. Bardwell Stote, the hero of the piece has been accepted as a character drawn with a firm hand and many clever touches, and a gentleman who views his duties to his constituents and his country as entirely subordinate to the duty he owes to himself. The character is perfectly taken and gives entire satisfaction. Mrs. Gen. Gilflory as the vulgar woman of fashion, affords full scope to Mrs. Florence, not only as a dresser but as a comedianne. The character is one with which she has often come in contact both at home and abroad, and it is not wonderful that she made and still makes the representation of American shoddy a life picture. The support is first rate, the wardrobes magnificent and we predict this fine play in this new and beautiful house, will in the language of the piece "carry the House by a large majority."

EMMA THURSBY.

Saturday afternoon a large and fashionable audience assembled at the Brooklyn academy of music to listen to Miss Emma Thursby who had created so great a furore in Europe by her wonderful voice. She was most warmly greeted at her former home, and proved herself the queen of song. Her voice is like a birds and under the most perfect control. She was assisted by the great Norwegian Pianist, Mr. Edmund Neupert, and the charming harpist Miss Maud Morgan. Miss Emily Vincent, the favorite contralto at the May Musical Festival also sang two numbers. The New York Philharmonic Club was present charming all with their brilliant playing. In the sacred melody, "The Light from Heaven," Miss Thursby brought forth the heartiest applause and responded to a prolonged encore with the beautiful echo song. The concert lasted more than two full hours.

MRS. LANGTRY.

At Wallack's Saturday evening appeared in Shakespeare's Comedy, "As you like it," taking the part of Rosalind. Great curiosity is manifested to see this somewhat noted lady, the "Jersey Lily" the name given her. To commence with she is not a great actress and it would seem can never become one, but she is a beautiful woman and no one seems to know it better than herself. The press of this city are very lenient toward this English actress. She has good perseverance and will power, has a fine looking head, clear, resolute, eager gray eyes, a square firm set jaw which shows she can never be daunted by any obstacle however formidable, but in this character to our own liking she is a failure, as much so as we thought Anna Dickinson in her first appearance in Syracuse. She lacks much of professional experience and it is yet to be proven if she ever becomes a star in the line she has chosen.

This evening the justly renowned Patti, will appear at the Academy of Music in the opera "La Travita," taking the part of Violetta, one of her best parts—a great treat it will prove.

The excursion over the Midland will arrive in this city to-morrow night and be one of the largest of the season. The "Cosmopolitan hotel" corner Chamber St. and west Broadway have made special arrangements to accommodate excursionists. This is a convenient and well kept house, N. & S. J. Huggins proprietors. ARGUS.

C. R. Sackett has floor oil cloth in all colors and widths.

Butter From Holstein Cows.

Smith & Powell of Syracuse, importers and breeders of blooded stock, report in the Albany Cultivator of this week some interesting results in butter making from the Holstein breed of cattle.

The animals were three years old and the test was made on seven at a time, the average amount of butter for a week, being twelve pounds from each animal, the butter being weighed after thorough working and before being salted. The test was made on winter feed and with no special effort in the butter direction. The average yield of milk from these three year old Holsteins, for the period of six months was a little over 7500 pounds, the largest yield being 8700 pounds and 7 ounces and the smallest a little over 6600 pounds.

STRAW WANTED!

For which will pay Five Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Six dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.

2tm1 WM. WAUGH & BRO.

☞ Call and see the genuine Singer Sewing machines at Bristol's. Sold at popular prices. 20tf

[illegible]

NEW SILKS

We have received to-day from New York from a large Silk Sale, the cheapest line of BLACK SILKS we have ever shown. Any one wishing a new silk dress should call immediately at

F. E. BACONS.

More New Cloaks, Dolmans and Jacketsreceived to-day. Another handsome variety ot Ladies' Neckwear.

THROCKMORTON'S DEATH.

He Takes an Overdose of Morphine in a Jersey City Saloon.

Barbarie W. Throckmorton, a prominent man socially and politically in the State of New Jersey, entered George Cox's saloon at the corner of York and Washington streets, Jersey city, yesterday afternoon. He was apparently sober at the time, but very nervous. He was found to be suffering from the excessive use of liquor. After greeting the bartender pleasantly, he called Mr. Cox's son, and handing him a prescription, directed him to have it filled at Dr. Laird's drug store, on the opposite side of Washington street. The boy returned presently with a small vial. Mr. Throckmorton hastily drew the cork, and, placing the bottle to his lips drank the greater part of its contents. He then walked into a rear room and said he would take a sleep. Cox endeavored to persuade him to go home, and offered to send for a carriage, but Throckmorton answered that it would not be necessary as he was not sick. He was then left alone for two or three hours, during which he slept heavily but uneasily. His loud, thick breathing was distinctly heard in the saloon. At 7 o'clock a man named Folger went into the room, and, throwing himself into a chair adjoining the one on which Mr. Throckmorton was seated, also went to sleep.

He awoke after a few minutes' slumber and noticed that no sound breathing came from Mr. Throckmorton.

"That man in the back room," he said to Mr. Cox, after returning to the saloon, "seems to be quiet enough now to be a dead man."

Cox went into the room and found Throckmorton still in his chair, with his head thrown back. On touching him the saloon keeper discovered he was dead.

Coroner Hughes found the vial, which had been obtained from Laird's drug store, almost empty. On it was a label bearing the directions: "Two teaspoonfuls every two or three hours."

Dr. Laird said that the prescription which Throckmorton had sent him called for one grain of morphine in solution, to be taken in nine doses. Mr. Throckmorton, he added, must have swallowed eight of them at one time or eight-ninths of a grain. Such a quantity of the drug would be likely to prove fatal. The doctor added that Mr. Throckmorton had been in the habit of taking morphine to calm his nerves. It is believed by some that the taking of the overdose of the poison was entirely accidental.

Mr. Throckmorton was 38 years old, and had for many years been conspicuously identified with the Republican party in New Jersey. He was a lawyer and had an office at 335 Broadway in this city. His practice was principally in admiralty cases. He was a popular lecturer and orator. In the late campaign he stumped this state for the Republican ticket. In 1880 he was a candidate for Surrogate of Hudson county, N. J., but was defeated. He leaves a wife and two young children.

[N Y. Sun.

THE TRAVELING SALESMAN

Is an irresistible fellow brim full of stories, jokes, courage, self-assurance and grit. He is very taking withal. Burdock Blood Bitters are a very taking medicine; they take everywhere, and are sold everywhere.

NEIGHBORING NEWS

Onions are plenty in Wayne county at thirty-five cents per bushel.

Horace Smith a well-to-do farmer of Lysander suicided by hanging to a ladder last Thursday. Domestic unhappiness is the assigned cause. He leaves a wife and four children.

Henry McMaster, a fourteen-year-old Mexico boy, was dangerously injured Thursday by the bursting of a gun. A piece of the barrel penetrated his forehead, and but little hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Phœnix Register:—Wednesday afternoon H. B. Hammoud and O. K. Moore, of New York, E. W. Paige, Schenectady, A. A. Howlett, I. N. Ames and P. A. Agan, Syracuse, Willard Johnson, Fulton, and Max B. Richardson, Oswego, visited this village, and from their intimate connection wtth the Syracuse, Phœnix and Oswego railroad it was hoped that their presence foreshadowed active operations along the line. But the friends to that enterprise were doomed to disappointment, for it transpired that they were to ask for an extension of time in which to complete the work. The directors and commissioners granted the request the time one year.

Cured of Catarrh and Consumption by Dr. O. C. Stout.

SYRACUSE, July 26, 1882.

On the 9th of February last I began treatment with Dr. O. C. Stout, for a bronchial and lung affection, resulting from catarrh. I had cough, debility, sweats, and other symptoms of consumption, and my condition was alarming. I was completely cured, and have, for four months, been free from catarrh and all the above named symptoms. I earnestly recommend Dr. Stout to all sufferers from catarrh or lung disease.

W. H. FEARON, Oneida, N. Y.

Dr. Stout publishes no testimonials without permission. The original of the above may be seen at his office. His perfected treatment for Catarrh Bronchial and Lung affections, Will Cure.

Free consultation in person or by letter, at No. 23 W. Fayette St., Syracuse.

When a light haired man's locks begin to turn gray, he's getting on to 50; When they begin to turn black, he's [illegible]

THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

—Benjamin Buttler is sixty-four years of age.

—Mrs. Langtry's name is pronounced "Long tree."

—The Prohibition vote in the State this fall was about 30,000 against 4,500 in 1881.

—The N. Y. O. & W. R'way locomotives burn sixty-seven pounds of coal per mile.

—Hanlan, the oarsman, has taken up his residence in New York and will become an American citizen.

—Jack Jones, an old sailor was on his knees at Fredonia, Kentucky, attempting to drink out of a pail of water. He was seized with a fit and his head falling in the pail, he was drowned.

—A new invention in England promises to do away with the common metalic horseshoe. The new article is made of three thicknesses of green rawhide compressed in a steel mould. They only weigh about a quarter as much as the old-fashioned shoe, and are said to wear longer.

—There were 46,000 immigrants landed in this country in October against 68,000 in October last year. Twelve thousand came from Great Britain; 18,000 from Germany and 6,000 from Canada. There were 204,000 immigrants arrived during the four months ending October, against 240,000 during the same period last year.

—Thomas M. Waller, Democrat, last week elected governor of Connecticut, rose from the position of a poor New York newsboy. He is now a bright, capable lawyer, who has risen to his present position under most disadvantageous circumstances. His career has been short, but highly honoroble. The state of Connecticut has reason to be proud that she has, in his election, illustrated anew the bed-rock principle of the Democratic institutions—the right of the poorest to rise to the highest and most honorable seat in the people's gift.

—A meeting of the State Board of Health was held in Albany Saturday. The sanitary committee's report on drinking water shows that since the last quarterly meeting ten samples of drinking water were examined by a public analyst, most of which were found to be unwholesome. In regard to dangerous kerosene oils three kerosene accidents have been investigated. Two resulted in loss of life. All were caused by the oil which was found to be below the legal standard. Of fifteen purchases at Batavia none were up to the State test. Of six purchased at Syracuse only one was up to the standard. Of ten purchased at Rome all were found to be bad. Of 145 purchased at 125 stores in Brooklyn only five were up to the required standard. Twenty-two emitted combustible vapors at the ordinary temperature.

BE CAREFUL OF THE BABIES.

If your children are threatened with croup or any throat difficulty, apply a few drops of Ehomas' Eclectric Oil. It is the nicest medicine for the little ones we know of.

Jury Drawing.

The following persons to serve as trial jurors at the county court and court of sessions to be held in Oswego December 5, was drawn at the county clerk's office Saturday: Oswego city—Daniel Keeler, Nicholas Williams, Alvin Buel, John Griffin, James Noonan, Richard Walpole, Henry K. Eason, William Morgan, James McHenry, Peter Coleman, Isaac Raven, Joseph Dempsey, Charles Klucker, George Ebert, John Ould, Nelson Pelo, James Lynch, E. D. Stacy. Oswego town—Marshall Foster, Charles A. Fisk. Hannibal—Nathaniel Shattuck, Isaac Hawes, Albert Palmer. New Haven—Edwin M. Prosser, Rasselas Loomis. Palermo—Reuben Hamilton. Granby—George McClelland, Salmon Williams, John Bristol, John Summerville. Scriba—Frank Hirt, Elisha Waterman. Volney—S. M. Holden. Schrœppel—George Moyer, John Perry.

☞ Diamond Dyes will color anything any color, and never fail. The easiest and best way to economize. 10 cents, at all druggists.

The Midland Tunnel.

A blast was fired one day last week in the heading of the new Weehawken tunnel of the New York, Ontario & Western railroad, that for the first time admitted daylight from portal to portal. The work was begun on March 1, 1881, and has been put through on time. Comparatively little remains to be done, and it is confidently expected that within a month a construction track can be laid through the tunnel. Not so soon, however, will it be practicable to run cars through. The work has been remarkably free from accident, and has been advanced with great rapidity. In six or eight weeks more it will be finished. The entire length of the tunnel is a a little less than 4,000 feet.

"AN AMBITIOUS INDIVIDUAL."

"Oh! I'm boiling over to do some good act" shouted a politician the other day, as his red nose protruded from a face ornamented with unhealthy blotches. "Well, sir," replied a friendly listener, "unless you want to be an animated sign for a drug store, and make the passers-by sick, I would advise you to use Swayne's Ointment and be cured of that skin disease." The ambitious man acted upon the advise, and is now a living exemplification of what this excellent remedy can accomplish. 24w4

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!

At Mrs. A. Clark's for the opening night at the Opera House. White Plush and all the latest tints for the new and Latest Styles in Plush Bonnets. Also Plumes, Birds of Paradise, Fancy Bonnets. All kinds and colors in [illegible] and Plush. Remember, in the [illegible] building, opposite the Lewis House, First Street. [illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days,
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

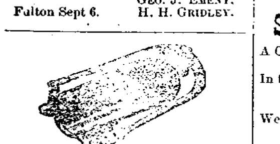
Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.

GEO. J. EMENY,
H. H. GRIDLEY.



Almost Human

The Norton Door Check and Spring.

NO SLAMMING OF DOORS!
NO BREAKING OF GLASS!
SILENT AND PROMPT.

WATERMAN,
Sole Agent.

Nov. 15tf

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.

18 G. E. SQUIER, Prop.

CLOSING OUT.

I will sell my stock of goods at wholesale prices for the next 30 days to close business. [illegible] dolls, boys' wagons, [illegible]

VERY DESIRABLE

To Know the Fact that

WATERMAN'S

—Stock Of—

Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place.

Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of tee same, at 34 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

D. A. WATERMAN.

LAUNDRY.

The Steam Laundry Agency continues to give Good Satisfaction with new customers every week. Give them a trial order. WATERMAN Agt.

JAMES COLE,

The old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages [illegible]

A Magnificent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,
14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

NEW GOODS

AT THE

BAZAAR

THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

LOST,

Strayed or Stolen

A small boy about the size of a man with an empty bag of meal on his shoulder, marked "R. T. S.," with the letters rubbed out.

Whoever will return the same to the North west corner of South Salina and Water streets and pay $5.00 will greatly oblige

Von Frankenburg & Co

OF

"THE FAMOUS"

who want immediately

451 BOYS

to fill suits made especially for the wearer and guaranteed to give satisfaction.

MORE BOY'S AND MENS' CLOTHES than in any two stores combined, and at prices that will please you, because they are extraordinary low

Central N. Y. Greatest Clothiers.

Central N. Y. Finest Clothiers.

"[illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Nov. 22d, 1882.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF FULTON.

FULTON 'BUS

The Fulton omnibus will leave the Lewis House for trains on the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the following time table:

	A. M.	A. M.	M.	P. M.	P. M.
For Syracuse	7:40	9:00	12:10	5:30
For Oswego	7:40		2:40	6:00	8:15

Tickets to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, for sale on the Omnibus.

A. M. Hanch, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2	7:15 a. m.
Norwich Express No. 6	6:28 p. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 42	8:35 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1	9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5	11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 46	5:33 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation	8:08 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	9:23 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express	12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express	5:58 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express	8:06 a. m.
Day Express	2:08 p. m.
Oswego Accommodation	6:34 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express	8:39 p. m.

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.

☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

E. E. Brando is in town.

One week from to-morrow will be Thanksgiving.

Go to the circulating library and look over the books.

Canals will be officially closed two weeks from to-morrow if not sooner closed by ice.

Seventy copies of THE TIMES were sold at Ney's post office News Room last week. Everybody reads THE TIMES.

James Carrol of Bennington, Vt., is with friends in Oswego Falls. Mr. Carroll has been sick for some time but is convalescing.

Dr. Frank E. Simons, son of Mr. J. F. Simons of this village, has been re-elected coroner at Canajoharie by a handsome majority.

The Northern Christian Advocate says Mrs. Anna Randall Diehl, a former Fultonian, is about to enter the field as a temperance lecturer.

Mr. F. E. Stone, for the past two years with C. S. Eggleston, can now be found at Schenck & Foster's coal yard near west end lower bridge.

LOST—A gold bracelet, Saturday evening, between Bacon's store and the residence of Hon. Geo. M. Case. Will finder please leave at TIMES office?

THE TIMES has placed in its press room a new two horse power engine. Our circulation has increased so rapidly of late that our old power was too slow.

"The "Experience" cook book compiled by Mrs. Butler and Miss Wolcott, is for sale at the clothing store of Bailey & Son. It is a valuable assistant to housekeepers and is meeting with a good sale. The price per copy is $1.00.

Barney Ingersoll who was injured in the opera house, is able to walk out. He wishes THE TIMES to express his thanks for a purse presented to him by his fellow workmen and to Mr. J. J. Stephens for many kind favors received from him.

Mrs. Bayard Monk, daughter of F. J. VanValkenburgh, left this morning to join her husband in St. Joseph, Mo., which city will be their future residence. Mr. Monk occupies an important position with a large commercial house in that city.

A horse belonging to James Sweet broke one of its legs in the stable Thursday night and was killed Friday. The horse was valued at about $100. This is the second horse he has lost inside of four months. Mr. Sweet is a sober, hardworking man, and his frequent drawbacks are a source of regret. If sympathy would make good his loss it would be readily filled.

A man pretending to be deaf and dumb applied at an Oneida street residence this morning for something to eat. He was refused, and evidently understood a conversation carried on by the ladies, for his malady miraculously disappeared and he became violently demonstrative and expressed his views in strong language of the heartlessness of people who would refuse a deaf and dumb man food. He was seen about 11 a. m., making his way down the Midland and will probably visit Oswego. He is a fraud and should be gathered in at the first opportunity.

Dr. Lee was out with his patient, Mr. Keenan, this week giving him an airing. Although Mr. Keenan is somewhat emaciated after his long and serious illness he comes out intellectually as bright as a dollar. His rescue from what at one time seemed inevitable death by one of the most complicated and serious cases known to the surgeons of Fulton is a compliment to the Doctor's keen skill. The scales upon which his life was balancep so many days were so evenly centered that it would have taken but a pinch to have tossed them against him; but by the skillful treatment of his physician, and good nursing, he successfully passed the crisis. Mr. Keenan will be able to resume business in a few days.

CASH PAID FOR PRODUCE.

Butter, Beans, Dried Apples and produce generally wanted for cash. For fresh made Butter in Tubs will pay extra price. MILLER & WHITAKER.

24w4

☞ Don't wear dingy or faded things when the ten-cent Diamond Dye will make them good as new. They are perfect.

Musical Goods.

Mr. Bristol is constantly receiving pianos from Weber, Fisher, Pease and other manufacturers; organs from Estey, Mason & Hamlin, Sterling organ company and several other makes, which are constantly kept on hand, and will be sold at prices as low as any house in the State.

He does not claim to sell for less than cost, and every instrument has maker's [illegible]

Un[illegible] Burglaries.

[illegible] have been committed in Fulton during the past two weeks and the manner in which entrances have been effected and the class of goods stolen indicate that it is the work of novices and presumably boys.

Last Thursday evening about 8 o'clock Mr. H. J. Baker, clerk in Woodin's hardware store, heard a noise up stairs in the stock room and by the gurwing, grating sound thought it was rats. He procured a club and tiptoed up stairs. As he was passing a window he saw a man jump from the roof of Nichols' jewelry store, which comes nearly up to the windows of the store room, and make his way through the alley way by McCully's on Oneida street and disappear. An investigation proved that the grating noise was caused by some one removing the putty from a pane of glass. This was immediately repaired. The burglar was not to be foiled, it seems, as the store was entered Sunday night by removing panes of glass from rear windows and the money drawer relieved of about $5.00 in small change and three revolvers taken from the show case.

Perine & Wright's mill was broken into Saturday night, glass removed the same as in Woodin's, and thirteen cents and a bunch of lead pencils stolen. The money drawer was forced open. Blood was found on the handle of the safe, which was locked, and on papers in drawers which were rifled.

Pooler & Wilson's coal office was entered a few nights ago, by cutting out a pane of glass, but nothing of value was removed.

Other thefts are reported from various parts of the village. People by looking closely to their doors and windows may possibly save themselves annoyance.

Teachers' Institute.

The next session of the Oswego county teachers' institute, will be held at the seminary chapel, Fulton, beginning Nov. 27, 1882. The institute will be conducted by Prof. F. P. Lantry. Prof. Northam will be substituted in place of Prof. Post who will be unable to attend.

C. R. PARKHURST, Com.

M. V. Connell has an attractive sign over the door of his shoe store. Read it.

The M. E. Literary Society meets at the residence of Dr. Emens this evening

FOUND—At the M. E. church, a purse containg small sum of money. Enquire of SEXTON.

D. C. Draper and wife took passage on the Midland excursion to New York Tuesday.

The present term of Fulton Union School will close Wednesday November 29. The next term will begin Monday, December 4th.

Persons who are willing to take teachers to board during the institute next week will please hand their names to Prof. Boothby. State the number and whether ladies or gentlemen.

The Lyceum Club will meet in the S. of T. rooms this winter. Meetings will be held Monday evenings. Next Monday evening the leading disputants will be Dr. I. C. Curtis and Fred Bennett.

In returning from the Oswego train last evening the bus ran against the iron bent of the canal bridge by Ross foundry breaking the pole and throwing Thomas Poole, who was riding with the driver, to the driveway. He struck upon his left arm dislocating his wrist.

Following is the program of services, this week, at the Universalist church in Phœnix: Tuesday evening—Sermon by Rev O A Rounds of Utica. Subject—What is Universalism? Wednesday evening—Sermon by Rev W C Selleck of Clifton Springs, Subject—Who are Universalists? Thursday evening—Sermon by Rev W M Tabor of Auburn. Subject—The Universalist's Hell, Friday evening—Sermon by Rev A U Hutchins, Subject—The extent and means of Salvation. Saturday evening—Sermon by Rev R Fisk D D, of Syracuse. Subject—The Universalist Heaven.

Rev Dr. Fisk of Syracuse will preach at Phœnix and Pennellville Sunday and Rev A U Hutchins will preach at Syracuse and Cicero.

It isn't often a rainbow is seen out of its accustomed place in the heavens but Saturday night Officer Jones found one on the sidewalk in front of the Western Union telegraph office. It was John Rainbow of South Granby, and he was just uncomfortably drunk. John was incarcerated and Monday plead guilty, was fined $5.00 and sentence suspended during good behavior.

Last summer a scow named the "Tip Top" owned by Messrs. O. J. Jennings and L. T. Richardson sank in Oswego harbor while being towed by the tug Steve H. Lyons. Messers Jennings & Richardson brought suit against the owners of the tug Messrs, Scott, Navagh & Co, for damages, claiming the captain of the tug towed the scow out in a heavy sea against their wishes and the boat wrecked and a man named Herrick from Bundy's Crossing drowned. The suit was tried before Justice John E. Parker of Granby who awarded the plaintiffs $150.

Mrs. Martin Herrick of Bundys Crossing has brought suit against Messrs L. T. Richardson and O. J. Jennings for $5,000 damages. Her husband was drowned last summer in Oswego harbor by the sinking of the scow Tip Top upon which Herrick was employed by the defendants.

CHEAP FLOUR!

—The Celebrated—

"White Rock"

$6.00 and $6.25 per Bbl. at

GENESEE MILLS.

27w2 W. S. NELSON & CO.

FOR SALE.

Kiln dried kindling wood in one and two dollar loads. White and black ash wood fifteen inches long, fitted for stove, $1.50 and $2.50 per load. Delivered to any portion of Fulton or Oswego Falls. Enquire at pail and tub factory of 26tf D. E. MASON.

☞ Have you seen the immense stock they have at the bazaar. New things opened every day of [illegible] that make folks smile when they think how they can have money by buying at the Bazaar.

[illegible] Pairs Ladies a Calf Polish - 90cts.

150 " Misses " " " 60ct.

A. E. NETTLETON.

Mr. J. G. Benedict is in Detroit, Mich.

☞ If you want a good watch, try Hamilton the Jeweler, opposite Lewis House.

Joseph Nichols of Syracuse, was in town two or three days last week a guest of Mr. P. Cullen.

There will be an examination of teachers held on Saturday of institute week at No 2 school house.

Mrs. Clayton A. Kenyon of Rochester, nee Race, is visiting friends in town. She will return to Rochester Saturday.

THE TIMES has a circulation of fifteen hundred copies and new names are added to its list each week. If you want the news of course you borrow a TIMES if you're not a subscriber.

A "tax payer" asks: If it costs $200,00 for the Board of Supervisors to meet and count the votes and elect a clerk and chairman, how much will it cost to transact the regular business of the coming session?"

A thanksgiving party will be given at Hannan's hotel, Palermo Centre, Thursday, November 30. In the afternoon the hotel will be open to guests and music will be in attendance for those who wish to dance. Supper will be served at 4 p. m. In the evening there will be the usual Thanksgiving ball. Parker's orchestra furnishes music.

Newell Stay 19 years of age, was arrested by officer Jones on complaint of his sister, Miss Loma Stay for vagrancy, charging that he had no visible means of support; lives without employment; does not attend school and is growing up in ignorance and vice. Newell was arraigned and plead not guilty and the charge was subsequently withdrawn.

On the second page of to-day's TIMES will be found an account of the sudden death in Jersey City of B. W. Throckmorton, who made a political speech in in Fulton a few days previous to the late election. He was heralded here as as an "Hon." but his history as taken from the New York Sun evidences that he was not entitled to that distinction. Those who heard him lecture in Fulton will read the account of his sad ending with surprise.

The Board of Supervisors met, organized and have adjourned until Monday, December 4. There was considerable strife for the chairmanship between Supervisor Sage of Williamstown and Sampson of Mexico. It took more than one session to settle the matter and upon the thirty-second ballott Supervisor Sampson was elected. Mr. Henry E. Nichols of this village, was the unanimous choice of the board for clerk. No more competent person could have been selected. His experience and clerical ability will aid greatly in the dispatch of business.

It is interesting to note how speedily a really meritorious article walks into public favor and use. We are prompted to these remarks by observing the workings of the Norton Door-Check and Spring introduced and applied by Mr. Waterman. The really progressive, economical man adopts it on sight, thus accomplishing two objects at once, saving heat, by a prompt closing of the door and safety to door by its not slamming. The man that invented them is worthy of a pension, but perhaps that is unnecessary as he has a monument to his memory wherever one is applied.

Wednesday evening Louis Bush started out Oneida street with a single horse and buggy to his home in Palermo. It was very dark. As he was passing the residence of Mr. H. S. Gardner he was met by a double team driven by Hobart Proud, who has horses for sale at Summerville's livery stable. They were both on the north side of the road and a collision occurred, the pole of the wagon of the double team entering the breast of Bush's horse killing the horse and damaging the wagon to the amount of about $15.00. Bush loses his horse valued at $25.00 and Proud pays Summerville for damage to wagon.

Metropolitan Comedy Company.

To-night the great comedy entitled "Match for a King," in costumes of the time of Charles II.

To-morrow night the wonderful dramatic success "Lost in London" to be preceded by the laughable farce "A Happy Pair"; Friday night "Russian Serfs"; this is the great comedy that has had such a phenomenal run at the Union Square Theatre, New York. Don't fail to see this play. Saturday night the engagement will be closed with Sarah Bernhardt's version of "Camille."

Admission 25 cents, reserved seats, 35 cents.

The Lecture Course.

The tickets for the lecture course have been issued and are now on sale at Nichols'. The course will open at the Opera House Tuesday, Dec. 12, with a lecture by Lieut. Danenhower of the Jeanette Arctic Expedition. Subject—Arctic and Liberian Experiences. A large number of tickets are already sold and the capacity of the Opera House bids fair to be taxed to the utmost.

S S S S.

The above society will hold the next social party in the Armory Friday evening of this week.

Shooting Match.

There will be a turkey and chicken shoot at Volney Centre next Wednesday, November 29, under the management of D. Wallace Gardner. All crack shots earnestly invited to come.

27 D. WALLACE GARDNER.

CUTTERS! CUTTERS!

[illegible]

S. O. T. Festival.

The Sons of Temperance will hold a festival and social in their rooms Friday evening of this week. All members are requested to be present and bring their friends.

Sudden Death.

Mr. William Miller died at his residence in the Dutton neighborhood, Granby, this morning, of inflammation of the bowels, he was sick less than four hours. He was 66 years of age. He was a brother of Mr. C. J. Miller.

Granby S. S. Union.

The annual meeting of the Granby S. S. Union will be held at Dexterville, on Sunday Dec. 3d, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the election of officers to serve the ensuing year. Reports from all the Sunday schools in town will be called for. Good speakers will be present. Come one, come all and assist.

D. M. COX, Pres't. S. D. DUTTON, Sec'y.

Regents' Examination.

At the Regent's examination held in Fulton Union School last week pupils were examined in eleven different advanced academic studies; thirty-nine pupils were examined; seventy two examination papers presented and sixty accepted and will be forwarded this week. This is the best result in academic studies ever reached in No. 2.

Fair and Entertainment.

A fair will be held in Nichols hall commencing Christmas night and continuing until New Years' day. It will be held under the auspices of the church of the Immaculate Conception and extensive preparations are so early being made. The fairs held by this society have always been largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed. They are conducted in a most creditable manner and are deserving of the large patronage extended to them.

G. A. R.

The next meeting of the G. A. R. will be held at their rooms over Nichols' store next Tuesday evening, November 28. Let every member attend, as business of importance is to be transacted. Post Schenck has recived notice to forward to New York the name of a comrade for a member of a general committee which is to be composed of one member from each post in the state. The committee will have charge of the general interests of the grand army throughout this state.

"The Mighty Dollar."

This popular and sprightly play will be produced at the opening of Stephens' Opera House next Tuesday evening. It is a richly humorous piece and abounds in the drollest pleasantries and affords solid amusement. Mr. Stephens has been to great expense in procuring the Florences for the opening night and everybody who is interested in the growth and development of our village should be liberal in their patronage to this house as an endorsement of his nerve and progressive spirit. The Philharmonic orchestra of Syracuse, numbering twenty-two musicians, has been engaged, and excellent music will be rendered. There are several splendid sittings remaining unsold. A diagram of the house may be seen at the law office of Wm C. Stephens where tickets may be purchased.

Births, Marriages and Deaths.

George Johnston was wreathed in smiles Friday. A girl.

A little nine pound son arrived in the household of Mr. Fred McCulloch Saturday.

Married, at the parsonage Bristol Hill, Nov. 15, by Rev. Wm. R. Stone, Mr. Horace E. Ball of Volney, and Miss Louise H. Pluff of Palermo.

James A. Ward and Miss Laura Elder of North Sterling, Cayuga Co., were married Sunday evening, Nov. 19, by Rev. A. Smith at the F. M. parsonage.

Mr. Fred Woodcock and Miss Julia A. Potter were married last Wednesday evening by Rev. J. P. Simmons at the residence of the officiating clergyman.

Levi G. Tyrrell of Oswego Falls and Miss Flora E. Cole of Howardville, were married Thursday evening Nov. 20, by Rev. A. Smith of the Free Methodist church.

Loren W. Oliver and Miss Etta J. Youngs were united in marriage Thursday, November 16, 1882, at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. A. Smith.

Miss Abigal Withey, sister of Moses Withey, died last evening at 11:30 o'clock of dropsical consumption, aged 66 years. She was an old resident of Fulton. Funeral Friday at 10 o'clock at house. Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. church will officiate.

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. Cooley Tucker presents compliments to all lovers of good tea, requesting their company on all days of the week. Tea and coffee will be served at wholesale prices at all hours. Remember the place. J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store No 18 First St. one door south of C. P. Tucker's grocery. 24

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Co's. 26

Winter storm houses are clustering around doorways.

Buy the Weber piano at Bristol's music store. 20

"The Mighty Dollar" at the Stephens Opera House next Tuesday evening.

Litta will entertain the people in this vicinity at Stephens' Opera house Dec 11.

Jim Printy has been sentenced to three months in the O. P. for public intoxication.

Union Thanksgiving Services will be held in the Baptist church Thursday November 30, at 11 a. m. Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. church will deliver the sermon.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sands N. Kenyon will be celebrated this afternoon and evening at their residence corner Third and Rochester streets.

Mrs. Montague is prepared to furnish balls, parties, festivals and suppers with the choicest of oysters and at the most reasonable prices. Oysters served in every style at her place of business on Second street.

Monday evening's Oswego Times says: "Constable Healey tied up the boat Ira Betts, belonging to Edward Rafferty of of Fulton on an execution in favor of S. Donohue at the high dam. The captain made strenuous efforts to elude the officers but was not successful."

Miss Loma Stay led the Sunday afternoon temperance meeting. Next Sunday Mrs. S. S. Reynolds will conduct the meeting. These meetings are increasing in numbers and interest. The hour of meeting has been changed to 3:30 p. m.

The grocery of Mr. H. Gwyn has been closed for a day or two, owing to an attachment issued out of the Supreme Court in favor of Ostrander, Loomis & Co., Syracuse. Matters have been satisfactorily adjusted and the store opened and business resumed with Mr. Chas. Sabin as clerk.

Nugent & Gleason's, "The Metropolitans" have been greeted with first class houses. The crowds attending each night attest the popularity and work of the troupe. Those who have not been fortunate enough to witness the superb company should avail themselves of the privilege offered the remainder of the week.

Four years ago F. J. VanValkenburgh lost a gold ring valued at $28.00. He removed it to wash his hands and it was stolen. About a year ago George Root purchased a box of gun wads of Mr. D. A. Waterman and in emptying the box a few days ago found a ring. Mr. VanValkenburgh says it is his ring and has it in his possession. How did the ring get into the wad box?

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1882.

Mrs M E Adams, Miss Kittie Butler, Charles Calkins, John Kinslow, Mrs L Merriam, Miss Maud Nims, Dr. Henry D. C. Phelps, Arminda Peters, Theodore Wright.

DROPS AND POSTALS.

Mrs T Burdick, Wm Howell.

HELD FOR POSTAGE

Miss Jennie E. Merchant,
Central Square, N. Y.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

☞ Conley's Billiard and Refreshment saloon opposite the Midland depot has been thoroughly refitted. Step in and see him. 26

FISH! FISH! FISH!

Blue Fish,
Cod,
Haddock,
Mackerel,
Smelts,
Butter Fish,
Lobsters,
White Fish,
Salmon Trout,
Bull Heads,
at
MRS. MONTAGUE'S.

CONCENTRATED FOOD

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, POULTRY

&c.

Manufactured by

BOSTON CONCENTRATED FOOD Co.

For Sale by

27m3 W. S. NELSON & CO.

REDUCTION.

THE BEEHIVE OWING TO THE CONTINUAL WARM WEATHER WE HAVE MADE SWEEPING REDUCTIONS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS. WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF SEASONABLE GOODS THAT MUST BE SOLD.

WINTER UNDERWEAR FOR LADIES GENTS AND CHILDREN AT WARM WEATHER PRICES.

WE ARE OFFERING SILK PLUSHES
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES
WE HAVE A MAGNIFICENT STOCK
OF BLACK AND BROCADED SILKS
AND SATINS WHICH WE ARE
SELLING FAST AT THE NEW LOW
PRICES. 200 LADIES AND
CHILDREN'S TAILOR MADE CLOAKS
DOLMANS, AND ULSTERS AT
PRICES FAR BELOW THE REAL
VALUE. 150 BED BLANKETS FROM
$1.75 UP. TEN THOUSAND YARDS
OF DRESS GOODS AT PRICES
NEVER BEFORE KNOWN. IF YOU
WANT A DRESS BE SURE AND
LOOK AT OUR MAGNIFICENT
STOCK AND SPECIAL BARGAINS.
PAISLEY, BEAVER AND DOUBLE
SHAWLS IN LARGE VARIETY.
WE HAVE THE GOODS AND ARE BOUND TO SELL.

LETTER FROM IDAHO.

Life in a Frontier City—Valuable Mining and Grazing Lands—Disposing of a Robber.

LITTLE WOOD RIVER, IDAHO,
Nov. 12, 1882.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE FULTON TIMES:

After having been knocking around among the rugged wilds of the Gem of the Mountains for many months, we are once more located for a short time near the rough and tumultuous little town of Naples, better known as Junction City, in the Wood River Valley, and will for a few moments renew our acquaintance with THE TIMES readers, broken off months ago.

This is the terminus of the Oregon Short Line which is being pushed through from Granger, Wyoming, to the Pacific coast by the company in charge with all the men and material at their command. Four months ago not a sage brush had been cleared away from where long rows of frame tents and stores, saloons, dance halls, gambling dens and forwarding houses may now be seen. Sunday is the great gala day here; every other man you meet upon the street has skin enough off his face if it were leather, to patch a boot. One who has never lived in a town of this character can hardly realize or bring himself to believe the amount of drunkenness, debauchery and crime that is seen to thrive and flourish wherever King Alcohol is given free and unrestricted sway; it might be imagined but as the novelists say it certainly could not be described. Until the track extends beyond a border town a period of utter lawlessness is inaugurated. Life and property receive but little consideration from these dark, sensual, villainous looking roughs, gamblers and bunko men who infest every new mountain railroad town, and have not much regard for their own lives and still less for those of others. Robberies are of frequent occurrence. The stage has been stopped and the passengers relieved of quite large amounts several times within the past few weeks, and scarcely a day passes that a crime of some kind is not reported. The miners with a quick sense of justice characteristic of them have organized a society of vigilantes, and commenced dealing out justice in a manner that is very distasteful to rogues of every stamp.

Only a few days ago one of the principals of a robbery was caught, identified, tried, and convicted; a vote was taken and all but two supported the judgement of the jury. Ten minutes was given for prayer and the poor devil was whirled into the unknown hereafter without further ceremony. We went up the next morning out of curiosity and found the body swinging in the air exactly as it had been left the evening before. This may seem like rather severe punishment which indeed it is, but it seems to be effective nevertheless.

Fifty miles to the north of here is the famous Wood River mining country. Probably no mining district in the entire west has been written up and boomed so persistently for the last year as has the one mentioned above. Bellevue, Hailey, Sawyer City, Bullion, Vienna and Sawtooth are some of the principal camps. There are mines in all of the above and many fine prospects, but the district is as yet but slightly developed and little can be said with accuracy concerning it. Upon one point, however, all are agreed, the fall of snow is enormous, five feet of the beautiful coming in the month of September while they were unable to get into the Sawtooth range before June.

By all odds the finest grazing lands that I have ever seen in the west are in Idaho, and it has been a source of constant wonder to me that they have not long since attracted the attention of stockmen of Colorado and Wyoming. This is, no doubt, to a great extent owing to its being so remote from an available market. Rich and abundant pasturage exists everywhere; and I know of no branch of industry that so strongly invites the investment of capital or that would be equally remunerative as stock growing. The business does not appear to be overdone and not to exceed one-third or at the very most one-half of the pastoral lands or this territory are utilized. Capital wisely and judiciously invested could hardly fail to treble itself in six or eight years. I have known many cattle men in Colorado and elsewhere and the business is invariably accompanied with competence and wealth.

Six miles to the south of the present site of Naples is the scene of a hard fought battle between a company of U. S. soldiers and a band of Bannock Indians a number of years ago. The old fort is crumbled and gone to decay. Arrow heads, pieces of old guns and other relics may still be picked up. The outline of a score of graves may be distinctly traced. This being the burial place of Union soldiers will long cause the spot to be visited with mingled feelings of pride and sorrow by Americans. Pride for the valor which has always characterized American soldiers; and sorrow for the mistaken Indian policy of the American goverement that has sacrificed many of the best and noblest of her sons.

J. T. S.

A VOICE FROM THE PRESS.

I take this opportunity to the efficacy of your Hop Bitters. Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and composed of bad whiskey, we were agreeably surprised at their mild taste, just like a cup of tea. A Mrs. Cresswell and a Mrs. Connor, friends, have likewise tried, and pronounced them the best medicine they have ever taken for building up strength and toning the system. I was troubled with costiveness, headache and want of appetite. My ailments are now all gone. I have a yearly contract with a doctor to look after the health of my family, but I need him not now.

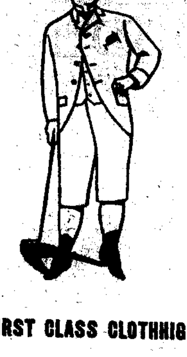
July 25, '78. S. GILLILAND,
27w2 Pittsburg, Pa.

NEW MUSIC.

Bristol has just received a new lot of Oliver Ditson's popular music. Also a full line of New Books suitable for Holiday presents. 24

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned has received from the [illegible] of School District No. 2, Village of Fulton, town of Volney [illegible]



FIRST CLASS CLOTHNIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRI E ASKED.

1842. 1882.

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS,

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29 and 31 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE

OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE.

A MAMMOUTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That onr garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE,

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

Crockery, China,

Glass and Silverware.

—:o:—

D. SKADEN,

First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

Has returned from New York and is daily receiving a large and fine assortment of

CROCKERY,

Ever shown in Fulton or Oswego County.

We will not be undersold in

Bracket, Hanging, Stand, Lamps and Chandeliers.

Next Door to Lewis House. D. C. SKADEN, FIRST STREET, FULTON, N. Y.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

WARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. [illegible]

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be paid at the mill of

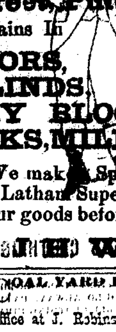
GILBERT BROS.

Fulton, Oct. 18.

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
[illegible]

CALL AT
J. H. WOODIN'S,
No. 7 First Street, Fulton.



For Bargains In

HARDWARE, DOORS, WINDOWS, BLINDS, ROPE, PULLEY BLOCKS, HORSE FORKS, MILK CANS,

Tinware of all descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent.

Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

J. H. WOODIN.

[illegible] Hop Bitters [illegible]

No disease c[illegible] possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operation. [illegible] Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating. [illegible] It may save your life. It has saved hundreds. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. [illegible] Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALID'S FRIEND and HOPE," and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N. Y. and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA
LAKE ICE!
1882.

inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to 500 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.

Ice delivered in good order.

E. BREADS.

MUNN & Co. PATENTS NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

HAY-FEVER

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new show cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.

LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

DR E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, convulsions, Nervous headache, Mental depression, Spermatorrhœa, impotency, loss of memory, involuntary emissions, premature old age, caused by over exertion, self abuse, or over indulgence, which leads to misery decay and death.

One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order received by us for six boxes accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not affect a cure. Guarantees issued only when the treatment is ordered direct from us. Address JOHN C. WEST & CO sole proprietors, 181 & 183 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. 22y1

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

[illegible] ill You

COAL YARD REMOVED.

[illegible]

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

AT

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to

Very Resp'y Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.

—{o}—

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 cts per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs. 15 " "
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ " "
Private families 10 pounds per day, $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private families' season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.

ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.

FRED SPAFFORD.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

To THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West." Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri, Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers, Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 346 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms,free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest. United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

I CURE FITS!

[illegible]

THE BEST Family Magazine Two Dollars.

DEMOREST'S Illustrated MONTHLY.

Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters. Send Twenty Cents for a Specimen Copy to W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 17 East Fourteenth Street, New York.

The New Volume (19) commences with November. Send FIFTY CENTS for three months; [illegible]

[illegible] nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, then crack open, bleed, and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY.
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by druggists. Price $1, or six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. individual butters, 12c per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates, 50 " "
Tea cups and saucers, 24 " sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete 61 each
Hand lamps, brass or glass, 14 "

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st,

I am your obedient servant.

JAMES MCCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier

And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

DR THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs, BUFFALO, N.Y., U.S.A.

THE FULTON TIMES.

Wednesday, Nov. 22,

The Death of the Flowers.

WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year,
Of wailing winds, and naked woods, and meadows brown and sere.
Heaped in the hollows of the grove, the autumn leaves lie dead;
They rustle to the eddying gust, and to the rabbit's tread.
The robin and the wren are flown, and from the shrubs the jay,
And from the wood-top calls the crow through all the gloomy day.

Where are the flowers, the fair young flowers, that lately sprang and stood
In brighter light, and softer airs a beauteous sisterhood?
Alas! they all are in their graves, the gentle race of flowers
Are lying in their lowly beds, with the fair and good of ours.
The rain is falling where they lie; but the cold November rain
Calls not from the gloomy earth the lovely ones again.

The wind-flower and the violet, they perished long ago,
And the brier-rose and the orchis died amid the summer glow;
But on the hill the golden-rod, and the aster in the wood,
And the yellow sun-flower by the brook in autumn beauty stood,
Till fell the frost from the clear cold heaven, as falls the plague on men,
And the brightness of their smile was gone, from upland, glade, and glen.

And now, when comes the calm mild day, as still such days will come,
To call the squirrel and the bee from out their winter home;
When the sound of dropping nuts is heard, though all the trees are still,
And twinkle in the smoky light the waters of the rill,
The south wind searches for the flowers whose fragrance late he bore,
And sighs to find them in the wood and by the stream no more.

And then I think of one who in her youthful beauty died,
The fair meek blossom that grew up and faded by my side.
In the cold moist earth we laid her, when the forest cast the leaf,
And we wept that one so lovely should have a life so brief;
Yet not unmeet it was that one like that young friend of ours,
So gentle and so beautiful, should perish with the flowers.

The Salem (Mass.) Register mentions Mr. J. S. LeFavour, artist, surprisingly benefitted by St. Jacobs Oil. Rheumatism twenty years.

No Prohibition in Iowa.

Iowa has no prohibition law after all. Judge Hayes, of the District Court, has decided that the amendment which the people of the State adopted by an overwhelming majority of about 30,000 in June last was not legally incorporated upon the constitution, and is, therefore, invalid. His decision is based upon the grounds that the act itself and the votes by which it was passed were not spread upon the journals of the Legislature in the manner required by law and that the same act did not pass both houses of the Legislature in the manner required by law and that the same act did not pass both houses of the Legislature. The act which passed the Senate was very sweeping in its terms. It prohibited not only the sale and manufacture of liquor as a beverage, but also its use for any and all purposes, even sacramental, medicinal or any other. This was total prohibition. The act which passed the House, and which was voted on by the people, was confined merely to the prohibition of the sale and manufacture of liquor as a beverage.

AN ELMIRA, (N. Y.,) LADY,

Mrs. H. L. Clark, 304 E. Clinton street, declares: Burdock Blood Bitters are a medicine I admire. Best remedy for dyspepsia in the world. Keep house supplied with it.

Dear Old Mother.

Honor the dear old mother. Time has scattered the snowflakes on her brow, pillowed deep furrows on her cheeks, but is she not sweet and beautiful now? The lips are thin and sunken but those are the lips that have kissed many a hot tear from childish cheeks and they are the sweetest lips in all the world. The eye is dim, yet it ever glows with the soft radiance of a holy love, which can never fade. Ah, yes, she is a dear old mother.

The sands of life are nearly run out, but feeble as she is, she will go farther, reach down lower for you than all others upon earth. You cannot walk into a midnight where she cannot see you; you cannot enter a prison whose bars will keep her out; you cannot mount a scaffold that is too high for her to reach, that she may kiss and bless you in evidence of her deathless love. When the world shall despise and forsake you, when it leaves you by the wayside to die unnoticed, the dear old mother will gather you in her feeble arms and carry you home and tell you all your virtues until you almost forgot your soul is disfigured by vice. Love her tenderly, and cheer her declining years with holy devotion.

[Chicago Eye.

*Dr. S. B. Brittan says: "As a rule physicians do not, by their professional methods build up the female constitution, while they seldom cure the diseases to which it is alwaws liable in our variable climate and under our imperfect civilization. Special remedies are often required to restore organic harmony and strengthen the enfeebled powers of womanhood; and for most of these we are indebted to persons outside of the medical profession. Among the very best of these remedies I assign a prominent place to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Some one having a cow for sale advertises her as follows: "She is a picture worth focusing by any photographer. Her coat is the sleekest; her temper the meekest; her form is the neatest; her udder the greatest; her eyes are the brightest; her milk is the whitest; her horns are the shortest, and if wanted more test to prove she is a beauty, a darling, a pet, just buy her and you will have joy of your bargain."

THE SECRET OUT AT LAST.

It has long been a source of wonder, as to why Courtney failed to meet Hanlan in a sculling contest. The general explanatory argument was, that he feared the little Canadian. This opinion, however, is exploded by the authentic announcement, that on the days fixed for the race, Courtney was unable to sit in his shell, [illegible]

What Advertisements Are.

[illegible] are not the least valuable portion of a newspaper. Advertisements are news. They tell the reader what they want to know—where goods can be bought; what they are sold for, and a thousand other things they want to know. It is an error to suppose that only the editors supply news worth reading. The skillful advertiser furnishes a good share of it, and if there are any readers who fail to look over the advertising columns of their paper, they miss a great deal of interesting information that might prove valuable to them.

WORKED WONDERS.

"My daughter was very bad off on account of a cold and pain in her lungs. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured her in twenty-four hours. One of the boys was cured of sore throat. This medicine has worked wonders in our family." Alvah Pinkney, Lake Mahopac, N. Y.

To Be Handed to Your Barber.

"I want a close shave. I am in a hurry. Do not put any oil or grease upon my hair. I never use bay rum or cosmetics. Please comb my hair up and back. I do not wish my hair trimmed or cut. I do not want any hair tonic or skin medicine. I do not want any shampoo or a bath. I have not heard the latest news from Egypt, nor do I want to. I care nothing for politics or crime or society. I do not care for market or stock reports. I am not a stranger in the city, and I am not going to the ball this evening. I am a professor in a deaf and dumb institute, and I am glad of it. Go ahead and shave me."

The purity and elegant perfume of Parker's Hair Balsam explain the popularity of this reliable restorative. 27w4

A Singular Combination.

The curious change in political friendships and affiliations that may happen at any moment is illustrated by the fact—if it is a fact—stated by a Chicago correspondent of the New York Herald, that Mr. Blaine and Senator Logan have formed a Logan-Blaine or Blaine-Logan combination, the terms of which are that, in the presidential race of 1884, the one of the two whose strength proves the greater shall have the aid of the other in securing a nomination and election. If Blaine secures the nomination for President, Logan will accept the second place. If Logan wins, Blaine will be the head of the cabinet in his old place of Secretary of State. According to this correspondent, a great many stalwarts and friends of Grant, including Logan, have cut loose from President Arthur's interests, and are hand and glove with Blaine of Maine for the contest of 1884.

"Evil dispositions are early shown." Evil tendencies in our systems are to be watched and guarded against. If you find yourself getting bilious, head heavy, mouth foul, eyes yellow, kidneys disordered, symptoms of piles tormenting you, take at once a few doses of Kidney-Wort. It is nature's great assistant. Use it as an advance guard—don't wait to get down sick. Read advertisement.

A Girl's Work at Home.

Give the girls a chance. They need money and the discipline of earning it as much as the boys. There are fewer employments open to them; they have less chance for their lives. Help them to help themselves. If they have a natural taste or talent for any particular work, educate them for it and let them do it, even if it necessitates the hiring of a girl to take their place in the kitchen. If the daughter shows no special inclination toward any particular branch of industry, but to serve and save at home, pay them for their work. It amounts to the same thing in the end; you buy their clothes for them and they make their own purchases; in reality, their greatest gain is in independence, in self-reliance, in good judgment in purchasing, indecision of character. They are personally interested in spending their earnings wisely and economically, and making every dollar do its duty. It is not calculated to foster one's self respect to be obliged to ask of a father or mother money for every postage stamp, shoelace or box of hair pins.

2—BIG THIEVES—2.

Dyspepsia and debility are two big thieves; they creep in and steal our health and comfort before we know it. Let us put a stop to their invasions with a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitter's, to be had at any drug store.

A Scandal That Drew.

The venerable clergyman arose slowly in the pulpit, and, glancing around on the thinly scattered congregation, said in an emphatic tone, in which there was more of sorrow than of anger; "My beloved brethren I am in hopes that there will be more present next Sabbath as I will have occasion to reveal a scandal which has long oppressed my heart. It concerns the members of this church very deeply, and no one who has a regard for eternal happiness should be absent." When the benediction was pronounced the handful of people slowly dispersed, but behold how much good seed a few can scatter! The next Sunday the sacred edifice was packed. There was, indeed, hardly breathing room when the white-haired sage once more lifted his head above the pulpit cushions, and a silence as of death fell upon the expectant throng. He stood a moment looking upon the unwonted scene, and then his voice in silvery cadence broke the hush of anticipation. "Dear friends," he said, "the scandal I would reveal is this—you will gather in this place in crowds to hear mischievous gossip, but will not listen to explanations of the inspired word. Now, my children, I offer my resignation. I am going to Europe for six months, and I shall pay my own expenses." But no one of the vast multitude took the lesson to himself; he applied it to his neighbor.

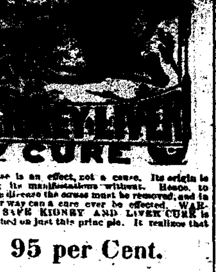
[Boston Courier.

ACCIDENTS

and how to deal with them, and other valuable medical information will be found in Dr. Kaufmann's great Medical Work; elegant colored plates. Send two 3 cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free. 27w2

Never go into a railway superintendent's office with a clergyman. There is nothing a railway man hates to see more than a man coming in to introduce a couple.

[illegible]



Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAJ!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON

9m6

[illegible] sent by mail prepaid on receipt of a 3 cent stamp. 22y1

Q. RUST
LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN McALLISTER & Co,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14*th Street*,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

ill St[illegible] for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS. AT

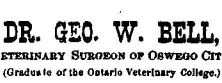
ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 30tf

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

[illegible] sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., [illegible] William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,
ONEIDA STREET
Stove and Tinware
ESTABLISHMENT.

—:0:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware, is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all [illegible]

LEGAL.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

[illegible] against [illegible] to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof [illegible] in the town of Granby, Oswego county, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated June 1, 1882. D. H. GILBERT, Executor.
3m8

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin, late of the town of [illegible] in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y., on or before the first day of December 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

JOHN H. WOODIN,
Dated, May 25, 1882. Executor
3m8 of Peter Woodin, deceased.

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co., during the year 1882, and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 21, 1881.

N. W. NUTTING,
4w Oswego County Judge.

INSURANCE
C. H. DAVID'S
INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

NEW YORK Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE CODPANY,

New York, Assets, over $1,400,000.00

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,000,000.10

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000,00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,760.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of		"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN of		GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

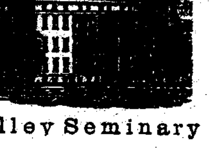
In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	36 00

Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

[illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1882.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER 7[illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Sanderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

Terms:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 1[illegible] cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Rates of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

A WIFE'S CONFESSION.

I did not marry for love. Very few people do; so in this respect I am neither better nor worse. No, I certainly did not marry for love; I believe I married our rector, Mr. Cartwright, simply because he asked me.

I ought to have been very happy, for he was a most devoted husband, but I was not, and though I did not notice it then, I know now that for the next six months after our marriage he was not happy either.

One morning about that time he told me at breakfast that he intended leaving me alone for a few weeks, to stay with his mother, who was not very well. He watched the effect of this announcement on me, but, though I was really displeased, I concealed my annoyance, and asked carelessly, when he would start.

He replied, the next day, if I had no objection, and so it was settled.

He was more affectionate than usual that day, and I was colder than ever; I once alluded to his journey, and that was to ask if I might have my sister Maud to stay while he was gone.

The next morning I was anxious to avoid a formal parting, so I drove to the station with him; as the train moved off I remembered this was our first parting since our marriage, and wished I had not been so cold.

When I got home the house looked so dreary and empty, and there was no one to meet me. Every room seemed empty and each spoke of the absent master; at last I wandered into his study, where he spent his mornings, and liked me to sit and work; and now I remember how often I had excused myself, saying I preferred the drawing-room, and this reflection did not add to my happiness.

It was full of little remembrances of me, and everything I looked at reminded me of his goodness to me, and of my coldness and ingratitude to him! At last I went to bed, where, after working myself into a fever of anxiety lest he should not have reached the end of his journey in safety, I at length cried myself into a restless sleep.

The next morning I went down to breakfast with a heavy heart, for I knew I could not hear from him until the next day. My plate, for the first time since my marriage, was empty, as I sat down to breakfast, for my husband, who was an early riser always had a little bouquet to greet me with every morning; frequently I forgot all about it, and left it to be put into water by the servant; this morning I would have treasured it most carefully, if he had gathered it.

After breakfast I determined to arouse myself, and go to visit some of the poor people of the village, so I filled my basket with some little delicacies for the sick and set out.

Wherever I went it was the same story; all held forth on my husband's goodness and kindness, for all had been helped by him in some way or other, and all loved and respected him. As I listened, with burning cheeks, I felt as if I was the only creature on earth who had treated him with ingratitude, and I was the very person whom he had the most loved and cherished.

When Maud arrived in the afternoon, I treated her to a long tirade of abuse against mothers-in-law in general, and my own in particular; and I ventured all the anger I really felt against myself on the innocent Mrs. Cartwright.

"In fact, Nelly," said Maud, "I believe you are so much in love with your husband that you are jealous even of his mother; and you're making yourself miserable about nothing. Why, Mr. Cartwright will be back in a fortnight, and I dare say you will get a letter from him every day; so cheer up, and let us go for a drive."

I agreed to this plan, and giving Maud the reins, I lay back and thought of her words. Was she right after all? Was I jealous? Was I really as Maud said, in love with my husband? Had I only found it now I was deprived of his company? Was this the reason I could do nothing but inwardly reproach myself for my conduct to him? And the longer I thought, the more convinced I became that Maud was right, that I was jealous and that I was in love as she called it.

The next morning I got up early and walked out to meet the postman, so anxious was I to get a letter from him. It was the first I had ever received from him since our marriage, and no girl was [illegible] as I was over this.

[illegible] long letter, full of loving [illegible] terms of endearment, all [illegible] to the Hearts, for they [illegible]

[illegible] something was wrong, for she seemed glad to hear it, and helped me to pack a few things and set off in time for the morning train.

It was three years to me for the nearer I was to my husband the more impatient I was to see him. At last we got to Melton, a large town. Of course as I was not expected, there was no one to meet me, so I took a carriage to Mrs. Cartwright's house, where I arrived about three o'clock.

I learned afterwards that Andrew was in the little drawing room with his mother when I drove up, but thinking that I was only a visitor, he escaped to another room, so I found my mother-in-law alone.

By her side were some of my husband's socks which she was darning, socks which I had handed to my servants to mend, and which I longed to snatch from his mother. His desk stood open, a letter to me which he had been writing, lying on it.

The servant announced me as Mrs. Andrews, my voice falling as I gave my name, so that Mrs. Cartwright held up her hands in astonishment when she saw who it was.

"My dear Nelly! What has happened? How ill you look! What is it?" she exclaimed.

"I want my husband," I gasped, sinking down on a chair, for I thought I should have fallen.

Without another word Mrs. Cartwright left the room; I feel sure now she guessed all about it, and I can never thank her enough for forbearing to worry me with questions as to what I had come for.

She came back in a few minutes with a glass of wine, which she made me drink off, saying she would send him to me at once if I took it. I complied and she went to fetch him; in another minute I heard his step outside the door, and then he came in.

"Nelly, my love—my darling, what is it?" he cried, as he rushed into my outstretched arms, and I hid my face on his breast sobbing bitterly.

For some moments I could not speak; at last I recovered myself enough to sob out:

"Oh, Andrew, my love! my dear love! can you ever forgive? I came to ask you and to tell you that I cannot live without you."

I would have said more, but his kisses stopped my mouth, and when at length he let me go, there were other tears upon my cheeks beside my own.

That was the happiest hour of all my life, in spite of my tears; and before my mother-in-law joined us, which she discreetly avoided doing till dinner, I had poured out what I had to tell in my husband's ears; and I learnt from him that he had left me to try what effect his absence would have on me, for he had felt for some time that my pride was the great barrier he had to overcome to win my love.

He had judged right. He was too generous to tell me how much he had suffered from my indifference, but I knew it must have grieved him terribly. He is a different man now, he looks so happy, and I know he would not change places with any one on earth.

THURLOW WEED.

Death of the Pioneer of American Journalism.

Thurlow Weed died at his residence in New York city Wednesday morning Nov. 22, 1882, ninety-five years of age. He was buried Saturday at Troy, N.Y, in the Rural Cemetery, beside the body of his wife. Three children, daughters, survive him.

Thurlow Weed, the pioneer of American journalism, was born at Cairo, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1797. At an early age he was apprentice in the office of a Mr. Macky Croswell, a printer in Catskill. In the war of 1812 he served with credit, and soon after its close he established the Agriculturist at Norwich, Chenango county, N. Y. From 1821 to 1831 he edited various journals among which was the "Anti-Masonic Enquirer," published in Rochester. During the anti-Masonic excitement in New York in 1826-7, he was the leader of the party opposed to the Masons, and was twice elected by it to the lower house of the state legislature. During 1826 he was of great service in securing the election of De-Witt Clinton as Governor of New York. In 1830 he removed to Albany and assumed the editorship of the Albany Evening Journal, a paper established in the interests of the anti-Jackson party. From this time till 1862 he was a prominent political leader, first of the Whig, and subsequently of the Republican party, and was prominent in securing the presidential nominations of Harrison, Taylor and Scott, always acting as an independent adviser of each convention. He advocated the election of Fremont in 1856, and of Lincoln in 1860, although in both cases he exerted his influence in favor of the nomination of Mr Seward. In Nov 1861 he was sent to Europe by President Lincoln in a semi-diplomatic capacity. Returning home after an absence of nearly a year, he devoted himself again to literary pursuits, and in 1863 on account of failing health he withdrew from the editorship of the Evening Journal. In 1866 he removed to New York city and became the editor of the Commercial Advertiser. Since 1868 infirm health has compelled him to withdraw from active labor, although during that time he has published a [illegible]

Personally Mr. Weed was a genial [illegible]

NEWS FROM EVERY POINT.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

—Strawberries are now getting ripe in California.

—At Wolcott, Dakota, last week, a man was frozen to death.

—Mrs. Scoville is lecturing in Canada. She fails to arouse enthusiasm.

—Cincinnati made 769,621 barrels of beer for the year ending September 1st.

—Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's Florida orange grove gives her $1,500 profit a year.

—A pew in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, sold the other day for $2,600.

—There are 92,653 Protestant churches in the United States, with 71,662 ministers and 9,003,030 members.

—A man 80 years of age, living with his ninth wife at Simons Gap, Va., is the father of fifty-three children.

—Grover Cleveland has resigned the mayorship of Buffalo and is arranging to take up his residence in Albany after January 1st, 1883.

—The Attorney General has given an opinion that all parsonages owned by churches or religious societies must be taxed the same as any other dwelling house.

—Thousands of people are moving into Tennessee from the northern states. The climate is delightful and it is an excellent stock raising country.

—An Indiana mob hung a member of the Legislature, by mistake, for a horse thief, and when they found it out gave three cheers to think they had done so much better than they expected.

—The knit goods market, in which Amsterdam is deeply interested, is very dull. A meeting of local manufacturers was held there Tuesday evening to discuss the matter, at which a committee was appointed to call on the different mill owners and consider the feasibility of running on three-quarters time.

—At Waco, Tex., recently, a swarm of bees, thousands in number, made a descent on a confectionary shop and devoured a good many sweet things before the proprietor could devise a plan to drive them off, which finally was done by burning sulphur.

—The prisoners in Auburn prison will have a treat to-morrow in the shape of a Thanksgiving dinner. There has been purchased for the occasion 860 pounds of ham, with potatoes; 40 pounds of coffee, [illegible]0 pounds of crackers, and as much gingerbread as can be made with 20 gallons of molasses.

—The census bulletin issued Friday shows the number of persons ten years and upwards in the states and territories to be 36,761,000. There are 4,023,000 unable to read, and 6,240,000 unable to write. The native whites unable to write are 8.7 per cent. The foreign born white persons unable to write are 12 per cent.

—Captain Alfred Hopkins, formerly, commander of the Pensecola, Florida, navy yard, has been dismissed the service for cowardice. During the yellow fever epidemic in October he deserted his post and although he had been in the navy for thirty years and recently promoted to a captaincy for long and meritorious service, he had to go.

—An Ogdensburg debating society in order to settle the question "Will tar explode?" applied a red-hot iron to a barrel of the article. The result is said to have been highly satisfactory. It took about thirty seconds to decide whether an earthquake had come or the tar exploded. The verdict was in favor of the tar. The report of the explosion was equal to a nine pounder.

—Burglars entered the house of E. E. Went, in Napierville, Ill., on Friday night last, when their noise awakened a five year old daughter of Mr. Went, and a young lady stopping at the house, who seeing strange men prowling about the room, raised an outcry. The burglars tried to silence them, but failing in this, drew pistols and shot both of them dead. The murderers escaped.

—A house was burning at Oshkosh, Wis., and a woman was left inside. Her husband cried, "Five thousand dollars to the man who saves her!" A fireman dashed in at great personal risk, and brought her out alive. Although the husband was very wealthy he refused to give a dollar of the reward; but the Supreme Court decides that the offer of $5,000 was valid, and that the money must be paid.

—Henry Ward Beecher was sued for $130,000 by a New York publishing house for not fulfilling a contract he made to furnish copy for a Life of Christ. He furnished the matter for the first volume and nearly one hundred thousand were sold but refused to write the second volume. The defense was that there was no limit to the time for completing the work. The case has been dismissed by the court, and defendant's counsel asks for an extra allowance, which was granted, the court making an order for $350.

A BAPTIST MINISTER'S EXPERIENCE.

I am a baptist minister, and before I ever thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, forty years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy; "Thomas Eclectric Oil cured me." I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me. My wife and child had diphtheria, cured them; and if taken in time will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a teaspoon and half fill it with the oil, and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the oil out of the spoon into the head by sniffing [illegible]

RICH WIDOWS IN NEW YORK.

Women Who Have Plenty of Money but No Husbands.

New York at present contains a number of opulent widows, who, though now out of town, are still within our direct line of population. One of these is Mrs Paran Stevens, widow of the opulent landlord. The latter was of New England birth, and had a rare faculty for hotel-keeping. He had several establishments of this kind in the eastern cities and made them profitable while other landlords failed. In 1856 he became interested in the erection of a large house, of which Amos R. Eno was proprietor, and which has become widely known as the Fifth Avenue hotel. Here he was remarkably successful, and at his death his estate was upwards of a million.

Mrs Stevens in view of her great wealth, was soon received into good society, but did not reach her highest ton until she succeeded in dining the Russian Prince who was here with his fleet. This was a wonderful feat, and occasioned great dissatisfaction with many old families, who were annoyed at the rapid advance of a parvenu. Mrs Stevens, like Mrs Leo Hunter (in Pickwick,) carried off the prize, and the Duke escorted her daughter to the theatre, and she afterwards married a British fortune hunter, who gave her a title in exchange for the money her father had made in tavern-keeping.

Mrs A. T. Stewart, who is the richest widow in the Union, is a native of this city, and was born in humble life. Her brother, the late Charles Clinch, considered himself fortunate to get a birth in the Custom House, where he gradually became an expert, and was retained longer than any other official. She married Stewart while he was keeping a petty retail store, and began housekeeping under very humble circumstances. When Stewart got on in the world one of the indications was found in the fact that he and his wife took board at the Astor House, which then was the finest hotel in the city. Mrs Stewart now occupies the grandest private mansion with but one exception in America. The apartments for the latter, indeed, are more elegant than anything the Stewarts had during the first ten years of their married life. Mrs Stewart has for many years been a member of St Mark's church but she was kept on such short allowances by her husband that she could not assist in any of the benevolent operations of the society. Her parsimony at last became proverbial, but it is now evident that it was solely due to her hard-hearted husband. Since his death she has shown some liberality, though by no means to the extent to which might have been expected. Mrs Stewart's property is estimated at $10,000,000, not including the palace she occupies which cost a million. The taxes on this building were last year $9,000, and this year may be a trifle less. Mrs. Stewart's pastor (Rylance) recently visited England, of which country he is a native. He could there mention the remarkable fact that a lady in his congregation was engaged in building a cathedral as a monument for her husband. Such things have seldom been done even in the old world.

The Commodore's widow is the youngest of all the rich widows, and has thus far had the best chance. Her life has been somewhat eventful. She is an old acquaintance of the Vanderbilts, and was married early but not happily. According to report she obtained a divorce, and then supported herself teaching music. During the war she was in the South, and was aided peculiarily by the Commodore. At its close she came North, and, as the Commodore soon afterward became a widower, and their marriage was a natural consequence. Mrs Vanderbilt is under fifty. She has a legacy of $300,000, being at the rate of $100,000 a year for her married life, and the interest of this is equal to $1,000 a week. She can now marry to suit herself. She has long been an admirer of Deems, the preacher, and this influence led the Commodore to endow the Nashville College. She attends the church of the Strangers, where Deems preaches, his tenets being much the same as those held by the methodist. He has the free use of the church for life, and therefore cannot go into itineracy.

Another rich widow is Mrs M. O. Roberts, who after three years of married life, was left with a dower in an estate of $6,000,000. She still occupies the house built by her husband in Fifth Avenue, and has a rare gallery of pictures. Report at one time connected her name with that of the President, but there are at present no indications of a matrimonial character.

WHAT WE CAN CURE, LET'S NOT ENDURE.

If we can cure an ache, or a sprain, or a pain, or a lameness, or a burn, or a bruise, or a bite, by using Thomas' Eclectric Oil, let's do it. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is known to be good. Let's try it.

ST. JACOBS OIL

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY. FOR RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

BLUE PILLS

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

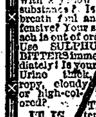
Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

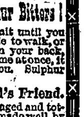
TRADE MARK



BEFORE TAKING.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave.

TRADE MARK



AFTER TAKING.

Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per packages, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y.

Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

F. D. VAN WAGENEN JR.,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

SWAYNES

EMENY & GRIDLEY
(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping [illegible]

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N. Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

J. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers. First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. B. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street; two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and
BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous publications.

Ten Cents Per Week for the use of Books.

JOSEPH WALDON.

NEW GOODS
AT THE
BAZAAR
THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

A Magnficent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,
14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] of as "an ac-[illegible]

[illegible] will commence their [illegible] Oswego next Monday.

[illegible] have another cut-[illegible] fever and the public are en-[illegible] Thousands are travelling [illegible] travelled before.

[illegible] thirty-two different colors [illegible] when people speak of sandy [illegible] they stand thirty-one [illegible] out of thirty-two of making a [illegible]

[illegible] says that December will be full of cold waves. The St. Lawrence river will be solid before Christmas, and the year will close extremely cold with plenty of snow.

BEECHER has been looking over Sunday-school libraries and gives as his candid opinion that eighteen out of every twenty-two books he examined were too trashy for any intelligent child to read.

ELIZABETH, N. J., is assessed at $6,000,000, and has a city debt of $6,700,000. Many of the leading citizens are trying to effect a compromise at fifty cents on a dollar. The city is in a sad plight. The creditors demand that something be done—and be done quickly.

The veteran journalist, Thurlow Weed, died in New York last Wednesday, aged 85 years. Mr. Weed has been a prominent character in American political and newspaper circles for over half a century. An interesting sketch of his life may be found on the first page of to-day's issue.

THE case of John H. Cockerell, who shot and killed A. W. Slayback in a newspaper office in St. Louis about a month ago, has been before the grand jury. No indictment was found and it is not likely any further action will be taken upon the matter. Cockerell's bondsmen have been released.

THE bill for the restoration of Fitz John Porter to the army is set down for consideration the first week in December. His restoration will be bitterly opposed by Senator Logan notwithstanding Gen. Grant says he is a wronged man in his article in a recent number of the North American Review.

SEVERAL celebrated horses have been preserved by taxidermy, says the Century. Sheridan's war horse "Rienzi," which carried him to "Winchester, twenty miles away," may be seen on Governor's Island. Sherman's famous horse, "Tecumseh," which he rode "from Atlanta to the sea," is in the University of Wisconsin, at Madison, and Robert E. Lee's war horse, "Traveller" is in the museum of the Washington and Lee University, Virginia.

THE State committee of the prohibition party with other party leaders, met at the Globe hotel in Albany, Monday, to look over election results and perfect organization in every county, town, ward and voting precinct in the state. About $1000 was pledged on the spot toward a fund of $25,000 for the next campaign. The committee is to be enlarged to include one in every county; and county, town, ward and election district committees are to be promptly chosen.

SOME of our highly enterprising contemporaries are classifying the members elect to congress by their nationality,—so many Germans, so many Irish, so many Africans. One twelfth of the 325 members are called foreigners, or of foreign extraction; seven Germans; twenty Irishmen. For our part, we recognize no such national distinctions. There cannot be a member of congress who is not constitutionally an American. Drawing such lines is invidious work and nowise commendable.

THERE is likely to be trouble in New York over the election of a Coroner. The Democrats nominated for that important office Wm. H. Kennedy, an undertaker, but the notification was sent to Wm. H. Kennedy who keeps a hotel and who entered into the canvas with a will. It was a question during the canvass which was the right candidate, but the Board of Canvassers gave the certificate to the undertaker, and now the hotel man purposes to make a fight and carry his claim into court. It is a curious complication, indeed, but the undertaker seems to have the best of it.

PRESIDENT Arthur has once more made himself felt in Washington. Mr. George Bliss, counsel for the Government in the Star Route prosecutions, some days ago, and Attorney-General Brewster on Saturday, wrote to President Arthur urging the dismissal of Marshall Henry of the District of Columbia, Postmaster Ainger of Washington, Assistant Postmaster Parker, Foreman Helm of the Congressional Record, and George E. Spencer, Government Director of the Union Pacific Railroad. The reason for asking their dismissal is that they sympathize with the Star Route conspirators and hinder the administration of justice. As the second trial of the conspirators is about to begin, immediate action was asked. The government profess to be in earnest in regard to the prosecution of the Star Routers and will oust any public official who assists the Star Routers or who is known to be in sympathy with them. A new postmaster has been appointed in Washington. It has caused a decided sensation and office holders are now generally pretty cautious how they express themselves. The government is getting in earnest with the Star Route thieves and public opinion has forced them to [illegible]

SOWING WILD OATS.

[illegible]

An Interesting [illegible] Progress in the [illegible]

The present [illegible] County Teachers' I[illegible] day with an unusu[illegible] large attendance. The conductors in charge are Profs. Lantry and Northam.

Allen W. Austin and Miss Hattie Whittemore are Secretaries.

The subject of methods in Reading, History and Geography have been discussed by the conductors up to the present. School Commissioner Parkhurst is present and THE TIMES is indebted to him for courtesies extended.

Prof. Northam lectures this evening at 7:30 o'clock and Prof Peter Lantry to-morrow evening at the same hour. These lectures are free and the public are invited.

Below will be found a complete list of names of those in attendance up to 9 a. m. to-day:

Ida Nelson,	West Amboy
Ella M Baker,	Fulton
Adelle M Reynolds,	Mexico
Zuillee Hubbard,	Fulton
Addie Reynolds,	Mexico
Arthur Gifford,	Little Utica
Jennie M Coe,	North Scriba
Isaac F Pierce,	Granby Center
C Cook,	Gilberts Mills
Lillie A Rice,	Lansing
Belle O'Hara,	Minetto
Lucy M Shaver,	Lorraine
Abbie M Brown,	Sandy Creek
Gertrude Wicks,	Pulaski
Clara L Hadley,	Sandy Creek
Minnie Foreman	" "
Edgar Blakeman,	Hastings
Anna Andas,	Cleveland
John Gomon,	Cat Fish
Martin DeGarmo,	Parish
Francis Lamb,	Fulton
Frankie Conner	"
Wm L Wheeler,	Pulaski
Martin W Dawley.	Mexico
Fred Hilton,	Orwell
Minnie P Wheeler	Sandy Creek
Lizzie E Green,	Fulton
Huse T Skerritt,	Amboy Centre
Addie Crosby,	So. Albion
Libbie F. Howard,	Fulton
Chas E Smith,	Little Utica
Minon C Eastman,	Mannsville
Etta Bisnett,	Fulton
E Sara Perry,	"
Lou H Wales,	Oswego
Clara M Whitaker,	Fulton
Hattie Palmer	So. Albion
Delos Richardson,	Williamstown
C Adelbert Clark,	Dexterville
Ella G Grover,	Williamstown
May Howard,	Fulton
Mildred Densmore,	Volney
Ozandard Howard	"
Kate A Hawthorne,	Fulton
Katie Johnson,	Hannibal
Mary E Gere,	So. Granby
Jennie A Daley,	S.W. Oswego
Chas. A. Donnelly,	N. Scriba
Mary Goodell,	Mexico
Ellen B Richardson,	Colosse
Rena Palmer,	Hannibal
Hattie Howard,	Mexico
Ellen Goodell,	"
Ella E. Lasher,	Fulton
Geo B Carpenter,	Lacona
Gertie West,	Parish
Anna Fradenburg,	Volney Centre
Emma Cook,	Little Utica
Carrie Rogers,	Fulton
Jessie F. Becker,	Pulaski
Mate E David,	"
Edgar J Brower,	Redfield
William Toils,	West Granby
Adelbert M Marsh,	Constantia
Walter S. Perry,	So. Richland
Orville H Gurley,	Sandy Creek
Thomas Lawlor,	Sand Bank
Hattie Wart	Mexico
Joseph D. Ball	New Haven
Adelbert Lindsley	" "
John Letts	Parish
Chas W Young	Volney Center
Anna Case	Kasoag
Veranus A Moore	Mexico
Chas Fleming	Daysville
Robert H Dewey	Mexico
Julia L Orvis
Rettie E Jelsiff	Amboy Center
Cora Petrie	Parish
Ida N Cronan	"
Martha Petrie	"
Almeda R House	So Albion
Lillian Gaffey	Caughdenoy
Genet E Hopper	"
Katie Stookover	Parish
Mary Fitzgerald	West Monroe
Georgiana Webster	Parish
Lillian Prentiss	Constantia
Frank L Codey,	Han Centre
M A Parkhurst,	Scriba
Melva Hamilton,	Fulton
May H Jennings,	Palermo
Hattie Hirt,	Minnetto
Hattie A Whittemore,	Scriba Centre
Nellie E Wise,	Fulton
Carrie Heid,	Central Square
Gertrude L Stephens,	Fulton
Frank H Jennings,	Palermo Centre
Sadie L Tyler,	Gilberts Mills
Jessie L Coe,	Lansing
Nellie Curtiss,	Fulton
Lottie A Poole,	"
Bruce A Skeel,	S Scriba
Henrietta Sharp,	Fulton
Lillie M Pease,	Oswego
Jessie Harvie,	Fulton
Libbie L Plaisted,	Phœnix
Hanford Stanton,	W Granby
Addison Waterbury,	Redfield
Dora Ashley,	West Amboy
Willard E. Gilson,	New Haven
Geo. Williams,	" "
Witt P Wallace,	Palermo
Allen W. Austin,	South Granby
David W. Clark,	Dexterville
Seward Holden,	North Hannibal
Chas H VanLinder,	Granby Centre
Judson H Clapp,	Hastings
Willis VanSkoick,	Hinmanville
Leman J Carrier,	Phoenix
Galitizin Gifford,	Han Centre
William Snell,	Volney
Alma A Crane,	S W Oswego
Mina Wheeler,	Mexico
Wesley O Stone,	Minnetto
Winfield B Clark,	Dexterville
Dell W Bragg,	N Hannibal
[illegible] Brian,	Minetto
Henry Lee,	Central Square
[illegible]	S W Oswego
[illegible]	Central Square
[illegible]	" "
Labbie A O'Brien.	Central Square
Mary E Day,	Scriba
Ada M. Wright,	Fulton
Clara A. Wright,	"
Kittie McDonnell,	Volney Centre
Beattie H. Taft,	" "
Minnie L. Howard	Fulton
Hattie A. Miner,	North Hannibal
J. Augusta Miner,	" "
Liddie E. LeRoy,	Oswego
Lillian S. Wilcox,	Fulton
Hattie Burgess,	Little Utica
Carrie D. Wilcox,	Fulton
Mary J. Johnson,	Palermo Centre
Della M. Barrett,	Fairdale
Ettie M. Naracon,	Dexterville
Mary L. Hompe,	Fairdale
Nora Calkins,	Fulton

NEW SILKS

We have received to-day from New York from a large Silk Sale, the cheapest line of BLACK SILKS we have ever shown. Any one wishing a new silk dress should call immediately at

F. E. BACONS.

More New Cloaks, Dolmans and Jackets received to-day. Another handsome variety of Ladies' Neckwear.

A ROPE ABOUT OUR NECKS.

A weak stomach or enfeebled circulation is like a rope about our necks. We are strung up and unstrung alternately till existence becomes unbearable. Burdock Blood Bitters are a boon to the sick. Let us remember this fact.

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

Mexico is to have a G. A. R. Post.

Happy Hannibal. She is soon to have a brass band.

The Palladium says Oswego needs more dwelling houses. This looks as though Oswego was growing.

The New York Ontario & Western railway reports an authorized capital of $65,000,000 and an appraised value of $17,570,775.

Phœnix Register:—Private advices from Dr. Conger at Philadelphia state that he has submitted to the removal of one of his eyes, and is recovering from the operation as rapidly as could be expected.

Lakeside Press—Capt. O. J. Jennings and family, and Mrs. H. L. Schenck, of Fulton, and Miss Agnes Higby, of Charlotte, Mich., also Mrs. Mary Eaton, of Vienna, were guests of Miss M. E. Beach the fore part of this week.

Oswego Palladium:—Messrs. Scott & Navagh, owner of the tug Steve H. Lyons have appealed from the judgement of $150 and costs given against them by Justice Parker of Oswego Falls in favor of Jennings & Co. for the loss of the scow Tip Top.

Syracuse Herald—Monday morning City Sealer Ford seized a pair of balances from William Smith, of Clay, who was selling chickens in Clinton market. They were a pound and a half short in weight. Mr. Ford took the balances to police headquarters.

Don't fail to get "experience" when you can buy it so cheap.

West Granby.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baker of Oswego, were guests of Mr. W. Summerville last week.

Miss Adda Summerville is enjoying the society of her friend Miss Jennie Jenkins of Lysander, for a few days.

Mr. T. Harrison is making improvements on his premises by building an addition to his house.

Mr. C. Rogers is making improvements on his house by using paper and cove ceiling.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Kelsey have returned from Fulton. They will live with Mr. Kelsey's parents this winter.

Mr. Martin Kelsey is making many valuable improvements about his sawmill. He is laying a heavy and substantial wall under the mill preparatory for the winter's sawing.

Misses Alice and Carry Kelsey were very much surprised last Tuesday evening to see about thirty young people of this vicinity and Lysander make their appearance at their father's residence. They were not long in divining the cause of the call and a most enjoyable time was the result to those who participated.

R K. S.

Semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Oswego Baptist Association will be held with the Baptist church of Fulton, commencing at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening, December 6th, 1882.

PROGRAMME:

1. Anthem by Choir.
2. Reading of Scripture lesson by Mrs. M. Coon, of Oswego.
3. Prayer.
4. Singing—Hymn.
5. Address of Welcome by Miss J. M. Porter, of Fulton.
6. Response by Mrs. D. D. Owen of Central Square.
7. Singing Hymn.
8. Telugu Mission, by Mrs M. A. Wilcox, of Oswego.
9. Map exercise, by Miss L. Grafftey, of Oswego.
10. A Solo, sung by Miss Bradt, of Oswego.
11. A Select Poem, by ——
12. A paper prepared and read by Rev. M. A. Wilcox, of Oswego, giving a brief history of the Grand Lygne Mission, Canada.
13. A paper by Miss Mary Hutchins, M. D., of Oswego.
14. A paper by Miss Knight, of Mexico.

Light Weight Butter.

"I say, mister," said a dirty-faced urchin stepping into the grocery, "did it bear around and break things pretty bad?"

"What do you mean my little man?" asked the grocer thinking he had a customer.

"I mean did it smash things, generally, like a bow [illegible], or did it only glide [illegible] like a [illegible]

[illegible]

JOY AT HOME.

HAVING LEFT THEIR HOME IN SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER RETURN IN GLADNESS.

Next to the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our dear dead to their long rest, is that of taking our loved living, when stricken with disease, in search of help which appears the more hopeless the nearer it is approached.

Yet when Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since for New York, it was on such an errand. By his side was his daughter, whose case has been abandoned by the home physicians as one of incurable disease of the heart. When the train reached Peekskill it was clear that the almost dying girl could not be carried a mile farther with safety. Emaciated in body, shattered in nerve, and melancholy in mind the poor girl had lost interest in her own fate. To her vision then loomed up but one end to all her suffering, and its insensible stillness looked almost inviting, after so many days of langor and pain.

But who may know his fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends in Peekskill, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

Only a Little Draft.

"My father," said Gilhooly, solemnly "was more sensitive to colds than anybody I ever knew. The slightest exposure gave him a cold."

"That must have been very disagreeable."

"Indeed it was. He never could sit near a draft for a minute without catching cold. I remember on one occasion he was sitting in the office of a friend, when all at once my father began to sneeze. He insisted that there was a draft in the room. Every effort was made to discover where the draft was, but in vain. The doors and windows were closed, and there was no fireplace, but my father kept on sneezing, and insisted there must be a draft in the room, and so there was."

"Where was it?"

"In an envelope on the table, and it was only a little draft for $3.40.

[Texas Siftings.

CUTTERS AND SLEIGHS.

Bristol has a large stock of Cutters and Sleighs, that will be sold as low as can be bought in the State. Do not buy before examining these goods. 28

JOHNSON'S NEW UNIVERSAL CYCLOPŒDIA.

THE "BEST." PLANNED BY HON. HORACE GREELEY, L. L. D., PRES. F. A. T. BARNARD, S. T. D., L. L. D., COLUMBIA COLLEGE, NEW YORK, PROF. ARNOLD GUYOT, PH. L. L. D., COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY, ARE THE EDITORS IN CHIEF.

It has 31 departments, with an editor of the highest scholarly standing for each. It has 2000 eminent contributors from all parts of America and Europe whose names are signed to their articles.

It is the best and only original American cylopœdia.

It contains more than Appleton's in 16 volumes and at less than one half the price.

It is accepted as the best by Harvard, Dartmouth, Amherst, Yale, Brown University, Williams, Cornell University, Madison, Hamilton etc. and has been adopted as the standard text book in the public schools at Washington, D. C. and other important cities. There are 30,000 sets already sold and but very little territory canvassed. 28

Mr. T. B. Cloyes is in town to show the plan of the Johnson Cyclopœdia. Don't fail to have him call, and give him a little time that you may see the excellence of the work. He is a gentleman, and fully understands the work. Don't fail to examine Johnson's before purchasing any other.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME BOOK.

Golden thoughts on Mother, Home and Heaven. Edited by Theo. L. Cuyler, D. D. This volume, elegant in contents, illustrations and binding, is an attractive book for one's own reading or a gift appropriate at all times and places.

We scarcely can tell which is the most attractive about this volume, its par excellent title, its 800 literary gems on the themes named, its brilliant array of distinguished writers, or its beautiful mechanical execution. It is a splendid work every way. A copy should be in every home, where every mother and every mother's friend can have access to it." Price $2.75. Agents are wanted by the Publisher, E. B. TREAT, 757 Broadway New York.

Dress flannell in all colors, also those 25 cent dress flannells. C. E. Sackett, 1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

[illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days,
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

STRAW WANTED!

For which will pay Five Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Six dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.

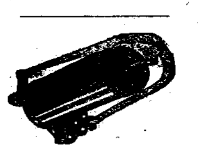
24m1 WM. WAUGH & BRO.

☞Call and see the New Genuine Singer Sewing machines at Bristol's. Sold at popular prices. 20t2

☞Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) a DRAPER'S Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 47

Hosiery and underwear for ladies' gentlemen, children, comprising all styles at prices that we guarantee. C. E Sackett.

☞The depot for cutters is at McCully & Co's. 26



Almost Human

The Norton Door Check and Spring.

NO SLAMMING OF DOORS!
NO BREAKING OF GLASS!
SILENT AND PROMPT.

WATERMAN,
Sole Agent.

Nov. 15tf

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.

18 G. E. SQUIRES, Prop.

LINCOLN [illegible] HOOP HOLDER.

VERY DESIRABLE

To Know the Fact that

WATERMAN'S

——Stock Of——

Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place. Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of tee same, at 34 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

D. A. WATERMAN.

LAUNDRY.

The Steam Laundry Agency continues to give Good Satisfaction with new customers every week. Give them a trial order. WATERMAN Agt.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store — First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest [illegible]

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice [illegible] for keeping the [illegible]

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

The Lightning Rod

Agent is a much abused individual. His extreme bashfulness, his modesty and love for truth are virtues the world does not give him credit for. When he explains the wonders of his Lightning Rod, the history of its savings of life and property, and the perfect security it assures to the sinner and good alike, he reminds us of two individuals, one who exhibits a second hand sewing machine newly varnished, the other a clothing salesmen, in the act of showing some lively garments, both agreeing in one point of meait that their merchandise is new, never been shown—till this morning—some people will say that they are not adhering strictly to the truth. And when the latter individual with blushing modesty, tells an intending purchaser that all other clothing excepting the kind he sells is bad and will not wear, he is probably stretching the truth a little too far. Salesmen, however, who represent

"THE FAMOUS"

have no necessity of stating anything else than facts, They never have nor ever will be requested to say that they sell the only well made clothing in this world but you can hear them state most emphatically that garments bought at

2 and 3 Wieting block

are the best that be procured, and when they point as a proof of their statement to the immense stock of stylilh, well made, modern cut clothing on our couuters, and their baily large sales, they will demonstrate clearly, that nothing but true merit is the cause of our growing poplarity. No swaping from the truth is necessary. On its own merits

"The Famous"

No. 2 and 3 Wieting Block.

will stand by the verdict of the people. No old stock manufacturd before the war and inhabited by myriads of insects will be foisted upon upon the people for fresh received goods, and any purchaser is sure that when he pays for a new garment he is getting it at the

FAMOUS

OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE

2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity [illegible] ly, and is preaching against [illegible] dimited views. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 18[illegible] it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of [illegible] tion, a ministry for the cause of honest government, [illegible] ey, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and [illegible] year.

Terms by Mail Subscriptions.

[illegible]

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She [illegible] Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] leave the Lewis House [illegible] & Syracuse Railroad by the [illegible]

[illegible] A. M. A. M. M P. M. P. M. [illegible] 7:20 9:00 [illegible] 5:00 [illegible] 7:50 [illegible] 2:40 6:00 8:15

[illegible] including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, [illegible] Omnibus.

A. M. [illegible], Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2 .... 7:15 a. m
[illegible] No. 6 .... [illegible] p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 41 .... [illegible] a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1 .... 9:35 p. m.
Oswego Express No. 5 .... 11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 48 .... 5:33 p. m.

DEL. L'K'W'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation .... 8:36 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 9:33 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express .... 12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express .... 5:06 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express .... 8:06 a. m
Day Express .... 8:08 p. m.
Oswego Accommodation .... 6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 8:30 p. m

[illegible] trains run Sundays.

[illegible] cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Harry Comstock is home again.

Thos. Smyth of Syracuse is in town.

D. F. Ottman has returned to New York city.

Miss Carrie Tinsley of Lyons is a guest of Miss Hattie Dada.

Ed. F. DeGraw and family are going to remove to Syracuse.

Rev. Jay N. Taft will be married to-morrow in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr C. C. Davis Pratt street is the father of a nine pound son.

Harry P. DeForest is home from Cornell University for a few days.

John E. Parker, Esq., of Oswego Falls is visiting friends in Michigan and Iowa.

Mrs. Wm. Champlin, of Whitestown, is a guest at the residence of Mrs. Daniel Pardee.

Mrs. Daniel Pardee who has been in New York for the past two weeks has returned home.

Mr. H. Rosenbloom, who has been quite sick with inflammation of the bowels is convalescing.

M. B. Schenck is in town to spend Thanksgiving. He will return to New Haven, Conn., Saturday.

Gilbert A. Ottman is located in Utica where he occupies a responsible position in a wholesale drygoods house.

Mr. Michael Edick is home from a brief visit to his home in Richfield Springs, Otsego county, N. Y.

Mrs. Ezra Dings is about to return home from an extended visit with friends in Ohio and Michigan.

Aaron Williams of Oswego Falls, who has been quite low with typhoid fever for some days, is slowly improving.

The engagement of Miss Strong, of Buffalo and Frank J. Abbott of Syracuse has been formally announced.

Miss Mary Leslie left Monday morning for a two months visit with the family of Geo. P. Saunders in Bradford, Pa.

Miss Grace Tucker has returned from Detroit, Mich., where she has been spending several months with friends.

Miss Kittie Carrington, a young lady well known by many in Fulton, is quite ill with consumption at the residence of her father in Detroit, Mich.

G. G. Ottman and wife of Fort Edward, N. Y., are in Fulton from Thursday until Monday morning guests of the gentleman's brother, N. W. Ottman.

Prof. F. P. Lantry, who is one of the instructors at the Teachers' Institute is an old Fultonian and will be readily recalled by many of the older inhabitants.

Miss Lizzie Miller, daughter of Orrin Miller, of Berryville, Mich., has taken up her residence with the family of Jas. E. Miller for the purpose of attending a Fulton school.

Julius Heimburger left for Roseville, Ohio, Thursday, where he will be employed this winter, Mrs. Heimburger will remain in Fulton a few weeks at the residence of her father, Dr. J. Watson.

John Norton, who has so long been employed in Nettleton's shoe store, will enter school at Cazenovia seminary next week. Mr. Norton is an industrious, honorable young man and is bound to win success.

Miss Allie Saunderson left yesterday morning for New York where she will spend the winter with her brother Robert. In the spring she will go to England and Wales where she will remain a [illegible] or two with friends. She bears away with her the good wishes of friends.

Gone! Inflammatory rheumatism, cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Ira Brown. [Chicago Tribune.

We have the largest assortment of [illegible] horse blankets in Oswego [illegible] McCully & Co's. 26

[illegible] Mrs. Montague has a large supply [illegible] for Thanksgiving. People [illegible] them fresh and prices reasonable.

PATRICK CULLEN

At his market on Oneida street is supplying large quantities of lard to people [illegible] this community. He puts it up in any weight desired and sells at [illegible] market price. He is also prepared to grind sausage for farmers in large or small quantities. 26t3 [illegible] Beckwith's and see what he has [illegible] goods.

CONCENTRATED FOOD

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, POULTRY [illegible]

[illegible] CO.

[illegible] Cele- [illegible] Anniver- sary [illegible]

On Wednesday, [illegible] 29th, 1882, Mr. and Mrs. Sands N. Kenyon celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their residence corner Third and Rochester streets. From 7 to 9 p. m. a reception was held, which was attended by many of Fulton's oldest citizens; a rich and bountiful repast being served and homes sought in the early evening. Later on the younger members of the family and their friends kept time to the strains of inspiring music.

A few expensive and beautiful presents were received by the venerable couple and the anniversary was in every particular a pleasant and long to be remembered affair.

Sands N. Kenyon and Miss Maria Gleason were married the 22d of November, 1832, in the town of Volney, by Elder Babcock, grandfather of Mr. L. H. Babcock, now living in the eastern part of the town. The same evening the late Hiram Bradway was married to Miss Abbie Babcock, daughter of the officiating clergyman. Mrs. Churchill Tucker and Mrs. Oliver French, then young ladies, acted as bridesmaids at the double wedding. Mrs Tucker and Miss French are in Fulton, the former lady attending the re-union the latter being prevented by ill health.

Mr. Kenyon's life has been one of stir and push and for over half a century he has been closely identified with Fulton's prosperity. He was born in Hopkinton, Washington Co., R. I., in 1805 and at 18 years of age removed to Washington county, N. Y., removing from there to Troy, N. Y., where he commenced a business career for himself. Several fine business blocks were built in that city by Mr. Kenyon some of which are yet standing.

He removed from Troy to Fulton 53 years ago and from that time has been a leading business man. His first business in Fulton was in 1835 when he was a grocer in what is known as the Kenyon block. He had a partner, his brother the late Gen. R. C. Kenyon. From this he entered the milling business, dry goods trade and his last work prior to banking was a contract at Peru, N. Y., on the enlargement of the Erie canal.

In 1851 he established and personally managed the first banking house in Fulton. In 1853 it was reorganized and incorporated under the State laws, capital increased to $100,000, and what is now known as the Citizen's Nationtl Bank is the direct outgrowth of Mr. Kenyon's zeal and business capacity. He is president and one of the founders of the Fulton Savings Bank, and although 78 years of age and infirm from a railroad accident occurring to him in 1866, which broke one of his limbs, he is found punctual at his business every day.

This old gentleman's long life of activity and the part he has taken in Fulton's history is but little known to the present generation of Fultonians and we trust Mr. Kenyon will pardon us for rehearsing them at this time.

Stephens Opera House.

The Stephens Opera House was formally opened to the public last evening as a place of amusement by the Florences, who presented the "Mighty Dollar." The house was completely filled and the performance one of the best ever produced in Fulton. W. J. Florence as Bardwell Slote M. C., from the Cohosh district portrayed the rural member with inimitable ludicrousness. The loss of Mrs. Florence as Mrs. Gen. Gilflory was admirably filled by Miss Ethel Greybrook. The entire company are far above the average dramatic talent and all who attended express themselves as more than pleased. This is Mr. Florence's first visit to Fulton and he has left an impression that will insure him a warm welcome should he ever return "by a large majority." The company is strong and the entertainment grand.

The music was furnished by the Philharmonic Society's Orchestra of Syracuse, composed of twenty-two pieces under the leadership of Mr. Geo. W. Marsh, and a most creditable band of musicians they are. Their selections were appreciable and the audience was generous in applause. At an early date the Philharmonic Society will produce in Stephens' opera house the opera of Pinafore, supported by a chorus of forty voices.

The opera house proves to be well proportioned; its acoustic properties perfect and the voice of the speaker clearly audible in any part; the furniture tasty and comfortable; light excellent; stage room plenty and drop curtains and scenery grand. It is in every respect a complete and pretty little opera house and Fultonians in common with Mr. Stephens feel proud of it.

☞For one dime get a package of Diamond Dyes at the druggist's. They color anything the simplest and most desirable colors.

—WANTED—

A Teacher for the winter term in Dist. No. 7 Volney, known as the Keller district, two and one-half miles south of Fulton. Enquire at my residence three and one-half miles south of Fulton on river road. WEBSTER A. HOTCHKISS.
Fulton, Nov. 29th, 1882.

Rev A. U. Hutchins has gone to Syracuse by request of the Universalist society of that city to assist in liquidating the debt on the church property, with a good prospect of success. Fifteen hundred dollars are already pledged by two persons. He will also have a thanksgiving service at Phœnix, introducing a responsive service of his own arrangement. The service will be printed on strips and handed to the congregation as they enter the church. The house is to be decorated with the prospect of the harvest. On the same evening the other churches are to have a union prayer meeting. Rev Dr. Fisk will give a lecture soon for the benefit of the young ladies' social, of [illegible] the proceeds are to be used in [illegible] and cushioning the church.

[illegible] 28

[illegible] Ladies & Calf [illegible] - [illegible]

1[illegible]0 " Misses " " " 60ct.

A. E. NETTLETON.

Institute week.

Remember the poor to-morrow.

"Experience" is the best teacher.

Litta at Stephens' Opera House Monday evening, Dec. 11th.

The next term of Falley Seminary begins Monday, Dec. 4th.

Oswego Falls has a Woman's Christian Temperance Union and Band of Hope. Mrs. B. R. Howe is president.

Charles Huxtable and Sarah Almon of Fulton were married in the Ringland house parlors, Oswego, Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Moyses has returned from his visit to friends in Oneida county. Sunday he spent with his daughter in Waterville.

Attention is called to the prospectus of the New York Sun in this issue. The Sun is one of the best newspapers published in America.

The case of Edward Tyrrell of Oswego Falls, indicted for manslaughter in the Burns affair, will probably be moved for trial in Oswego this week.

There will be Thanksgiving services in Zion church to-morrow at 11 a. m. Rev. Mr. Moyses will officiate. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Nugent & Gleason's Metropolitan comedy Company are in Baldwinsville for this week. It is an excellent company and their return to Fulton will be welcomed.

The reading circle of lower Oswego Falls will resume their meetings for the winter next Tuesday evening. Last season they were very instructive and entertaining.

Bertha Simons, aged two years, daughter of Henrietta and Eben Simons died Friday. Funeral was held Sunday at 3 p. m. Rev. L. Stone of Bristol Hill officiating.

A postal reaches us saying Mr. Clark Dings of Burky, Lucas Co., Ohio is the father of a nine pound girl. Mr. Dings has many friends in Fulton and is an old subscriber to THE TIMES.

Christmas Woodcock died Friday morning at his residence south of Fulton aged 72 years. Funeral was held Monday at 11 a. m. at his house. Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. Church officiating.

E. D. Deming, formerly editor of THE TIMES, is publishing two weekly papers, one at Perry and one at Attica, Wyoming county, N. Y. One is a republican and the other an independent republican journal.

There will be union Thanksgiving services in the Baptist church to-morrow at 11 a. m. Rev. Dr. Bruce of the M. E. church will deliver the sermon. The Congregational society of Oswego Falls will join in the services.

All those having county bills or any other matter they wish to have brought before the Oswego county board of supervisors, should leave them in the hands of the town supervisor on or before the morning of Dec. 4th.

Rev. James G. Rodger, a scholarly and talented young man, pastor of the Presbyterian church at DeKalb, N. Y. is expected as a visitor at the residence of Rev. L. Golden, this week, and will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist church morning and evening next Sabbath.

The next meeting of the lyceum club will be held in the S. of T. rooms Monday evening December 4. The subject for discussion will be. "Resolved, That women should have the right to vote on all political questions the same as men." All the members and all who would like to become members are requested to be present.

James Miller has returned from his hunting expedition in Michigan. He encountered innumerable wild animals and with his little gun downed a goodly number. He remembered many of his Fulton friends with choice pieces of venison. As a memento of his trip he retains four pairs of mammoth antlers.

The Oswego Morning Post made its appearance Monday morning. It is a six column quarto of neat typographical appearance and lively in local and general news. The publishers are Albert M. Hall and John H. Walkup. Mr. Hall has had valuable experience on the Palladium and Express and will give his entire attention to the local department. The Post will be independent in politics and will endeavor to be a wideawake and desirable paper. Success to you.

"Better be wise by the misfortune of others than by your own." Take warning in time. Avoid quack nostrums by which thousands annually perish. Use only such remedies as are demonstrated above suspicion, foremost among which is Kidney-Wort. For torpid liver, bowels or kidneys, no other remedy equals it. It is sold in both dry and liquid form by all druggists.

FOR SALE.—Two pair of two horse bobsleighs and two pair of 1 horse bobsleighs. Enquire at McCULLY & Co.

The Cheapest place in town to buy Cutters, Whips and Blankets is at 27 BETTS & Co's, First Street.

Just received at Draper's 30 bushels of Sweet Potatoes, to be sold nearly as cheap as common potatoes. 21

Camp Fire.

Post Daniel F. Schenck G. A. R. will hold a camp fire next Tuesday evening in their rooms over Woodin's store. It will be participated in solely by members of the post and their families. Comrades will bring refreshments.

To Return.

The famous Tennessee Jubilee Singers will return to Fulton Wednesday evening December 6, and give an entertainment in the opera house. They recently appeared in Nichols hall and are an excellent company. Admission to all parts of the house thirty cents.

Broke His Arm.

A young lad named Hogan, who lives in the north part of the village, had his arm broken in the factory Saturday. He was throwing a piece of light rope up over a revolving shaft and it became fastened and commenced to wind around it; the end he had hold of became entangled around his arm and drew him up breaking his arm. Had the rope been stronger the result would have undoubtedly been worse.

Granby Sunday School Union.

The annual meeting of the Granby S. S. Union will be held at Dexterville, on Sunday, Dec. 3d, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the election of officers to serve the ensuing year. Reports from all the schools in town will be called for. Rev. A. Smith of the Free Methodist church and Rev. L. Golden of the Baptist church will be present and address the meeting. Come one, come all and assist.

D. M. COX, Pres. S. B. DUTTON, Secy.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., Nov. 29, 1882.

Loney Alvord, C. A. Campbell, Mrs. Esther Miller, Thomas Mack, Miss Ella Signor, Miss Maggie Woodridge, Susan O. Worden.

HELD FOR POSTAGE

Mrs. T. Lawrence, Loughboro, Ont. Sam. H. Wandell, Pulaski.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

The Price of a Thanksgiving Dinner.

Provisions and meats in Fulton are just at present uncomfortably high. One may gain an intelligent idea of the cost of a thanksgiving dinner by making themselves acquainted with the retail price of the following:

Butter	32	Cheese	16
Eggs	30	Potatoes per bu	60
Apples per bu.	100	Cranberries	16
Lard	15	Chicken	14
Turkeys	18	Ducks	15
Surloin steak	16	Round steak	14
Shoulder "	12½	Pork "	12½
		Salt pork	12½

Litta is Coming.

Those who were fortunate enough to hear this gifted artist when here last will doubtless be pleased to know that she has been secured with her great company which is entirely new, by Mr. Stephens to give an entertainment under his management in the new Opera House, Monday evening, Dec. 11.

Mr. Stephens is also pleased to announce that notwithstanding the great expense attendant upon bringing this superb attraction here, he has decided to place the price of admission within the reach of everyone—which will be 50 cts. to all parts of the house—no extra charge for reserved seats. This will undoubtedly prove a great musical treat at moderate prices. Secure your seats early.

Purchasers of clothing should bear in mind that in connection with selling fine eastern made garments of acknowledged superiority, "The Famous" offers a great many extraordinary bargains in both Men's and Boys' clothing. When we, for instance tell our readers that they can procure a real good serviceable overcoat for Boys from 3 to 10 years of age for the small outlay of one dollar and fifty cents at Nos. 2 & 3 Wieting block you may wonder how that can be possible and are probably impressed that the quality is not good, but an examination of the overcoat referred to will teach you otherwise. He (The Famous) is no common benefactor, for he shrewdly gathers from the world's markets, the finest the best fitting and cheapest garments and thereby benefits the rich and poor alike. 28

"Experience" the new cook book compiled by Mrs Butler and Miss Wolcott is one of the best works of its kind in the market. Containing as it does over 600 carefully culled recipes, and put together in attractive form, for the small sum of $1, it cannot fail to find a ready sale. The proceeds of the book, are to be devoted to the new Presbyterian church and can be found at C. S. Eggleston's and at the News Room. 28tw

FOUND—A pocket-book in Nichols hall, containing a small sum of money and some receipts. Call at this office and prove property.

We have no last year's stock of cutters to offer you: our's are fresh and new. 26 McCULLY & Co.

See those Portland and Swell Body Cutters of Bristols'. 28

No. 2 school begins next Monday.

Have you seen "Experience" yet?

The banks will be closed to-morrow.

Are you going to the ball this evening?

Lent begins February 7th and ends March 24th.

Boatmen are rapidly going into winter quarters.

The post-office will be open to-morrow from 8 to 10 a. m. and from 4 to 5:30 p. m.

Mr. White of Ithaca brother of Mrs J. J. Stephens was present at the opening of the Opera house.

Grand masquerade and concert of the Oswego Falls C. C. and R. R. at Nichols Hall this evening.

Pianos and Organs best quality and lowest prices at Bristols. Be sure and examine before buying elsewhere. 28

WANTED—A situation by a girl to do general housework. Good cook and washer and ironer. Apply at this office.

The new penal code goes into operation Friday. On the fourth page of to-day's paper will be found the Sunday law. Read it.

Rev E. F. Pember state missionary, will preach in the Universalist church on Tuesday evening. He requests all interested to attend.

Don't forget the fair to be held under the auspices of the church of the Immaculate Conception commencing Christmas night and continuing one week.

Wm. Cooper, aged 90, died at his residence of his daughter Mrs. Martin Osborn, in lower Oswego Falls, Thursday. Funeral was held Saturday at 1 p. m. from the house, Rev. L. Golden officiating.

Miss Pinneo, the equestrienne, who gave a number of performances in this part of the state last summer, committed suicide by taking a dose of poison at Topeka, Kansas, recently. The act was brought about through domestic trouble.

The winter term of school No. 1 commences next Monday. Miss Lottie Poole and Miss Ida Miller will occupy positions in the school taking the places of Misses Mace and Baldwin who retire. Both Misses Miller and Poole have been employed in the school before and are competent and successful instructors. Mr. Hart will remain principal.

A nolle prosequi was entered at the United States court in Rochester last week in the cases of John E. Parker of Oswego Falls and Lyman H. Patterson, of Fulton, who were charged with perjury in the matter of naturalization papers procured for Oswego Falls parties These cases have been dragging through the courts for several years.

Married in Volney, near Ingells crossing Nov. 21st, 1882, by Rev. J. P. Linderman, of Phœnix, Mr. Wm. A. Branagan, of Smithfield, N. Y., and Miss Mary A. Souter of Volney, N. Y. The happy couple will leave on Thursday for a three weeks visit among friends in Madison county. The best wishes of their many friends will follow them, and may a long and happy life be theirs to enjoy. *

Revelations of a Honeymoon.

The funny man of the Laramie Boomerang has been appealed by a fair reader as to the term of "Honeymoon." He frankly states that he "will be teetotally amalgamated if he knows," but he asks the fair Lily to "think of waking in the dead hours of night during this blessed time to find that your noble Adolphus, whose whole being seems to be the very ne plus ultra, the ultima thule and the pro bono publico of perfection—think of finding in that stilly hour we say, when all nature is hushed, that Adolphus snores enough to crack the eternal granite foundations of the universe." But Mr. Roomerang, you must know that not even such a snore can't dispel the impressions made by a neatly fitting wedding suit of Kent & Miller's manufacture. The young men have found this out and their calls are constant. Nothing more surely touches the heart of a wise young lady. The fine double stores at 18 to 20 South Salina street, are full of the choicest overcoats and suits awaiting inspection and order.

"AN AMBITIOUS INDIVIDUAL."

"Oh! I'm boiling over to do some good act" shouted a politician the other day, as his red nose protruded from a face ornamented with unhealthy blotches. "Well, sir," replied a friendly listener, "unless you want to be an animated sign for a drug store, and make the passers-by sick, I would advise you to use Swayne's Ointment and be cured of that skin disease." The ambitious man acted upon the advise, and is now a living exemplification of what this excellent remedy can accomplish. 24w4

FISH! FISH! FISH!

Blue Fish,
Cod,
Haddock,
Mackerel,
Smelts,
Butter Fish,
Lobsters,
White Fish,
Salmon Trout,
Bull Heads,
at
MRS. MONTAGUE'S.

[illegible]

Paying Tribute to a Patriotic Woman—An Interesting Letter.

EDITOR FULTON TIMES:

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Nov. 24th, 1882.

Just nineteen years ago to day "Fighting Joe Hooker" fought the battle of "Lookout Mountain," "above the clouds." A. C. Robinson, formerly of Canton, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., now a resident of this city, participated in that battle as a member of Co. "A" 60th Reg't. N. Y. Vols. The side of the mountain where the fight took place, was traversed by ravines and ledges of rocks, which were held by the enemy until they were driven out by the Union troops. As soon as they would retreat to one ravine, our men would follow them, until the fight assumed more the form of an exciting squirrel hunt than anything else. Just as Mr. Robinson was climbing a ledge of rock about three feet high, he was struck by a ball and fell at the foot of the ledge; the army passing on in pursuit of the fast retreating enemy. He managed to crawl into a "ranch," formerly occupied by the "Johnnies," where he lay bleeding until a surgeon came and cut the ball out of his right hip, having passed through from the front. He had become overheated during the forenoon, and soon after he fell, a cold November rain set in. This coupled with the great loss of blood, and incapability of the least exercise, brought on a chill which did not leave him for three days.

About 2 p. m. a couple of boys (strangers) found him and started down the mountain with him. They stuck to him faithfully until they got him back about six miles, when they left him in a corn crib about 6x12 which was filled with wounded soldiers laid in cross ways. There his unknown friends left him. Some one gave him a double blanket and some coffee which were thankfully received.

The next morning he with the rest of the wounded men were placed in ambulances and taken from one place to another, over the rough, mountaneous roads of Tennessee, until finally after two weeks they arrived at Murfresboro, where he was placed in one of the hospitals of the city. By this time his wound was so bad that the army surgeons said there was no use in wasting any time on him—that he could not live anyway, and was left to die like a dog. Finally a citizen surgeon from Illinois found him, and, like the Good Samaritan of old, dressed his wounds and cared for him for the next three or four weeks until he was brought back to life. He was nearly all that time in a state of semi-unconsciousness, knowing what passed around him, in a certain way, but not very clear. He was on the lower floor of a large brick building and among the different ones who attended him was a lady nurse from Fulton, N. Y., who took a great interest in him, as well as other wounded soldiers. She used to bring him bread and milk every day.

"My impressions are," said he "that she was of some family of local note who had left a home of luxury and ease, to go down there and do what she could for us boys; and that whenever she passed through the ward, on her errands of mercy the heart felt blessings of those crippled Northern boys would follow her; and many were the Northern homes made glad or sad by receiving letters from her telling of boys doing well; or of some poor lad being 'mustered out' by the final mustering officer—death. If I ever knew her name, I have entirely forgotten it now but as long as I live those persons who befriended me at that time will always be remembered by me with heartfelt gratitude."*

I write this, Mr. Editor, thinking it may interest your readers as it did me, as I listened to it from the lips of Mr. Robinson, whom I have claimed as a friend for the past thirty-five years, and should this come to the notice of the lady referred to she may be pleased to know that her helpless wounded patient of the winter of '63 and '4 is now an honored and respected Christian citizen of this city. Respectfully yours,

S. E. CHANDLER.

P. S. In a subsequent conversation with Mr. Robinson he informed me that the lady's name, who took such an interest in him was Miss Dada. S.E.C.

☞Diamond Dyes will color anything any color, and never fail. The easiest and best way to economize. 10 cents, at all druggists.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of timber land the balance in a high state of cultivation. One hundred apple trees, one hundred pear trees, and a "sap bush" making one hundred pounds of sugar per year. Plenty of water and good buildings, A good bargain. Terms easy. Inquire on the premises or address tf FREDERICK FOSTER, Fulton, N Y

Look Here!

All accounts I have outstanding that have been owing six months or over must be settled at once or they will be placed out for collection.
Fulton, Oct. 4th. D. C. BAKER.

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. Cooley Tucker presents compliments to all lovers of good tea, requesting their company on all days of the week. Tea and coffee will be served at wholesale prices at all hours. Remember the place. J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store No 18 First St. one door south of C. P. Tucker's grocery. 24

☞GO TO ROBINSON & LANGDON'S for choice Coffee! The only place in town where you will find it roasted fresh twice every week. 15tf

NEW MUSIC.

Bristol has just received a new lot of Oliver Ditson's popular music. Also a full line of New Books suitable for Holiday presents. 24

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the [illegible]

5,000 PERSONS WANTED!

To examine the HOLIDAY GOODS at M. M. WILLIAMS', who has just returned from New York with a Full Line of Goods, consisting of

DIARIES, POCKET BOOKS, LADIES SATCHELS, PHOTOGRAPH and AUTOGRAPH ALBUMS, [illegible] FRAMES, STEREOSCOPES

[illegible]

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. The Extract is the only specific for this disease, Cold in Head, &c. Our "Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, contains all the curative properties of the Extract; our Nasal Syringe invaluable for use in catarrhal affections, is simple and inexpensive.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured so many cases of these distressing complaints as the Extract.

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT .... 50c, $1.00, $1.75.

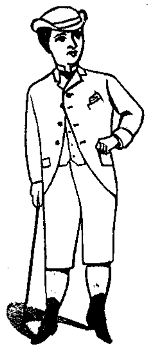
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.



FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

1842. 1882.

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS,

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE

OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE.

A MAMMOUTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets.,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

STEPHENS' OPERA HOUSE.

Fulton, N. Y.

Return of the FAMOUS ORIGINAL

Tennessee University

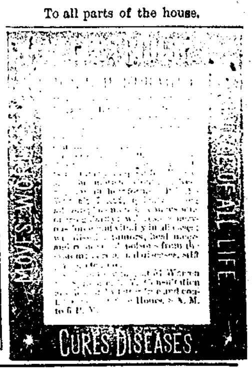
JUBILEE SINGERS.

Wednesday, Dec. 6th, 1882.

On this occasion a Special Programme will be given. Miss Pinkie Johnson the Great Shouting Soprano.

Admission - 30 cents.

To all parts of the house.



Crockery, China,

Glass and Silverware.

—:o:—

D. SKADEN,

First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

Has returned from New York and is daily receiving a large and fine assortment of

CROCKERY,

Ever shown in Fulton or Oswego County.

Wewill not be undersold in

Bracket, Hanging, Stand, Lamps and Chandeliers.

D. C. SKADEN,

Next Door to Lewis House. FIRST STREET, FULTON, N. Y.

REDUCTION.

THE BEEHIVE OWING TO THE CONTINUAL WARM WEATHER WE HAVE MADE SWEEPING REDUCTIONS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS. WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF SEASONABLE GOODS THAT MUST BE SOLD.

WINTER UNDERWEAR FOR LADIES GENTS AND CHILDREN AT WARM WEATHER PRICES.

WE ARE OFFERING SILK PLUSHES
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES
WE HAVE A MAGNIFICEET STOCK
OF BLACK AND BROCADED SILKS
AND SATINS WHICH WE ARE
SELLING FAST AT THE NEW LOW
PRICES. 200 LADIES AND
CHILDREN'S TAILOR MADE CLOAKS
DOLMANS, AND ULSTERS AT
PRICES FAR BELOW THE REAL
VALUE. 150 BED BLANKETS FROM
$1.75 UP. TEN THOUSAND YARDS
OF DRESS GOODS AT PRICES
NEVER BEFORE KNOWN. IF YOU
WANT A DRESS BE SURE AND
LOOK AT OUR MAGNIFICENT
STOCK AND SPECIAL BARGAINS.
PAISLEY, BEAVER AND DOUBLE
SHAWLS IN LARGE VARIETY.
WE HAVE THE GOODS AND ARE BOUND TO SELL.

THE BEE HIVE,
[illegible]
FULTON, N. Y.

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be paid at the mill of

GILBERT BROS.

Fulton, Oct. 18.

IF YOU WANT

dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
calling cards,
address cards,
shipping tags,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets printed,

If you want job printing of any description, done in a most satisfactory manner, you can satisfy your [illegible] by calling at THE FULTON TIMES [illegible] office.

CHEAP [illegible]

CALL AT J. H. WOODIN'S,

No. 7 First Street, Fulton.

For Bargains In

[illegible]WARE, DOORS,

[illegible]DOWS, BLINDS,

[illegible] PULLEY BLOCKS,

HORSEFORKS, MILKCANS,

Tinware ofall descriptions. We make a Specialty of repairs in our Tin Shop, Dick Latham Superintendent. Give us a call and price our goods before buying.

J. H. WOODIN.

[illegible] Hop Bitters [illegible] of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake, Dandelion, [illegible] all the best and [illegible] properties of all other Bitters, [illegible] greatest Blood Purifier, Liver [illegible], and Life and Health Restoring [illegible] earth.

[illegible] possibly long exist where Hop [illegible] used, so varied and perfect are their [illegible].

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are [illegible] use Hop Bitters. [illegible] you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop B[illegible].

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

NEAHTAWANTA

LAKE ICE!

1882.

inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of first quality Ice which will be delivered at the following rates, commencing April 1st.

IN QUANTITIES FROM

100 to [illegible]0 lbs. daily 20 Cts. per hundred.
500 to 1000 lbs 15 Cts. per hundred.
Over 1000 lbs, 12½ Cts. per hundred.
Private families 10 lbs. per day $7 for Season.
14 to 25 lbs. daily $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private Families season commences May 1st and ends October 31st.

Ice delivered in good order.

E. BREADS.

MUNN & Co PATENTS NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

Lathrop's Summer Song.

We have bought two new snow cases
Pass not by, buy and try;
Candies, toys, cigars and vases,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Fishing poles and tackle new,
Fine as ever spread to view,
And a five cent counter too,
Pass not by, buy and try.
Croquet sets and sets of dishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Potato bugs for luring fishes,
Pass not by, buy and try;
Deep Rock Water, cheap gold rings,
All the fruit each season brings,
And a thousand other things,
Pass not by, buy and try.

LATHROP & SON.

Health is Wealth!

DR E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT a specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, convulsions, Nervous headache, Mental depression, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, loss of memory, involuntary emissions, premature old age, caused by over exertion, self abuse, or over indulgence, which leads to misery decay and death.

One box will cure recent cases. Each box contains one month's treatment. One dollar a box or six boxes for five dollars; sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price. We guarantee six boxes to cure any case. With each order received by us for six boxes accompanied with five dollars, we will send the purchaser our written guarantee to return the money if the treatment does not affect a cure. Guarantees issued only when the treatment is ordered direct from us. Address JOHN C. WEST & CO sole proprietors, 181 & 183 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ill. 29y1

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

[illegible] FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Respt'y Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

SPRING BROOK ICE.

—{o}—

I inform my friends and the public that I have secured a large supply of

First Quality

ice, which will be delivered at the following rates commencing April first, in quantities from

100 to 400 lbs. daily 20 cts per hundred
500 to 1000 lbs. 15 " "
Over 1000 lbs. 12½ " "
Private families 10 pounds per day, $7 per season.
Private families 15 to 25 lbs. per day $9 per season.
Yearly consumers $12 per year.

Private families' season commences May 1st and ends Oct. 31st.

ALL ICE DELIVERED IN GOOD ORDER.

FRED SPAFFORD.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

TO THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate, fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

I CURE FITS!

[illegible] Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, [illegible] Pearl St., New York.

THE BEST Family Magazine Two Dollars.

DEMOREST'S Illustrated MONTHLY.

Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters. Send Twenty Cents for a Specimen Copy to W. JENNINGS DEMOREST Publisher, 17 East Fourteenth Street, New York.

The New Volume (19) commences with November. Send FIFTY CENTS [illegible]

WE DO NOT CLAIM that Hood's Sarsaparilla [illegible] thing, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

MRS. S. S. MOODY.
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by druggists. Price $1, or six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES; CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL, SELLING THE LOWEST AT McCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiv'ual butters, 12c per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates, 50 " "
Tea cups and saucers, 21 " sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete 61 each
Hand lamps, brass or glass, 14 "

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st.

I am your obedient servant.

JAMES McCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S

GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier

And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

Dr. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

THE FULTON TIMES.

Wednesday, Nov. 29, 1882.

NEW PENAL CODE.

It Goes into Operation Friday, December 1, 1882—How Sunday Must be Observed—Blasphemers to be Harshly Dealt With.

Following are the provisions of the penal code providing against the desecration of the Sabbath, which go into effect on the first of December:—

All manner of servile labor, on the first day of the week, is prohibited, excepting in works of necessity or charity.

It is a sufficient defense to a prosecution for servile labor on the first day of the week that the defendant uniformly keeps another day of the week as holy time, and does not labor upon that day, and that the labor complained of was done in such a manner as not to disturb or interrupt other persons in observing the first day of the week as holy time.

All shooting, hunting, fishing, playing, horse racing, gaming or other public sports, exercises, pastimes or shows, upon the first day of the week, and all noise disturbing the peace of the day, are prohibited.

All trades, manufactures, and mechanical employment upon the first day of the week are prohibited.

All manner of public selling, or offering, or exposing for sale publicly of any commodities upon the first day of the week is prohibited, except that meats, milk and fish may be sold at any time before nine o'clock in the morning, and except that food may be sold to be eaten upon the premises where sold, and drugs, medicines and surgical appliances may be sold at any time of day.

All service of legal process of any kind whatever, upon the first day of the week, is prohibited, except in cases of breach of the peace, or apprehended breach of the peace, or when sued out for the apprehension of a person charged with crime or except where such service is especially authorized by statute.

Sabbath breaking is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not less than one dollar nor more than ten dollars, or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding five days or by both.

In addition to the penalty imposed by the last section, all commodities exposed for sale on the first day of the week in violations of the provisions of this chapter shall be forfeited. Upon conviction of the offender by a justice of the peace of a county, or a mayor, recorder or alderman of a city, such officer shall issue a warrant for the seizure of the forfeited articles, which, when seized, shall be sold on one day's notice, and the proceeds paid to the overseers of the poor for the benefit of the poor of the town or city.

Whoever maliciously procures any process in a civil action to be served on Saturday, upon any person who keeps Saturday as holy time, and does not labor on that day, or serves upon him any process returnable on that day, or maliciously procures any civil action to which such person is a party to be adjourned to that day for trial, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

An attempt by means of threats or violence to compel any person to adopt, practice or profess a particular form of religious belief, is a misdemeanor.

A person who willfully prevents by threats or violence another person from performing any lawful act enjoined upon or recommended to such person by the religion which he professes, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

A person who willfully disturbs, interrupts or disquiets an assemblage of people met for religious worship, by any of the acts enumerated in the next section, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

The following acts or any of them, constitute disturbance of a religious meeting:

1. Uttering any profane discourse, committing any rude or indecent act, or making any unnecessary noise, either within the place where such meeting is held, or so near it as to disturb the order and solemnity of the meeting;

2. Engaging in, or promoting, within two miles of the place where religious meetings are held, any racing of animals or gaming of any description;

3. Obstructing, or in any manner without authority of law, within the like distance, free passage along the highway to the place of such meeting.

All processions and parades on Sunday in any city excepting only funeral processions for the actual burial of the dead, and processions to and from a place of worship in connection with a religious service there celebrated, are forbidden; and in such excepted cases there shall be no music, fire-works, discharge of cannon or fire-arms, or other disturbing noise. At a military funeral, however music may be played while escorting the body, but not, within one block of a place of worship where service is then celebrated.

A person willfully violating any provision of this section is punishable by fine not exceeding twenty dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding ten days or by both.

The performance of any tragedy, comedy, opera, ballet, farce, negro minstrelcy, negro or other dancing, or any part or parts therein, or any circus, equestrian, or dramatic performance, or any performance of jugglers, acrobats, or rope dancers, on the first day of the week, is forbidden; and every person aiding in such exhibition, by advertisement or otherwise, and every owner or lessee of any garden, building or other room or place, who leases or lets the same for the purpose of any such exhibition or performance, or who assents to the use of the same for any such purpose, if it be used is guilty of a misdemeanor.

A person guilty of profane swearing at any time or any place is punishable by a fine of one dollar for each offense, and if the offender does not forthwith pay the penalties incurred, with costs, or give security for their payment within six days, he must be committed by warrant to the county jail, for every offense or for any number of offenses on one and the same occasion, for not less than one day nor more than three days.

FATHER IS GETTING WELL.

[illegible]

Fashion Notes.

The [illegible] forms an important part of a neatly arranged home toilet.

Children wear Jerseys, and red is a stylish color for their whole costume, from cap to slippers.

Black silk stockings and black satin slippers are worn to a great extent on full dress occasions.

Paris correspondents say that the reign of scant skirts is over and that we are slowly drifting back to the days when dresses were inflated with crinoline.

The favorite cravat bow is a two-inch square of linen, surrounded by a narrow hemstitched hem, bordered with lace three inches wide and gathered very full.

White gloves and white bonnets are once more in fashion, and will be used together with a great deal of lace, to brighten dark dresses at the theatre and opera.

Ladies who have small shawls of French or Spanish lace can utilize them as fichus by gathering them up slightly upon the shoulders, and at the back, across the waist line, and belting them in over the points, front and back.

Plain velvet dresses are favored. The model is close fitting, the sleeves tight, giving the arm proportion, and in consideration of this fact thin arms are made to look round and handsomely shaped by the dressmakers' art.

The reign of embroidery has only begun, so all authorities agree. Flannels, cashmeres, silks, crepes de Chine; all fine fabrics, come with embroidery wrought on the material for trimming, the borders varying in depth with the price of the robe.

Black lace flounces that have been out of use almost for a generation are being draped on petticoats and trains of the stately dresses worn at dinner parties. Chantilly Spanish, and guipure are the favorite black laces for flounces. Bonnets covered with a scarf of the lace to match are worn with these dresses at receptions.

[Rome Sentinel.

May the good work begun by St. Jacobs Oil continue until rheumatism and neuralgia have been banished from the earth.

[Albany (N. Y.,) Press & Knickerbocker.

Mild Humor.

"Kind sir, for charity's sake, give me five cents to buy a morsel of bread?" Take it my friend; buy a morsel of bread, and drink it to my health."

"The proper study for mankind is man." Pope knew better than to say "woman." Woman is too deep a study for anybody to undertake.

A Newport snob recently went rowing with a small poodle. The boat capsized, the snob was drowned, and the poodle swam ashore, and we are longing to know if this is a case of the survival of the fittest.

An adage amended: Birds of a feather flock on new bonnets.

[New Orleans Picayune.

A "crank" is a man whose mental machinery runs on an eccentric.

[New Haven Register.

A St. Louis horse chews tobacco. We have often seen a fast-driven horse smoke. [Lowell Courier.

The man who travels under an alias may boast that he had made a name for himself. [Boston Transcript.

We understand that church oyster festivals were first introduced by the hard-shell Baptist. [Rochester Post-Express.

"Frank James was a printer." We partially agree with this statement. That is we will compromise by admitting that he was a devil. Dollar store joke. Four of this style for $2.50.

[Laramie Boomerang.

When a man in a new suit of clothes is entering a gin mill with another man, it's going to be wet. When the preacher begins his sermon by saying, "I will divide my subject into twenty-eight heads," it's going to be dry. When the members of the brass band all swell out and grow very red in the face, it's a sign of wind.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.

REV. C. F. BROOKS

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family and are far superior to Quinine. 27w2

Luck at Cards.

A card-hunting wife can upon occasion set her scruples aside. Soon after the close of the late war, General Forrest and his wife stopped at an hotel in Memphis, and upon examining their purses, found the sum total of their wealth amounted to seven dollars and thirty cents. The general being due that evening at a house where poker was sure to be played, proposed that he should tempt fortune to the full extent of his means, and asked his wife to pray for his success. She would not promise; but he felt she was for him, and knew how it would be. Let him tell the rest himself.

"They had tables—one was a quarter-dollar table, one a half and one a dollar and a half. I wanted to make my seven dollars last as long as I could make it, so I sat down to the quarter table. By dinner time I had won enough to do better, and after we had eaten sat down to the dollar and a half table. Sometimes I won, and then again I'd lose, until nigh upon midnight, when I had better luck. I knew Mary was sitting up anxious, and it made me cool. I set my hat on the floor, and every time I won I'd drop the money in the hat. I sat there until day broke, and then I took my hat up in both hands, smashed it on my head and went home. When I got to my room, there sat Mary in her gown. She seemed tired and anxious, and though she looked mighty hard at me, she didn't say a word. I walked right up to her, and emptied my hat right into the lap of her gown, and then we sat down and counted it. Just fifteen hundred dollars even, and that gave me a start."

Mr. Clay's devotion to cards did not disturb his wife's equanimity in the least. Asked by a Northern belle if it did not distress her that her husband should gamble, the candid old lady replied: 'Not at all, my dear; he most always wins.'

MR. GEORGE DODGE SPEAKS.

[illegible]

"Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that

95 per Cent.

of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON

9m6

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

—:0:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

Estimates given on all kinds of Roof-[illegible]

[illegible] Reward! [illegible] sent by mail prepaid on receipt of a [illegible] stamp. 38y1.

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock

SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

---

BROWN McALLISTER & Co.

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14*th Street*,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

MILLSTONES for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS AT

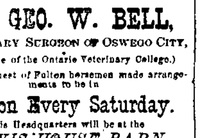
ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 6 p. m,

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

Telegrams and communications addressed to Foucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 26tf

---

LEGAL.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given [illegible] against Lewis [illegible] late of the town of [illegible] county, deceased, to present their accounts, with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned [illegible] town of Granby, Oswego county, N. Y., on or before the first day of December, 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

D. R. GILBERT, Executor.

Dated June 1, 1882.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin late of the town of Hastings in said county, deceased, to present their accounts with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y., on or before the first day of December 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

JOHN H. WOODIN, Executor of Peter Woodin, deceased.

Dated, May 26, 1882.

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for Oswego Co., during the year 1882 and until further ordered. There will be a Petit Jury for each term for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

Feb. 13th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 22d, " " Oswego.
Sep. 12th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, THE FULTON TIMES, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Parish Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.

N. W. NUTTING, Oswego County Judge.

4w

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

New York Safety Fund.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York, Assets, over $2,400,983.93

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,083,535.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO., NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Back ed by a company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,708.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
Fulton, N. Y.

46

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA of HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX " do
CONNECTICUT " "
FIRE ASSOCIATION of PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA " NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe of ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION of "
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN "
LONDON and LANCASHIRE "
HAMBURG, BREMEN of GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

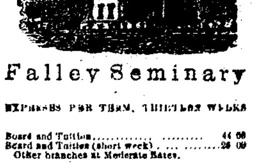
In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	26 00

Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

THE FULTON TIMES.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1882.

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office Second Floor, Sanderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of [illegible] cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Rates of advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

THE MISHAPS OF A NIGHT.

The district school in the village of Hollythorn was taught by Miss Eva Stanley, who boarded around among the pupils, and was considered the paragon of teachers.

The last week previous to the holiday vacation she had been boarding with Mrs. Carpenter, who was making gigantic preparations for guests from New York.

"You never met my brothers, Eva" she said. "There's Sam, and George and Johnny, the youngest, and such times as they have when they get out here and rusticate as they call it! But dear me, I don't get much rest or peace, for they are like a lot of cadets let out of a military academy. The last time they ever visited me together, John and Sam actually cut a pane of glass from the window and pelted George from my best room with snow. You see there is always a regular strife for that particular room, for the bed is a spring one, and they say they don't sleep on any other in the city. But they don't get it this time, that's certain, for I intend to give you that room, and so end the controversy."

"I had just as soon occupy some other room, Mrs. Carpenter, and do not wish to discommode your brothers."

"No, you sha'n't, Eva," peremptorily exclaimed the hostess; "and what is the use of your going home vacation week; you can stay here just as well as not and do your sewing on my machine."

The subject was dropped and the entire household retired early, for on the morrow the brothers—young, ardent and full of life—were to be there. But without sending any word of their intention, they had concluded to take the train which would land them at Hollythorn about bed time. George and John did so, and when seated in the car began to speculate upon the absence of Sam:

"No reason in the world why he should not have been here," said George. "I can't make it out unless he has taken the five o'clock train by mistake."

"Not a bit of it," laughed John, who fancied he understood the entire program. "It is most likely he took that train on purpose to get into Hannah's parlor bedroom, and make us take up with straw ticks and feathers."

"I didn't think of that but I reckon you are right. We must contrive to get him out somehow."

The brothers put their heads together and laughed merrily over some scheme for outwitting Sam, and accordingly when the train reached Hollythorn, about 11 o'clock, they approached the house of their sister in a very stealthy manner.

Climbing the fence in the rear, they softly opened the window and obtained access to the pantry, where they demolished a whole mince pie and a quantity of doughnuts. Then, with appetites appeased, they removed their boots and prepared to investigate the "best room," stole along the hall, which was dimly lighted by the moon, ascending the stairs and reached the door. The faint rays of the moon disclosed a chair piled up with clothing, and they could distinctly trace the outlines of a form beneath the bed clothes. A few words were exchanged, and then as lightly as if shod by down they drew near.

"All ready," whispered George.

Quick as thought they seized upon the form of the sleeper, bedclothes and all, bore it swiftly down stairs and out in the snow, and were about to deposit it into a huge drift, when a shrill scream broke the stillness of the night, and oh, horror! it was that of a woman! And in their consternation they dropped their burden plump into the drift. [illegible] and carried her into the house. But they had already been heard, and the sister came rushing into the hall just as she appeared. [illegible]

[illegible] is to be done about it? and who do you suppose she is, George?"

"Some guest of Hannah, of course, and young and pretty at that. I don't know how it is with you, but I feel particulary small and cheap—would sell myself at a very low price."

"Cheap?" sneered John. "I would actually give myself away this blessed minute, and throw something in to boot. What are we to do? I can't stay. I believe I shall dig out of this place and get back to the city before morning. I have not got the courage to face the music."

He began hastily putting on his boots. and would have carried his threat into execution, but for the appearance of Hannah, who asserted her authority.

"You are not going a single step, John; I don't wonder you feel ashamed of yourselves. What on earth possessed you is more than I can tell."

"That's right, Han. pitch in, scold away, I'll take any amount of talking just now. I am as meek as a lamb. But who is it we've played so shabby a trick on?" "Trick! I should think it was. Why, it is Eva Stanly, our school teacher, and this is her week to board here. I don't believe the poor girl will ever get over her fright. It is too bad; I shouldn't wonder if she had taken her death, being dragged out of a warm bed this time of night and being dropped into a snow drift in that fashion. No wonder she cried poor thing."

"Cried, did she?" repeated George with a groan.

"I should think she did. I just took her in my arms and let her have her cry out, while I explained to her how she happened to be mistaken for Sam, and became the victim of your mad pranks."

"That was neat in you, Han." said George, "I am awfully glad you hugged the poor little thing. Wish you had given her a brotherly squeeze for me—'pon my honor I do."

"And how on earth do you expect us to stay and take the consequences?" asked John, beginning to look serious. "I am for taking myself off instanter. I had rather face a masked battery than this pretty school teacher, after making such fools of ourselves."

"I don't care if you had," answered his sister indignantly. "The only way to do is to stay and brave it out and both of you apologize for your rudeness."

"But Sam! How the deuce are we to get along with him? You know well enough, Han., we shall never hear the end of it from him."

"If you two can keep the secret, I'll find a way to silence Bridget, and it is a subject Eva will not care to have discussed, and fortunately my husband is away from home. So go to bed and rest contented."

Meanwhile the brother Sam had reached the depot a few minutes too late. He found the train he was to have taken already gone, but on consulting a time table he found that another train started two hours later, and so decided to take it. He figured to himself, as he impatiently crowded into an empty seat, and was being whirled along at a rapid rate, how snugly his brothers had ensconced themselves in the best bed, which by right belonged to him, he being the eldest; and consummated a plan to get even with them.

Sometime after midnight he reached Hollythorn, and reaching his sister's house he scouted around until he found a way of entrance into the kitchen, where he deposited his luggage and removed his boots. Then he quietly stole up stairs and opened the door of the best room. "Sure enough," thought he, "my fine chaps, you are in clover!" For there were not to be mistaken signs of the room being occupied.

To think of coping with their united strength by dragging them forth was not practicable, but there stood the pitcher of water and he knew that a good dousing with the icy fluid would bring them out soon enough.

He lifted the pitcher, approached the bed, and suddenly dashed the contents upon the sleeper.

Such a torrent of screams as he had never before heard rang through the house, and before Sam could collect his senses, the door opened, and Hannah, George and John rushed in, clothed in scanty apparel—Hannah with a frightened look upon her face and a lamp in her hand which revealed the whole scene.

There, sitting in bed, with her hair dripping like a mermaid, her night dress deluged, her face colorless, and looking terror, was the young school mistress; and there was Sam with the empty pitcher, foolishly staring around like an idiot at the havoc he had made. Hannah, George and John instantly understood the situation, and the latter, at the command of Hannah, dragged Sam away, while she assisted the terrified and drenched girl to dry clothing, and then took her to her own room and bed, explaining, for the second time, the mishaps of the night.

"I'll keep you with me now, my poor child," she said, though, with difficulty restraining her laughter. "These boys are nicely come up with at any rate; and if it wasn't for your being so terribly frightened, and the way my best bed has been used, I would not care. But you are safe now."

Hannah kissed her charge, and went to see the boys, who, as soon as they were fairly shut in the regions below, [illegible] made a grand mistake. How do you like it, Sam?"

"I confess I see the point, but I can't see the joke. It is a most outrageous shame."

At this juncture Hannah came in and began rating us soundly, thereby letting out the whole story. It was now Sam's turn to laugh.

Miss Eva was not visible next morning, and Hannah announced that she was sick with a severe cold. Hannah had her unruly crew under her thumb for once in her life, and had the satisfaction of seeing them behave with some dignity. They appeared never to forget that there was an invalid in the house, and went on tip-toe about. Sam, who seemed to take the entire responsibility upon his own shoulders, sent off slyly to New York for choice fruit and flowers, which he induced his sister to convey to the young lady with the most abject apologies and regrets.

In a couple of days Eva was able to come down stairs. She was looking quite pale, but lovely, and, of course divinely, when presented by Mrs. Carpenter to the three brothers, who behaved quite well considering the unpleasantness of their situation.

But Sam, who had broken the ice by means of his presents, was most at ease, and by virtue of his age and experience constituted himself the proprietor, and was constan.ly on hand to offer Miss Eva a thousand nameless attentions; and before the week was out, John declared that Sam was "done for."

"Gone under completely!" echoed George, with one of his dismal groans.

Hannah, singing Eva's praises, commended Sam's choice, and recommended marriage to all of them as the only sobering process she was acquainted with. It is a piece of advice, however, that they did not appear inclined to follow, notwithstanding Sam's happy lot with the pretty school-mistress of Hollythorn.

She often reminds her brothers-in-law of her unceremonious introduction to a snow drift at the dead of night, and they retaliate with the shower-bath given her by Sam.

Sept. 14th, 1880.

Hop Bitters Co., TORONTO.

I have been sick for the past six years, suffering from dyspepsia and general weakness. I have used three bottles of Hop Bitters, and they have done wonders for me. I am well and able to work and eat and sleep well. I cannot say too much for Hop Bitters.

29w2 SIMON ROBBINS.

A corset is nothing more nor less than a waist-basket.

The Toledo (O.) Bee says: Col. J. Dorse Alexandar, editor Barnesville (Ga.) News, has been cured of rheumatism, by the use of St. Jacods Oil.

The strongest tied in the affairs of men is marriage.

☞For five cents, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., will send colored samples of all colors of Diamond Dyes, with directions.

FROM SYRACUSE, N. Y.

"I felt weak and languid; had palpitation of the heart and numbness of the limbs. Burdock Blood Bitters have certainly relieved me They are most excellent." Mr. J. M. Wright.

Man has but little here below, but when he dies he gets a lot.

"Example is better than precept.' It is well known that dyspepsia, bilious' attacks, headache and many other ills can only be cureb by removing their cause. Kidney Wort has been proved to be the most effectual remedy for these, and for habitual costiveness, which so afflicts millions of the American people.

Aminadab says the balance of trade is generally some two-ounces short.

KICKED OUT.

How many people there are who are struggling to rise in this world that are kicked down and out by envious rivals. Thomas' Electrc Oil never "kicked out" its patrons. It is true blue. For throat affections, asthma and catarrh it is a certain and rapid cure.

A country editor has been made the victim of a diamond robbery. His opponent stole the ace of that suit out of the pack.

DON'T BE FAINT-HEARTED.

If you are in trouble look up, hold on, gives the blues good by. If you are in pain, have a lameness, have an ache of any kind, go to the druggist and ask him for Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It will do you good every time.

Why is a railroad so patriotic? Give it up. Because it is bound to the country by the strongest ties.

"HOME SWEET HOME."

This song is very good in its way, but is there any sickness in the household? If so, home cannot be always pleasant. We take especial pleasure in recommending Burdock Blood Bitters, a bona fide and certain cure for dyspepsia, and all diseases of the liver and kidneys.

A great artist: "The art that conceals art," as the thief remarked when he slid an expensive oil painting under his coat.

THE BOSTON STAR

says Dr. Kaufmann's great book on Diseases, its causes and home cure with fine colored plates, is the best work ever published. A copy will be sent free to anybody who sends two 3 cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 29w2

"Plug hats cause baldness," says an exchange. We don't believe it. Take a watermelon, for instance. That is bald long before it is old enough to have a plug.

HOW UNPLEASANT

It is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting [illegible]

BROOKLYN Y. M. C. A.

The Workings of the Young Men's Christian Association.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1882.—The Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn was organized in 1859, and since that time has grown until its roll contains over eleven hundred names. Young ladies are admitted as associate members and this of course makes it more interesting—for the young men. The rooms are situated on the corner of Fulton Avenue and Gallatin Place, and consists of a large hall, two parlors, gymnasium and several class rooms.

A stroll through the building reveals bright, airy and tastily furnished apartments which are always open to the public. In the general office is found the secretary and his assistants, also desks furnished with writing material for the use of members. Doors from this room lead to the hall library and gymnasium. The library is well stocked with the best books of English literature and here also is kept all the daily papers and magazines, which can be read at pleasure by one and all.

Prof. Lyons has charge of the gymnasium and under his guidance the many pupils are developing into young giants. This gymnasium is one of the most complete in the city and the course of instruction is very beneficial. Both parlors are used for socials and also for noonday and evening prayer meetings. The society boasts of a fine orchestra, debating clubs and literary societies. A thorough course in German, French and book keeping, penmanship and phonography is given each winter by competent teachers. The twenty lectures that will entertain the members and their friends, includes as a star course, the Dudley-Buck quartette, Prof. Cumnock Rev. Jas. Cook, and the Beebe, Chatterton-Bohrer Concert Company. The rest of the programme is filled by local talent. Any young man who is sick or out of work can apply for help and a committee appointed by the association gives him the necessary aid.

New York's association is larger and the building more imposing but after all the work is about the same. They serve a light lunch every Sunday evening to members and any person who happens to be in the building. Branches from New York are found in the Bowery and also in some of the slips along the water front.

There are men in these associations who have devoted their whole time money and labor to this work and the good accomplished by one person is something wonderful. The outside world seldom hears of the many good deeds of these men and I suppose it is just as well, for they would get no more credit. WANDERING JEW.

A VOICE FROM THE PRESS.

I take this opportunity to the efficacy of your Hop Bitters. Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and composed of bad whiskey, we were agreeably surprised at their mild taste, just like a cup of tea. A Mrs. Cresswell and a Mrs. Connor, friends, haue likewise tried, and pronounced them the best medicine they have ever taken for building up strength and toning the system. I was troubled with costiveness, headache and want of appetite. My ailments are now all gone. I have a yearly contract with a doctor to look after the health of my family, but I need him not now.

July 25, '78. S. GILLILAND,
27w2 Pittsburg, Pa.

Doctor to an acquaintance—"Mr. Jones, I am glad to see you have recovered." Mr. Jones—"Yes, you have saved my life; how can I thank you sufficiently?" Doctor—"I saved your life? Why I didn't attend you." Mr. Jones—"Yes—and that is why I am so grateful."

If you are a frequenter or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all new countries—ague, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

LUDDINGTON, Mich., Feb. 2, 1880.

I have sold Hop Bitters for four years and there is no medicine that surpasses them for billious attacks, kidney complaints and many diseases incident to this malarial climate.

20w2 H. T. ALEXANDER.

"What is the difference betwane the youths' and the men's department at the big clothing shop?" asked an Irishman of a friend; and, receiving no reply, he continued, "Because at the wan I buys me clothes, and at the other I clothes me b'ys."

A DELICIOUS APPETIZER,

That insures digestion and enjoyment of food; a tonic that brings strength to the weak and rest to the nervous; a harmless diarrhœa cure that don't constipate—just what every family needs—Parker's Ginger Tonic. 27w4

If your son asks something of you which you know ought not to be granted, do not hesitate to say "No." It is a wise father, says the proverb, who no's his own son.

"AN ODD STREET SCENE."

He was seen in front of the office rubbing himself against the telegraph pole like a flea-bitten dog. "What is wrong?" We ventured to ask. "Gotem, "gent," he said laconically; have 'em every spring, small lumps form about the rectum; sore to the touch; they itch like blazes; a telegraph pole's like an oasis in the desert to me." Here then was poor humanity suffering from a complaint which a few applications of Swayne's Ointment for Itching Piles would have thoroughly eradicated. 20w4

"If Jonah had been a modern fisherman he would have said that he was caught by a dozen whales."—[illegible]

ST. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT
IS A SURE CURE
for all diseases of the Kidneys and
LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.
KIDNEY-WORT

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

IT IS Dangerous!

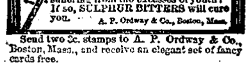
Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the back Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave. TRADE MARK



BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.

☞Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
No 106 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y
Sold in Fulton by R. E. PHILLIPS.
C. W. SNOW & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

F. D. VANWAGENEN JR,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond& Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

EMENY & GRIDLEY
(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)
General Jobbers in Wood.
PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,
And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.
[illegible]

An Elegant line of New Fall Goods Just Received at
FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."
Opposite Lewis House, - Fulton, N.Y.

We are now receiving direct from New York and Boston the finest stock of Dry Goods ever shown in Fulton. We have a Splendid line of Black Goods, consisting of Black French Cashmere, Henrietta Cloths, Damasee and Crape Cloths, all of which will be sold at Astonishingly Low Prices. Also a large assortment of French Cashmere, Flannels, Suitings &c., in all the new shades viz.: Army Blue, Nile Green &c., &c.

A magnificent assortment Spanish Laces and Passamenteries at low prices. All the New Styles in Buttons. 100 Gross Dress Buttons, which will be sold on Saturdays only, at one cent per doz.

100 Pieces New Ginghams at from 6¼ to 12½c. Our Ladies' and Gents' under vests at 50 cents are of superior quality for the price.

Splendid Bargains in every department! Everything guaranteed as represented or money refunded! You will Save Money by examining our stock before making your Fall Purchases.

E. B. FAY.

Fulton Business Cards

DR. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 88

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 52 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 8 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 85

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and
BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography [illegible]

Ten Cents [illegible] for the use of [illegible]

NEW GOODS
AT THE
BAZAAR
THIS WEEK.
Underwear, Woolen Goods &c.
Come And See.

Library Lamps,
Just Received, at a Great Bargain.
Glassware at Cost.
A Magnficent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,
Ladies AND Gents Furnishing Goods
Under The Electric Light
Every evening at
New Dry Goods House of
BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,
14 South Salina Street.
Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED
An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

L. H. [illegible]

[illegible] his second annual [illegible] Congress. In his treatment [illegible] leading questions of the [illegible] himself to be in sympathy [illegible] reform movements wherever [illegible] He recommends a reduction [illegible] internal taxes; favors an honest [illegible] of the tariff; is in sympathy [illegible] service reform and against [illegible] A notable [illegible] in the message is the passage regarding to the river and harbor bill. President Arthur has shown himself to be a practical statesman and his message is replete with valuable suggestions.

THE TIMES presents it entire to its patrons and it is worthy the careful perusal of every reader.

THE transit of venus to-day.

THE public debt was reduced $5,500,-000 in the month of december.

UNDER the new penal code attempted suicide is made a crime, and those who fail in killing themselves may be sent to jail.

JAY GOULD is 46 years of age; five feet in height, weighs 111 pounds and controls over $300,000,000 worth of property.

IT is reported that Governor Cleveland is going to have his own way in the matter of appointments and not to be dictated by wily politicians.

THE vote cast in favor of the canal amendment in the state was 495,993, to 185,708 against, a majority of 310,385 for the freedom of the canals.

THE second trial of the Star route cases commenced at Washington yesterday. All the defendants were present and with the exception of Senator Dorsey, who is seriously ill.

CONGRESSMAN Updegraff, of the seventeenth Ohio district died Friday. He was a republican and was elected in October by a small majority. A special election will be ordered to fill vacancy.

ARABI PASHA has been found guilty by a court martial of treason and sentenced to banishment. He will be allowed to choose a suitable retreat within the British Empire. Why not come to America, "The home of the free etc."

THE New York Assembly is composed of 53 lawyers, 5 journalists, 2 bankers, 4 farmers, 2 contractors, 3 hotel keepers, 1 dentist, 1 produce dealer, 1 plumber. 1 police justice, 2 book agents and 13 gentlemen who have no visible means of support.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND very, sensibly declines a military escort on the day of his inauguration. He says: "I am exceedingly desirous there should be as little ceremony as is possible." Surely, we are returning to our primitive and sensible form of government.

WHOM are the public to hold responsible for safety in traveling? Melius, to whom neglect of duty the Spuyten Duyvil disaster, in which Senator Wagner was killed, was attributed, was on Friday acquitted of the charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree.

THE Buffalo News, one the brightest papers upon our exchange list is in a quandary. It seems the height of folly to the News to carry a barrel of flour from Minneapolis to New York for forty or fifty cents and charge a man who weighs less and loads and unloads himself thirty or forty dollars.

THE population of some of the principal cities of the United States in 1880 was: Albany, 90,758; Baltimore, 332,-313; Boston, 369,832; Brooklyn, 566,663; Buffalo, 155,134; Chicago, 503,185; Cincinnati, 255,139; Cleveland, 160,146; Detroit, 116,340; Jersey City, 120,722; Louisville, 123,758; Milwaukee, 115,712; Newark, 136,508; New Orleans, 216,090; New York, 1,206,299; Philadelphia, 847,-170; St Louis, 350,518; San Francisco, 233,959; Washington, 147,293.

R. PORTER LEE, the bank president who wrecked a Buffalo bank was last week sentenced in U. S. Court in Syracuse by Judge Wallace to ten years in the Erie county penitentiary at Buffalo. It is a case that is rich in warning to those who are led away from the true business course by financial recklessness.

He was charged with embezzling $190,-000 and ruining many business men. In his care were funds, the sole earnings of a life time, of hundreds of poor men and women. His punishment is just.

THE Penal Code has become a law. The experience of Sunday in New York was enough to satisfy most any one that a modification is not only reasonable but necessary. Barbers were arrested for plying their trades; some of the justices holding that the work was a necessity, and others imposing fines. Bootblacks, newsdealers, milkmen and tobacco dealers were arrested by wholesale.

At a meeting of the police commissioners Saturday they adopted a resolution that the running of the elevated and surface railroads, ferry-boats, and the delivery of ice cream and the Sunday issue of metropolitan newspapers, were not to be regarded as violations of the Penal Code.

A proper observance of the Sabbath is conceded to be just and proper but the objectionable and inconsistent features of the Penal Code will have to be remedied, for as they now stand they are a ridiculous monument to their framers.

Farmers! Go to Mrs. Montague's for your oysters.

FARM FOR SALE.

[illegible] farm of 110 acres in the [illegible] four miles north of Fulton [illegible] Battle Island [illegible] About 15 acres of timber [illegible] in a high state of [illegible] bearing apple trees [illegible]

Mr. [illegible] a copy of the Times an old and [illegible] paper. It is the Ulster Gazette published at Kingston, N. Y., [illegible] 1800, and looks like a few days [illegible] 83 years of age.

In typographical appearance and general make-up it is unique as compared with the style of to-day. One advertisement reads: "For sale the one half of a saw mill; also a stout, healthy active negro wench." There were domestic troubles in those days. Peter Von Steenberg forbids merchants from giving his wife Hannah goods on his account.

Europe was a far off country in those days. In this issue of January 4, the publisher announces:—

"By the arrival of a ship from Liverpool we are put in possession of London papers to the 20th of October, inclusive."

In the old paper is a full account of the burial of George Washington. We quote:

WASHINGTON ENTOMBED.

George Town, Dec. 20, 1799.

On Wednesday laft, the mortal part of WASHINGTON the Great—the Father of his Country and the Friend of Man, was configned to the tomb with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

A multitude of persons affembled, from many miles round, at Mount Vernon, the abode and laft residence of the illuftrious chief. There were the groves, the spacious avenues, beautiful and sublime scenes, the noble manfion—but alas! the auguft inhabitant was now no more. The great soul was gone. His mortal part was there indeed; but, ah! how affecting! how awful the spectacle of such worth and greatness, thus to mortal eyes, fallen!—Yes! fallen! fallen!

In the long and lofty portico, where oft the Hero walked in all his glory, now lay the shrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and sereno, seemep to depress the dignity of the spirit which lately dwelt in that lifeless form! There those who paid the laft sad honors to the benefactors of his country, took an impressive—a farewell view.

On the ornament, at the head of the coffin, was inscribed SURGE AD JUDICUM—about the middle of the coffin, GLORIA DEO—and on the filver plate,

GENERAL
GEORGE WASHINGTON
Departed this life on the 14th of December, 1799, Æt. 68.

Between three and four o'clock, the sound of artillery from a veffel in the river, firing minute guns, awoke afrefh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was moved—a band of mufic with mournful melody melted the soul in all its tenderness of woe.

When the procession had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn, on the bank of the Potomac, where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched towards the Mount and formed their lines—the Clergy, the Masonic Brothers and the Citizens, descended to the Vault, and the funeral service of the church was performed.—The firing was repeated from the veffel in the river, and the sound echoed from the woods and hills around.

Three general discharges by the infantry—the cavalry and 11 pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the Vault, paid the laft tribute to the entombed Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed Hero.

The sun was now setting. Alas! the SON OF GLORY was set forever. No the name of WASHINGTON—the American President and General—will triumph over DEATH! The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate the future ages!

Overcoats for the Millions.

An index of the term given to the trade by the approach of winter weather may be found in the crowded salesroom of "The Famous," Nos. 2 and 3 Wieting block. Never before have we seen such crowded stores, and never before—and this is the secret, probably—were prices so close to rock bottom figures. The proprietors of "The Famous" are rather frank in stating their methods, and seem to court competition as a means of showing their stock and prices to better advantage. The secret—or underlying principles, rather—of their success is their continuous and untiring and successful efforts of placing for sale upon their counters the best makes of eastern garments that ready cash, energy and their acknowledged ability and long experience in business may procure. Clothing and cloths both may be bought cheaper in large than in small quantities, and the latest styles may be seized upon, and unheard of bargains procured oftener and more quickly in the heart of the metropolis than elsewhere. Overcoats are the rush just now, and they are selling like hot cakes. These garments comprise an endless variety, and appeal to the tastes of neatly dressed gentlemen. The prices range anywhere from $1.50 for a boy's overcoat, to $35 for silk and satin lined overcoats of the choicest imported material. "The Famous" is now making grand preparations for the holidays, and those of our readers who are non-residents and may be fortunate enough to visit Nos. 2 and 3 Wieting block, in due time, will have an opportunity of witnessing an extraordinary Metropolitan show well worth the price of the fare to Syracuse and back. What this display will consist of we are not at liberty to state, but we don't hesitate to say that, judging "The Famous," by the past, it will be altogether new, a work of art and will attract people to their place of business from morning to evening till evening. "The Famous," ever grateful for the large patronage receiving, takes particular delight to deal out handsome and useful Christmas presents to their boy customers.

D. C. SKADEN'S

is the best place in Oswego county to buy silver plated ware for cash.

S. P. [illegible] $7.50 per doz.

[illegible]

[illegible]

F. E. BACON

Is Receiving an Elegant Line ot Goods for the Holidays. Having sold out most of our early purchases we are now prepared to give our customers the advantage of 10 to 20 per cent deduction upon our new purchases having received the same from our Wholesale Dealers. New, Bright, Fresh, Stylish Goods every week bought and sold for cash, and please MARK further no one sells cheaper. Our motto "Always lead, never follow" both as regards style and price.

F. E. BACON.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Palermo.

PALERMO, Dec. 4.—Hannan's Thanksgiving party passed off very pleasantly with about eighty couple in attendance.

Alphonso Diefendorf is quite sick with inflammation of the lungs.

Austin Tooley of Buffalo is visiting his brothers, George and James Tooley.

Dame Rumor hath it that one of Mexico's young men is about to claim for his bride, one of Palermo's fair daughters. We congratulate the young man on his choice. We have not been informed whether he will sever(ence) his connection with the drug store or not.

C.

South Scriba.

SOUTH SCRIBA, Dec. 4—About fifty friends and neighbors of Mr. Linus Parker gave him a surprise Thanksgiving. Among the guests were several Fulton people. Mr. Parker is a former resident of Fulton.

We are enjoying excellent sleighing.

You ask what makes Charlie Lawton look so smiling? It is on account of a permanent boarder which arrived yesterday, a nine pound girl.

Mrs. Carter is holding revival meetings at the Greenman school house with but very little success.

Our school is prospering finely under the management of Miss Mary Connor of Oswego.

Q.

Granby.

GRANBY, Dec. 5—Last Thursday Mr. Hiram Lewis of North Granby had tracheotomy or the opening of the windpipe performed on him by Drs. Milne, Bulger and Jones. The operation was made for the purpose of prolonging his life—for when the Doctors reached his house he was nearly dead from strangulation. This condition was caused by an abnormal growth in the larynx or what might be called Adam's apple. At the time of writing he is lying very quietly, breathing easy, with temperature and respiration about normal. His age is about 70 years, and the physicians are of the opinion as they have removed a portion of this abnormal growth, the assurance of extension of life or eventual recovery is probable.

J. C. W.

C. E. Sackett has floor oil cloth in all colors and widths.

Some Interesting Figures.

It is no wonder that Americans take naturally to arithmetic. We love ciphering, because all the tables we compile reveal our great national progress. The census shows, that while in 1870 we had 5,922,471 agriculturists, the number increased in 1880 to 10,710,000. In 1870 we had 2,707,421 manufacturers, which number increased in 1880 to 5,250,000. The wages in our manufacturing establishments increased from $378,878,-966 in 1860, to $1,500,000,000 in 1880. Then look at the vast accumulation of property in this country. In 1800 the wealth of England was estimated at 9,-000,000,000, while the United States was but little over 1,000,000,000, In 1880 the figures stood: Great Britain, 44,000,-000,000, the United States, 55,500,000,-000. These are gigantic sums, and represent enormous growth The United States to-day is the richest nation on the globe, and its accumulations are the result, not of economy, but of a wise manipulation of the forces of nature Vast as has been the accumulation of our wealth, it is nothing to what the future censuses will show, for it is not too extravagant to hope thae by 1950 the United States will not only be the most populous nation in the world, but that its wealth will be greater than the accumulated riches of all Europe.

H. Gwyn has closed out his stock of groceries and will retire from the business temporarily.

An infant child of William and Nellie Ingraham died in this village Saturday aged six months. Funeral was held Monday at 1 o'clock p. m.

Levi Montague left Monday evening for New York city. He will sojourn this winter at Sailors' Snug Harbor, Staten Island.

THE TIMES presents President Arthur's message to its readers to-day in a supplement. It is generally the custom of country journals to give the message in the paper, thereby crowding out out everything of local interest. THE TIMES has obviated this, though at some expense and trouble, and we trust the effort will be appreciated.

FOR SALE—A five year old working horse. Sound and gentle. Enquire corner of State and Third street of 29 H. COOK.

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Co's. 26

ROUND ABOUT US.

What our Neighbors are Doing—News Sheared from our Exchanges.

Parish is to have a fire bell.

The Hannibal News has a new cylinder printing press.

Potatoes are being shipped from Central Square at 50 cents per bushel.

The will of Madame Seabra was admitted to probate in Mexico, Monday.

A national bank has been organized at Adams and the capital stock all subscribed.

Ten sheep belonging to Dan Scott, of Minetto, were killed by dogs Thursday night.

But little attention was paid to the provisions of the new code in Oswego, Sunday.

L. P. Storms of Hannibal, has sold his farm and contemplates moving west in the spring.

The residence of Shubel Peck, in South Scriba burned Saturday with its contents, partially insured.

Nicholas Willis, one of the oldest citizens of Oswego, died Saturday, aged 87. He had resided there since 1832.

Mexico is soon to have a new postmaster. Mr. Charles T. Alfred will probably be the lucky individual.

Samuel Remington, one of the founders and owners of the Remington gun works at Ilion, died in New York Saturday night.

George Benedict, of Phœnix, advertises for all persons whom he has wronged. If there are any alive, he says, he will do his best to make reparation.

A donation for the benefit of the pastor of the Baptist society of Gilberts Mills will be held at the church on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, Dec. 13th.

The body of Watson Wiley, mate of the wrecked schooner Henry Folger, and brother of O. Wiley of Oswego was found Sunday and forwarded to Cape Vincent.

The Phœnix paper mill has passed into the hands of Messrs E. Merry and C. W. Avery. John E. Waugh will act as superintendent and the manufacture of Manilla tissue paper will be continued.

Even the skunk has found a champion. Supervisor Boshart, of Lewis Co., has introduced a resolution for the preservation of the pole-cat in the interest of the hop-growers of that country.

A billiard room has been recently opened in Central Square. Rev D. D. Owen, pastor of the Baptist church in that village, publishes a strong protest against it in this week's issue of the News.

Colonel James Doyle died in Oswego Friday, aged 56. He went to the war as captain of Co. "K" 110th N. Y. V., and was subsequently commissioned Lieutenant-colonel of the 2d Florida cavalry. He has held many offices of trust having been collector, school commissioner, city clerk, sheriff and under-sheriff.

Oswego Palladium—The charges preferred against county clerk Stowell by Thomas Moore, jr., are at Albany, and Mr. Stowell's answer has been received. When the governor will act in the matter is not known, but the general idea seems to be that no further attention will be paid to the charges, in as much as Mr. Stowell goes out of office on the first of January.

Orville Robinson died at his home in Oswego, Friday afternoon, aged 81. Robinson commenced to practice law in 1827, and was a distinguished member at the bar. He was surrogate and district attorney of Oswego county and in 1833, 1835 and 1837, he was elected to the assembly, and in 1843 was elected to congress to represent the Oswego and Madison district. In 1853 he was again elected to the assembly, and was made speaker. In 1858 he was appointed collector of customs at Oswego.

The trial of James Hawkes for the murder of Amelia Hull in Syracuse in July last was begun Monday. The two lived together. Hawkes met the woman as she was returning from a neighboring saloon with a pail of beer and plunged a knife into her breast, causing almost instant death. There was no defense. The prisoner's counsel appealed for mercy on the ground that the crime was committed while Hawkes was crazy with liquor, and was not predetermined. The jury returned a verdick of murder in the second degree. He will be sentenced to-morrow and will probably receive a life sentence.

This year's crop in the New York hop rgion, embracing the counties of Otsego, Oneida, Madison, Schoharie and Montgomery, is something over 16,000,000 pounds, and the growers have received on an average about 60 cents a pound, or over $9,600,000. Infatuated by this year's dazzling figures, many people are rushing into hop growing. These new yards will not be in full bearing till year after next, when it may be expected that the prices may be as remarkably low as this year they have been remarkably high—indeed, it is said that one dealer in Utica has made a contract with a western brewer to furnish his supply of hops next year at 25 cts. and the year after at 15 cts. a pound.

Dress flannels in all colors, also those 25 cent [illegible] C. E. Sackett.

[illegible]

He who his clothing buys and pays,
Will come again in future days,
to deal at

ROSENBLOOMS'!

STRAW WANTED!

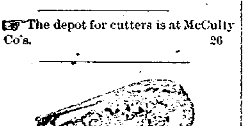
For which will pay Five Dollars per ton for Wheat or Oat and Six dollars per ton for Rye straw delivered at mill.
24m1 WM. WAUGH & BRO.

☞Call and see the New Genuine Singer Sewing machines at Bristol's. Sold at popular prices. 20t2

☞Buy your Coffees where you can get fresh roasted (nearly every day) a DRAPER'S Fulton and Oswego Falls t ores. 47

Hosiery and underwear for ladies' gentlemen, children, comprising all styles at prices that we guarantee.
C. E Sackett.

☞The depot for cutters is at McCulty & Co's. 26



Almost Human

The Norton Door Check and Spring.

NO SLAMMING OF DOORS!
NO BREAKING OF GLASS!
SILENT AND PROMPT.

WATERMAN,
Sole Agent.

Nov. 15tf

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements. Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.
12 G. E. SQUIER, Prop.

VERY DESIRABLE
To Know the Fact that
WATERMAN'S
——Stock Of——
Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place.
Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of tee same, at 34 First Street,
Fulton, N. Y.
D. A. WATERMAN.

LAUNDRY.

The Steam Laundry Agency continues to give Good Satisfaction with new customers every week. Give them a trial order.
WATERMAN Agt.

JAMES COLE,
The Old Reliable
UNDERTAKER,
AND
FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St [illegible]

Caskets and Coffins

of every variety [illegible]

EMBALMING MATERIALS

J. J. WRIGHT,
Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.
HARDWARE,
STOVES,
SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.
J. J. WRIGHT.

A FEW
SUGAR PLUMS!
And We Snatched Them All.

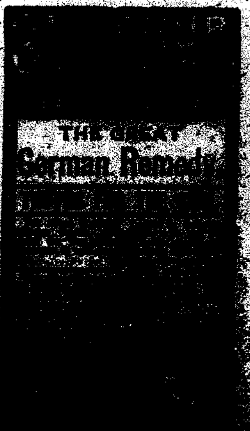
S	A Boy's Overcoat we sell for .... Sizes from 3 to 10 years, worth more than double.	$ 1,50
U	A Boy's Overcoat we sell for........ Sizes range from 11 to 16 years, usual selling price, $4.50.	2.50
G	Boy's Short Pant Suit for........ Sizes from 3 to 11 y, strong, durable and extremely cheap.	2.00
A	Mother Hubbard 1 Piece Kilt Suits for........ Sizes from 2 to 5 years, all wool, the best fitting kilt in America.	3.50
R	Boy's short Pant Suit (Cashmere) for........ Sizes 5 to 21 y'rs. Nothing so cheap for the quality in the city.	4.00
	A Boy's Long Pants Cashmere Suit........ Sizes from 8 to 12 years. Considered cheap anywhere for $9.00.	7.00
P	A Men's F. & H. Silk Mixed, Imported and Silk Lined Cass Suit for........ Sizes 34 to 42. Breast. Former wholesale price $30.00.	28.00
L	A Fine English Black Diagonal Cutaway Frock Suit for All sizes formerly sold for $28.00.	20.00
U	A Men's Genuine Rariton Chinchilla Overcoat........ All sizes, and sold usually for double the amount.	5.00
M	A Splendid Cashmere Pants for........ All sizes. Compares favorably with most $5.00 pants.	2.85
S	A Handsome, Men's Brown Worsted Diagonal Overcoat All sizes, to undersell and maks profit on.	14.00

Dear reader the above sugar plumbs are great bargains if you take the pains to investigate you will give us cridit for selling many of our perfect fitting graments below their actual value. We can afford to do so because we bought many below cost of manufacture and are ever on the alert to retain the people's good will and custom through honorable dealing and the desire not to become rich to fast. The

FAMOUS
OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE
2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

IF YOU WANT
dodgers,
envelopes,
bill heads,
statements,
certificates,
box labels,
note heads,
show cards,
law blanks,
shipping tags,
bottle labels,
auction bills,
bank checks,
ball tickets,
programmes,
letter heads,
calling cards,
address cards,
business cards,
wedding cards,
invitation cards,
business circulars,
pamphlets,
[illegible]

If you want job printing of any description, done in the best manner, you can satisfy your wants by calling at THE FULTON TIMES printing office.



For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John [illegible]

[illegible] Misses " " " 60cts.

A. E. NETTLETON.

[illegible]

A. H. [illegible], Proprietor.

[illegible] ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R.

[illegible] leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

[illegible] ....7:15 a. m.
[illegible]
[illegible] No. 41 ....[illegible]

GOING NORTH.

[illegible] No. 1 .... 5:25 p. m.
[illegible] No. 3 .... 11:50 a. m.
[illegible] Accommodation No. 40 .... 5:25 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation .... 8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 8:25 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express .... 12:50 p. m.
New York Night Express .... 5:06 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express .... 8:05 a. m.
[illegible] Express .... 2:08 p. m.
[illegible] Accommodation .... 6:24 p. m.
[illegible] Philadelphia Express .... 6:50 p. m.
[illegible] Sundays. [illegible] attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

Read Lathrop's holiday song.

The holiday trade has commenced.

"Litta" at Stevens Opera House next Monday.

Go and hear the Tennessee Jubilee Singers in Stephen's opera house this evening.

W. T. Tinsley of the Lyons Republican spent Thanksgiving in Fulton with Francis E. Bacon.

Mr. Guy Chaffee and wife of Denver, Colorado, are in town, guests of Mr. Seymour Parmelee. It is some eight years since they left Fulton.

The Syracuse Sunday Times says:

The announcement is made public of the engagement of Mr. Will McIntosh, of Oswego Falls and Miss Nellie Cameron of Fulton.

Those who desire tickets for the lectures and are not prepared to pay the cash may obtain them of S. B. Mead or H. C. Gardner on any reasonable time they may wish.

Extensive preparations are being made for the Catholic fair at Nichols hall Christmas week. If solicitors accost you to take a chance in some of the drawings —why, take it.

The new M. E. church at Caughdenoy will be dedicated to-day. Rev B. I. Ives the celebrated "church dedicator" will preach at 11 o'clock a. m., and Rev Dr. Bruce of this village will preach this evening.

Mrs. Alex. Allen, Mrs. George Calkins and Mrs. Fred Taylor left yesterday for Cincinnati. The first two ladies will join their husbands in that city and the latter will spend the winter at that point with friends.

The original Tennessee Jubilee Singers in Stephen's opera house this evening. Henry Ward Beecher says:—"They are grand singers and their melodies are soul stirring." Admission thirty cents to all parts of the house.

James Howie and wife of Frederickton, N. B., are guests of the lady's brother Mr. Geo. E. Smiddy. Mr. and Mrs. Howie are on their return to Frederickton from their wedding tour that comprised England, France and other European countries.

Dr. Chas. R. Lee attends his Fulton office every Saturday and his visits are welcomed by thirty to fifty patients. His success in the treatment of the eye, ear and throat affections is being fully appreciated and he is walking to the front in his profession.

A large number of friends of Miss Mary Sweet surprised her at her father's residence on Rochester St. Friday night. She proved equal to the occasion and entertained her guests royally. A palatable collation was served after which the company kept time to enlivening music until the "wee sma' hours."

Judd Carey met with an accident in Ross' machine shop Wednesday evening that deprived him of the little finger of his right hand and a portion of the adjoining member. He was standing upon an elevation and losing his balance instinctively reached out for support and thrust his hand into a rapidly revolving set of cogs.

Sunday night was a cold one. The river between the upper and lower bridges was frozen across and canal navigation entirely suspended. At 7 a. m, Monday morning the thermometer registered two degrees below zero. The weather is warmer to-day and the sleighing nearly whipped.

A feature of the Litta concert on the 11th, at Stephens Opera House, will be the presentation of an act from Gounod's grand opera, "Faust," in full costume and with adequate scenic effect. The following is the cast: Marguerite, Mlle Marie Litta; Siebel, Miss [illegible]; [illegible], Mephistopheles, Mr. [illegible]; Faust, signor Ernesto [illegible]. Those attending will therefore hear the company in both opera and concert on the same evening.

Go to Bacon's and get a cheap hat.

For Sale—Two pair of two horse bobsleighs and two pair of 1 horse bobsleighs. Enquire at McCully & Co.

Go to the Bazaar and get you a pair of all wool knit mittens any size [illegible]. The greatest [illegible] in Fulton.

[illegible]

[illegible] the people of Fulton. The concert by the Royal [illegible] Singers [illegible] will guarantee to be the very best vocal and instrumental concert ever given in Fulton and well worth the price asked for course tickets. Lieutenant Danenhower who is to open the course Tuesday, Dec. 12th, has a world wide reputation as an Arctic explorer, while he is daily winning golden opinions as a lecturer. Hon. Wm. Parsons well known to Fulton people has booked more engagements this season than any other lecturer on the American platform. The reputation of Judge Tourgee and Mrs. Mary A. Livermore are national. All of these parties are under responsible management—the Redpath Lyceum Bureau of Boston, which is of itself a sufficient guaranty of their worth. They command the highest fees of any lecturers now before the public and it is only by making all the engagements through the Redpath Bureau that they have been obtained on terms which makes it possible to offer tickets for the price asked. The largest sale of tickets anticipated will no more than cover the actual expenses. The public are asked to patronize this course, not as an act of charity, but simply on its merits as a first-class series of entertainments which is hereby guaranteed to be the very best ever offered to this community. S. B. Mead.

Fulton, Dec. 6, 1882.

In The Front Rank.

Many Fulton people remember Rev. Edward Lord who was pastor of the Fulton Presbyterian church during the war and who eventually entered the service as chaplain of the 110th N. Y. V. Many also remember his son Chester, then a bright, patriotic boy, who in 1864 -'65 faithfully played a fife as a member of a band of martial music drumming up recruits. The recruiting tent stood where now is located the Cornell house. Rev. Mr. Lord is now a pastor in a Pennsylvania town and Chester is managing editor of the New York Sun. It is one of the most important and lucrative newspaper positions in America. He has earned his way by hard work and perseverance and proves to be a man just suited for the place.

The Fulton correspondent of the Syracuse Sunday Courier writes to that journal:—

"During a recent visit to New York we met upon the ferry coming from Brooklyn, a former Fultonian whose early schoolmates will be pleased to hear from. During the war, while his father, the Rev. Edward Lord, went as chaplain in the 110th, he was a buxom lad of nearly a dozen years of age; yet in our schools had already made his mark, and at times, he now says, Prof. Griffin left his mark upon him, as well. We were invited to call upon him in the editorial rooms of The Sun. We found him sitting in a cosy corner, surrounded by a busy throng of editorial writers and city reporters, in fact, there are now no less than one hundred writers of the finest talent and widest newspaper experience engaged upon the New York Sun, each one of whom is subject to the dictation of Chester L. Lord, managing editor of this leading morning journal, which now has a circulation of 130,000 copies. This is a most responsible position and one of great honor and proportionate emolument. But young and fair, (for he is but thirty-two years of age,) he wears his honors gracefully. It is but a few years since he entered the staff of the Oswego Daily Times, where he soon became a recognized power; but a wider field awaited him. He was not one who preferred dash to deliberation; sensation rather than solidity; sparkle more than depth. He went to New York, and entered the office of the Sun at less than one-tenth his present salary. In common with his many friends we congratulated him upon his great good fortune, earned by hard work and his genuine ability.

Difference of Opinion.

We find the following in the Phœnix Register of last week:

A difference of opinion which can only be adjusted by a legal decree exists between Miss Lottie A. Poole, Fulton, and Dr. Mason, dentist, of this village. The story as we get it is briefly that while Mr. Mason was a student in Fulton, he and Miss Poole frequently met at social gatherings and the young people became somewhat intimate. Among the property of the prospective dentist was a bird cage, the unpainted base of which attracted the attention of the young lady, and being an artist of considerable skill, she was commissioned to display her taste in beautifying it. She accordingly placed a beautiful landscape in the center, surrounding it with bouquets of flowers so perfect that they seemed to exhale the odors of their originals. The cage was submitted to its owner and pronounced faultless, and thus matters remained until he had established himself in the dental profession in this village when Miss Poole gave the doctor an order for some dental work. After several months a bill for the dental work was presented and responded to by a bill for decorating the bird cage. The doctor replied with rather a sharp note, and was surprised by being served with a summons in justice court with Miss Poole as plaintiff. Not to be outdone he immediately instituted similar proceedings against her. Her suit against him has been called twice before Justice Rice of Fulton, and adjourned the last time, to Jan. 8th next. His suit was tried before Esquire Alvord and a jury in this village, last Saturday and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff which the defense announces her intention to appeal from.

Ruined by Stock Gambling.

An associated press dispatch dated Buffalo N. Y., Dec. 4, tells the following—

S. Wright Gilbert of Phœnix, N. Y., who has for the past 5 years been residing at East Buffalo, where he held the position of cashier of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, has been discovered to be a defaulter in a large amount, one item alone showing a discrepancy of $10,000. The full amount of his defalcation is thought to be $50,000. Gilbert was born in Phœnix, where his mother now resides. He married the daughter of a prominent citizen of Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y. His whereabouts at present is unknown. He left Buffalo on the 25 of November, and on Wednesday was seen in New York, where he secured the endorsement of a friend on a draft for $[illegible], and obtained the money thereon, since which time he has not been seen. The [illegible]

Mr. M. H. Brando is in town.

Rev. O. C. Cole of Constantia is in town.

Skadden appears with a new "ad" this week.

Buy your lecture course tickets at Nichols' jewelry store.

A Rochester gentleman is soon to lead to the altar a well known Fulton lady.

Mr. W. J. Florence dabbles in stocks. The day after he played in Fulton he lost $7,000.

Mr. H. Rosenbloom is reported much better. He will be at his place of business again in a few days.

A pig that weighed when dressed 780 pounds was taken to Holden's market yesterday from Supervisor Wright's farm in Granby.

Lieutenant Danenhower at Stephen's Opera house next Tuesday evening. He will recite his adventures while on his recent Artic Expedition.

Mr. Daniel T. Morfa and Mrs. Emma E. Youmans of Fulton were married at the Martin house, Parish, by Justice of the Peace George Baxter, November 14, 1882.

An effort is being made to have "Brick" Pomeroy come to Fulton and deliver a lecture in Stephen's opera house. He is an able and eloquent speaker.

Jeff Bailey is selling the champion ear protector for forty cents. They are just the thing for our severe winters and may be carried in the vest pocket. Step in and inspect them.

At a meeting of the board of education of Fulton Union School held last Wednesday the resignation of Miss Lizzie Green as teacher in B primary department was accepted and Miss Ella E. Lasher appointed to fill vacancy.

Foreman James Briggs of Steamer company No. 1, Fulton fire department, presented to the company last evening an excellent portrait of himself to be hung in the parlor of said company. It is a fine piece of work and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Briggs for the present.

At the request of many of our leading citizens, Dr J. A. Barringer will be at the Lewis house, Fulton, again on Monday Dec. 18, and remain till the evening of Dec. 20. Perhaps no surgeon or physician ever did a larger business in Fulton than the Doctor during his recent visit. So far as we can learn he met with perfect success in every case. He cures by vitilization, and will treat no case except a cure is certain. Call and he will give you a list of hundreds of cures of desperate cases, all made near here.

The suit of liveryman Summerville against H. B. Rose and Chas. Metcalf for cruel and inhuman driving has been settled to the entire satisfaction of all parties concerned. In the summer of 1880 Messrs Rose and Metcalf hired a horse of liveryman Summerville and were charged with overdriving it and sued for $200 damages. The case was tried Oct. 12, 1880, in county court at Pulaski and resulted favorably to the defendants. Mr. Summerville appealed and was granted a new trial, but it was never retried. The parties concerned are all well known young men and an amicable adjustment seems to have been a wise finale.

Petitions are being vigorously circulated in Fulton and adojoining towns warning the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society that their annual fairs must be conducted with more care. These petitions will be presented at the annual meeting of the society in January with a view to influencing members in placing in office men in sympathy with the object of the petition. The petitions are receiving many signatures:

To the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society: —We, the undereigned members and patrons of the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society pledge ourselves that we will not attend, or exhibit our goods, or in any way aid the Society, as long as they allow gambling and the sale of intoxicants on the ground.

The Hannibal News says:

A petition has been circulated in town the signers therof pledging themselves not to exhibit goods or attend the Fairs of the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society unless gambling and intoxicating drinks are prohibiting by the society. the petition is receiving a large number of signers. Other petitions of a like nature are being circulatedin the adjacent towns.

We have no last year's stock of cutters to offer you: our's are fresh and new. 26 McCully & Co.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

Go to Hendrick's and inspect his stock of holiday goods. Japanese ware chromos, pictures, mirrors, and fancy goods of all description, at prices to suit customers. tf

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

At F. E. Bacon's. A large job lot Hats fancy feathers, ostrich tips, etc. at prices from 10 cents to $1.00. Great bargains! On sale Friday of this week.

Just received at Draper's 30 bushels of Sweet Potatoes, to be sold nearly as cheap as common potatoes. 21

Fulton Union School.

This school opened Monday with a large attendance. There are in the senior and academic department 182 pupils; 60 of whom are non-residents. A branch school has been opened in the session room of the old Presbyterian church with pupils from advanced departments, the senior C and D classes. Miss Clara M. Whitaker and Miss Carrie Streeter are instructors.

A Question Asked.

To The Times:—

Why isn't the ordinance prohibiting sliding on our sidewalks and in our streets enforced? Twice during the past week I have been run into and injured. Is there any way to avoid a recurrence?

THIRD STREET.

Yes, sir, there is a way to avoid a recurrence. When you see a sleigh coming get behind a tree. The tree will afford you more protection than the ordinance.

Come on Gentlemen.

W. S. Baker, patentee of the Baker gun was in Fulton yesterday in company with two gentlemen, one from Syracuse and one from Cortland looking over our water power with a view of establishing a gun manufactory here. The Loomis planing mill was quite thoroughly inspected and should the parties decide to locate here they may purchase that property. Fulton affords better natural facilities for manufacting than any other village in the State and our shipping facilities are unequaled. Manufacturing establishments are what we want to build up and make our village prosperous.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax of Indiana will deliver his celebrated lecture, "The Martyr Presidents, Lincoln and Garfield," under the auspices of Post Daniel F. Schenck G. A. R. in Stephen's opera house Tuesday evening, January 23. It is the desire of Fulton G. A. R. to give lectures and entertainments that funds may be raised to erect a monument to the memory of those brave boys who left Fulton and vicinity and never returned. It is a laudable and commendable undertaking and will undoubtedly receive that warm approval from the public that it deserves.

Lyceum Meeting.

The Fulton Lyceum met in S. of T. rooms Monday evening and organized. D. M. Perine was chosen president and Dr. W. L. Woodbury secretary pro tem. The question discussed was:—"Resolved, That women shall have the same privilege in casting the ballot as men." The subject was handled with considerable ability. In the absence of the leading affirmative disputant Dr. I. C. Curtis, Dr. W. L. Woodbury was substituted. The affirmative was assisted by Mr. H. B. Rorke, F. D. VanWagenen, jr. and Clarence Hall. Mr. Fred Bennett was the leading negative disputant, ably assisted by Mr. E. R. Redhead. After a full review of the subject the chair decided in favor of the affirmative.

The next meeting will be held Monday Dec. 11th. Subject:—Resolved, That the new Sunday law should be continued in force." All persons interested in discussion are invited to become members.

A Jolly Time.

The members of Post Daniel F. Schenck, G. A. R., with their families met in their rooms last evening and had a most enjoyable time. The evening was consumed in songs, recitations and social converse, supplemented with a bountiful repast. We append the exercises:

Comrade N. H. Gilbert favored the company with an excellent song after which the repast was served. Comrade Adolphus Bennett read a poem "The March of the Dead" and was followed by Comrade J. F. Cooper with an enlivening song entitled "Emancipation Proclamation." Mrs. Dr. Emens then read a selection "The old Sergeant," and was followed by Willie T. Mosher, son of Comrade F. C. Mosher, with a recitation, "The Soldier's Orphan Boy." "John Brown's Body" was rendered by Messrs. Gilbert and Cooper and the evening's entertainment concluded with a song by Comrades Morris Highriter, J. Cooper and N. H. Gilbert.

This morning's Oswego Post says:—

The case of the people against Edward Tyrell, charged with manslaughter in killing one Thomas Burns, of Oswego Falls, was commenced at the court house in this city yesterday before Judge Nutting. G. S. Piper who is assisting the district attorney, opened for the people, and H. C. Howe, of Fulton, for the prisoner. Burns' wife was the first witness sworn. Tyrell is looking well and had a seat by his counsel.

S S S S.

The next party of this society will be held in the Armory parlors Friday evening next.

☞ Oysters by the plate at Mrs. Montagues.

DON'T BE DECEIVED.

Don't be humbugged and deceived into purchasing worthless tea by out of town pedlers for the sake of procuring a trashy present. Go to J. Cooley Tucker's and sample his teas and coffees and you will purchase of him hereafter. Good goods and retailed at wholesale prices. 29

Do not forget the lecture course.

Hon. Geo. M. Case has arrived home.

Christmas two weeks from next Monday.

"Litta" at Stephens Opera House next Monday.

John B. Corry is confined to his room with erysipelas.

A lady's rubber has been left at this office for an owner.

Don't forget the Jubilee Singers in Stephen's opera house this evening.

For Sale—A second hand parlor coal Stove. Good heater. Can be seen at Times office.

J. B. Guilford, editor of the Elmira Advertiser will spend Sunday in town with Mr. John McKay.

Procure your tickets for the best course of lectures you will ever have the opportunity to patronize.

Mr. Willard Johnson has laid a crosswalk from the Clark house to the opposite of the street. An improvement.

Miss Kittie Skinner, Oneida street, was agreeably surprised last evening by a visit from a large number of her young friends.

Mr. Frank A. Seymour of Buffalo was in town over the Sabbath. Mr. Seymour is resident salesman in Buffalo of the Standard Oil Co.

We understand Mr. O. L. Danforth, who has been in Fulton several years, is prospecting in a neighboring town with a view of locating.

Mark Ostrander who resides near the F. M. church received a pension last Tuesday the back pay of which amounted to nearly nine hundred dollars.

Lieutenant Danenhower lectures in Wieting Opera House Syracuse, on Monday next. Four hundred additional chairs have been secured to accommodate the holders of tickets.

A number of young men have formed a social club and have rented rooms in Stephens building in wnich to convene. Mr. M. A. Martin is Pres., Chas. Jones, Sec., S. D. Inman, A. B. and Thomas Somers, S. J.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Oswego Baptist Association will be held with the Baptist church of Fulton, commencing this evening at 7 p. m. The public are invited to attend.

Mrs. James Crombie died at her home in Brookly, N. Y. Saturday Dec. 2, of typhoid pneumonia. She was the wife of James Crombie, Esq., and formerly lived in this vicinity. Accompanied by the husband the remains arrived at the residence of Mr. Samuel Crombie on Third street this morning. The remains will be interred in Mt. Adnah at o'clock p. m to-day.

Last week Monday evening Walter Pollock was in Patrick's saloon and was demonstrative. The proprietor ordered him out and he refusod to go. A row ensued in which Pollock was badly cut about his head with a beer glass. Patrick was arrested waived examination and gave bail in the sum of $500.00 to await the action of the grand jury. Pollock's wounds are not serious and he is about.

Rev. E. F. Pember preached at the Universalist church last evening. He came as State missionary to look after the interests of this society. The congregation were requested to remain after the benediction was pronounced.

Rev. Mr. Pember said the Fulton Universalist church was too beautiful and comfortable to have its doors closed. He suggested that a graduate from the Canton school be engaged, and requested any one present to make a statement of their views. There was no suggestion made. He, as State missionary, could if desired, preach every alternate Sunday after January 1st. The meeting adjourned without any definite conclusion being arrived at.

Bristol's Cutters are Fine. 28

FOR SALE.

Kiln dried kindling wood in one and two dollar loads. White and black ash wood fifteen inches long, fitted for stove, $1.50 and $2.50 per load. Delivered to any portion of Fulton or Oswego Falls. Enquire at pail and tub factory of 27tf D. E. Mason.

WANTED.

Cabbage in large or small quantities, well trimmed, also sweet turnips and large and medium sized potatoes, for which the highest price will be paid. Delivered at the upper depot,

Oswego Falls, Sept. 6. A. H. Betts

Picture frames of every description at Hendrick's. Call and see him. 29tf

"Experience" the new cook book compiled by Mrs Butler and Miss Wolcott is one of the best works of its kind in the market. Containing as it does over 600 carefully culled recipes, and put together in attractive form, for the small sum of $1, it cannot fail to find a ready sale. The proceeds of the book, are to be devoted to the new Presbyterian church and can be found at C. S. Eggleston's and at the News Room. 28tw

[illegible]

The Oswego county Board of Supervisors met in Oswego Monday. Their place of meeting will be the Doolittle House. Chairman Sampson announced the several committees which were as follows:

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Constables and Justices' accounts—Messrs Fleming, Ross, Cusick, A. S. Barker, Wiley.

Sheriffs' and jailors' accounts—Messrs. Barrett, Green, Coe.

Miscellaneous accounts—Messrs. Muzzy, Smith, S. M. Baker, Parsons, Sampson.

To compare rolls—Messrs. Wiley, Blodgett, Getman, Barrett, A. S. Barker, Allen, Hourigan, Earl, McCarthy, Cusick, McGrath, Parsons, Fleming, Burgen.

To foot rolls—Messrs. Clelland, Shafty, Wright, Elliott, S. M. Barker, Smith, Quonce, Davis, Green, Muzzy, Russ, Coe, Rice, Sage.

To equalize valuations—Smith, Davis, Coe, Quonce, Shafty, Blodgett, A. S. Barker.

Rejected taxes, schools and highways —Messrs. Earl, Barrett, Burgen.

To settle with superintendent of Poor —Messrs Quonce, Rice, Wright.

To settle with county treasurer—Messrs. Elliott, Sage, Getman.

To settle with judicial officers—Messrs McCarthy, Allen, Clelland.

To settle with loan commissioners—Sage, Rice, Shafty.

To apportion and make list of grand jurors—Messrs Cusick, Burgen, Wiley.

To settle with supervisors—Messrs, Russ, Earl, Burgen.

~~Ways and means~~—Messrs. Green, Getman, Elliott,

To apportion taxes and make ratio—Messrs. Davis, Muzzy, McCarthy, Fleming, Earl.

To fill collector's warrants—Messrs. Shafty, Clelland, McGrath.

To make abstract—Messrs. Rice, Allen, Muzzy.

Jurisprudence—Messrs. Wright, Green, Rice.

Local legislation—Messrs. Blogett, Sage, S. M. Barker, Elliott, Clelland, Getman.

To extend taxes—Messrs. Coe, Russ, Davis, Fleming, Parsons, McGrath, Quonce, McCarthy, Smith Hourigan, Barrett, Wright, Blodgett.

Court and criminal expenses—Messrs Parsons, Allen, A. S. Barker.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Dec. 6th, 1882.

Miss Mary Crudean, Mrs. Helen Calkins, Mrs. Lovina Dodge, Mrs. E. Fuller, Jeremiah Griffin, M. C. Matteson, Mrs. Rose Nichols, Chas. Rill.

POSTAL CARDS.

Mrs. Mary Allen.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

George Cox, Shelby, Iowa.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. Gilbert P. M.

Veterinary Surgeon.

C. A. Hill of Cortland, N. Y., is coming to Fulton to locate as a veterinary surgeon. Mr. Hill has the best testimonials from neighboring cities and villages where he has been located. All diseases of horses, cattle, sheep and in fact all domestic animals are successfully treated. Mr. Hill will be at the Clark house Friday of this week, where he will make his headquarters while in Fulton.

The Cheapest place in town to buy Cutters, Whips and Blankets is at 27 Betts & Co's, First Street.

Too Cheap.

A man of the period, like those of the fabled frog, were of the "swell" order, was observed during the recent snowy weather wearing an overcoat, concerning which it was difficult to determine whether the style was a little too antiquated or a little too "previous." A friend of the same genius, meeting him on the street remarked: "That's a nice overcoat—ah you have—ah!" "Think so?" queried the other. "Well, I am glad you like it" The friend continued: 'New—ah style—ah isn't it?" "Oh, no," replied the other, I—ah—that is, I don't know." Then followed the very natural and always ready query: "Anyhow—ah, when did you get it—ah?" With as near an approach to a blush as such creatures ever get, the Y. M. of the period replied: "Oh my, look here, now, you're asking to much; but—I'll —tell—you—if you won't give me away." "All right," said his friend. "Well, sis and I swapped ulsters this season. That's what's the matter!" That will do very well for a story, but young men of all classes should know that in the end it is cheaper to keep in style by purchasing overcoats and suits at Kent & Miller's, 18 and 20 South Salina street. Their styles are the latest and their goods much better than those "sis" wears.

SOUR KROUT.

I have a stock of first-class sour krout I am selling by the quart. Enquire at my residence, corner Third and Utica streets, opposite the Baptist church.

Fred M. McIntyre.

Fulton, Dec. 6.

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. Cooley Tucker presents compliments to all lovers of good tea, requesting their company on all days of the week. Tea and coffee will be served at wholesale prices at all hours. Remember the place. J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store No 18 First St. one door south of C. P. Tucker's grocery. 24

JOY AT HOME.

HAVING LEFT THEIR HOME IN SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER RETURN IN GLADNESS.

Next to the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our dear dead to their long rest, is that of taking our loved living, when stricken with disease, in search of help which appears the more hopeless the nearer it is approached.

Yet when Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since for New York, it was on such an errand. By his side was his daughter, whose case has been abandoned by the home physicians as one of incurable disease of the heart. When the train reached Peekskill it was clear that the almost dying girl could not be carried a mile farther with safety. Emaciated in body, shattered in nerve, and melancholy in mind the poor girl had lost interest in her own fate. To her vision then loomed up but one end to all her suffering, and [illegible]

[illegible]

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. [illegible]

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. [illegible]

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT..........50c., $1.00, $1.75.

Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

Ladies, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ Our New Pamphlet with History of our Preparations Sent Free on Application to

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,
15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

[illegible]

MILTON S. PRICE'S

DRY GOODS

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE GREAT MERCANTILE PALACE

OF CENTRAL NEW YORK.

ESTABLISHED FORTY YEARS AGO, with no capital but HONEST and FAIR dealing to all, has become the Most EXTENSIVE MERCANTILE HOUSE IN THE STATE.

A MAMMOTH BUILDING, FIVE STORIES HIGH, COVERING NEARLY A WHOLE BLOCK. Each floor stocked with NEW GOODS from Foreign and Domestic Markets, purchased expressly for Fall and Winter Season of 1882.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

The Old Reliable Establishment of FORTY YEARS' Existence, and make your selections for the FALL AND WINTER SEASONS.

Remember the Place 38 and 40 South Salina, and 29, 31 and 33 Clinton Streets,

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

STEPHENS' OPERA HOUSE,
Fulton, N. Y.

Return of the FAMOUS ORIGINAL

Tennessee University
JUBILEE SINGERS.

Wednesday, Dec. 6th, 1882.

On this occasion a Special Programme will be given. Miss Pinkie Johnson the Great Shouting Soprano.

Admission - 30 cents.

To all parts of the house.

ELECTRICITY

MOVES WORLDS.

SOURCE OF ALL LIFE.

DR. L. H. SPRAGUE

Makes the treatment of all Chronic Disease by Electrical and Medical means a SPECIALTY. From over 30 years' experience he can speak positively that most cases can be cured quicker and with greater comfort to the patient by this than by any other mode. It is peculiarly adapted for Paralysis, Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia in all their forms. It is the Woman's Friend, quickly curing all misplacements, congestions or irregularity; will restore nervous force and vitality in all cases; will dissolve tumors, heal ulcers and remove all poisons from the system; cure spinal diseases, stiff joints, etc., etc.

Call and see me, at 54 Warren St., Syracuse, N. Y. Consultation at office or by letter free and confidential. Office Hours, 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

[illegible]

GREAT SALE.

No. 19, First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

—AT—

D. C. SKADEN'S.

Having on hand a large assortment of house furnishing goods than ever before offered in Fulton, I wish to call the attention of the people of Fulton and vicinity to the fact I am selling cheaper than ever for cash. Look at these prices:

Bootes Dinner Plates	95cts.	per	doz.
" Breakfast "	85 "	"	"
" Tea "	72 "	"	"
" Unhandled Teas	44 "	"	"
" Handled "	55 "	"	"

Also having in stock the largest assortment of Majolica Ware, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Smoking Sets, Japanese Ware, Silver Ware and Toilet Sets ever before offered in Fulton. I offer them at prices below the lowest for Holiday Trade.

Remember my assortment in China Tea Sets is complete, also decorated Toilet and Tea Sets. Lamps of all kinds at bottom prices. As I buy only of importers and at factories I can sell for what others pay for goods.

D. C. SKADEN,

Next Door to Lewis House. First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

REDUCTION.

THE BEEHIVE OWING TO THE CONTINUAL WARM WEATHER WE HAVE MADE SWEEPING REDUCTIONS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS. WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF SEASONABLE GOODS THAT MUST BE SOLD.

WINTER UNDERWEAR FOR LADIES GENTS AND CHILDREN AT WARM WEATHER PRICES.

WE ARE OFFERING SILK PLUSHES
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES
WE HAVE A MAGNIFICENT STOCK
OF BLACK AND BROCADED SILKS
AND SATINS WHICH WE ARE
SELLING FAST AT THE NEW LOW
PRICES. 200 LADIES AND
CHILDREN'S TAILOR MADE CLOAKS
DOLMANS, AND ULSTERS AT
PRICES FAR BELOW THE REAL VALUE. 120 RED BLANKETS FROM
$1.75 UP. TEN THOUSAND YARDS
OF DRESS GOODS AT PRICES
NEVER BEFORE KNOWN. IF YOU
WANT A DRESS BE SURE AND
LOOK AT OUR MAGNIFICENT
STOCK AND SPECIAL BARGAINS.
PAISLEY, BEAVER AND DOUBLE
SHAWLS IN LARGE VARIETY.
WE HAVE THE GOODS AND ARE BOUND TO SELL.

THE BEE HIVE,
[illegible]

BUCKWHEAT WANTED.

Twenty thousand bushels of buckwheat wanted for which the highest market price will be paid at the mill of

Gilbert Bros.

Fulton, Oct. 18.

Lathrop's Christmas Song.

I, Santa Claus hereby proclaim
To every people, tongue and name,
To high and low, to rich and poor,
I'm now at G. C. Lathrop's store,
Who has now on hand a very
Large stock of confectionery.
Dolls and baskets, whips and toys,
Hand sleds for your girls and boys,
Iron savings banks, tin flutes,
Foreign and domestic fruits,
China tea sets, cups and vases,
Many masks with funny faces,
Choicest candies fresh and new,
All kinds of fishing tackle too;
Pocket knives and tops with strings,
And a thousand other things.
This greeting [illegible] sends to you
December 1st, year [illegible].

29 G. C. [illegible]

CHEAP FLOUR!

[illegible]

5,000 PERSONS WANTED!

To examine the HOLIDAY GOODS at M. M. WILLIAMS', who has just returned from New York with a Full Line of Goods, consisting of

[illegible] and [illegible] Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York. Handbook about patents mailed free.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol. 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising cattle, poultry, grains, trees, vegetables &c, with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The home department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The interests of

The Home

Skilled Labor

[illegible]

[illegible] IS THE

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

26 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp'ly Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN GRAHAN.

--NOVELTY MILLS.--

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

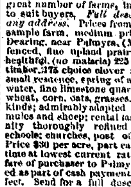
Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.



ELY'S CREAM BALM
POSITIVELY CURES COLDS IN HEAD
CATARRH
HAY FEVER
CATARRHAL DEAFNESS
HEALS SORES IN NASAL PASSAGES
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY'S CREAM BALM CO. OWEGO N.Y.
U.S.A.

ELY'S CREAM BALM.

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflamation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. No unpleasant results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N.Y.

HAY-FEVER

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

To The Farmers of New York.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New-Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $925; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo., and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE BEST Family Magazine Two Dollars.

DEMOREST'S Illustrated MONTHLY.

Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters, Send Twenty Cents for a Specimen Copy to W. JENNINGS DEMOREST Publisher, 17 East Fourteenth Street, New York.

☞ The New Volume (19) commences with November. Send FIFTY CENTS for three months; it will satisfy you that you can subscribe Two Dollars for a year and get ten times its value.

CONSUMPTION.

[illegible]

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, N. Y.

WE DO NOT [illegible]

[illegible] that Hood's Sarsaparilla will do every thing, but the fact that [illegible] vitality [illegible] health of [illegible] of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by druggists. Price $1, or six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT MCCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phœnix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. individual butters,	12c	per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50	" "
Tea cups and saucers,	24	" sett"
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61	each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	11	"

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st,

I am your obedient servant.
JAMES McCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes. LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE

DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL.

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N.Y., U.S.A.

THE FULTON TIMES.

Wednesday, Dec. 6, 1882.

Plowing By Steam.

A trial of Mr. B. A. Benson's steam plow was made near Baltimore, Md., last week, which was highly successful. The traction engine which draws the gang of plows responds to the steering apparatus quite readily, and the machine can be turned on a much smaller plat of ground than when the first experiments were made. Mr. Benson has invented a new plow which is of much lighter draught than those formerly used, and consequently less power is required. Ten plows were set in the gang each of which cut a furrow twenty inches wide and from eight to nine inches deep. The engine moved off at the rate of 2 1-2 miles an hour, leaving in its wake a strip of plowed ground 16 2-3 feet wide. For every 160 rods that it advances it leaves an acre of well plowed ground behind, and when it has gone a mile it has plowed within a fraction of two acres. There are no fields in the vicinity of Baltimore large enough for a thorough trial of this plow, and it is intended for the Red river region in the Northwest. The great merit of the invention consists in the trestled track which the engine lays down for itself and takes us as it moves forward. The track literally walks while the engine rolls forward on trucks, taking up and putting down successive sections as it goes along.

SOME STRONG MINDED WOMEN

Can regulate their husbands amazingly fast, should they not do their duty. Burdock Blood Bitters are a good regulator of the circulation. They are exclusively a blood tonic, and consequently strike at the root of many serious ailments.

"Esq.".

An exchange has this to say about the title of esquire: The legislative prohibition by the United States of titles of nobility could not eradicate the trial of human nature which makes such titles, or any verbal badge of distinction, a dearly craved prize to the mass of people; but in our eagerness for these we have done more to abolish them than any laws, by making them ridiculous. A title given to everybody is a self contradiction and absurdity, for it distinguishes no one and implies nothing; and in our democratic society no one is willing to give others the monopoly of such distinctions. In consequence several titles which were tolerably definite in meaning once have become tags that do not add a hair to the meaning of the name itself. Among these is "Esq.," once a coveted badge of professional distinction and in early New England times confined rigidly to its narrow use—indeed, even "Mr." was only allowed to respectable housekeepers in good standing. Coming to us from feudal England "Esq." marked members of the legal fraternity and kindred occupations. It was at length assumed by or conferred by courtesy upon prominent and wealthy citizens, and at last has come to mean only an adult citizen—the same as "Mr." or, in general, the same as the name would imply without addition. It is therefore utterly useless, a bore and an offense, for a meaningless title is an insult to any man. It should be disused altogether, and left to be marked "obsolete" in the dictionaries. Write "John Smith," or "Mr. John Smith," if you please, but let us have no more of "John Smith, Esq."

FATHER IS GETTING WELL.

My daughters say, "How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters. He is getting well after his long suffering form a disease declared incurable, and we are so glad he used your Bitters—a lady of Rochester, N. Y. 27 2w

Indian Marriage Customs.

Among the Northwestern tribes of Indians innocence is as marked among the girls as their color. The impression that the red maiden does not entertain a high standard of morality is an error, for she is taught as other girls are, and grows up with well-developed ideas of life and a firm resolution to discharge its duties. Educated in the faith that she was ordained to work, she trains herself to hard labor, and at sixteen years of age is sturdy and strong, brave against fatigue and a perfect housewife. She may not possess New England notions of cleanliness, but she takes not a little pride in her personal appearance, and in the arrangement of her lodge she displays some crude ideas of taste and a certain amount of neatness. If she marries a white man she makes him a good wife as long as she lives with him. His home is her whole comfort and his comfort her sole ambition. She thinks of him and for him, and makes it her study to please him, and makes him respect and love her. She recognizes in him one of a superior race, and by her dignity and devotion endears herself to him and struggles to make him happy. At the agencies of the upper frontier thousands of men are employed, and it is not an exaggeration to say that the majority of them have Indian wives and live happily. They are not sought after by the maidens, for the Indian girl's custom is to remain quiet until after the marriage contract is made and the marriage portion paid over. The husband must have the dowry, with which he must invest his prospective mother-in-law before the ceremony takes place.

The aspiring bridegroom must be well known in the tribe before he can hope to win a wife. Her people want to thoroughly understand him, and know if he can support, not only her, but all her relatives in the event of a pinch. He must be a kind-hearted man, with a temper warranted to keep in any domestic climax; and he must have a good lodge, and at least a half dozen horses. If he be and have all these, he can a-wooing go. Then, selecting a lady, he makes application to the mother, and at a council the price is fixed upon. If the girl is especially pretty her mother will demand a gun, two horses, and a lot of provisions, blankets and cloth. A gun is valued at $40 and he must furnish the material to bring the amount up from $100 to $150. Then he tries to beat the [illegible]

Climate of South California.

[illegible] may be the [illegible] by day, which in midsummer often rise to a 103 in the shade, the nights are always cool and refreshing. Neither is sunstroke known. Nor are the violent thunder-storms with which nature with us endeavors to restore the equilibrium after having exhausted its utmost efforts in the way of oppressive warmth. The great drawback here—as there must be some drawback from perfection everywhere—is occasionally heavy winds, the "northers." The northers sometimes gather up the dust from the dry surfaces over which they pass, and produce painful dust storms of two or three days' duration.

In autumn and winter the temperature is chilly enough to make fires a necessity morning and evening, and even all day long in apartments shut off from the influence of the sun. I was astonished to find the air so keen at these times, and the thin scum of ice forming upon water in the mornings so formidable even so far down as San Diego and its vicinity. The cold has a penetrating quality far beyond that of its register by the thermometer. This is usually overlooked, and it is important to be understood, since fuel is very scarce and correspondingly dear. Fagots made from prunings of the cottonwoods, sycamores and mesquit trees along the beds of the streams are the principal resource. Such coal as can be obtained is both costly and of wretched quality.

[Harper's Magazine.

Mr. W. A. Forbse, Greenfield, Mass., was cured by St. Jacobs Oil of rheumatism.—Cincinnati Christian Standard.

Not to be Discouraged.

At Dalton, Ga., they pointed out an old darkey who was to be married that evening, and I took my seat beside him on the depot platform and said:

"Uncle Reubin, is it true you are to be married to-night?"

"Yes sah—yes, sah, you's hit it zactly right, sah."

"Were you ever married before?"

"Why, bress your soul, boy, dis will be my fo'th wife."

"How long since your last one died?"

"Jis free weeks next Saturday."

"Isn't it pretty sudden, when you have been a widower only two weeks?"

"I recond not, sah. I doan' see how I kin help the ole woman any by trabblin' 'round alone."

"And they tell me that you are over 70 years old."

"Yes, sah—I'ze risin' of 73."

"And you don't even own a chicken?"

"No, sah."

"And the bride is as badly off as yourself?"

"Just zactly, sah."

"Don't the future look a little dark to you?"

"See heah, white man," replied the chap, as he slid to the ground and brushed the dust off his coat tail, "I doan' like that sort o' argyment. I'ze ole and poo' and doan' know much, but I ain't de sort of a fule to take a fo'th wife widout makin' all 'rangements to board wid her fader an' gin him my note whenebber anything am due. 'Spose I'ze gwine to be sleepin' in fence corners an' libin' on green apples kas my las' ole woman tuk a noshun to die? No, sah; I isn't dat sort of a mourner. I'ze got to dat aige where I'ze got to be tooken car' of if I has to marry free wives to do it."

PUT UPON HIS FEET.

"Set up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful relieved me, and two bottles have cured me. I can honestly recommend it." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. Y.

Fashion Notes.

Green and brown are favorite colors for ladies' pelisses.

Polonaises are much in favor for cloth and cashmere garments.

Seal skin border, cape, collar and cuffs, are liked for green or brown cloth pelisses.

Some bonnets are made entirely of dark velvet, brightened by a bunch of pink roses.

As a wrap for young ladies the long pelisses seems to be the favorite of the season.

There is a French caprice for making the backs of long cloaks shorter than the front.

Beaded white and scarlet Jerseys are shown for young ladies' very gay and dressy toilets.

Royal cardinal jackets are very fashionably worn over black skirts of silk, or cashmere.

The fashionable fabric of the pelisse is cloth, with Astrakhan or Persian lamb's skin for trimming.

Tucked sleeves fitted very closely to the arms are seen upon a number of imported dresses of artistic make.

If any lining is used for a pelisse it is simly one of silk, that will make the garment slip on and off more easily.

The new Paris cloaks have full bishop sleeves, but the Mother Hubbard fullness about the neck does not find favor.

An attempt is being made to restore flowers to favor as a garniture for bonnets, instead of feathers, that have been so long in vogue.

Flowers are but little worn in the corsage in demi-toilet, being replaced by knots of ribbons in hues contrasting with that of the dress.

Buckles of old silver are being used to trim overdresses and slippers, They are placed in the straps of bows of satin of velvet ribbon.

The largest bonnets and round hats are banished from the theatre, opera or church, but are seen on the promenade and with visiting costumes.

Plain velvet is very stylish for pelisses, especially when bordered with chinchilla, beaver or with the full ruches of chenille, now so much in favor.

A single white bird trims black or dark colored velvet bonnets handsomely; red birds must be colored very dark in order to find favor as trimming.

Beautiful Persian cloths of various colors and patterns are made up into long wraps, lined with plush and trimmed with fringe of black silk or chenille.

Buttons that represent stags' heads, or those of hounds or horses, made with a [illegible]

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that

95 per Cent.

of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex; it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m6

[illegible] Remedy!

[illegible] Large boxes containing 30 pills, 25 cents. [illegible] all druggists. [illegible] The genuine manufactured only by John C. West & Co., The pill makers, 181 & 183 West Madison St. Chicago. Free trial package sent by mail prepaid on receipt of a 3 cent stamp. [illegible]

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock

SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN McALLISTER & CO,

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

*Nos*431 to 439 West 14*th Street*,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS AT

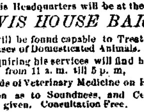
ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 39tf

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

:o:

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

LEGAL.

[illegible]

Dated June 1, 188[illegible] [illegible] Executor
3mo6

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In pursuance of an order of T. W. Skinner, Esq., Surrogate of Oswego county, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against Peter Woodin, late of the town of [illegible] in said county, deceased, to present the same with the vouchers thereof, to the undersigned, one of the executors of said deceased, at his store in Fulton, N. Y., on or before the first day of December 1882, or they will lose the benefit of the statute in such case made and provided.

Dated, May 25, 1882. JOHN H. WOODIN, Executor of Peter Woodin, deceased.
2mo6

Court Notice

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of County Court and Court of Sessions in and for the Oswego Co., during the year 1882 and until further ordered: There will be a Petit Jury for said terms for the trial of questions of fact, criminal and civil. There will be no Grand Jury during the year but the Court of Sessions.

Feb.	13th,	Court House,	Pulaski.
May	22nd,	"	Oswego.
Sep.	12th,	"	Pulaski.
Dec.	5th,	"	Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State paper at Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, The Fulton Times, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake side Press, The Oswego County Sun and Pulaski Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 31, 1881.
N. W. NUTTING,
Oswego County Judge.
4w

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNT.NENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York. Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York. Assets over $3,400,682.2

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,989,388.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.

NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,569.35.

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	New York
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets, Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.

Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	36 00
Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first, class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastidious Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg.

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1882.

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

VOLUME 15—NUMBER [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES:
Published every Wednesday
[illegible] Block,
Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER, Editor.

[illegible] Twenty-five Cents a Year in advance. An additional charge of [illegible] cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Correspondence must be accompanied by a name as a private guarantee of good faith.

[illegible] advertising made known on application [illegible] by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

THE UNDERGROUND PATH.

There are few more beautiful spots in England than the valley of the Tyne, in Northumberland. The scenery is lovely and the banks of the river abound in localities celebrated in history and romance. Of these the town of Corbridge is not the least noteworthy—its situation is picturesque, and it furnishes within its bailiwick the scene of many a legend. A fine bridge spans the river. A little above it were to be seen until comparatively recently the remains of a former bridge. They consisted of a crumbled tower and a few feet of one of the pillars washed by the tide. Of the tower sufficient remains to disclose the fact that a capacious room or cell had existed within it, supplied with a few rays of light by a deep embrasure, and that a secret passage led to the northwest. The arched entrance to this passage showed that it had been closed with a strong door. Three hundred yards from this tower, in a northwesterly direction, were the ruins of a mortuary chapel, and directly west from there stands Cor Hall, a fine old mansion, which has been modernized of late years. This locality, as thus described, is the scene of the domestic drama which is to be laid before the reader.

When the rebellion of 1745 broke out, George Urpeth was the master of Cor hall, having just inherited it from his paternal uncle. The same year he married one of the Lilburns of Bywell-on-Tyne, and the following year an heir was born. George Urpeth's father had been a soldier of fortune, leaving his two sons almost penniless at his death. When George succeeded to the Cor estate, he recalled his younger brother, Hugh from Scotland, where he had been living with a poor relation of his mother, and made him a welcome guest and companion. When Arthur, the young heir, was six years old, his mother died, and a year later his father followed. George, by will, left his brother comfortably provided for, and committed to him as guardian the custody of the child Arthur.

It is unnecessary to enter into the history of the boy, further than he grew up a strong, robust youth, fond of field sports and moderately skilled in the school lore of the day. Before he became of age he was engaged to be married to the daughter of a gentleman of some means, residing not two miles away and they were to be wedded soon after his majority. Arthur was born on Oct. 7, 1746, and would therefore be of age in October 1767, when his uncle's office as guardian would cease. The wedding was fixed for October 12th, in the year named.

For some time Hugh Urpeth had expressed dissatisfaction with the grooms, complaining that they were more disposed to gossip in the neighborhood than to give their attention to the horses.

"One good man" he was wont to say, could do better than the head groom and his three helpers."

He visited the fairs in the neighboring counties with a view, he said, to secure a good man who was a stranger to the locality, and would have no acquaintance to call off his attention from his duties. For a long time he was unsuccessful, but at length, at Durham fair, he found a man who would suit, and engaged him. He was young and well spoken, bearing a wonderful resemblance in physique to Arthur Urpeth, which was what Hugh particularly wanted. He seemed to do his work well and Hugh expressed satisfaction.

This young man whose name was Major, was the son of a reputable corn factor at Leeds, in Yorkshire, but he had taken to evil ways, and had been implicated in a highway robbery in which the victim had been killed. How Hugh Urpeth became aware of this fact is not known, but it is certain that he knew when he engaged Major that a price was set upon his head. He let the youth know nothing of this until he had been some time employed at Cor Hall, and then by inuendo rather than by direct accusation he let him know that his former career was no secret. At the same time, however, he was careful to let the young man see that he was friendly to him and desirous of doing all he could to befriend him.

[illegible] all this estate, this house [illegible] the horses and carriages and everything, in fact, will pass into the [illegible]. If it were otherwise [illegible] the shrubbery and renewed the conversation.

"Major," he said, "you are an outlaw, [illegible] by the officers of justice you will be hanged. When my nephew comes into possession here, no doubt you will be discharged and again thrown on the world, perhaps to wander back to your old haunts, to be captured and hung.

If you stay here you might reform and be a good man, a kind husband and a loving father."

When Hugh saw that his utterances had produced the effect desired, he spoke out and proposed to Major an infamous scheme. What it was will be developed in good time.

On the evening of October 2d, ten days before the time set for Arthur's wedding, the uncle said to his nephew:

"Arthur, you have never explored the secret passage from the hall to the chapel, and the other secret way from the bridge to the chapel. Your ancestors remained true to the Catholic faith after it was proscribed, but they had to worship in secret, and by the underground passage visited the chapel which, though in reality only a mausoleum, was fitted up gorgeously within with an altar and all that was necessary for the offering of mass. Their retainers also remained true to the old church, and were accustomed to attend mass in the chapel by night, by entering the bridge tower by a concealed door and making their way by the secret passage to the chapel. These subterranean passages are still in existence, and if you like to explore them we will do so to-night."

Arthur expressed his wish to do so, and as the passages were damp and dirty; his uncle suggested that he put on a suit of the groom's, remarking that they were just the size. The suit was brought and donned, and the groom was directed to attend Hugh and his nephew on their exploration. Procuring lamps they passed through a door concealed behind a wine bin in the cellar, and entered the passage. In due time they reached the chapel, and after viewing that went on their way by a stone trapdoor in the rear of what was once the altar along the underground way to the bridge. Reaching a strong oaken door bound with iron, Hugh said.

"This door was put up by your namesake, who was the first to forsake the old faith. I have the key and will open it if you wish."

Arthur said he was anxious to know all that he could about the place. The door was accordingly opened, the key turning with wonderful ease, as Arthur remarked, being ignorant, of course, that his uncle had previously visited the spot and prepared for all that was to follow. As they entered the gloomy place Hugh directed Major to put down the light which he was carrying, and offered a flask of wine to Arthur, saying that a drop would prevent a chill. No sooner had Arthur drank than Hugh seized his nephew from behind and drew back his arms. At the same moment Major slipped a pair of handcuffs over the youth's wrists. There was a struggle and an outcry, but Hugh and Major grasped him tightly and smothered his cries with a kerchief. In a moment the drugged wine he had drank had taken its effect, and Arthur was helpless. Then they chained him to the wall, removed his handcuffs and left him. As Hugh and Major retired the door was closed and locked. On reaching the hall they quitted the cellar as they entered it, namely, by an outside door opening in the basement of the edifice, a little to the rear of the library. Then they entered the library by the windows, which opened in French style on a terrace. Thus their visit to the underground passage was made secretly and none of the domestics knew of it. Once inside the library, Hugh said:

"Now, Major, it will be my duty to feed the young man for some time, and with that view I shall henceforth have my meals served here, and will always take care to lay by sufficient to supply the youth's wants. But there is something else for you to do, a you may remember."

"I am now," said the groom, "to personate Arthur for a time?"

"That's it," was the reply; "and the first thing is to array yourself in this suit, which he removed when he donned yours."

Thereupon the groom dressed himself in Arthur's clothes and arranged his hair in the fashion in which Arthur usually wore his. Then putting on one of Arthurs hats and taking a cane, he imitated Arthur's walk and tone of voice, saying:

"My dear uncle, I hope I see you well.'

The dear uncle laughed, and exclaimed, "Excellent!" "Now," said Hugh, "I am going to summon the butler. Sit there, sideways, to the light, reading, and answer me when I address you, as though absorbed in your book."

The butler was summoned, and on entering the library saw, as he supposed, the young Master of Cor seated at the [illegible] reading. Having ordered supper [illegible] wine, Hugh said, as the butler was about to quit the room.

"By the way, Jackson, my nephew is going to walk over to Scour (the residence of Arthur's intended bride), and as he will have something of value about him, I wish you would ask Major to accompany him."

The butler retired, and in a short time returned to say that Major was not to be found.

"Ah, I remember," said Hugh, "I [illegible] Wakesley's. Ah, then you [illegible] his uncle."

Then when the butler had gone he said:

"Pass down the main roadway and let Mother Stevens at the lodge see you. Then go along the path by the river until you reach the stone stile. Pass over that, turn up by the side of the copse and then cross to the hall, and I will admit you."

When Major was gone, Hugh locked the study door, put on a slouched hat, wrapped himself in a huge traveling cloak, took an enormously thick stick from under a bookcase, extinguished all lights but one at his desk, drew the screen around the desk so as to render it impossible to tell from the outside whether any one was sitting there and quitted the room by the window. Then he passed round the trees and shrubs to a copse, and hastened down to a stone stile leading to a path by the river side.

As he looked toward the direction of the lodge at the entrance to the Cor Park, he saw a man approaching. Crouching down, he awaited his coming. Unsuspectingly, and whistling an air, Major came along, mounted the stile, and descended into the small track by the side of the copse.

Like a flash the murderous stick which Hugh carried fell upon the groom's head and crushed in his skull. Then Hugh searched the murdered man's pocket until he found the jewel case. This he opened and flung to one side. It is not necessary to say that it never contained any jewels.

Hugh next dragged the corpse over the stile and toward the river, which at that point was deep and somewhat sluggish.

Laying the corpse on its back, he beat and hammered the face until it was, as he rightly supposed, unrecognizable. Then he dropped the body into the river. He returned to the hall as he quitted it.

The next morning at dawn he visited the secret passage, taking the bloody cloak with him and leaving it there. He left food and drink for the prisoner, whom he found only half conscious. Of the scenes which occurred between the jailor and his victim on that occasion and on their daily meetings afterward, it is unnecessary to dwell.

Next day, of course, Arthur was missing, and so was the groom. The empty jewel case, and evidences of the bloody crime were found by the stile, and a bloody track was discovered to the water's edge. A few hours later the body of the murdered man was fished from the water and identified as that of Arthur, by the clothes chiefly, for the face was beyond recognition. Then it was discovered that the groom, Major, was missing. The butler swore to seeing Hugh give Arthur the jewel case, and to his quitting the hall Mother Stevens swore to his having passed through the lodge, and the rest was plain. The groom had not been at Wakesley's, it was true, that day, nor had he been seen outside the park; but it was supposed that he and Arthur had met, in the latter's way to the Scour, and that Arthur had asked him to accompany him, as he had valuable jewels in his possession. It was true that the distane from the lodge gate to the stile was less than a mile, but nevertheless the jury were satisfied that the crime had been perpetrated by Major to get possesion of the jewels. Moreover, the story of his former crime of a similar nature pointed to him as the man likely to commit the deed. A verdict was returned against him, and rewards were offered for his apprehension. Of course not a jot of evidence of his ever having been seen anywhere since the fatal night ever came to light.

The supposed Arthur was buried with proper decorum, and Hugh Urpeth, as heir, took posession of Cor. In five months after Arthur's supposed murder, it was announced that Hugh was to marry the lady who was to have been Arthur's bride. By wiles and stratagem he had got the girls father into his power and to save him from impending ruin, as he supposed, she agreed to marry the uncle of her former lover. The day was fixed and the old chapel was to be specially adorned for the occason. The rough walls were hung with tapestry and silken curtains, and the rough floor was richly carpeted, so that all the ugly irregularities and blemishes were covered up and hidden from view.

The winter of that year and the year following was very severe, and in the spring freshets were heavy.

John Parsley, an old retainer of the Urpeth family, went out a-fishing in his punt, and as the sun went down the man fell asleep. The freshet came upon him without warning and swept his punt from its moorings. As he was carried along he saw the old bridge in the distance, and by good luck was carried to the buttress on the off bank. He clung to the large sill of the embrasure and the punt was carried away. Drawing himself up he managed to sit on the sill, and leaning back, was able to grasp the wall inside, and so get a secure hold.

Imagine his surprise and terror when he heard a human voice within. He recovered courage, however, supposing it might be some one who had been carried away like himself, and had fortunately found a foothold. He was soon disabused of this notion, and learned from Arthur in a few words the dreadful secret which the reader already knows. In return he informed Arthur of his supposed murder and of his uncle's intended marriage, and promised to give him the date at a future time. He also related how the old chapel had been gorgeously fitted up for the occasion. [illegible] been informed by Parsley, Arthur filed off his chains. Then he worked on the door and speedily opened it. Nothing then, so far as he knew, lay between him and the chapel.

He found, on ascending the passage, that this was so, and that, as he had expected, nothing intervened but a large stone slab on hinges, easily moved. Raising this he stood immediately behind the gorgeous silken tapestry in the rear of the newly-constructed communion table. Then he returned to his cell. He resolved that, if his uncle again visited him and discovered what he had accomplished toward his deliverance, he would brain him, if necessary, on the spot.

At 11 o'clock in the forenoon of the day fixed for the day of the wedding the party stood before the altar in the chapel. As the minister stood up to read the opening sentence the silken cords behind him were rudely torn aside, and a human form appeared. The hair curled over the shoulders, the face was covered with beard, the skin was horribly begrimed, and the clothing consisted of a discolored blanket, tied around the waist with a piece of cord.

"I forbid this marriage!" the stranger exclaimed; "I'm Arthur Urpeth, imprisoned for all these weary months by my uncle, who is about to marry my bride. Friends of my dead father and mother, see that justice is done!"

It is impossible to describe the commotion which followed. The bride fainted. Hugh staggered and gnashed his teeth like a maniac and was removed to the hall. Arthur was taken in charge by his old servants and the reign of the murderer was over at Cor Hall. The wretched uncle wrote a confession as he lay in Hayham jail, and then attempted to suicide. But he failed and was reserved for the gallows. He was convicted of the murder of Major and hanged at Ainwick in the spring of 1769.

Judge W. T. Filley, of Pittsfield, this State, was cured of severe rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

A Singular Suit.

Rev. George W. Baker has instituted suit in Atlanta, Ga., for $10,000 damages against W. A. Hoff, proprietor of the Markham House, a popular hotel of that city, the alleged ground for the action being that Mrs. Baker was bitten by a rat while a guest at the Markham, and has lost the use of her arm from the rat bite. Col. Huff declares that his house is free from rats, and treats the matter as a joke, though the clergyman declares that he will prosecute the suit vigorously.

FATHER IS GETTING WELL.

My daughters say, "How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters. He is getting well after his long suffering form a pisease declared incurable, and we are so glad he used your Bitters—a lady of Rochester, N. Y. 27 2w

---

Back Again.

"So you are back in the city again," said a laboring man on Twenty-second street. "Thought you went down with a lot of others in the south part of the county to work on a farm." "We did." "Well, what's the rumpus?" "Why, you see the farmer went to work and strung the whole farm over with barbed wire fence, and we all quit and came home. There is a time to work and a time to rest, but you can't rest on a barb wire fence."

THE BOSTON STAR

says Dr. Kaufmann's great book on Diseases, its causes and home cure with fine colored plates, is the best work ever published. A copy will be sent free to anybody who sends two 3 cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 29w2

"If you would be truly happy, my dear," said one New York lady to another, "you will have neither eyes nor ears when your husband comes home late from the club." "Yes, I know," answered the other, wearily, "but what am I to do with my nose?"

If you are a frequenter or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all new countries—ague, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

LUDDINGTON, Mich., Feb. 2, 1880.

I have sold Hop Bitters for four years and there is no medicine that surpasses them for billous attacks, kidney complaints and many diseases incident to this malarial climate.

20w2 H. T. ALEXANDER.

A new book is titled: "Short sayings of Great Men." When are we to have the "Great Sayings of Short Men?"
[N. Y. News.

"AN ODD STREET SCENE."

He was seen in front of the office rubbing himself against the telegraph pole like a flea-bitten dog. "What is wrong?" We ventured to ask. "Gotem, "gent," he said laconically; have 'em every spring, small lumps form about the rectum; sore to the touch; they itch like blazes; a telegraph pole's like an oasis in the desert to me." Here then was poor humanity suffering from a complaint which a few applications of Swayne's Ointment for Itching Piles would have thoroughly eradicated.
20w4

A lady stood patiently before the receiving teller's window in a Broadway bank the other day, but no one took any notice of her till she attracted the attention of the money-taker by tapping with her parasol on the glass. "Why don't you pay attention to me?" she said, petulantly. "I'm sorry, ma'am but we don't pay anything here."

The following is the dates of closing navigation on the Hudson for ten years past:

1873	Dec. 27	1878	Dec. 10
1874	Dec. 9	1879	Dec. 19
1875	Nov. 26	1880	Nov. [illegible]
1877	Dec. 1	1881	[illegible]
1876	Dec. 14	1882	[illegible]

NEWS FROM EVERY POINT.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

—London has 41 theatres, with a total seating capacity of 55,336.

—67,000 arrests in New York city during the year ending Dec. 6.

—It is said that the boom in hops has advanced the price of real estate in Oneida twenty-five per cent.

—The New York state dairymen's association will have its sixth annual convention in Cortland, Dec. 19 and 29.

—The estimated yield of peanuts in Virginia this year is 2,000,000 bushels. Tennessee will also produce 500,000 bushels, and North Carolina 125,000 bushels.

—It is reported that ex-confederate General Beauregard is to marry the young widow of the late Commodore Vanderbilt. She is worth millions while the general is a poor man.

—A beautiful monument to the confederate dead was unveiled in Charleston, S. C., Thursday. Thousands of people were present among which were several old Northern officers.

—Frank James, the notorious Missouri outlaw has been indicted at Huntsville, Alabama, for complicity in a robbery in that State. If he escapes conviction in the former state he will be taken to the latter for trial.

—Robert Chew, superintendent of Lebanon cemetery, Philadelphia, has been detected in selling bodies to medical colleges. He received $3.00 for each body delivered and had been in the business since 1876.

—Robert Halstead, of Brooklyn, aged 38, a bank clerk, went into a grog shop Friday put some paris green into a glass cf whisky and drank the mixture. He was arrested for felony under the new penal code for attempting suicide and will be sent to prison.

—A moulder named Fox employed in the Scoville Car Works in Buffalo committed suicide in that city Friday in a strange manner. He plunged his head in a pot of molten metal, burning out both eyes, roasting his scalp, skull and face. He was temporarily insane and has since died.

—The Supreme Court of Iowa decides that a promissiory note, properly filled out from a printed blank, except that the amount was not written out, though put in figures in the margin, is worthless. The marginal figures are a memorandum only, and no part of the note.

—"Joe" Coburn, the pugilist, was released from Sing Sing prison Thursday morning. He was sentenced in 1877 for ten years for dangerously wounding two New York policemen. Three and [illegible] years was commuted for good behavior and Governor Cornell grants him a pardon.

HOW UNPLEASANT

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases, parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulpher Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor—Health Gazette. 29w2

☞GO TO ROBINSON & LANGDON'S for choice Coffee! The only place in town where you will find it roasted fresh twice every week. 15tf

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take BLUE PILLS or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored?

IT IS Dangerous

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow, Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

[illegible]

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE
TRADE MARK [illegible] TRADE MARK

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 39

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

BERZEE'S GROCERY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will continue the business at the Old Stand.
Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

—A First-Class line of—

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

Will You [illegible]

NEW GOODS AT THE BAZAAR THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods, &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

A Magnficent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnshing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of

Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods, Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Peeris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That onr garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING, SAWING, RE-SAWING, SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases, etc.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Oneida Street.

All the Latest and BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, [illegible]

Ten Cents [illegible]

...Garfield ... a day for their ...

... a trial in the ... One man is ... all the ... condemn the man ... a work."

... Cleveland is looking ... the great crowd ... He gets 400 letters a day ... innumerable applications in person.

JUDGE MERWIN has just decided that there is no personal liability of stockholders of a bank organised under state laws that does not issue bank notes or any kind of paper credits to circulate as money.

JOHN TOBIN was arrested in New York last week for drunkenness. Twenty years ago he was president of the Hudson River Railroad and was worth $3,000,000. Stock gambling and a too free use of fire water downed him.

SATURDAY'S New York papers contained the intelligence that Seth Green, fish commissioner, had been drowned the previous day by the foundering of a yacht in the Atlantic ocean off the coast of Florida. It proves to have been an idle rumor and Mr. Green is safe in some Southern port.

THE Police Court in Rutland, Vt., has sent Mrs. Bridget Kennedy of that place to the House of Correction for a term of nearly fifty years for illegally selling liquor. She was convicted on 595 complaints, and, being unable to pay the aggregate fines and costs, that sentence was imposed upon her.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR loves his joke. Hearing, several days before the meeting of Congress, that an alleged abstract of his message was for sale, he inquired of a newspaper man if he knew who had it, and explained: "The reason why I asked was that I haven't quite finished my message yet, and I thought if I could purchase a complete copy in advance, it might help me out on some points which I havn't settled to my satisfaction."

THE commisioner of pensions thinks it wrong that rank rather than disability determines the pension a soldier should receive. If a private soldier lost an arm his pension is about one-third that of a colonel. Why the difference? They were both drawn from and returned to the same walks of civil life. The great majority of privates who are drawing pensions will be pleased to learn that a recommendation has been made to obliterate the distinction.

YOUNG and middle aged men will take courage after reading that Thurlow Weed was worth $1,500,000 at his death and it was mostly accumulated after he had passed his fiftieth year. He would spend less than half his income and put the residue into good paying securities. Thus by judicious investment of accrued profits, he laid the foundation of a hansome fortune. This is the true theory of money making, and will work on the smallest just as well as on the largest scale. As it is really the only rule that will work. However much money a man makes he will never get ahead financially if he spends his whole income.

GOVERNOR-ELECT CLEVELAND has made the following staff appointments: Adjutant-General—John G. Farnsworth, of Albany; Inspector-General—Phillip H. Briggs of Brooklyn; Chief-of-ordinance—Daniel D. Wiley, of New York, subject to confirmation by the Senate; Engineer-in-Chief—George S. Fields of Buffalo; Judge-Advocate-General—Horatio King of Brooklyn; Surgeon General—Joseph D. Bryant of New York; Quartermaster-General—Edwin S. Jenny of Syracuse; Paymaster-General—G. Barret Bich, of Buffalo; Commissary-General of Subsistence—Austin Lathrop, of Corning; General-Inspector of Rifle Practice—Charles T. Robbins of New York; Aides-de-camp, Charles H. Utley, of Buffalo, George N. Burt of Oswego, Charles H. Frost of Peekskill, Thomas C. Mills of New York, Robert Townsend of Oyster Bay, William P. Cassidy of Albany. The members of the staff will meet at the Everett House, New York to-day. Daniel S. Lamont, of Albany, will be Governor Cleveland's Military Secretary.

A BUFFALO police court was recently the scene of a novel suit. Mrs. Donahue received a search warrant to recover a goose which she said had been taken and wrongfully detained by a neighbor named Flynn. The goose was found in Mrs. Flynn's chamber and brought into court by an officer. Mrs. Donahue swore positively to the identity of the goose by a black feather while Mrs. Flynn was positive it was hers by the shape of its nose. The swearing was so evenly divided that the justive was in a quandary how to decide. He gave the goose to an officer and told him to go to the neighborhood where the claimants lived and deposit it at an equal distance between the houses of the two women. The goose would then be allowed to go to whichever of its two contesting claimants it chose and that would determine the ownership. Should however, the goose refuse to go to either of them, the officer would keep it. The decision gave satisfaction to the women. At last accounts the goose had refused to go to the house of either of the women and the officer had taken it in obedience to the court's order and ... it Christmas.

... CLASS INSURANCE.

... with Thomas' Eclectric Oil ... method of in... bottles at 50 ...

... Fulton ... of ... which was granted. Supervisor Rice also directed the levy on the town of Volney of $350 for roads and bridges, $800 for support of the poor, $150 for roads and $75.18 to refund an erroneous tax to T. Hubbard which was adopted; also presented the report of the railroad commissioners of the town of Volney requiring $337,400. There is $19,310.42 on hand to meet it. Supervisor Wright of Granby presented a petition from the town assessors for relief of S. C. Schenck for the assessment of 16 acres of land, which was granted.

The clerk read a notice of appeal of constable Emory Smith of Granby from the award of the town board, and it referred to the proper committee.

The board was notified by the comptroller that Oswego county's portion of the state tax was $48,673.97, on a valuation of $19,866,928. In 1881 Oswego county's portion of the state tax was $43,976.27 on a valuation of $19,545,809.

Yesterday Mr. Rice presented a petition from Rev. Father Kearney, pastor of the church of the Immaculate Conception, for the refunding of a tax of $36.51 on a piece of church property paid by his predecessor Rev. Father Green, when he was entitled to an exemption. Supervisor Rice gave notice that he would appear to-day before the county court in the matter.

☞Violins, accordeons, guitars, harmonicas, cheap at Bristol's new store for holiday trade. 30

SKATES! SKATES!
Just recd a good assortment at
WATERMAN'S

No Trace of Gilbert.

Friday's Buffalo Evening News says:

"Have you found any trace or clue of S. Wright Gilbert?" asked an Evening News man of Assistant Police Superintendent Dimick to-day.

"We have received no official complaint of any offense committed by him and have not had the case in hand."

"Is any effort being made to find him?"

"Not that I know of. I understand that even the Lake Shore railroad detectives are not looking for him. The railroad officials probably think that all they can get back will be what they are able to recover by suing the bondsmen of Mr. Gilbert."

It will thus be seen that unless Mr. Gilbert's bondsmen take some action that they alone will be the sufferers by his defalcation. The inaction of the railroad company is rather remarkable.

Now is your time to secure a good map published by H. C. Tunison and presented to you in clubs of one hundred bringing it so cheaply that all who have not a good map can purchase one at a price ere this unknown to the map trade. 30w3

SOURCES OF PROFIT.

There are many sources of profit to those who are ingenious and enterprising. Burdock Blood Bitters are a source of profit in every way. They build up the health surely, speedily, and effectually, which is saying a great deal.

☞If you are searching after bargains for holiday goods drop into the Bazaar and you can easily satisfy yourself.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME BOOK.

Golden thoughts on Mother, Home and Heaven. Edited by Theo. L. Cuyler, D. D. This volume, elegant in contents, illustrations and binding, is an attractive book for one's own reading or a gift appropriate at all times and places.

We scarcely can tell which is the most attractive about this volume, its par excellent title, its 300 literary gems on the themes named, its brilliant array of distinguished writers, or its beautiful mechanical execution. It is a splendid work every way. A copy should be in every home, where every mother and every mother's friend can have access to it." Price $2.75. Agents are wanted by the Publisher, E. B. TREAT, 757 Broadway New York.

Hosiery and underwear for ladies' gentlemen, children, comprising all styles at prices that we guarantee.
C. E Sackett.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John U. Smith estate. It is on First street, on block north of Broadway It comprises twelve lots and will be sold either whole or singly. The most desirable building lots in Oswego Falls. For terms etc., inquire at Fulton of 25tf HENRY E. NICHOLS.

☞The greatest job lot of cheap hats Fancy feathers, ostrich tips etc. at F. E. Bacon's millinery department. The above lot of goods will be placed on sale Friday of this week.

HOTEL CLARENDON,
Syracuse, N. Y.

This house is new throughout, and has all the modern improvements, Within one-half minute's walk of the D., L. & W. railroad depot. No pains will be spared to make it pleasant for the guests. The rates are the lowest of any in the city. All kinds of liquors and cigars, of the finest grade, constantly on hand.
13 G. E. SQUIER, Prop.

Nothing Makes a ...
Christmas P...
THAN A
WHITE WOOL ...
100 pair to be Sold at Cost as we want to clo...
"BEE HIVE" ...

F. E. BACON

Is Receiving an Elegant Line of Goods for the Holidays. Having sold out most of our early purchases we are now prepared to give our customers the advantage of 10 to 20 per cent deduction upon our new purchases having received the same from our Wholesale Dealers. New, Bright, Fresh, Stylish Goods every week bought and sold for cash, and please MARK further no one sells cheaper. Our motto "Always lead, never follow" both as regards style and price.

F. E. BACON.

ROUND ABOUT US.

What our Neighbors are Doing—News Sheared from our Exchanges.

There are 983 convicts in Auburn prison.

Mexico has a wooden butter dish factory.

Baldwinsville is sighing for a first-class hotel.

Patatoes are being shipped from Mexico at sixty cents.

George Webb formerly of Mexico has been appointed assistant superintendent of the N. Y. O. & W. railroad.

Clayton is to have a new hotel large enough to accommodate 600 guests, and a new Catholic church costing $15,000.

Monday evening Dec. 25th, there will be a Christmas promenade at Hannan's hotel, Palermo Centre. Most enjoyable parties are held at this place.

The annual meeting of the Oswego County Agricultural Society will be held in Washington hall, Mexico, Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1882, at 12 o'clock noon.

The Bowens Corners cheese factory opened April 17th and closed November 14th. It had 57 patrons and made 150,000 pounds of cheese. Mr. A. M. Kibbe was the maker and gave thorough satisfaction.

George Wright, who presented a raised check at the First National bank in Oswego last summer, was found guilty of forgery in Oswego Monday and Tuesday sentenced by Judge Nutting to seven years in Auburn prison.

James Hawkes, the murderer of Amelia Hall, was sentenced by Judge Vann, in Syracuse Friday to Auburn prison for life. Hawkes said he was born in Granby, Oswego county, and that December 25th 1882, he would be fifty years of age.

The failure in Syracuse Monday of Charles F. Gere, a produce and commission merchant, leaves J. Hoose of Mexico a creditor in the sum of $1,018.61. His assets are thought to be barely sufficient to meet notes held by the New York State Banking Co.

The case of Sidney Morse who was charged with poisoning cattle belonging to David Wells in South Hannibal last summer is on trial in Oswego to-day. This morning's Oswego Post says it was proved that he did not purchase any paris green and thinks the jury will acquit him.

An Earlville correspondent of the Syracuse Herald states that the town of Plymouth, Otselic and DeRuyter are going to bring suit against the N. Y. O. & W. railroad to recover moneys paid on bonds issued to build the branch from Norwich to DeRuyter. These towns were bonded for about $100,000 each, and after the road was run for seven years the iron and ties were taken up and the road abandoned. They either want a railroad or their money.

The burning of the Page cheese factory at Palermo recently is causing an investigation. A sheriff's jury composed of the following gentlemen has been empanelled and will listen to evidence: D. H. Trimble, J. A. Marks, F. C. Church, H. Clothur, Thomas Washer, M. J. Hills, R. Sheldon, Leander Scudder, O. P. Jennings, Martin Chaffee, Frank Parsons, Christian Keller. About twelve witnesses have been examined. The investigation has adjourned until Wednesday, Dec. 20.

At the annual meeting of the Granby S. S. Union held December 3d at Dexterville Rev Mr. Golden of Fulton held the attention of the congregation three-fourths of an hour with his interesting and instructive discourse, after which the following officers were chosen to serve the ensuing year viz: D. M. Cox, president; Grover Weller, vice-president; S. B. Dutton, secretary. The exercises were interspersed and enlivened by gospel songs. Miss Alice Cox presided at the organ.

D. M. COX, Pres. S. B. DUTTON, Sec.

☞Music boxes at Bristol's $150 and upwards. 30

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Co's.

Annual Meeting.

The annual election for directors of the Citizens National Bank and three inspectors for the next election will be held at their banking rooms on Tuesday the 9, day of January next, Polls open from one until two p. m.

GEO. M. CASE, President.
Dated, Fulton, Dec. 12, 1882.

Dress flannell in all colors, also those 25 cent dress flannells. C. E. Sackett,

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

FULTON, Nov. 28, 1882.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, President, Trustees Herrick, LaLonde and Hart

Board adjourned to Nov. 29, 1882, at 7:30 p. m.

L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

FULTON, Nov. 29, 1882

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, President, Trustees Herrick, LaLonde, Cavanaugh.

Board adjourned to meet Dec. 5, 1882, at 7:30 p. m.

L. H. PATTERSON, clerk.

FULTON, Dec. 5, 1882.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, president, Trustees Herrick, Hart, LaLonde, and Cavanaugh.

Mr. Nichols asked that a lamp be placed on Third street in front of the Presbyterian church

Referred to lamp committee.

Mr. ... asked that the care be kept from in front of his residence on Second street and his crossing be kept clean.

On motion a committee of three with the president be appointed to enforce the laws in reference to obstructing the streets.

The president appointed Trustees Cavanaugh, ..., and Hart a committee.

The finance committee reported the following bills and orders were drawn for the amounts:

[illegible]

A MINISTER'S ESCAPE.

From the Asylum to the Bosom of His Home--How it was Done.

A prominent minister residing at the east has just made the following statement, which is herewith reprinted entire:

To The Editor of the Herald:

I have always shrunk form appearing prominently before the public, but a sense of duty I owe humanity and the world prompts me to ask this opportunity for making a brief statement in your paper.

Whether it be true with others I cannot, but during my entire life I have frequently been conscious that something was slowly and silently working to undermine my health and life. What it was I could not tell, but that some enemy of my being was devouring me I was certain. At times I would seem comparatively well and then would be attacked with the most distressing symptoms. I would feel peculiar pains in various parts of my body, and my head would seem heavy; my respiration labored; my appetite would be ravenous one day and I would loathe food the day following. Then again I would lose all interest in life; would feel weary without exertion; would become sleepy at mid-day and restless at night. Occasionally my breathing would be labored and my heart almost motionless, while at other times it would palpitate violently. I thought these troubles were the result of malaria, and I treated them accordingly, but I got no better. Shortly afterward my stomach became deranged, my food failed to digest, and the fluids I passed were of a peculiar oder and color. And yet I did not realize that these things meant anything serious. Finally I consulted a number of eminent physicians, each one of whom as to the cause of my troubles. One said I was suffering from brain disease, etc. My symptoms were terrible, and in the hope of relief I was cauterised, cupped, blistered and subjected to almost every known form of treatment. During one of these attacks, while at Red Bank, N. J., a physician was called, and left a prescription. After he had gone, I requested a friend to go and ask him what he thought of my trouble. The reply was: "Oh, he will be all right in a few days; it is noly an attack of delirium tremens.." He was informed that this was impossible, as I had never used any kind of intoxicating drinks; whereupon he returned, made inquiries, and changed his prescription. But all the care of my friends and physiciansvailed nothing. I grew worse constantly, and what is most terribe to think, of, I did not know what ailed me, nor could I find any one who did.

During the summer and fall of last year my pulse ranged from 120 to 130 per minute: I had no relish for food and was indeed a most pitiable object. I continued in this until last December, when I became unconscious and lost my reason, though I had two physicians in whom myself and friends placed implicit confidence. In this condition I was taken to Brattleboro, Vt., for the purpose of being placed in the insane asylum. I remained there until last April, being attended all the while by my faithful wife who never left me and believed that some decease and not insanity was the cause of my trouble. I regained consciousness in March last and insisted upon being taken home. The physicians advised that I remain, but I insisted upon leaving, and we began the journey, traveling slowly. I was met at the dock by a friend whom I recognized and then I became again unconscious and remained so for over a week. When I once more recognized my friend and knew my surroundings I determined to try, as a last resort, a treatment of which I had heard much but knew nothing. Neither myself nor friends had much faith that it or anything could help me, but we resolved to try. We accordingly dismissed the physicians, gave up all other remedies, and I rejoice to say that to-day I am a well man: having not been so vigorous for many yeats, and I owe it all to the wonderful, almost miraculous, power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the remedy which I used.

You can well imagine how grateful I must feel under the circumstances.and, like a new convert, I earnestly desire that all who are suffering should know and avail themselves of this means of recovery. Had it not been for the remedy above named I should doubtless now be within the walls of an asylum or in my grave. The great trouble with my case was that no one seemed to know what I was afflicted with, and I am positive that thousands of people in America to-day are in the same or a similar condition, and do not know its cause. Kidney troubles are the most deceptive of all diseases. They have no symptoms of their own, but often show the symytoms of nearly every known complaint. I know that people are dying every day from supposed consumption, appleay, heart disease, spinal complaint, and many other diseases, when could the real cause be known, it would be found to originate in the kidneys. In their advanced stages kidney troubles are the most terrible of all known maladies, as my own experience can fully verify. That I had Bright's of the kidneys there can be no doubt. That the symptoms were those of many other diseases is equally certain, and that I was doomed to a terrible death had I not been saved as I was, I am positive. The following letters just received, confirm this:

VERMONT ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.
BRATTLEBORO, Vermont, Oct. 30, 1828.
Rev. E. D. Hopkins;

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 21st inst. received. We congratulate you not only upon the continuance of your health, but also upon its apparent continual improvement. Few persons, I think, have passed through so exhausting an experience as you and rallied from it. Certainly I cannot recall one who came to us in so critical, and for days and even weeks in so hopeless a state for amendment as you, and who survived and recovered from it; for, I think, you may now consider yourself recovered and no longer on the continnance of your present health, with the best wishes from all here, I am, yours truly, J. DRAPER.

OCEANIC, N. J., Nov. 2, 1882.

MY DEAR FRIEND: Replying to your letter I would say, I have been acquainted with my highly valued friend, the Rev. S. D. Hopkins about eighteen months, and very intimately acquainted for about six months past. For a little more than five months he was an inmate of my house, and we enjoyed constant intercourse with each other. When he came in April last he was almost a perfect wreck in point of health. I thought he had come to us but to die. Soon afterwards he began the use of some of H. H. Warner & Co.'s Remedies, ...

JAMES COLE,
The Old Reliable
UNDERTAKER,
AND
FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 5lt

New and Useful Holiday Goods,

and Reduced Prices at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Flannel Suiting, Black French Cashmere, Black Silks, Brocade Satins, a Large Assortment of Felt Skirts. Ladies and Gents Silk and Linen Handkerchiefs in Great Variety.

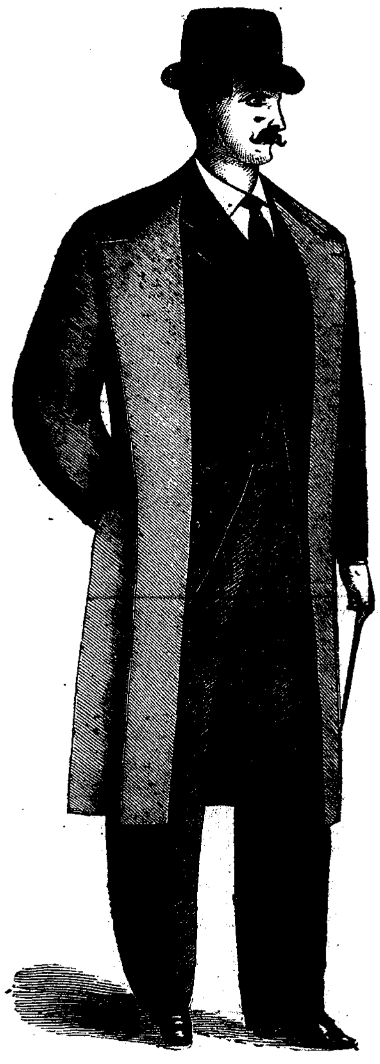
Just Received 20 doz. Childrens' and Miss' Wool Hose 15 to 75.
Silk Plushes in all the colors at reduced prices.

28 inch Silk Umbrella's $2.50 worth $3.00. Shawls, Blankets, Ladies Fur Collars, Fur Trimmings, Cloaks and Dolmans.

We give the best value for the money that can be had in Fulton.

All goods guaranteed as represented or the money refunded.

E B. FAY.



ROSENBLOOM

Is offering Extra Inducements on their large stock of Clothing. Bargains in Every Department.

Call and See Them.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

ALWAYS

SOMETHING NEW!

You who are in this big village to-day, or passing through, will you drop in and see a little of how people frade here? You may hand your packages or traveling bag to the man at the door; walk whither you will, ask all the questions you will of whomsoever you meet, and USE YOUR EYES. The drift of events has given us a peculiar place, and the drift of trade is making it a very busy one. Buying and selling, perhaps, you don't care to see. WHAT IS TO SEE HERE THEN? WELL, THE SIZE OF THE STORE IS SOMETHING! THE

UNUSUAL LARGE STOCK OF CLOTHING with its HUNDRES of rare bargains, another attraction; but the QUALITY AND THOROUGH WORKMANSHIP of our garments, and their

ROCK BOTTOM PRICES

is the chief cause of daily large crowds.

We have in a very short time accustomed thougands of people to resort to us—they show confidence—we merit the confidence of everybody we make in satisfactory Clothing. You may see how generously people of this city and vicinity respond to such provisions for their dress and comfort! IT WILL DO US NO HARM IF YOU COME AND SEE AND GO AWAY AND TELL.

FAMOUS

OPERA CLOTHING HOUSE

2 and 3 Wieting Block, Syracuse.

P. S.—Your money is taken by us at par value ...

F. D. VANWAGENEN JR,
REAL ESTATE AGENT.
(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond& Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

FANCY GOODS IN LARGE V...
—FOR THE—HOLIDAY TRA...
—Now being offered at the—
"BEE HIVE"
FULTON, N. Y.

VERY DESIRABLE
To Know the Fact that
WATERMAN'S
——Stock Of——
Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place. Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of the same, at 34 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

D. A. WATERMAN.

[illegible] A. E. Mason, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2 .... 7:15 a. m
[illegible] .... 3:35 p. m
[illegible] Accommodation No. 43 .... 8:25 a. m

GOING NORTH.

[illegible] No. 1 .... 8:20 p. m.
[illegible] No. 3 .... 11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 46 .... 3:35 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation .... 8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 9:28 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express .... 12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express .... 5:06 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express .... 8:06 a. m
Day Express .... 3:08 p. m
Oswego Accommodation .... 6:34 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express .... 8:30 p. m
[illegible] trains leave Sundays.
[illegible] Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

On and after January 1st the subscrition price of The Times will advance to $1.50 per year to those not paying in advance. Subscribers who pay in advance $1.25.

Bradford Willard of New York was in Fulton over Sunday.

Rev. A. Smith of the F. M. church will officiate in Oswego next Sunday.

Rev. Jay N. Taft and wife of Syracuse have been calling upon friends in this vicinity.

We are under obligations to Clerk Patterson for a copy each of the village ordinances and charter.

The official count shows Judge Nutting's majority for Representative in this district to have been only 1,611.

Charles Eggleston, son of Mr. C. S. Eggleston of this village, has accepted a position as city editor of the Syracuse Morning Standard.

Tickets for Schuyler Colfax's lecture in Stephens' opera house Monday, January 22d, will be placed on sale to-morrow. Read the advertisement.

Fred Spafford cut ice yesterday and delivered it to his customers. It was of an average thickness of five inches. He is getting ready for the season of 1883.

George Chauncey, who left Fulton some two years ago has returned east and is in the employ of the R. W. & O. Railroad as freight agent at Suspension Bridge.

The only real estate change recorded in county clerk's office of local import during the past week was:—Willis S. Nelson to Norman Palen, land in Fulton, Nov. 29, 1882, $750.

Hubert Dann of Oswego Fall and Miss Luella E. Demmon of South Granby were married Dec. 6th at Granby Centre at the residence of the officiating clergyman Rev. D. L. Phelps.

George L. Pratt is home from Fort Plain where he has been attending school. He will now enter Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., and undergo a thorough course of instruction.

At a special term of the Supreme Court held in Syracuse last weey Judge Vann granted an absolute divorce to Lyman J. Bennett from his wife Marietta T. Bennett. The parties reside in Fulton.

Rev. George Ward will occupy the pulpit in the Free Methodist church next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and in the evening at 7 o'clock Rev. J. Royal Decker will officiate. The public are cordially invited.

Mr. T. B. Cloyes of Utica, is in Fulton soliciting subscription for Johnson's New Universal Cyclopædia. It is an excellent work and is meeting with a flattering sale. Mr. Cloyes is stopping at the Lewis House and is pleased at all times to show the work. If you wish to make a grand Christmas gift to a studious son or daughter examine Johnson's Cyclopædia.

The police transactions have not been very extensive in Fulton during the year ending Nov. 1, 1882. The whole number of arrests for that time being 113, disposed of as follows:—

Paid fines 67; committed to penitentiary 9; discharged or sentence suspended 20; committed to jail 4; held to bail to keep the peace 3; held to bail for support of family 2; acquitted 6; total, 113.

William Kilfoyle is one of the most extensive potato shippers in this portion of the State. This season to date, he has shipped from Fulton and Pennellville 10,842 bushels and has on hand in his store room underneath Collins' store about 6,000 bushels. Fifty cents has been the lowest price paid and to-day he is paying eighty-five. Fulton is classed as one of the best potato markets in the State.

Quite a number of Methodists of the southwestern part of this town gave Rev. E. Redhead of Owasco a pleasant surprise on Wednesday of this week. A sumptuous dinner was served and a good time in general enjoyed. Mr. Redhead was a few years since pastor of the M. E. church of Skaneateles, and has many warm friends among his old parishoners. [Skaneateles Free Press.

Rev. E. Redhead was one time pastor of the M. E. church in this village and is [illegible] of Mr. [illegible] R. Redhead of the [illegible] mills in this village.

BEATS THE WORLD.

[illegible] what H. C. Hoberman, a druggist of [illegible], Ohio, says: "Thomas' [illegible] beats the world. Sold nine [illegible] day. One man [illegible]

[illegible] stock of cut[illegible] & Co.

[illegible] Large delegations from Oswego, Mexico, Central Square and other towns in the county were present. Mrs. Golden presided and Miss J. M. Porter gave the address of welcome in a very cordial and pleasant manner to which Mrs. D. D. Owen, of Central Square, appropriately responded. Mrs. Knight, of Mexico, read a very able essay entitled "By what authority doest thou these things?" Miss Belle Maynard of Fulton, read a poem entitled "There is work enough to do at home." Miss Grafftey of Oswego, gave a map of exercise on the Telugu country explaining in a clear and forcible manner the situation of its various mission stations, followed by a very interesting paper on the Telugu mission by Mrs. M. A. Wilcox of Oswego. Miss Bradt of Oswego then finely rendered the vocal solo entitled "Lone Star," and Miss Mary Hutchins read a paper entitled "To whom much is given, much is required," which was evidently prepared with much care and listened to with close attention. The choir of the church furnished the music for the occasion, which was one of interest as well as profit.

On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the missionary prayer meeting was held, followed by reports from each society in the association, giving their own plan of work. Mrs. Renney of Oswego, read a most touching letter received by her from an aged Bible woman of Burmah, whose support she has for the past three years assumed and who was baptised by Dr. Judson over fifty years ago. Mrs. Randall of Oswego, gave a very interesting account of several missionary meetings which she attended in the west during the past year, and their plans for mission work, telling also of the very hopeful conversion of the heathen boy being educated by the Sunday school of the East Baptist church of Oswego. In view of the approaching removal of Rev. Mr. Golden and family from this place it became necessary for Mrs. Golden to resign her position of president of the Union which she did with much feeling, speaking of her pleasant relations with the members of the Association and their cheerful cooperation and aid given her in every effort to advance the cause. The ladies were deeply moved at the thought of parting with their much loved friend and helper, and Mrs. Randall of Oswego, suggested that we ask God's guidance in this trial and at once offered prayer followed by Mrs. Grafftey after which it was decided that the office should be filled during the remainder of the year by the vice-president Mrs. M. E. Kingsford of Oswego. The various delegations were then invited to the parsonage for an hour of social intercourse and a dinner prepared by the ladies of the church and the meeting altogether proved a most delightful as well as profitable gathering.

Keep the Sidewalks Clean.

The board of trustees at their meeting last Tuesday evening instructed the Street Commissioner to enforce the law in regard to keeping the sidewalks free from snow. Section 37 of the village ordinance says:

§ 37. Every owner or occupant of any house, or other building, and the owner or proprietor, lessee, or person entitled to the possession of any vacant lot and every person having charge of any any church, cemetery, jail or other public building in this village, shall in the winter season, and during the time snow shall continue on the ground within two hours after verbal notice by the President, Street Commissioner, Trustee or Policeman to clear the sidewalks in front of such house or other building, and in front of such lot, from snow and ice, and keep them conveniently free therefrom during the day, or shall in case the snow and ice are so congealed that they cannot be removed without injury to the pavement or sidewalk, cause the said snow and ice to be strewn with ashes or sand; and shall also at all times keep such sidewalk clean and free from dirt, filth or other obstructions and incumbrances, so as to allow of all citizens using the said sidewalk in an easy manner; and every person neglecting or refusing to comply with this law, shall forfeit two dollars for each neglect or refusal; and the street commissioner, the trustees, police officers and constables enjoined to see that this law is carried into effect.

Christmas is Coming.

Just a word to parents and to wives! Christmas, the season of gift making, is coming, in fact is almost at hand, and it will be upon us before we are aware. The holiday attractions of the stores are innumerable and they are so strong that they almost wrench the pocketbooks from our grasp—at least their contents. Now what we wish to impress upon the wives of this vicinity: Don't let decorative art so far engross your attention that you overlook the utilities. Don't let the embroidered slippers overshadow the less elaborate but no less beautiful, shapely and elegant overcoat with its warmth and comfort amid the blasts of winter. The soft, luxurious fur beaver makes one of the choicest of gifts, and Kent & Miller have the very best. And we would also remind parents that their boys have a longing interest in new clothes and an overcoat or a suit from Kent & Miller's would almost set them wild with delight. So parents don't forget to make your boys happy by judicious purchases at 18 & 20 South Salina street.

[illegible]ACK SILKS,
SATIN RADMAHA and Fine
[illegible] the Holiday Trade.
Now Being Opened at the [illegible] Fulton, N. Y.

A. E. N[illegible]'S.

Men's Hand Embroidered Slippers - -	$1.00 to $2.25
Boys' " " " - - - -	1.00 " 1.50
Ladies' " " " - - - -	1.35 " 1.50
Misses' " " " - - - -	1.00 " 1.25
Youths' " " " - - - -	85
Childs' " " " - - - -	75

For a Christmas Present.

Politicians' petitions are now in order.

The sweet buy and buy is the holiday refrain.

Wright's sawmill is closed a few days for repairs.

Foster Bros., knife factory in Oswego Falls is being raised.

☞Eight large pieces of tinware for $1.00 at Bazaar worth $2.50.

A. A. Carr has opened a meat market at the west end of the lower bridge.

A Lincoln embroidery hoop holder is an excellent Christmas gift to make to your lady friends.

There will be a grand masquerade at the Volney Centre Hotel Monday evening, January 1, 1883.

Lost—Monday evening, a fur boa, between the "Bee Hive" and the Seminary. Will finder please return to this office?

Lost—Between Oneida street and Granby, via Third street, a boy's fur cap. The finder will please leave it at this office.

One week from next Monday commences the fair at Nichols Hall under the auspices of the church of the Immaculate Conception.

For sale—About seventy-five bushels good mortar. Enquire at new building corner of First street and Broadway.

Fulton, Dec. 6. John Harvie.

Mrs. James Wakefield died Sunday at her residence in the eastern part of the village, aged 52 years. Funeral held yesterday at 2 p. m. from late residence.

The Times of next week will contain some interesting police developments. Clues to recent robberies are being successfully worked by some of our officers.

Dell Althouse and Miss Ella Furnia were united in marriage last Wednesday at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. A. Smith of the F. M. church.

Mr. F. M. McIntyre has regaled The Times staff with a liberal sample of sour krout. It is in every respect excellent and Mr. McIntyre is supplying the public for ten cents per quart.

Dr. T. Dwight Stowe, who was elected to the Massachusetts legislature from the Fall River district, is referred to by the Boston Star as one of the prospective leaders of the next assembly.

Albert Hancock of Granby Centre drew four large loads of potatoes to George Wood at west end of lower bridge yesterday. The first load contained 95 bushels, the second 91, the third 93, and the last 104. This is pretty good for one day.

Thursday evening, December 21, the A. S. C. will hold their first social hop in the new ball room of the Stephens Opera House. This will be the initial hop in this new hall and a joyous time is in store tor those who attend. Invitations must be presented at the door.

The Cord Index is a marvellous invention enabling the player to execute accompaniments in twelve different keys. This is a mechanical appliance that can be used to any piano or organ in one moment and one hour's practice is sufficient to learn its use. It is for sale by F. K. Jones.

Officers were elected in the G. A. R. last evening as follows:

Commamder, W. J. Pentelow; Senior Vice-commander, D. M. Perine; Junior-Vice-Commander, H. H. Hendrick; Quartermaster, D. Hendrick; Chaplain, G. V. Emens, ; Surgeon Dr. D. Pardee; Officer of the Day, F. C. Mosher, ; Officer of the Guard W. Ellis. D. M. Perine was elected delegate to the state encampment in Troy and M. F. Crahan alternate.

☞Cutters are selling rapidly at 30 Bristol's.

Notice—I have opened a meat market in upper Oswego Falls and will take orders and deliver meat in any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls. Shop north of Johnston,s tin shop. My prices are low and meat fresh and first class.

Charles Reeves.

Oswego Falls. Dec 6.

HEMLOCK WOOD WANTED.

Will pay highest market price for two hundred cords of hemlock wood. Enquire at pottery of Hart Bros.

Fulton Dec 6.

Wanted to hire—A small amount of money. For security will give a paid up Life Insurance Policy. Any one who has money to loan will find a bargain in this. Please call at Times office.

Fulton, N. Y., Dec. 13.

JONAS SHACKLETON,
Carpenter, Joiner and Cabinet Maker.
Furniture Made and Repaired.
All kinds of Jobbing Work promptly attended to.
Shop and Residence Second Street,
30t7 Lower Oswego Falls.

Edward Tyrrel Acquitted.

Edward Tyrrell, of Oswego Falls was tried in county court in Oswego last week upon an indictment charging with manslaughter in causing the death of Thomas Burns in Oswego Falls last July. Ten witnesses were sworn on each side. Thursday at 5:30 p. m., Judge Nutting charged the jury and about midnight they came in and rendered a verdict of "Not Guilty." Henry C. Howe was Tyrrell's counsel.

To Be Abandoned.

At the opening of Danenhower's lecture in the opera house last evening Mr. S. B. Mead, who is managing the Popular Lecture Course, announced that all further entertainments would be cancelled and the lecture course abandoned. The apathy of the public in seconding Mr. Mead in his undertaking is to be regretted, as it is for this reason he relaxes his purpose.

Those who have purchased course tickets may have their money refunded by presenting tickets at Nichol's jewelry store. Those who have not paid are requested to settle with Mr. Nichols for the opening entertainment.

The Wonderful Clock.

The Engle Clock is on exhibition in Nichols' hall and it is a wonderful piece of mechanical ingenuity. It took 21 years to build it and is a study and wonder to all who visit it. Mrs. Captain Reid describes the workings of the clock and Mr. E. M. Johnson lucidly explains the Apostolic movements.

It would be impossible here to describe all the interesting points of the Engle clock. Suffice it to say that besides indicating the month, day, date, hours, minutes, seconds, etc., it also produces the sweetest hymns and popular airs, beautiful Scriptural figures that pass to and fro in plain sight, going through some really neat and wonderful performances, the ringing of bells, mechanical life and military representations, and other features that render its inspection a perfect charm.

Police Court News.

[Before Justice G. S. Piper.]

Ira Sutherman is a Phœnix paper maker He came to Fulton last Thursday and fell in with some friends, got drunk, was arrested and had his choice of paying $10.00 or remaining in Fulton jail ten days. He took the latter dose.

Charles Sheridan is an Oswego importation, for being drunk in the streets, second offense, he was awarded sixty days in the O. P. or $7.00. He has not succeeded yet in raising any money and he will probably spend the winter in Syracuse.

Ezra Chappel, 63 years of age, made a sad mistake last Thursday. He mistook a Second street snow bank for a bed of downy softness and proceeded to seek sweet repose. It was "snow" use for at that moment officer Jones appeared upon the scene and gathered him in. Ezra says he lives in Watertown and was in Fulton on a simple visit; that the stench arising from the Oswego river upset him, and that when he was arrested he was trying to mend his suspender. The Justice thought Ezra was engaged in a laudable undertaking but using the streets for manufacturing purposes was contrary to village ordinances and fined the prisoner $7.50 or sixty days in O. P. Ezra paid but murmured that Watertown beat Fulton all "holler," a fellow could halt in the streets out there to button up his shoe without being in danger of being arrested or being hung.

☞Everyone buying 25 cents worth of Holiday goods at M. M. Williams. No. 3 First street, next week, will receive a handsome present. Come one, come all. No trouble to show goods.

☞The largest and cheapest stock of Holiday goods ever offered in Fulton or Oswego Falls, at D. C. Draper's. 30tf

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Dec. 13th, 1882.

Ed. Barnes, Silas Buell, Mrs. Jennie Elwood, Mrs. John Frawley, Oscar G. Geuyon, W. Gear, Miss Hattie Grove, Miss Ettie Horton, D. Mason, Mrs. C. V. O'Dell, Roland Spawowk.

POSTAL CARDS.

Abner D. Graham, Dora Post, H. N. Squire, Salladin & Co., Mrs. James Vorman.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

Miss Etta F. Rotch, Weedsport, N. Y. Miss Ann Martin, 321 East 60th St. care of John Collins.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. Gilbert. P. M.

☞Oysters by the plate at Mrs. Montagues.

DON'T BE DECEIVED.

Don't be humbugged and deceived in to purchasing worthless tea by out of town pedlers for the sake of procuring a trashy present. Go to J. Cooley Tucker's and sample his teas and coffees and you will purchase of him hereafter. Good goods and retailed at wholesale prices.29

The sleighing is delightful.

Go and see the wonderful clock in Nichols hall.

Wm. Sainsbury of the Central Square News made The Times a pleasant call yesterday.

For Sale—A second hand parlor coal stove. Good heater. Can be seen at Times office.

The Oswego Falls reading circle will meet at the residence of Mr. Amos Langdon this evening.

J. C. Anderson general freight agent of the N. Y. O. & W. railroad was in town on business yesterday.

Married—By the Rev. J. S. Riggs on Nov. 15, Charles Morrill of Fulton to Miss Josie E. Sumner of Minetto.

Lost.—A gold bar pin with a medal in the centre. The finder will please leave the same at The Times Office.

Mr. M. M. Gutstadt of Syracuse will organize a class in dancing for children at Nichols Hall next Monday afternoon at 4 oclock

An infant child of M. B. Buell died Sunday and was burried yesterday afternoon. Rev Dr. E. C. Bruce of the M. E. church officiated.

At a meeting of the Baptist society yesterday, in the church, the resignation of the pastor Rev. L. Golden was accepted to take effect January 15, 1883.

The contract for printing the supervisors proceedings has been awarded to Mr. R. J. Oliphant of Oswego who will furnish $2000 copies at $1.40 per page.

After a trial of one year as a daily the Rome Sentinel enlarges to seven colums and comes to stay. It is an excellent journal and that is why it so successful.

Elizabeth, wife of John Murgatroyd, died in Oswego Falls Friday, aged 40 years. Funeral was held at Zion church Monday at 2:30 p. m., Rev. E. Moyses officiating.

The Litta concert in Stephens Opera House Monday evening was well received. A fair sized audience greeted her and were thoroughly pleased with the entertainment.

On and after Dec. 15th the D. L. & W. railroad company will issue books of "1,000 Mile Tickets" at $20 each. Applications to be made to the ticket agent. These tickets will be sold under certain conditions, which the purchaser must agree to conform to by placing his or her signature to the rules governing the same. The tickets will be good for one year from date of issue and will be honored in all of the divison of the D. L. & W. RR.

COMING AGAIN.

At the request of many of our leading citizens, Dr J. A. Barringer will be at the Lewis house, Fulton, again on Monday Dec. 18, and remain till the evening of Dec. 29. Perhaps no surgeon or physician ever did a larger business in Fulton than the Doctor during his recent visit. So far as we can learn he met with perfect success in every case. He cures by vitilization, and will treat no case except a cure is certain. Call and he will give you a list of hundreds of cures of desperate case, all made near here. 29

The Cheapest place in town to buy Cutters, Whips and Blankets is at 27 Betts & Co's, First Street.

GO TO EGGLESTON'S

C. S. Eggleston has on hand a full and varied assortment of beautiful articles suitable for Christmas presents. An endless selection of books, pictures, stationery, autograph and photograph albums, holiday and birthday cards, stereoscopes, mirrors and novelties of all descriptions. If you intend making a friend a Christmas present you can easily select just what you want at Eggleston's. 30t3

FOR SALE.

Kiln dried kindling wood in one and two dollar loads. White and black ash wood fifteen inches long, fitted for stove, $1.50 and $2.50 per load. Delivered to any portion of Fulton or Oswego Falls. Enquire at pail and tub factory of 27tf D. E. Mason.

C. E. Sackett has floor oil cloth in all colors and widths.

D. C. SKADEN'S

is the best place in Oswego county to buy silver plated ware for cash:

S. P. table spoons, $1.50 per set.
" tea spoons .75 "
" dessert forks 1.50 "
Castors from $3 to $7.
GO TO SKADEN'S 29t4

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door. 29tf

Picture frames of every description at Hendrick's. Call and see him. 29tf

☞Over 1,000 Dolls from 5 cents to $10, each and all to be sold at about one-half price at Draper's Fulton or Oswego Falls stores. 30tf

5,000 PERSONS WANTED!

To examine the HOLIDAY GOODS at M. M. WILLIAMS', who has just returned from New York with a Full Line of Goods, consisting of

DIARIES, POCKET BOOKS, LADIES SATCHELS, PHOTOGRAPH and [illegible]SCOPES

OLD TIMES [illegible]

Another Reminiscent Letter from Minneapolis—Returning Home from the War.

Editor Fulton Times:—

Minneapolis, Minn. Dec. 7, 1882.—The 24th N. Y. Cav., was mustered out of the U. S. service at St. Clouds Mills, Va., about five miles from Alexandria. This was July 9th 1865, and from there we we were to be sent to some place in New York State to receive our final pay and discharge. We were in hopes of being sent to Syracuse in place of Elmira as then we could run down home while waiting for the papers to be adjusted in the proper manner, and as luck would have it Syracuse was our destination. We arrived there Sunday morning, just in time to find the Fulton train gone. I had been saving money enough to pay my fare, but would have to wait until Monday. They marched us out to the fair grounds and a more discontented lot of fellows you never saw. Finally I said to Andrew Gallaway (of Hannibal) "lets go home"

"How are we going to get home until to-morrow?" he asked.

"Come with me down town and we will see," said I, and away we went, he rather reluctantly. We made for one of the bridges which cross the Oswego canal, where we stood leaning on the railing; finally a light boat came along, the captain sitting on the bow smoking.

"How far down are you going Cap," said I. "Through to Oswego," he answered as he looked up."

"Can we ride with you to Fulton, we are on our way home from the army?"

"Of course you can; be lively and jump onto the stern cabin. Careful now and not miss."

By this time it began to dawn on Andrew's mind how we were going to get home. We went down into the "hold" of the boat and established ourselves in the shade; laid down and had a good nap, having slept little or none for the past two nights. When we arrived at "Mud Lock" I bought a couple of loaves of bread and a canteen of milk, and we partook of our dinner, the child coming out of the "stern cabin" to see how soldiers lived." When we arrived at Phœnix we overtook another boat with quite a number of the boys on, among the number was Monroe Smith, of Fulton.

The boats were going to remain there for a while and Monroe said to me:

"Chan," you go up town and buy some bread and a couple of canteens of milk and I'll furnish the money."

"Let's both go," said I.

He would not go because he had relatives living there (an aunt I believe) who might see him and he was not in proper shape to make Sunday calls, so off I went alone. Finally I came to a nice looking house, knocked, and was answered by a middle aged lady who was just ready for church.

"I would like to buy some bread and a couple of canteens of milk," said I, and in way of explanation I remarked that I was on my way home from the army, and that there were some more boys down to the lock on a boat.

"What regiment do you belong to," she asked as she took my canteens.

"Co. A. 24th N. Y. Cav." said I.

"What! the 24th! are they on their way home?" "Yes they are in Syracuse, and a lot of us boys are on our way to Fulton."

"Is Monroe Smith there?" she asked as she handed the canteens to a girl to fill.

"Yes, he is down at the lock," and with that she turned and ran up stairs and imparted the information to another lady, that Monroe was on his way home and was now down at the lock. Well it did not take those two ladies a great while to start off down street towards the river but before they went I asked how much the bread and milk was, and she said:

"Do you suppose I would charge a soldier anything for food?"

On my way back to the lock I met the two ladies with Monroe between them. He introduced one of them as his mother and as I continued my way, he said that when his mother appeared, that bread and milk lost all its charms for him.

The rest of us arrived in Fulton about 9 p. m. Andrew and I leaving the boat at the "deep lock" and walking out to Granby Center, where I was at home. Andrew continuing his journey to Hannibal. C. S. Chandler.

BARNUM OUTDONE.

An Imported Billy Goat.

His father was a dreadful Bunter, out of Horehound, by Peruvian Bark, dam Borax out of Bromide of Potassium, winner of 29 kids—now on exhibition with his living trainer, gorgeously dressed and decorated by the crowned heads of Europe for his services in the show windows of the "Famous" Opera Clothing House, 2 & 3 Wieting block, Syracuse. We learn from these enterprising clothiers whose advertisement appears in another column, that any costumer may procure a ticket for goat, harness and wagon gratis, by application at the office of the "Famous." That this full grown goat can make many miles a day with a boy on his hurricane deck and only requires a few dozen geological specimens for food and will fairly cackle at the sight of a pile of rock and after inhaling a few dozen of the same feels like running a race and fresh like the average Bostonian after eating beans, only speaks in favor of the goat. The other show window of the "Famous" will contain a very handsome and expensive work of art, that will bring thousands of people and was only secured at a great expense and has never been exhibited anywhere in the United States. We are willing to lose a box of Reina Victoria if it will not take the combined efforts of two cubs to keep the sidewalk in front of the "Famous," 2 & 3 Wieting block to make an entrance and exit for the multitude of people who avail themselves of their clothing at their prices and everybody tells the prices.

Go to Sackett's and see what he has in dry goods.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the town of Volney, four miles north of Fulton and one mile north of Battle Island cheese factory. About 15 acres of [illegible]

[illegible]

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,
15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVER COATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS
—AT—
MILTON S. PRICE'S GREAT
DRY GOODS
CARPET
—AND—
Furniture Establishment
38 and 40 So. Salina Street
and 29 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

The Holiday Season at this Great Establishment to be made more attractive than ever.

An Immense Stock of Novelties in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods, Carpets, and Furniture, surpassing all previous efforts in the selection of everything new and desirable for Christmas Gifts.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

And make your purchases for the Holidays.

ELECTRICITY

DR. L. H. SPRAGUE

Makes the treatment of all Chronic Disease by Electrical and Mechanical means a Specialty. From over 30 years' experience he can speak positively that most cases can be cured quicker and with greater comfort to the patient by this than by any other mode. It is peculiarly adapted for Paralysis, Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia in all their forms. It is the Woman's Friend, quickly curing all misplacements, congestions or irregularity; will restore nervous force and vitality in all cases; will dissolve tumors, heal ulcers and remove all poisons from the system; cure spinal diseases, stiff joints, etc., etc.

Call and see me, at 54 Warren St., Syracuse, N. Y. Consultation at office or by letter free and confidential. Office Hours, 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

CURES DISEASE

GREAT SALE.

No. 19, First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

—AT—

D. C. SKADEN'S.

Having on hand a large assortment of house furnishing goods than ever before offered in Fulton, I wish to call the attention of the people of Fulton and vicinity to the fact I am selling cheaper than ever for cash. Look at these prices:

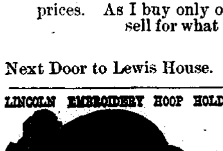
Bootes Dinner Plates		95cts. per doz.
"	Breakfast "	85 " " "
"	Tea "	72 " " "
"	Unhandled Teas	44 " " "
"	Handled "	55 " " "

Also having in stock the largest assortment of Majolica Ware, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Smoking Sets, Japanese Ware, Silver Ware and Toilet Sets ever before offered in Fulton. I offer them at prices below the lowest for Holiday Trade.

Remember my assortment in China Tea Sets is complete, also decorated Toilet and Tea Sets. Lamps of all kinds at bottom prices. As I buy only of importers and at factories I can sell for what others pay for goods.

D. C. SKADEN,
Next Door to Lewis House. First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.



It holds the work at any height or angle desired. Price, $1.25, postage [illegible] Send for circular to [illegible], Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

NEW! NEW! NEW!
Silk Handkerchiefs, Colored Border, Hemstitch,
—AND—
Fancy Handkerchiefs of all kinds. Ladies' Gents' and Childrens Hosiery
Gloves, Neckwear, for the HOLIDAY TRADE,
—AT THE—
"BEE HIVE"
FULTON, N. Y.

CONCENTRATED FOOD
—FOR—
HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, POULTRY
&c.
Manufactured by
BOSTON CONCENTRATED FOOD Co.
For Sale by
27m3 W. S. NELSON & CO.

Lathrop's Christmas Song.

I, Santa Claus hereby proclaim
To every people, tongue and name,
To high and low, to rich and poor,
I'm now at G. C. Lathrop's store,
Who has now on hand a very
Large stock of confectionery.
Dolls and baskets, whips and toys,
Hand sleds for your girls and boys,
Iron savings banks, tin flutes,
Foreign and domestic fruits,
China tea sets, cups and vases,
Many masks with funny faces,
Choicest candies fresh and new,
All kinds of fishing tackle too;
Pocket knives and tops with strings,
And a thousand other things.
This greeting Santa sends to you
December 1st, year '82.

29 G. C. Lathrop.

"LINCOLN and GARFIELD."
—or—
GREAT LECTURE,
—ON—
"Our Martyr Presidents."
—AT THE—
OPERA HOUSE, FULTON,
Monday, Jan. 22d, 1883.
Hon. SCHUYLER COLFAX

Ex-Vice President and for many years Speaker of the House of Representatives—one of the most eloquent orators on the continent, will deliver his Famous Lecture on "Our Martyr Presidents—Lincoln and Garfield," in this village at the Opera House, Jan. 22d, 1883. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the building of a

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT!

in this village. This will be the

GREATEST LECTURE

ever delivered in this part of the State, and every man, woman and child in Fulton and vicinity should listen to it.

Tickets to all parts of the house [illegible]

By Order Com. G. A. R.

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. Cooley Tucker [illegible]

[illegible] published in the [illegible] such a notice every [illegible]

[illegible] Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York. Handbook about patents mailed free.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its Christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol. 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising cattle, poultry, grains, trees, vegetables &c, with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The Home department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The [illegible]

The Home

Skilled Labor

are looked after, and everything relating to mechanics and labor saving is carefully recorded. There is a page devoted to all the latest phases of the business markets, crops, merchandise, &c. &c. A valuable feature is found in the specially reported prices and conditions of

The Produce Market.

Sporting News at home and abroad, together with a story every week, a sermon by some eminent divine, literary, musical, dramatic, personal and sea notes. There is no paper in the world which contains so much news matter every week as the Weekly Herald, which is sent, postage free, for One Dollar. You can subscribe at any time.

The New York Herald in a weekly form, One Dollar a Year.

NEW YORK HERALD.

[illegible]

THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. [illegible]

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. [illegible]

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT.........50c., $1.00, $1.75.

Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Respt'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

HAY-FEVER

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

To THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc, to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 225 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $725; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $30 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished.

Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo.; Hon. F. M. Cockrell, and Hon G. G. Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE BEST Family Magazine Two Dollars.

DEMOREST'S Illustrated MONTHLY.

Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters. Send Twenty Cents for a Specimen Copy to W. JENNINGS DEMOREST Publisher, 17 East Fourteenth Street, New York.

☞ The New Volume (19) commences with November. Send FIFTY CENTS for three months; it will satisfy you that you can subscribe Two Dollars for [illegible]

THE FULTON [illegible]

Wednesday, Dec. 13, 1882.

SOME LIME-KILN NOTES.

What the Famous Club is Doing to Benefit Mankind.

The secretary announced a communication from the city government of Cincinnati asking if the Lime-Kiln Club and the Michigan Legislature would work in harmony this winter.

"It am too airly to return a definite answer to dat queshun," replied Brother Gardner, "but I expect dat de two bodies will collide with the utmost harmony. 'Deed, I see no reason why dey shouldn't. If dis club can aid that body in doin' intelligent legislashun we shall stan' ready an' willin'. I might say right heah that we shall look fur—

1. A short session.
2. Stringent economy.
3. Intelligent legislashun.

We can't peril our reputashun fur de sake of harmonizin' wid any publick body which does not have the public interests at heart."

NOT VERY MUCH.

The committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the inquiry: "Is this country in danger?" Reported as follows:

"We can't say she ain' Cæsarism am dead, Jay Gould am being wound up, Vanderbilt has hard work to hold his own, an' de polytical campaign am closed. We kin see no excuse fur a panic, an' no reason fur dull times, an' if do cider bar'ls doan't bust we shall come out right end up in de spring."

The secretary announced an' official communication from O. K. Chowder, secretary of the High Old Dyspeptic Society, of Cleveland, stating that they had been instructed to ask the Lime Kiln Club to receive the society into its bosom. The H. O. D. had been organized for thirteen years, and the only crumb it had thus far placed upon the table of science was the discovery that vinegar pickles and sweet milk would produce a sour stomach. Its influence had been decidedly decreasing before the advancing footsteps of the Lime-Kiln and it was now ready to disband and add ninety-nine members to Brother Gardener's club.

The secretary was instructed to communicate by letter and find out how many of the Dyspeptics owned dogs; what proportion changed paper collars daily, and whether or not this was the society that advertised to furnish a sure cure for squint eyes for thirty-five cents.

The committee on agriculture reported the close of the season, and asked to to be discharged from further consideration of the subject. On motion they were discharged, but Whalebone Howker was requested to act as a committee of one to investigate and report on the profit of growing winter strawberries and the number of tons of coal necessary to winter over a fifteen cent geranium.

The committee on fisheries also reported the close of the season and were discharged. The chairman submitted the following statistics:

Number of persons who went fishing on Sunday during the last fiscal year, 893,451.

Number of fish caught by said wicked sinners, 250.

Number of fish-lies told in the past year, 6,000,000,000.

Greatest state in the union for fish-lies—Georgia.

The committee further reported that it was their solemn belief, founded upon the result of a series of experiments, that there was twice as much fun hooking harvest apples on a moonlight night as there is in setting on a wet log on Sunday afternoon.

Pickles Smith, who sings tenor in the glee club, tried an experiment the other night. He held four buttons in his mouth while singing to secure a trill in his voice, but the buttons trilled down his throat and upset his tenor for two weeks. He was fined $3 for the good of the order.

The janitor reported that the hall was out of fuel and kerosene, and on motion of Trustee Pullback he was suspended four weeks for lack of energy.

It having began to rain heavily, and none of the members having an umbrella, the meeting adjourned.

The Enquirer of Cincinnati says; Hon P. T. Barnum strongly indorses St. Jacobs Oil for pain. His combination and artists all use it.

Fashion Notes.

Terra cotta silk handkerchiefs are worn in the outside pocket of cloth redingotes.

As the fashion for untrimmed tight sleeves have come in, over cuffs of white linen are again worn.

Round and oval shaped brooches are imported, now that every lady is supplied with long slender lace pins.

Valenciennes laces, in novel designs of feathers, shells and fruits, are returning to favor as dress garniture.

White felt poke bonnets trimmed with white, uncut velvet, white flowers and some gilt braid, will be worn by young ladies.

Spanish laces are made into box pleated ruches to wear at the throat, and continued down the front of the dress to the waist.

For white opera hats and bonnets are large white marabout feathers, mounted with heads and breasts of tiny tropical birds of brilliant plumage.

The furore for gros-grain silk has extended to trimmings and sash ribbons; skirt loopings and bows in repped effect are now more used than satin fabrics.

Flowers worn in the hair are for the moment, with present style of coiffure, placed foward the back of the head so as to be just visible from a front view of the head.

Velvet poke bonnets have wide brims that are lowered partly to conceal the face. Thick ostrich feather ruches cover the brim, and a Rhinestone clasp is the glittering ornament.

New ulsters are made of Scotch tweed in chess board blocks, trimmed with woolen braid and cylinder shaped buttons. A pointed hood may be added and removed at pleasure.

[illegible]

[illegible] health of the [illegible] of various kinds [illegible] nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by druggists. Price $1, or six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT McCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phoenix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,000 doz. indiviual butters,	12c per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50 "
Tea cups and saucers,	21 " sett
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61 each
Hand lamps, brass or glass	11 "

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st.

I am your obedient servant.
JAMES McCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. HISCOX & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes. LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

DR THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

[illegible] The Connecticut Yankee, whose shrewdness is historic, will have to look to their laurels. In Conyers, Ga, lives a man who claims to be the boss swapper. Ten years ago he bought a pocket knife for $2. He swapped this for a pistol; he swapped the pistol for a shotgun, the gun for a cow, the cow for a horse, and sold the horse for $500. He invested the $500 for the first five years and drew out $2.000. He has had the $2.000 out at interest for five years at ten per cent, and he now has the result of his knife trade $3.000

THE DEAD LINE.

Many old soldiers remember "the dead line at Andersonville. It was a mighty dangerous neighborhood. Dyspepsia, biliousness, and liver and kidney diseases are full of perils for the sick, but Burdock Blood Bitters are a certain remedy. Sold everywhere."

The Farmer and the Frog.

A Connecticut editor published the statement that "A frog fell into a pail of milk in a Connecticut town one night recently, and in the morning was found sitting on a roll of fresh butter which he had churned by kicking with his legs." A farmer read the notice and put in half a day catching a dozen frogs. He was going to save the work of churning and at night he put the frogs in pails of milk and in the morning had the pleasure of finding his milk spoiled by the presence of a dead frog in each pail. The editor has lost a subscriber and considerable hide since then.

[Boston Post.

NORTH POLE EXPEDITIONS.

Prize fights, lotteries, walking matches, and balloon ascensions are generally humbugs of the worst kind. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil is not a humbug. It is a quick cure for aches and sprains, and is just as good for lameness.

A Fair Exchange.

The Oswego Post says: Not long since a man entered a certain drug store and, making a purchase of the clerk, laid forty-five cents on the counter in payment, and passed out. While making the purchase, a farmer also entered the store with a ten-pound roast, which he deposited on a box and stood waiting his turn to be served by the clerk. When the former gentleman left the store the proprietor came in, and the clerk, neglecting to place the forty-five cents in the drawer, left the store to go to dinner. The farmer saw his opportunity, and he also made a forty-five cent purchase. The proprietor, seeing the money on the counter and supposing the proprietor had laid it there, placed it in the drawer, while the granger, in his hurry to depart left his roast in the store. A young man who had witnessed the transaction informed the proprietor, who, after examining the roast, concluded that he was about eighty cents ahead and let the granger go."

THE PERPETUITY OF FAME.

As the name of the immortal Washington has been most sacredly perpetuated as that of a hero and statesman, so also has the fame of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases descended into perpetuity as the only reliable remedy in the market for every character of skin disorders, and as the reward of well-deserving merit. Worth and merit go hand in hand. It is useless to contradict the worth of this article. 29w4

Taffy.

A correspondent asks "what is taffy?" Is it possible that there is a person living that doesn't know what taffy is? What are you giving us? When a politician wants office he takes the stump and tells the people how intelligent they are, and how proud he will be to represent such an enlightend constituency on the floor of congress. That is taffy. When a lecturer winds up a tedious discourse with an extravagant puff of the town and its people, assuring them that he has rarely addressed an assembly on whose countenance intelligence had so indelibly set its mark, and that it will be the proudest day of his life when he can return and again appear before them, it is taffy that he is giving them. When a foreign actress comes to America to coin money from us, and has the band play Yankee Doodle as they steam up New York harbor, and tells the reporters who flock around her how dearly she loves the land of the free and the home of the kna—we mean brave, she is administering taffy in the very largest doses. When a manager has a thumping benefit and is called out to make a speech he will scatter enough taffy to run the candy stand of a circus for the whole season. When an editor heads an article "To our friends and patrons," you may be sure that taffy will flow as rapidly as pen can travel. You see that young man sitting close to a young lady in the park, talking earnestly? One hundred dollars to a cent he is giving her taffy. Taffy keeps the wheels of business moving. No drummer would think of starting out without a full supply of it. Diplomats use it. and crowned heads are no more indifferent to it than the peasant in his cabin. Taffy rules the camp, the court, and the grave—in short the world runs on taffy.

Go to your druggist for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color, are unequaled. Color from 2 to 5 pounds. Directions in English and German. Price 15 cents. 6y1

"Lay off your overcoat, or you won't feel it when you go out," said the landlord of an inn to a guest who was sitting by the fire. "That's what I'm afraid of," returned the man. "The last time that I was here I laid off my overcoat, and I haven't felt it since."

The following is the reply of a fond father, who had just received a letter from his son, a student in his own alma mater: My dear son—Accept my heartiest congratulations. I was engaged to the same Miss Bunter when I was in college and can appreciate the fun you are having. Go it while you are young. Your loving father.

A VOICE FROM THE PRESS.

I take this opportunity to the efficacy of your Hop Bitters. Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and composed of bad whiskey, we were agreeably surprised at their mild taste, just like a cup of tea. A Mrs. Cresswell and a Mrs. Connor, friends, have likewise tried, and pronounced them the best medicine they have ever taken for building up strength and toning the system. I was troubled with costiveness, headache and want of appetite. My ailments are [illegible]

[illegible] CURE

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that

95 per Cent.

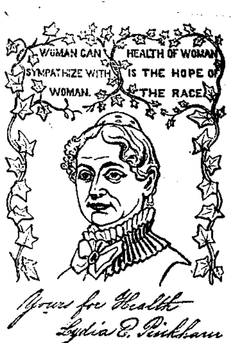
of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S
VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the Kidneys it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON.
9m3

[illegible]

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock

SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN McALLISTER & CO.

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS. AT

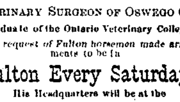
ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.



DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 3tf

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day. 50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

—:o:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Dated Dec. 21, 1882.

N. W. NUTTING,
Oswego County Judge.

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNTINENTAL INS. COMPANY.

NEW YORK SAFETY FUND.

New York Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY.

New York, Assets, over $2,400,000

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $4,069,526.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO., NEW YORK. Assets over $4,000,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,702.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
40 Fulton, N. Y.

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD,
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

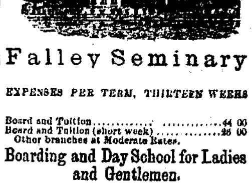
NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.
44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	36 00

Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER,

—NOVELTY MILLS.—

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock.

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

[illegible]

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

THE FULTON TIMES.

SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR. FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1882. VOLUME 15—NUMBER 31

THE FULTON TIMES.
IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.
[illegible]
W. C. WHEELER & CO.
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar, Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 15 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

Communications must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

Rates of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

A Visit From St. Nicholas.

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her 'kerchief and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap—
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash,
The moon on the breast of the new fallen snow,
Gave a lustre of midday to objects below;
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles in his course they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now Prancer and Vixen!
On! Comet; on Cupid; on! Donder; and Blitzen—
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now, dash away, dash away, dash away, all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew,
With a sleigh full of toys—and St. Nicholas, too,
And then in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound:
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack,
His eyes, how they twinkled! his dimples how merry!
His cheeks are like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke, it encircled his head like a wreath,
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump—a right jolly old elf;
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye, and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And, laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle.
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight:
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

Once a Year.

The old colored people of Virginia welcome Christmas time with the following song:—

"Apple cider, 'simmon beer,
Christmas comes but once a year."

The holiday season is always a jolly one for them.

Christmas is Coming.

Read this, ye wealthy bachelors, and remember that Christmas is coming, and don't let it be a cold day for—

The homes that are desolate,
Hearts that are sad—
Do something for some one,
Make somebody glad.

Christmas Eve.

God bless the little stocking
All over the land to-night,
Hung in the choicest corners,
In the glow of crimson light!

The tiny, scarlet stocking,
With a hole in the heel and toe,
Worn by wonderful journeys
The darlings have to go.

Judge W. T. Filley of Pittsfield this state, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.

[Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

A Terrible Storm Coming.

President Arthur has received a communication from Professor E. Stone Wiggins, L. L. D., astronomer of the Canadian finance department, saying: "On the 23d of September I announced through the Canadian press that a great storm would occur on March next; that it would first be felt in the Northern Pacific, would appear on the gulf of Mexico on the night of the 9th, and being reflected by the Rocky mountains, would cross this meridian from the west at noon of Sunday March 11, 1883. No vessel whatever her dimensions, will be safe out of the harbor, and none of small tonnage can hope to survive the tidal wave and fury of this tempest. As the wind will blow from the south-east, the planetary force will be sufficient to submerge the low lands of the American coast, especially those bordering on the gulf of Mexico, and washed by the gulf stream, while the air currents for several hundred miles along the east side of the Rocky mountains, owing to the great atmospheric pressure in those regions, will spread universal destruction. The New England states will also suffer severely from wind and floods. No point out side of the harbor on the whole area of the Atlantic, especially north of the equator, will be a place of safety, for this will be pre-eminently the greatest storm that has visited this [illegible]

BAXTER STREET TO-DAY.

A Brief Description of New York's [illegible] Incidentally Encountered.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15, 1882.—Baxter street!—The very name makes some of our citizens shudder, although they have not even passed through the street. It is within a stone's throw of Broadway and extends from Chatham Square to Grand street. Although so near Broadway it is as different from it as is your beautiful Fourth street from "Racker's Row" in Oswego Falls. Baxter street has always been the home of the "old clo's" man, organ grinders, rag men, professional beggars, thieves and pickpockets.

Fine citizens! you think. The street itself is not a fine thing to look at, for the gutters are full of garbage and refuse of all kinds; and as the sun's rays are nearly excluded by the tall buildings a constant gloom overhangs the street and seems to penetrate the houses and stores. The shops are one of the features of Baxter street, and are unlike the stores in any other city of the Union. Old clothes and shoes are the chief articles sold and in any, or all of these shops can be found the coat that Napoleon wore at Moscow, the shoes of Julius Caesar, or the trousers worn by Washington when he crossed the Delaware.

"If you don't see what you want, ask for it;" and a person would have to ask for something entirely out of date, that could not be found here.

The shoe shops are worthy of mention and occupy the basement of one whole square. A few shelves and an old stove constitute the furniture and the stock consists of old boots and shoes nicely patched and blacked, arranged as neatly as possible. These stores are in dark, musty cellars, dimly lighted and poorly ventilated and are overlooked usually by two men: one, a roper-in, and the other a salesman. The roper-in stands on the sidewalk and button holes every one that comes within his grasp. As these dens are continuous a pedestrian has to run a literal gauntlet. I went through it once and can heartily say that I don't care to try it again. The sidewalk was was nearly filled with old boxes, leaving only space enough for one person to pass through, and of course this person was at the mercy of the Israelite.

"Old Clo's" are a little above the shoes; but the hawkers are just as persistent and have reduced the button-hole act to a science. Junk shops and penny groceries exist in various places, but are not as prominent as the others.

In this street is also manufactured to order many of the blind, lame and deaf and dumb beggars that infest the streets of New York. Here also is a place where half starved babies are daily rented to the "poor woman with a sick husband, and nine small children at home." The population is entirely foreign and seems to be the worst and lowest of all nations. The live in tenement houses, one hundred families in a building, and as a rule some of the families are at sword points all the time. Fights are numerous and if once begun are always carried to the bitter end. Every day the recorder of the district has to listen to quarrels told in all tongues and dialects and his docket would tell any number of blood curdling tales and furnish the novelist with enough chapters on horrors to last indefinitely.

Worthy of notice also are the cats and rats that infest the street. They are both very large and also very thin and are renowned as fighters. At present the rats rule the cellars and sewers, for the cats seem to have degenerated. A fight between these animals is always hailed with joy by the children of the street and is watched with interest to its termination. Even "one of the finest," as the New York policemen are called, will stop on the beat, and give his attention to the fray.

Since the advent of the Howard mission, Henry Bergh and Anthony Comstock, Baxter street has toned down to some extent, but it is not a desirable place for a respectable person to live in.

The penal code has fallen like a thunderbolt in the midst of Baxter street, for the Lord's day is a recognized gala day there, and Solomon and Isaac have formerly looked forward to Sunday for their financial harvest.

But now — "Othello's occupation's gone," and he wanders listlessly around with a look on his face that almost says: "Step right in gents, and we'll sell you cheaper than any man on the street."

Despite all the sin and misery, a fine bit of romance often comes to the surface. Recently a young Southerner was "around seeing the elephant with a New York friend and as a matter of course they had to explore the mysteries of Baxter street. While there he met a young French girl and her face struck him so forcibly that he followed and traced her to a little, but neat tailor shop, where she was living with her father. The family seemed to be a little above their neighbors, and the Southern man became interested to such an extent that the girl is now in school, hard at work with her books and soon a city in the south will have to admit into its society circle a bride from one of the worst streets of New York. Her father now has a larger shop on a more respectable street.

Philanthrophists predict brighter days for Baxter street, but nothing short of a miracle will ever affect it, and of course this won't happen during the few short days allotted to the

WANDERING JEW.

"A GOOD STREET SCENE."

[illegible]

The Observance of the Day.

It is meet that once a year we should celebrate the greatest event in the history of mankind—the incarnation and birth of Jesus Christ. It matters little whether He were born December 25, or on some other month. It is the event we celebrate with gladness and thanksgiving, making it an occasion of "feasting and joy, and of sending portions one to another, and gifts to the poor." On Christmas Day the poor and the rich, the lofty and the lowly, the learned and the unlearned, may alike rejoice together, meeting around the cradle of the one Lord of all, who is brother to the lowliest, and brother to the mightiest, through whom we all say Our Father, which art in Heaven.

Remembering that He was poor, in His name we give gifts to the poor; remembering that He was "despised and rejected of men," we visit the outcast, the prisoner, and in His name bestow not gifts alone, but kindly words and sympathetic tears; remembering His dying prayer, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do," in His name we forgive as we pray to be forgiven in the petition He taught us. In so far we can do all this and do it, are we privileged to call Him Brother, Saviour, Friend.

Many an eye will be dimmed with tears as loved ones are missed from the circle that gathers round the table, and voices that were music no longer join in the festive chorus. This common grief, which sooner or later comes to every heart, but binds us together in closer bands of sympathy and affection. Remembering the dead, we are tenderer and more considerate toward the living.

There may be among our readers those whose children are suffocated with gifts of every sort, and hence experience but little pleasure in receiving even the costliest presents. For such the delight of bestowing on less favored children what they can easily spare from their superfluity will give fresh zest to life. This pleasure in giving "grows by what it feeds on." The blessedness of giving never diminishes, though that of receiving may cease almost entirely.

There are certainly among our readers those whose children are not suffocated with gifts of every sort. Happier by far are these than the others. They have an appetite which makes plain food agreeable, they have wants that assert themselves before they are anticipated, they know the keenness of hunger and the keenness of gratification which comes only of hunger and its satisfaction.

There may be those among our readers on whom poverty has laid an iron hand, who cannot satisfy fully or even partially the demands of hunger and thirst, hunger for knowledge, thirst that can only be quenched by the waters of Castalia. The Hand that denies is often the loving Hand; is it not always the loving Hand; "He spared not His own Son?" and this was in love; the "joy that was set before Him" was ample reward for all the pain.

Divine must be the plan which meets and satisfies all the varied needs of the human race. In Christ each man finds his brother. He united and unites in Himself every condition of suffering and victorious humanity. With him we can equally suffer and rejoice, and this in whatever circumstances we may be placed is cause for joy.

A.

LET TRUTH PREVAIL.

Let the facts be known. Let us understand that a boil or any eruption or blemish of the skin is sure to wear away and disapper when Burdock Blood Bitters are employes. This wonderful medicine acts directly upon the circulation and the reasons for its use are therefore obvious.

Mysteries of Fashion.

Seated near a couple of ladies at the Grand the other night we overheard a portion of the conversation.

Said one: "You notice that I have on an Annie of Austria collarette."

"Yes," responded the other. "What could you have been thinking about, my dear? You know they are only worn at matinees."

"Of course I do, and I feel so mortified. I don't see how I came to make such an awful blunder. What in the world will people think? But I am always doing something dreadful. The other day I went down to dinner with my fez cap on. Just think of it, wearing a breakfast cap to dinner! Did you ever hear anything so ridiculous in your life."

And the other lady avowed that she never had.

A brutal fellow next to us, who had been listening to this conversation, turned to us, and, and in a voice distinctly audible to the ladies said:

"Queer, what funny mistakes a man will make about his toilet. You wouldn't believe in now, but it is a fact, that I've come here to-night with my suspenders on wrong side out."

Great Cæsar! is that so? we ejaculated.

"Yes," said he "and I never felt so darn 'shamed in my life. But I've done worse things than that."

"Impossible!"

"Yes," sir; only last Sunday I went to church with my opera hat on, and the next night I took in a variety show in my Sunday boots," and then the horrid thing went out to get a drink.

[Cin. Sat. Night

A woman's heart is a small affair, but it can upset the biggest men that ever adorned the world.

When Fogg heard that cigars were largely made by machinery, he said he had noticed a stationary Indian in front of nearly all the cigar shops.

[illegible]

Ornithological.

An immigrant English family strolled from Castle Garden into Nassau street, enjoying the sights. They stopped in front of the window of an enterprising sign and emblem maker, who had a brass eagle display. "Whatever is that?" said one of the children, is it an 'en?" "No, child," said the mother, "It is a howl." "Stuff!" exclaimed the father, "hit's a Hamerican heagle, a hemblem of this blarsted country!"

Madame Replies Tartly.

A bibulous individual was introduced to a lady who had been represented to him as quite a talented artist. He greeted her by saying:

"I understand, madame, that you paint?"

She started, blushed deeply, and, recovering herself after a few seconds, said with as much acidity of tone and style as she could command:

"Well, if I do paint, I don't make any mistake and put on my nose."

Friends.

Get not your friends by bare compliment, but by giving them sensible tokens of your love. It is well worth while to know how to win the heart of a man the right way. Force is of no use to make or preserve a friend, who is an animal that is never caught nor tamed but by kindness and pleasure. Excite them by their civilities, and show them that you desire nothing more than their satisfaction. Oblige with all your soul that friend who has made you a present of his own.

[Socrates.

Value of a Trade.

A close observer remarks that he has interrogated many hundreds of the inmates of police stations, and found as a rule they answered "No," when asked, "Have you a trade?" A trade does not necessarily shield men from crime, but it is one of the safeguards. Idleness begets crime; and but few men with good trades have enforced idleness on their hands. As a rule every rich man should teach his son either a trade or a profession. Every man should have something to drop back on in adversity.

Christmas Thoughts from Dickens.

I will honor Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year.

Christmas is the only holiday in the year that brings the whole human family into common communion.

It is good to be children sometimes, and never better than at Christmas, when its mighty Founder was a child himself.

I have always thought of Christmas time as a good time; a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time.

The only time in the long calendar of the year when men and women seem by one consent to open their shut-up hearts freely.

Christmas is a time in which the memory of every remediable sorrow, wrong and trouble in the world around us should be active with us.

A VERY OLD MAN,

John Funk, of Springfield, Ohio, writes, "I was tramped upon by a horse, and for a year the pain through my hips was so bad I could not rise on my feet. Thomas' Eclectric Oil helped me beyond description. It will do wonders for those who suffer from cold."

A Wonderful Cave.

A wonderful cave has been found near Sawlotho, Idaho territory. One chamber which was explored, is said to contain the image of a man made of what had the appearance of silver. At the head was a helmet of a peculiar pattern, in which were three imitation feathers made of gold or copper. From the mouth of the strange image proceeded a flame. A theory is that the prehistoric race that erected it had discovered a gas jet, and that there is communication down through the solid rock, from which the gas proceeds perpetually. On the walls were hieroglyphics, which, of course, could not be read. In one corner was a very large human skeleton, at least nine feet high, and by it a stone tomahawk and a large cross bow, which although it had the appearance of being perfectly sound fell into a thousand pieces when an attempt was made to lift it. A stone mortar containing some very rich gold specimens was found and also some large pieces of ruby silver.

The Extravagant Tailor.

Gilhooley, who was very much in debt, happening to pass down Austin avenue, looked into a restaurant and saw Snip, his tailor, with some friends, regaling themselves with champagne and tempting viands.

"What does this extravagance mean?" asked Gilhooley, who is remarkable for his impudence, as he stalked into the restaurant.

"It is none of your business!" said the tailor defiantly.

"Yes, it is my business. Here you have been dunning me for the last two years to pay you for that pair of pants you made for me, saying that you needed your money, whereas, if you lived within your means and did not guzzle champagne, you would not have to bother gentlemen by sending them bills. You would even have money to lend gentlemen who patronize you, if you were to give up your extravagant and gluttonous habits," retorted Gilhooley.

The tailor replied so impudently that Gilhooley has concluded to withdraw his custom from the fellow.

[Texas Siftings.

A KNABE IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

There was seen yesterday at Messrs. Knabe & Co.'s factory a magnificent concert grand just finished by them for the [illegible]

How He Enjoyed the Party.

A gentleman, who detests evening parties and rarely attends one, was persuaded a few nights ago to accompany his wife to a reception of unusual elegance, in one of our New England cities. In the drawing-room he observed that a lamp of decorative design was out of order, and in attempting to right the frail globe spilled the oil on a plush table-cover and choice books which rested beneath. Overwhelmed at his mishap, he escorted his wife to the billiard room for dancing, and on his way to supper slipped on the polished walnut stairs and fell with a crash to the lower hall, dragging the delicate partner of his joys and sorrows with him. Finding that there were no bones broken, the miserable man pluckily continued his course to the banquet room, and when there crowned his disasters by upsetting a plate of salad and jellies down the satin breadths of a neighbor's robe. Arnica and soothing-syrup were, doubtless, at a premium in one household in town that night.

A baby born on Christmas is aptly styled a holler-day gift.

Large Trees. The largest trees are the mammoth trees in California. One of the grove in Tulare county, according to a measurement made by members or the State Geological survey, was shown to be 276 feet high, 106 feet in circumference at base, and 76 feet at a point 12 feet above the ground. Some of the trees are 876 feet high and 34 feet in diameter. Some of the largest that have been felled indicate an age of from 2,000 to 2,500 years.

Sept. 14th, 1880.

Hop Bitters Co., TORONTO.

I have been sick for the past six years, suffering from dyspepsia and general weakness. I have used three bottles of Hop Bitters, and they have done wonders for me. I am well and able to work and eat and sleep well. I cannot say too much for Hop Bitters.

29w2

☞GO TO ROBINSON & LANGDON'S for choice Coffee! The only place in town where you will find it roasted fresh twice every week. 15tf

SWAYNES

SWAYNES OINTMENT

AN UNFAILING REMEDY SUCH AS FOR ALL SKIN DISEASES TETTER, ITCH, SORES, PIMPLES, ERYSIPELAS, RING WORM, BLOTCHES &C.

OINTMENT

THE GREAT CURE FOR ITCHING PILES

Symptoms are moisture, stinging, itching, worse at night; seems as if pin-worms were crawling about the rectum; the private parts are often affected. As a pleasant, economical and positive cure, SWAYNE'S OINTMENT is superior to any article in the market. Sold by druggists, or send 50 cts. in 3-ct. Stamps. 3 Boxes $1.25. Address, DR. SWAYNE & SON, Phila., Pa.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine is composed of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Gentian, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not ever take

BLUE PILLS

or arsenic, they are deadly. Place your trust in SULPHUR BITTERS, the purest and best medicine ever made.

Is Your Tongue Coated with a yellow sticky substance? Is your breath foul and offensive? Your stomach is out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS immediately! Is your Urine thick, ropy, cloudy, or high-colored? IT IS Dangerous!

Don't Wait! Your Kidneys are out of order. Use SULPHUR BITTERS. If you are sick, no matter what ails you, use Sulphur Bitters! Don't wait until you are unable to walk, or are flat on your back, but get some at once, it will cure you. Sulphur Bitters is The Invalid's Friend. The young, the aged and tottering are soon made well by its use. Remember what you read here, it may save your life, it has saved hundreds. Don't wait until to-morrow,

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE for all diseases of the Kidneys and

LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. TRADE MARK

[illegible]

ST JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY. FOR RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO., Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. KENYON JONES, ORGANIST and PIANIST, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 33

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street. 1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 35

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspecton of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 12

BERZEE'S GROCRY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinne the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

Will You

HAVE AN

NEW GOODS

AT THE

BAZAAR

THIS WEEK.

Underwear, Woolen Goods, &c.

Come And See.

Library Lamps,

Just Received, at a Great Bargain.

Glassware at Cost.

A Magnficent Display

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnshing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of
Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Pceris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING, SAWING, RE-SAWING, SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY!

Something New in Fulton.

I will open a Circulating Library in the Stephens building, on Cayuga street, two doors east of Opera House.

All the Latest and BEST BOOKS PUBLISHED.

Books of Travel, History, Fiction, Biography and an endless variety of miscellaneous publications.

Ten Cents Per Week for the use of Books.

JOSEPH WALTON,

Fulton, Oct. 25th, 1882.

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Dec. 20, 1882.

A REDUCTION of letter postage to two cents and the free transmission of newspapers through the mails is liable to become a law. Congress is getting down to business.

THE Jews are having a hard time of it in Russia. They have been forbidden to hold land and all those who reside in St. Petersburg without permission are to be expelled.

IT looks now as though the fast mail trains would be abandoned at the end of the present fiscal year. Congress does not feel disposed to appropriate money to continue them.

Now Ben Butler is a candidate for U. S. Senator from Massachusetts. Ben is generally successful when he gets down to business and his candidacy scares several of Massachusetts' most ambitious statesmen.

OF 2,063,000 Union soldiers who enlisted during the war, pensions have been applied for by 25 per cent. There is a surviving soldier population of a little over 1,000,000, out of which claims for pensions may be made.

SOUTHERN DAKOTA wants to be admitted to the Union as a full fledged state. Dakota has a small population but her admission would create two large U. S. Senators. The latter is what counts just at present and Dakota is republican.

MR. TOWNSHEND, of Illinois, has introduced a bill in Congress to prohibit railroad combinations to control territory. This is a step in the right direction. Railroad men need corrective legislation to-day as bad as any class of citizens.

A JURY has been obtained and the star routers are under trial again. Dorsey and Brady will hang up their stockings in a quiet place Christmas 1884 if justice is meted out to them. Josh Billings says there is nothing so uncertain as a mule and a jury.

IN a suit brought by a father for damages against a dealer who sold his child a toy pistol with fatal results, the Supreme Court of Indiana decides that "a man who places in the hands of a child any article of a dangerous character, and one likely to cause injury to the child itself, or to others is guilty of an actionable wrong."

THE village of Warner, New Hampshire, is made up of a progressive population; is small and has but a few wealthy men within its borders. In order to encourage manufacturers to come among them and stimulate a growth of their town, the citizens on last Tuesday voted to exempt manufacturers from taxation for five years.

MRS. LANGTRY's conduct with a young New York bachelor, Frederick Gebhardt, is causing food for the gossips. The young man man is only 21, has $10,000 per year, and bought the Jersey Lily $960 worth of flowers during her stay in New York. He has followed her to Boston, and Mrs. Labouchere, Mrs. Langtry's chaperone, has returned to her home in England. Even beauties have homely chapters in their lives.

THE Board of Supervisors have fixed county clerk Gardinier's bond at $5,000. Three of the Supervisors wished the bond to be $10,000. The eagerness of the Board to demand bonds from Mr. Gardinier when former clerks have furnished no sureties whatever is viewed by some as a reflection upon Mr. Gardiniers integrity. The statutes prescribe that bonds shall be given and in what amount. The supervisors' laxity in doing it heretofore is no reflection on Mr. Gardinier.

The comet rises now about midnight, the tail being visible soon after 11 o'clock. By 1 o'clock it is well above the horizon. It is much less brilliant than at first, but has lost little in size. The nucleus is indistinct, but the tail is more than 20 degrees in length. The comet may yet surprise the astronomers by turning toward the sun and regaining its lost brilliancy. In this event it will probably become the glory of the evening sky early in the year, much to the disgust of those who have been getting up at unseemly hours to see it. Some of the great comets of history remained visible for many months after their perihelion passage, and it is doubtful if any comet ever seen exceeded this one in brightness when near the perihelion point.

Now that the canals are made free why not make the ice free also? Privileges for cutting ice on the Oswego and Erie canals are being sold. The prices vary from $20 to $40 per acre. The Utica Observer says the ice cut from the canals is not fit for use in articles that are drank, and its use for such purposes should be prohibited by the boards of health. The water of which it If formed is impure and reeking with filth of all kinds. It is fit only for outside packing, but unscrupulous dealers sell it for table and drinking purposes. It is as necessary for health that the ice used in families and at hotels be as clean and pure as the water. The old theory that the congealing of water purifies it has proved to be false. The impurities are found in the water formed from the melting of tha ice.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—Minnie Goley vs. Peter Goley:—To the above named defendant: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the county of Oswego.
Dated this 16th, day of December 1882.

Howe & Rice, Plff's Attys.

[illegible] P. O. address, Fulton, Oswego Co N. Y. To the defendant Peter Goley:—The foregoing [illegible] served upon you without the state of N. Y. [illegible] to an order of Hon. M. W. Nutting, [illegible] Judge, dated December 18, 1882, [illegible] with the complaint in the office of the [illegible] county of Oswego, at the city of Oswego, N. Y.

Howe & Rice, Plff's Atty.

For Sale.

The property in Oswego Falls known as the John C. Smith estate. It is on [illegible] block north of Broadway [illegible] will be [illegible] the most [illegible] Oswego Falls [illegible]

Lathrop's Display.

Lathrop's display of [illegible] goods is larger than ever before. [illegible] selecting articles suitable [illegible] little folks is established in [illegible] novels don't forget him. New goods [illegible] constantly arriving. His confectionery is choice and prices are certainly reasonable.

Call at Hamilton's, opposite Lewis House. He may have just what you want for Christmas. 31

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Dec. 20th, 1882.

Mrs. J. E. Craine, Miss Ella Clancy, Mrs. Ett McBride, Ann Seymour, Miss Sarah Young.

DROPS AND POSTAL CARDS.

Miss Ellen Clark, Miss Millie Young, P. Green, Alvin Smith, Mrs. Ann Ward.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

D. Lothrop & Co., 32 Franklin Street, Boston, Mass.

Persons calling for the above please say 'advertised.'

N. H. GILBERT P. M.

☞Indelible pencils at Ney's News-room. 31

The Government Work at Buffalo and Oswego Harbors.

The following is an abstract of the bids for the extension of the breakwaters at Buffalo and Oswego harbors which were opened Friday, under re-advertisement of November 22 and 23, at the U. S. engineer's office in this city.

For the work and material for the Buffalo breakwater:

D. E. Bailey of Buffalo, N. Y.—Hemlock $20 per m., white pine $29 per m., white oak $40 per m., stone filling $1.50 per cubic yard, stone rip rap $3 per cubic yard. Total amount, $87,570.

David W. McConnell of Buffalo, N. Y. Total amount, $87,848.

Edward J. Hingston of Buffalo, N. Y. Total amount, $95,970.

Willis S. Nelson of Fulton, N. Y. Total amount, $96,870.

George Kellog of Fulton, N. Y. Total amount, $100,600.

For the work and material for the Oswego breakwater extension, the only bidder was George Kellog of Fulton, N. Y. at the following rates:

Hemlock $24 per m., white pine $34 per m., white oak $55 per m., stone filling $1.25 per cubic yard, dredging for foundation $1 per cubic yard. Total amount of bid, $58,206.

[Oswego Times and Express.

☞The "Purity" Cigar at Ney's News Room. The best 5 cent cigar in town.

All persons buying goods at Draper's No. 15, Oneida Street, from Dec 16, to Dec. 26, 1882, will receive a number for for every dollars worth purchased as on the 26 of December, he gives away Three Dollars Valued at $10, $2, $1, each.

DR. PERKINS.

Dr. J. D. Perkins will be in Fulton Saturdays to cure corns for a large number of his patients in this vicinity. He will attend to as many more as desire his services When not in, orders may be left at Goodjon's shoe store.

☞For pianos and organs, best in quality, at lowest possible prices, see stock of A. Bristol. 30

GO TO EGGLESTON'S

C. S. Eggleston has on hand a full and varied assortment of beautiful articles suitable for Christmas presents. An endless selection of books, pictures, stationery, autograph and photograph albums, holiday and birthday cards, stereoscopes, mirrors and novelties of all descriptions. If you intend making a friend a Christmas present you can easily select just what you want at Eggleston's. 30t3

☞If you buy your Christmas presents before you see and price that Mammoth Stock at Draper's (Either Store) you will see what you have lost. 31

Hosiery and underwear for ladies' gentlemen, children, comprising all styles at prices that we guarantee.

C. E Sackett.

A GRAND TEA PARTY.

J. Cooley Tucker presents compliments to all lovers of good tea, requesting their company on all days of the week. Tea and coffee will be served at wholesale prices at all hours. Remember the place. J. Cooley Tucker's crockery store No 18 First St. one door south of C. P. Tucker's grocery. 24

☞Japanese goods of all kinds direct from the importers, at less than one-half the usual price at Draper's Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 30tf.

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Co's.

CONCENTRATED FOOD

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, POULTRY &c.

Manufactured by

BOSTON CONCENTRATED FOOD Co.

For Sale by

27m3 W. S. NELSON & CO.

☞Christmas Goods, Smoking sets Majolica Chang and endos wares, and all toys at (Either Store of Draper's) at about ½ their value for 10 Days. 31

I have been troubled with bad corns for two years. Dr. J. D. Perkins removed them without injury. S. H. Brown, Baggage Master Union Depot, Oswego, N. Y.

Office over Goodjon's boot and shoe store, Fulton.

Nothing Makes

Christmas P

THAN A

WHITE WOOL B

100 pair to be Sold at Cost as we wa

"BEE HIVE"

GO TO F. E. BACON FOR YOUR HOLIDAY GOODS.

LOTS OF THEM CHEAP.

THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

Newsy Notes Compiled at Random—Brief Sketches of Outside Happening.

Oneida lake is frozen across.

The law imposes a fine of $25.00 for every rabbit caught with a ferret.

Shippers are paying 75 cents per bu. for potatoes at Hannibal.

Frank J. Abbott of Syracuse, was married last Thursday to Miss Mary Strong, of Buffalo.

The great Brooklyn bridge will be opened for foot passage by the middle of January.

E. N. Adsit, aged 82, was married in Orwell last week. The bride is a blooming maiden of 65.

Robert J. Burdette, of the Burlington Hawkeye, lectures in Sandy Creek Friday evening.

Cleveland has perfected an organization of the Knights of Labor and starts in with twenty members.

William H. Dunlap of Baldwinsville, formerly of the Kingsley house in Syracuse, died in Baldwinsville Friday.

During a row in the saloon of Alexander Cohn, in Syracuse, Sunday night, Fred Shey had his nose bitten off by Cohn.

The full amount of the loss sustained by the Lake Shore railroad by the defalcation of S. Wright Gilbert foots up $28,000. No trace of him yet.

The ministers in New York city have resolved to hold a mass meeting where action will be taken looking to the enforcement of the penal code.

George J. Rice president of the Utica, Ithaca, and Elmira railroad is in jail in New York for selling 10,000 shares of ths company's cancelled stock.

Minnie, daughter of H. L. Todd, died suddenly at Oswego Centre last Wednesday. Her funeral was held from the East Baptist church in Oswego, Sunday.

Keeslar Post G. A. R. Wolcott, has elected Editor Thomas of the News, commander. He is a good newspaper man and of course will make an excellent commander.

George N. Burt of Oswego refused to accept the honorary appointment of aid-de-camp on Governor Cleveland's staff. Samuel J. Tilden jr., of Columbia county has been appointed and accepted the position.

The commissioners appointed to choose a site for the proposed government building in Syracuse have selected the corner of Warren and East Fayette streets. The lot is now occupied by St. Paul's church.

A disease has broken out among the swine in several portions of Queens county. The animals seem to be more severely affected after eating. The disease is located in the head and throat and finally the swine become blind.

The new M. E. church at Caughdenoy cost $1,800. Milton S. Price of Syracuse furnished the church at cost and donated $25 towards paying the remaining debt of $250 which was easily raised on the day of dedication.

Dr. H. D. Dennison of Syracuse died suddenly Monday evening of pneumonia. He is well known as a member of the contracting firm of Belden, Dennison, Gale & Co., who were extensive canal contractors. He was very wealthy.

The offices of judge and surrogate in Steuben county, have hitherto been held by one man. But the supervisors the other day decided that in future, a surrogate must be elected. The salary of the judge will be $2,000 and of the surrogate $1200.

An exchange says never set the lamp upon a red table cover. If you cannot find time to make a green mat put a piece of green card board under the lamp and you will find the refletion upon your work much more agreeable to the eyes than that from the red cover.

The Syracuse savings bank will reduce the interest on mortgages held by them from six to five per cent. after January 1st, 1883. They have thousands of dollars lying idle and the reduction is made as a matter of business and not out of consideration for those who are paying interest.

A Charlottsville, Va., printer has written 2,452 eligible words on a postal card with a lead pencil, reserving in the centre of the card a space the size of a gold dollar, on which is inscribed the Lord's Prayer. This story is a little tough but as the credit is given to a printer we think it is entitled to belief.

Bismarck, Dakota, is in a fever of excitement A real estate boom has overtaken the place and over $75,000 worth of lots sold in two hours. The Northern Pacific railroad company sold the same property two weeks ago for $50,000. The owners will make $100,000 out of it. This makes nearly $1,000,000 in transfers in the last month and rivals the Winnepeg boom.

Thursday afternoon the Remington sewing machine manufactory at Ilion was destroyed by fire. The factory was of brick, four stories in height, 50 feet wine and 120 feet long with a large wing. About fifty men were employed. The loss is estimated at $40,000 and was well protected by insurance. Many valuable patterns, the accumulation of years, were burned.

A suit was recently brought by Cornelia Hewitt against the city of Watertown for damages for falling on a defective sidewalk. The case was on trial this week at Watertown before Judge Churchill. On Friday the court [illegible] officiating. The body was interred in Mt. Adnah. Mrs. Andrews was an old resident of this locality and for many years lived in Fulton. She was the mother of John Andrews and Mrs. Cyrus Mead of Fulton, and Mrs. T. H. Lake of Rochester,

It is estimated that it will take $8,000,000 more to finish the capitol at Albany. It takes $60,000 per year to pay for its care and heating. It would be interesting to watch the result if a proposition was submitted to the people asking their disposition of the building. A commodious, well appointed and presentable capitol could be constructed for one half the sum that will be required to finish the one now under way and a guarantee would be given that legislators need have no fear of the ceiling falling upon their heads either.

At a recent special term of the supreme court held at Elmira judge Follett decided a question that is interesting to all firemen. The new code contains a section in relation to them. It provides for a certificate of service signed by the chief engineer of the fire department, or the mayor or president of the city or village in which the service was performed. The certificate must be dated three months before presentation and filed with the clerk of the court to which it is presented. Many persons are by reason of service as firemen, entitled to exemption from jury duty, but have not complied with this section of the new code.

Oswego Palladium:—Albert T. Vickery of Schroeppel, has commenced an action against his father, Joseph Vickery, to obtain a quit claim deed to certain lands in the town of Schroeppel of which the plaintiff is now in possession. The complaint alleges that in 1854 the defendant made an agreement to the effect that if the defendant would move upon certain land in Schroeppel and cultivate and improve it, the defendant would execute to the plaintiff a quit claim deed of the same when requested. The plaintiff claims that he took possession of the premises, cleared the land, set out fruit, shade and ornamental trees, erected dwelling houses, barns, sheds, fences, etc., and that the value of the land is now upward of $4,000, whereas it was all but valueless when he took possession. Also that he requested of his father a quit claim deed of the property but the latter refused to execute a deed. The plaintiff demands title to the property.

Real Estate Sales.

The following deeds, of local import, have been recorded in the county clerk's office since our last report:

Isaac J. Keeney to Samuel Andrews, land in Granby, $300. Oct. 6, 1882.

Wm G. Gage to Mortimer Rast, land in Fulton, $300. Oct. 2. 1882.

Martha H. Harroun to Amanda M. Barnes, land in Oswego Falls, $300. Oct. 28, 1882.

Francis M. Baker and wife to Joseph Sheridan, land in Fulton, Dec. 18, 1882. $1.

David Wilcox to Henry Hall, land in Granby, July 16, 1881, $1.

George Briggs to Barton Collins Briggs et al. land in Volney, May 25, 1882, $100.

⁂"Durability is better than show." Durability if health is worth more than the wealth of a Vanderbilt. Kidney-Wort is man's co-laborer in maintaining health. With healthy liver, bowels and kidneys, men and women will always be in good health. If the bowels are torpid, If piles torment, if the back is full of pain, get a package of Kidney Wort and be cured without more suffering.

☞Go to Waterman's and buy your boy a pair of SKATES for Christmas.

A Good Book Deserves Attention.

Of such books there can be none too many. The question to-day is pre-eminently what books are good books—practical, helpful, necessary? Any just answer to that question must include some Encyclopædia. It ranks next to the dictionary in importance. It is a library in itself. It affords the only means of gaining information concerning "things multitudinous" about which we ought and wish to know. But is there not a difference in Cyclopedia's? Yes, all that are now before the public—Appleton's, the Brittanica, Chamber's and Zells or Johnson's are for certain reasons commendable. The last born has some especial merit to which I take pleasure in calling attention. It is authoritative in all its articles, and the name of the author is written at the close of the article—a matter of no little moment, when we are seeking the final word about any fact or truth. It is brief and condensed a very essential feature for these days of hurry. It is therefore a "working" book. You do not find the ponderous articles of the Brittanica which are little books in themselves. These are of course highly valuable. But an Encyclopædia is meant to save time in gaining instruction. On the other hand this work of Mr. Johnson is comprehensive. It is especially full upon American topics. This is marked I think, in its references to the last war and the past history of the country. It is excellent upon religious topics and differs therein from all the other encyclopædias. Last but not least it is cheaper than any of the others with the exception of Chambers—which in other respects it excels. These reasons make the work very desirable and it is with much interest that I recommend it to the attention of the families of our village. Such a book can be potent in advancing the general knowledge of community. Had I not Zells' compact work to supplement the heavy volumes of the Brittanica I should certainly place this book at once within reach. If one can possess both, Johnson's and the Brittanica make a fine combination. If only one is to be taken, then for all practical, everyday purposes Johnson's is without question preferable. It is a book worth careful consideration.

JAMES S. RIGGS.

To all of the above I give unreserved confirmation after having examined and purchased the work. A. BOGYRHY.

Now is your time to [illegible] good [illegible] published by H. [illegible]

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51

ROSENBLOOM

Is offering Extra Inducements on their large stock of Clothing. Bargains in Every Department.

Call and See Them.

F. D. VANWAGENEN JR.,

REAL ESTATE AGENT.

(Office in G. S. Piper's Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and Selling of Real Estate Mr. VanWagenen will take charge of and let property on reasonable terms.

Money Loaned on Bond & Mortgage.

Houses and Lots and Vacant Lots for sale in Fulton and Oswego Falls; also farms for sale and exchange in the counties of Oswego and Cayuga.

FANCY GOODS IN LARGE V

—FOR THE—

HOLIDAY TR

—Now being offered at the—

"BEE HI

FULTON, N. Y.

VERY DESIRABLE

To Know the Fact that

WATERMAN'S

—Stock Of—

Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place. Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of the same, at 54 First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

E. A. WATERMAN.

New and Useful Holiday Goods,

and Reduced Prices at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Flannel Suiting, Black French Cashmere, Black Silks, Brocade Satins, a Large Assortment of Felt Skirts. Ladies and Gents Silk and Linen Handkerchiefs in Great Variety.

Just Received 20 doz. Childrens' and Miss' Wool Hose 15 to 75. Silk Plushes in all the colors at reduced prices.

28 Inch Silk Umbrella's $2.50 worth $3.00. Shawls, Blankets, Ladies Fur Collars, Fur Trimmings, Cloaks and Dolmans.

We give the best value for the money that can be had in Fulton.

All goods guaranteed as represented or the money refunded.

E B. FAY.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE, STOVES, SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

CHRISTMAS BEEF.

While there are a great many people who do, there are also a good many who do not, stop to think how cheap

The Best Quality of Clothing

may be bought. Dealers who sell Clothing in this town will tell you that we can't sell the best quality of Clothing, for the reason that they can't be manufactured for anything like the money. The latter part of the assertion we admit; many of our garments cost more to manufacture than our selling price, but the quality of our Clothing we guarantee to be of

The Best Makes in the World.

We represent a sort of Secret Society Firm; we keep it to ourselves how we manage to procure goods at our prices. Not everybody can solve the secrets of our Order, unless he is level headed, smart, a hard worker, has lots of spot cash, has been long in the business, and is willing to take a life-time to accumulate a fortune.

There is knowledge, electricity, honesty and everything that makes a first-class garment in our Clothing.

FAMOUS

[illegible] FULTON TIMES

[illegible] Dec. 20, 1882.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF FULTON.

FULTON 'BUS

The Fulton omnibus will leave the Lewis House for trains on the Oswego & Syracuse Railroad by the following time table:

	A. M.	A. M.	M.	P. M.	P. M.
For Syracuse	7:40	9:00	8:10	5:30
For Oswego	7:40		9:40	6:00	8:15

Tickets to Oswego, including 'Bus fare, 40 cents, for sale on the Omnibus.

A. M. HAYES, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

New York Express No. 2..........7:15 a. m
Norwich Express No. 6..........5:32 p. m
Freight and Accommodation No. 47..........8:05 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1..........9:35 p. m
Oswego Express No. 5..........11:38 a. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 48..........5:38 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation..........8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express..........9:28 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express..........12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express..........5:38 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express..........8:00 a. m
Day Express..........2:06 p. m
Oswego Accommodation..........6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express..........8:30 p. m

☞ The 8:06 train runs Sundays.
☞ Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. PHELPS, Supt.

A Merry Christmas to all.

The shortest day of the year is almost here.

Now is an excellent time to pay up your subscription.

Moses R. Jefferds of Galveston, Texas, was in town last week.

J. Lovewell Johnson, who is doing business in Cincinnati, Ohio, is home for a vacation.

A Christmas party will be given at Woodruff's hall, Hinmanville, Monday evening Dec 25.

All bank paper falling due on Christmas or New Years must be paid the Saturday before.

Martin McCormick was home on Sunday. He is connected with the New National hotel in Rochester.

The M. E. Church Literary Society will meet at the residence of of M. V. Connell to-morrow evening.

Michael O'Grady who has been employed in Boston and Philadelphia the past season is home on a visit.

F. K. Jones will give a lecture on music in the chapel of Falley Seminary on the evening of January 11th.

There will be a jolly time at Hannan's hall Palermo Centre next Monday evening. Parker's orchestra will furnish the music.

Mrs. Tremells, sister of the Rector of Zion church, who has been an invalid for the past three months is slowly convalescing.

On the first page will be found an interesting letter from New York city. The writer, "Wandering Jew" is a young man well known in Fulton.

Herrick & Emerick are cutting up in their factory about 35,000 feet of lumber each day. They employ 40 men and ship two car loads of boxes daily.

Oswego Palladium, Friday—Clerk Nichols of the board of supervisors was 35 years old yesterday, and the board and reporters smoked with him after the session.

Schuyler James and family are removing to Boylston, where he will go into farming. Mr. James has resided in this vicinity for 35 years and is a good citizen and kind neighbor. Mrs. Chas. Spencer will accompany them.

Edward Breads, who has conducted an ice trade in Fulton for the past seventeen years has sold his ice building and contents at lake Neahtawanta, one team, and wagon and good will of his business to Almon Wilcox and Charles Dexter of Oswego Falls for $3,000. During the seventeen, years Mr. Breads has peddled ice he has attended pretty well to business and retires with quite a competency. Messrs. Wilcox & Dexter took possession Monday.

Sunday night being Christmas eve there will be appropriate services at Zion church. There will be the usual pleasing music. All are invited. Services commence at 7 o'clock. Services on Monday, Christmas, at 11 o'clock a. m. Christmas tree for the children on Saturday. The tree will be erected in W. S. Nelson's vacant store on Oneida street, opposite Dr. Bacon's residence. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock after which the gifts will be distributed. Packages for the Christmas tree or supper will be left at the building during the day.

A course of lectures is to be held this winter in Oswego Falls to be delivered by employees in the Oswego Falls woolen mills. The subjects will be such as are of vital interest to the employees and are given with the object of self improvement and with a view of imparting information to each other that has been learned by practical experience. The initial lecture was delivered by Mr. John Bacchus, whose subject was:—"History of Cloth making." The remainder of the course is announced with the following subjects:

December 21, 1882, Wool—Walter Guile,
January 4, 1883, Carding—John Tyning,
" 18, " Combing—Wm. Dixon,
February 1, " Spinning—Miles Ellis,
" 15, " Weaving—Geo. Smiddy,
March 1, " Dyeing—Joseph Green,
" 15, " Finishing—F. Ballou.

The Enquirer of Cincinnati says: Hon. P. T. Burnum strongly endorses St Jacobs Oil for pain. His combination and artists all use it.

We have no last year's stock of cutters to offer you: our's are fresh and new. 26 McCully & Co.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

Go to Hendrick's and inspect his stock of holiday goods. Japanese ware chromos, pictures, mirrors, and fancy [illegible] all [illegible] prices to [illegible] tf

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

About five [illegible] the cigar factory of Doyle & Emerick, located over Miller & Whitaker's grocery, was broken into and two hundred cigars stolen. On Sunday, November 19, it was again broken into and one thousand stolen and Sunday, Dec. 10th, was again visited and 550 cigars appropriated. On Sunday, November 19, Woodin's hardware store was entered and $1.15 in small change, four revolvers, several pocket knives and a supply of cartridges were taken. On the same day Gilbert Bros. flour office was visited and the money drawer forced open and $10 in silver abstracted, and about the same time a street peanut vender's cart was robbed of its contents in the Fulton house barn. Numerous other thefts and burglaries were continually reported and Pooler & Wilson's coal office, Perine & Wright's flour office, and H. J. Case's grocery was visited.

So numerous were the burglaries, and evidently the work of novices, that officer Ney kept a strict watch of a few suspected parties, but to no purpose.

On Friday, December 8, Joe Fairbanks, aged 24, was known to be in the possession of several cigars and he was brought before Justice Piper and said he procured them of Joseph Nichols, aged 12. Nichols was immediately arrested and placed in jail. After a little persuasion he admitted that the cigars he gave Fairbanks were stolen from Emerick's and escorted officer Ney to a building on Ontario street where he and his companions rendezvoused. The building was presided over by Newell L. Stay, 20 years of age, and was situated on the north end of the lot upon which his mother resides. The building contained a coal stove with a bright fire, bunks conveniently arranged and covered with straw ticks and a general air of thrift pervaded the room. The place was thoroughly searched and a revolver, peanuts, chestnuts, cigars cartridges, etc. found. The cigars were recognized by Doyle & Emerick as their make and Woodin's price mark had not been erased from the revolver.

Young Nichols gave information that led to the arrest of Newell Stay, Fred Acker, aged 16, William LaBounty, aged 15, Henry Youmans, aged 13, and Homer Phelps aged 16.

An examination was held before Justice Piper Saturday and Monday and the confessions and testimony of the boys was voluminous and many important facts were recited in order to determine the degree of guilt of each of the accused. The testimony was contradictory and rambling but Justice Piper held that:—

Nichols entered Woodin's store and LaBounty, Phelps and Acker assisted in disposing of the plunder and were all guilty of petit larceny; that Nichols and LaBounty entered the Fulton house barn and stole nuts while Youman's watched outside and Youmans was guilty of petit larceny. Stay plead guilty to petit larceny. Gilbert's flour mill was entered by Nichols and the proceeds shared by LaBounty and Youmans. The thefts in the cigar store was not charged to the account of any particular one and all the perpetrators are not known. It was not shown that these boys entered Perine & Wright's mill, Pooler & Wilson's office or J. H. Case's grocery.

SENTENCES.

Newell L. Stay received ninety days in the Onondaga penitentiary and was taken there yesterday by Officer Ney.

William LaBounty and Joseph Nichols was sentenced to the Western House of Refuge at Rochester and were taken to-day by Officer Ney.

Fred Acker, Henry Youmans and Homer Phelps were fined $15.00 each or thirty days in jail. Paid.

Occasionally the board of supervisors receive communications and petitions that puzzle them to dispose of. We read in the proceedings that "the clerk presented a communication from Superintendent Spencer asking the board to visit the county poor house next Wednesday." The board instictively resolved itself into a committee of the whole and without debate or delay accepted the proffered hospitality by a large majority. We extend our sympathy to the turkeys and congratulate the supervisors upon the hospitality that awaits them.

Foster Simpson, son of 'Squire Simpson of Scriba, and brother of Robert Simpson formerly of this village dropped dead in a street car in Louisville, Ky., last Tuesday of cerebal apoplexy. He was traveling agent for the Throop Grain Cleaner Co., of Auburn, N. Y. He was 50 years of age. His remains were brought to Oswego, where his family reside, and funeral was held from Trinity M. E. church Sunday at 11 a. m.

FOR SALE—A good sportsman's rifle, muzzle loader. Can be seen at W. W. Hill's blacksmith shop corner Sixth and Cayuga streets.

Genuine Rogers' Silver Plated Ware at HAMILTON'S.
31 Opposite Lewis House.

To the Public.

During the past seventeen years I have furnished ice to many Fulton people and in retiring I wish to return thanks for the liberal patronage and general kindness extended to me. I trust my successor will receive the same generous patronage. EDWARD BREADS.

Fulton, Dec. 20, 1882.

[illegible] BLACK SILKS,
LYON, SATIN RADMAHA and Fine
[illegible] for the Holiday Trade.
Now Being Opened at the [illegible]E, Fulton, N. Y.

[illegible]! SLIPPERS! SLIPPERS!!

—AT—

A. E. NETTLETON'S.

For Christmas Presents.

Don't fail to call and see the largest stock of these goods ever shown in Fulton.

ALL NEW AND FRESH GOODS.

Dr. Barringer is at the Lewis house.

Dr. W. L. Woodbury is airing a new cutter and wolf robe.

Snow drifts are five feet deep in the road in the Rafferty district.

Lulu, daughter of Henry and Mary Trask, is recovering from her late serious illness.

Fulton Union School will close Friday for a two weeks vacation, opening again Monday January 8, 1883.

Miss Minnie Baker of Oswego, is making Mr. Wm. Summerville quite an extended visit in West Granby.

☞ At Ney's news room may be found tracing wheels, pocket books, games, fine stationery, Christmas books, papers etc.

Arthur F. Jennings of Palermo and Miss Emma Bartlett of Volney were married on the 10th of December by Rev. L. Brown at his residence in Mt. Pleasant.

Emory Johnson, who was tried in Oswego on a charge of arson for the alleged firing of a building at Battle Island some time ago, was yesterday acquitted.

Commencing this evening, the toys in James Stevens' store on First street will be auctioned off and the auction will continue every evening, until the stock is disposed of.

The next quarterly meeting of the F. M. church will be held from Thursday, January 11th to and including the following Sabbath. Rev. Curry of Syracuse will be present.

Mrs. Hannah Mace died at her home in Palermo last Wednesday, aged 82 years. Funeral was held at Bristol Hill, Saturday at 12 o'clock, Rev. Stone officiating. Interment was made at Volney Cantre.

A Christmas Sunday school concert will be the feature at the M. E. church Sunday evening. There will be singing, recitations, responsive readings, and other exercises appropriate for the occasion.

The fair under the auspices of the church of the Immaculate Conception will open next Tuesday evening in Nichols Hall and continue for one week. Extensive preparations are being made for it and a pleasant time will be the result.

At the residence of Mrs. Louise Rappleye in Granby a double wedding was solemnized last Wednesday afternoon. Travis Rappleye was married to Miss Emma Stewart and Edward Stewart was married to Miss Nellie Rappleye. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Riggs, School in upper Oswego Falls will commence Tuesday, January 2. Mr. Herman Merriam of Palermo will be principal and Miss Kittie McDonald of of Volney assistant. Miss Minnie Moore of Fulton will preside over the primary department again, a position she has acceptably filled for eight successive terms.

Friday's Syracuse Standard says—The members of the Furman Street M. E. church, last evening, gave a reception at No. 26 Furman street, to their pastor, Rev. J. N. Taft and his charming bride, nee Reed. Mr. Taft was married Thanksgiving evening at the residence of the bride's mother in Brooklyn, since which time the happy couple have been visiting friends in different parts of the State. A fine, large company were present last night and welcomed them home in a warm-hearted Methodist fashion. Mrs. Taft was instantly ingratiated into the hearts of the church people by her pleasing, intelligent face and engaging manners. Everyone beamed with happiness and the occasion was most enjoyable.

Sidney Morse, aged 63 years, who poisoned seven head of cattle belonging to David Wells at South Hannibal last summer with Paris green was found guilty in county court last week and was sentenced Friday by Judge Nutting to be confined one year at hard labor in the Onondaga penitentiary at Syracuse. The old man on hearing his sentence broke completely down and said to the Judge:—"I cannot endure hard labor, it will kill me in a week."

After he was found guilty and before he was sentenced he said to Judge Nutting?—"If you sentence me, you sentence an innocent man. If you do sentence me, I want you to sentence me to be hanged within twenty-four hours."

NOTICE—In the postoffice is posted a notice of money found asking the loser to describe it in the village paper:

I lost $19.03 Saturday, December 9, 1882. It was in a ladies purse. Purse had small chain handle.

WALTER BRAMHAM.
Oswego Falls Factory

WANTED TO HIRE—A small amount of money. For security will give a paid up Life Insurance Policy. Any one who has money to loan will find a bargain in this. Please call at TIMES office.

Fulton, N. Y., Dec. 13.

Ladies' and childrens' hand knit hoods in all colors and styles. C. E. Sackett.

S. S. S. S.

A neck-tie party will be given by the above society in the armory Friday evening of this week.

Teachers' Association.

The teachers' association for the first district will be held at Minetto Friday evening, January 5th and Saturday, January 6th. C. PARKHURST, Pres.
W. J. BRADT, chairman committee.

The Gun Works.

Mr. Baker, patentee of the Baker gun, was in town yesterday looking over our water power. Mr. Baker was accompanied by three gentlemen, two from Ithaca and one from Connecticut. They obtained the price of the tannery property and the Loomis planing mill. They ask that the citizens subscribe five thousand dollars. Other villages are holding out flattering inducements for them to locate and it depends upon our citizens whether they come to Fulton or not. An effort is being made to raise the amount and by the next issue of THE TIMES the matter will be settled. Mr. Bradshaw says the price of the tannery property has been placed at a figure that will be entirely satisfactory to them.

A Verdict Rendered.

On the 31st of December 1881 John Morway was digging a well on the premisis of Fred Spafford on Oneida street. He was being assisted by John Meagher. On the above day Meagher was down in the well, a distance of fifty-three feet when a sledge hammer weighing 27¾ pounds fell from the mouth of the well striking him upon the shoulder and injuring him. Mr. Morway was at the mouth of the well and Meagher thought it was through his carelessness the sledge was precipitated below, and commenced suit against him for $250 damages. The suit was tried in county court in Oswego yesterday and a verdict of $75 rendered against Morway, G. S. Piper was Meagher's counsel and M. F. Stephens Morway's.

A Grand Display.

The finest jewelry display ever arranged in Fulton is now to be seen in the front windows of Charles R. Nichols' jewelry store on First street. Gold and silver watches, diamond rings, pins and pendants; and a myriad of beautiful pieces of jewelry, where one in search of a holiday gift for a friend can easily select just the thing wanted. The display in the window is but an item compared with the enormous stock that confronts you upon entering the store. The show cases and shelves are teeming with desirable goods especially designed for the holiday trade. Fulton people have learned that it is unnecessary to go to neighboring cities to make selections or to secure rock bottom prices. Whether you wish to purchase or not Mr. Nichols will be pleased to have you inspect his stock.

Masonic.

At the annual communication of Hiram Lodge No. 144, F. & A. M. held in Masonic Hall, Fulton, December 18, 1882, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Seymour Parmalee—W. M.
Nugent Charnley—S. W.
Herman H. Hulett—J. W.
Robert E. Phillips—Treasurer.
James Stevens—Secretary.
James L. Parker—S. D.
James Pearman—J. D.
Fred Summerville—S. M. of C.
Edwin T. Babcock—J. M. of C.
A. M. Roe—Chaplain.
Charles R. Nichols—Marshall
Charles D. Branch—Tiler.

The above elected officers were duly installed by Past Master Dr. Daniel Pardee.

The Merry, Merry Bells.

Oh! but this delightful winter weather is embracing. It braces up the color in the cheek's of the damsels fair; it braces up the noble thoroughbrerds as they sweep through the streets to the music of the bells; it braces up business and makes the streets alive with barter and trade; and so it braces up everybody, making glad the soul and the body. The chorus of the bells in this keen winter air sings one song here in Syracuse—that Kent & Miller, Nos. 18 and 20 South Salina street, can best bring comfort and warmth, while facing the frost king. Their fine, all wool suits, seem impenetrable to the cold, and while fulfilling every requisite that good taste and good sense can demand as to style, character, make and fit, are placed so low in price, as compared with their high value, that all may experience their comfort and elegance. And then their overcoats, of all grades, some of which would do to breast an Arctic winter. They have only to be seen to be appreciated, and their praises are sung every day by the chiming bells along our streets. Listen to the counsels that they give, and act wisely.

Picture frames of every description at Hendrick's. Call and see him. 29tf

Go to Sackett's and see what he has in dry goods.

T. S. Brigham of Oswego was in town yesterday.

Don't forget the fair at Nichols Hall next week.

Frank I. Van Buren is home from school to spend the holidays.

Howard Case will be home this week from Cornell university for his holiday vacation.

Will Fulton raise the required five thousand dollars and insure a valuable acquision to our manufacturing industries?

Edward Ollen, the popular conductor on the N. Y. O. & W. railroad is several inches taller to-day. It's a bouncing boy.

A bed plate casting was made at Dilts' foundry Saturday weighing nearly five thousand pounds and was perfect in every respect.

Miss Minnie Golden, who is attending Vassar college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., will come home to-morrow and remain until after the holidays.

Whipple Darling, who was taken to the Utica insane asylum a few months ago, is reported as failing, and but little hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Otto Scholtz's barber shop was broken into one week ago Sunday and hair oil, etc, abstracted. An entrance was effected by forcing open a back door.

John H. Cavanaugh & Co., have the sole agency in this town for Rochester Vitrified Tile. Their yard is on the ground on the old Foster boat yard.

Wm. E. Taylor placed on THE TIMES table Monday, a generous sample of pears of the "Cressmene" variety. They were grown by him and were noble specimens of fruit.

At the Baptist church there will be a Christmas concert Sunday evening at 7 o'clock which will consist of singing, recitations, dialogues, etc. The church is being modestly decorated.

Mrs. Hannah Mace died at her her home in Palermo last Wednesday aged 82 years. Funeral was held at Bristol Hill Saturday at 12 o'clock, Rev. Stone officiating. Interment made at Volney Centre.

MARRIED—At the residence of William Wellborne in Oswego Town, Saturday, December 16, 1882, Omer Williams of East Pharsalia, Chenango county, to Miss Carrie Allen of Fulton. Rev. Jacob Fleming officiated.

Misses Bertha and Libbie Lee, daughters of Dr. C. M. Lee, and Miss May Gardner, daughter of D. W. Gardner, are home from Oberlin, Ohio, where they are attending school, to spend the holidays. Miss Bertha Lee will not return.

John Carr died at Morseman's lock, four miles south of Fulton, Thursday, December 14, aged 64 years. Funeral was held Sunday in the school house at Hinmanvillle and remains interred in the Chase cemetery in the town of Lysander.

Invitations are out announcing the approaching marriage of Mr. Charles Metcalf of Rochester to Miss Lizzie Green of this village. The ceremony will be performed Christmas evening at the residence of the lady's father, Mr. Samuel Green on Rochester St.

Rev. Warren C. Hubbard, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Brooklyn, was recently made the recipient of a handsome sum of money. An aged lady, a member of his church, died recently, and in her will was a bequest directing the executors to pay to Mr. Hubbard, $5000, and to the church $20,000. It was, indeed, a pleasant surprise to the reverend gentleman, and we congratulate him and the church over which he presides.

C. E. Sackett has floor oil cloth in all colors and widths.

If you are racking your brain to select a suitable Christmas present for a friend go to Ney's and pay for a year's subscription for a good magazine or paper and send it to them.

UNDERTAKING!

Mr. D. Hendrick is now prepared to do undertaking for the public. His store is one door south of Fay's dry goods store. Night bell on store door. 29tf

☞ Over 1,000 Dolls from 5 cents to $10, each and all to be sold at about one-half price at Draper's Fulton or Oswego Falls stores. 30tf

Annual Meeting.

The annual election and meeting of the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society will be held at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, N. Y., on the 10th day of January, 1883, at 12 o'clock noon. Dated Fulton, N. Y., Dec. 12, 1882.

ARVIN RICE, Sec'y.

Annual Meeting.

The annual election for directors of the Citizens National Bank and three inspectors for the next election will be held at their banking rooms on Tuesday the 9, day of January next. Polls open from one until two p. m.

GEO. M. CASE, President.

Dated, Fulton, Dec. 12, 1882.

The Cheapest place in town to buy Cutters, Whips and Blankets is at 27 BETTS & CO'S, First Street.

5,000 PERSONS WANTED!

To examine the HOLIDAY GOODS at M. M. WILLIAMS', who has just returned from New York with a Full Line of Goods, consisting of

DIARIES, POCKET BOOKS, LADIES' SATCHELS, PHOTOGRAPH and [illegible]

A Pleasant Occurrence.

About twenty-five relatives and intimate friends assembled at the residence of Mr. R. Bradshaw last evening to witness the marriage of his daughter Cora Belle, to Mr. George G. Chauncey, of Suspension Bridge, formerly agent of the D. L. & W. road at Fulton station. The marriage service was performed by Rev. E. Moyses, Rector of Zion church at 6:30 o'clock, at the conclusion of which earnest congratulations followed. A superb collation was served and at 9:30 Mr. and Mrs Chauncey took the Midland for Oswego where Mr. Chauncey's parents reside, and left this morning for Suspension Bridge where they will reside. A large number of elegant and substantial gifts were presented to the contracting parties the bride receiving a check for $1000 from her father. Miss Bradshaw has always been prominent in Fulton society and it is with regret her myriad of friends will learn of her departure. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey have the earnest and warmest wishes of their friends for a lengthened, prosperous and pleasant journey through life.

Lost and Found.

Mr. J. Hoose of Mexico has been doing business in the Fulton cheese market during the past season and had an account at the Citizens' National Bank. A few days ago the driver of the Mexico stage was intrusted with $1,200 by the bank to deliver to Mr. Hoose. When he arrived at Mexico he was surprised and scared to discover the money missing and he was indeed in a quandary. How and where did he lose it? He informed Mr. Hoose of his loss and they returned to Fulton with the intention of starting back at daylight and making a thorough search along the road. Just before leaving Fulton a messenger arrived from Mexico with the pleasant intelligence that the money had been found. It seems in putting out the stage team at Mexico the money had fallen from his pocket on the floor of the stall and was there found being used as bedding. Mr. Parsons, the driver, is a careful and honorable man and his temporary loss unnerved him a little.

"Government Reform."

A. R. Davis will deliver a lecture in Stephen's opera house, Friday evening, December 22, on "Government Reform." He is said to be a ready and forcible speaker and points out in a clear manner the many irregularities that are patent in the present workings of the government. Admission 25 cents; seats for sale at Nichol's jewelry store.

The DeRuyter Gleaner says:—A. R. Davis spoke at Union hall, Monday evening, on the subject of government reform. His audience was small, owing to the other meeting in session: but all present listened with deep interest to his earnest presentation of the defects in the political, financial and administrative systems now in vogue. We regret that space will not permit even a brief summary of his address. He is a forcible speaker, and may feel assured of a larger house should he happen this way in the future.

Suit For Damages.

On the evening of Tuesday, November 21, 1882, Thomas G. Poole was riding on the 'bus from the D. L. & W. station to the village. When crossing the canal bridge at the east end of the upper bridge the forward wheel of the 'bus struck the bent of the bridge throwing the driver onto the horses and throwing Poole, who was seated near the driver, to the driveway head first. In reaching out to break the fall his wrists were both sprained. Mr. Poole purchased a ticket in Oswego for Fulton and a check was given entitling him to a ride from the station to Fulton. He has commenced an action in the Supreme court against the D. L. & W. company for $1000 damages on the ground that as they sell the tickets they inferentially guarantee a safe passage W. C. Crombie, esq. is Mr. Poole's counsel.

Fulton Lyceum met Monday evening, E. R. Redhead in the chair. The Sunday law under the recent penal code was the subject. "Resolved, That it ought to be sustained." The following persons participated in the discussion, D. M. Perine, Dr. Woodbury, Frederick Bennett, A. D. Stowell, Dr. G. V. Emens. The chairman decided that the preponderance of argument was upon the affirmative.

The question for discussion at the next meeting, January 8th, 1883 is "Resolved, That the civil service reform is the most vital question before the American people." It was voted that the public should be invited to be present at the meeting. The rooms are warm and well lighted and are reached by the stairway south of Eggleston's book store. Every one should be interested in civil service reform.

FOR SALE.

Kiln dried kindling wood in one and two dollar loads. White and black ash wood fifteen inches long, fitted for stove, $1.50 and $2.50 per load. Delivered to any portion of Fulton or Oswego Falls. Enquire at pail and tub factory of 27tf D. E. MASON.

I have been troubled with an ugly corn for a number of years, Dr. J. D. Perkins removed it without injury. I would not have it back for a 10 dollar bill. Address LEWIS LONG.
Minnetto, N. Y.
Office over Goodjon's Shoe Store, Fulton.

Dress flannell in all colors, also those 25 cent dress flannells. C. E. Sackett,

NEW! NEW! NE[illegible]
Silk Handkerchiefs, Colored Border [illegible]
—AND—
Fancy Handkerchiefs of all kinds. Ladies', Gents' and Children's Gloves, Neckwear, for the HOLIDAY TRADE,
—AT THE—
"BEE HIVE"
FULTON, N. Y.

JOY AT HOME.

HAVING LEFT THEIR HOME IN SORROW, FATHER AND DAUGHTER RETURN IN GLADNESS.

Next to the sad duty of bearing the bodies of our dear dead to their long rest, is that of taking our loved living, when stricken with disease, in search of help which appears the more hopeless the nearer it is approached.

Yet when Mr. Nicholas Howell, of Waverly, Chemung county, N. Y., left his home some time since for New York, it was on such an errand. By his side was his daughter, whose case has been abandoned by the home physicians as one of incurable disease of the heart. When the train reached Peekskill it was clear that the almost dying girl could not be carried a mile farther with safety. Emaciated in body, shattered in nerve, and melancholy in mind the poor girl had lost interest in her own fate. To her vision there loomed up but one end to all her suffering, and its insensible stillness looked almost inviting, after so many days of langor and pain.

But who may know his fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends in Peekskill, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all there was left of her—to the office of Dr. David Kennedy in Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

FIRST CLASS CLOTHHIG.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,
15 and 17 South Salina street
Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

—AT—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

GREAT

DRY GOODS,

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street
and 29 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

The Holiday Season at this Great Establishment to be made more attractive than ever.

An Immense Stock of Novelties in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods, Carpets, and Furniture, surpassing all previous efforts in the selection of everything new and desirable for Christmas Gifts.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

And make your purchases for the Holidays.

ELECTRICITY.

MOVES WORLDS. SOURCE OF ALL LIFE.

DR. L. H. SPRAGUE

Makes the treatment of all Chronic Disease by Electrical and Mechanical means a SPECIALTY. From over 30 years' experience he can speak positively that most cases can be cured quicker and with greater comfort to the patient by this than by any other mode. It is peculiarly adapted for Paralysis, Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia in all their forms. It is the Woman's Friend, quickly curing all misplacements, congestions or irregularity; will restore nervous force and vitality in all cases; will dissolve tumors, heal ulcers and remove all poisons from the system; cure spinal diseases, stiff joints, etc., etc.

Call and see me, at 54 Warren St., Syracuse, N. Y. Consultation at office or by letter free and confidential. Office Hours, 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

CURES DISEASES.

GREAT SALE.

No. 19, First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

—AT—

D. C. SKADEN'S.

Having on hand a large assortment of house furnishing goods than ever before offered in Fulton, I wish to call the attention of the people of Fulton and vicinity to the fact I am selling cheaper than ever for cash. Look at these prices:

Bootes	Dinner Plates	95cts.	per	doz.
"	Breakfast "	85 "	"	"
"	Tea "	72 "	"	"
"	Unhandled Teas	44 "	"	"
"	Handled "	55 "	"	"

Also having in stock the largest assortment of Majolica Ware, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Smoking Sets, Japanese Ware, Silver Ware and Toilet Sets ever before offered in Fulton. I offer them at prices below the lowest for Holiday Trade.

Remember my assortment in China Tea Sets is complete, [illegible]orated Toilet and Tea Sets. Lamps of all kinds at [illegible] prices. As I buy only of importers and at factories I can sell for what others pay for goods.

D. C. SKADEN,

Next Door to Lewis House. FIRST STREET, FULTON, N. Y.

IT BOOMS AT

THE BAZAAR.

—:o:—

HOLIDAY GOODS

Are Going like Hot Cakes. Come Early and Avoid the Rush.

It would be useless to try and enumerate the many Beautiful Presents and Useful Goods for young and old at the

BAZAAR.

Come and See.

Lathrop's Christmas Song.

I, Santa Claus hereby proclaim
To every people, tongue and name,
To high and low, to rich and poor,
I'm now at G. C. Lathrop's store,
Who has now on hand a very
Large stock of confectionery.
Dolls and baskets, whips and toys,
Hand sleds for your girls and boys,
Iron savings banks, tin flutes,
Foreign and domestic fruits,
[illegible]

LINCOLN EMBROIDERY HOOP HOLDER.

[illegible]

[illegible] of models or drawings [illegible] free.

[illegible] noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. [illegible] notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good.

Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that the The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachment of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol, 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald.

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including all the reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

Political News

The Farm Department

of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to the duties of the farmer, hints for raising cattle, poultry, grains, trees, vegetables &c, with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming utensils in repair. This is supplemented by a well-edited department, widely copied, under the head of giving recipes for practical dishes, hints for making clothing and for keeping up with the latest fashions at the lowest price. Every item of cooking or economy suggested in this department is practically tested by experts before publication. Letters from our Paris and London correspondents on the very latest fashions. The home department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than one hundred times the price of the paper. The interests of

The Home

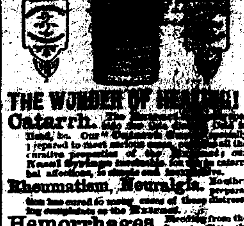
Skilled Labor

are looked after, and everything relating to mechanics and labor saving is carefully recorded. There is a page devoted to all the latest phases of the business markets, crops, merchandise, &c., &c. A valuable feature is found in the specially reported [illegible]

[illegible] Market. [illegible]



THE WONDER OF HEALING!

Catarrh. [illegible] Head, &c. Our "Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, contains all the curative properties of the Extract; our Nasal Syringe invaluable for use in catarrhal affections, is simple and inexpensive.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured so many cases of these distressing complaints as the Extract.

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause, is speedily controlled and stopped.

Diphtheria & Sore Throat. Use the Extract promptly. It is a sure cure. Delay is dangerous.

For Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy.

For Ulcers, Old Sores or Open Wounds its action upon these is most remarkable.

Caution.—POND'S EXTRACT has been imitated. The genuine has the words "POND'S EXTRACT" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

SPECIALTIES AND TOILET ARTICLES.

POND'S EXTRACT	50c., $1.00, $1.75.
Toilet Cream	1.00	Catarrh Cure	75
Dentifrice	50	Plaster	25
Lip Salve	25	Inhaler (Glass 50c.)	1.00
Toilet Soap (3 Cakes)	50	Nasal Syringe	25
Ointment	50	Medicated Paper	25

Family Syringe, $1.00.

LADIES, read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26 of our New Pamphlet which accompanies each bottle.

☞ OUR NEW PAMPHLET WITH HISTORY OF OUR PREPARATIONS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION TO

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Ready Yours,

J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

THE "GARDEN OF THE WEST."

To THE FARMERS OF NEW YORK.

I give you a cordial invitation to come and see this "Garden of the West," Northeast Missouri. You that are weary with farms of exhausted vitality and you that have families of boys growing up whom you wish to establish upon farms larger, better and cheaper than are within reach in the old States, come and see this country in its prime, aglow with green and golden harvests. Northeast Missouri embraces a territory 100 miles square, noted for its fertility, delightful climate; fine markets, beautiful landscapes, and varied productions. It is in direct connection by trunk R. R. lines, with Chicago, Buffalo and New York. Perfect order and political freedom prevail. Forty thousand New Yorkers already reside in Missouri. Here I have for sale a great number of farms, in size, quality, price, etc. to suit buyers. Full descriptive lists sent free to any address. Prices from $10 to $100 per acre. A sample farm, medium price: That of Mr. A. J. Dearing, near Palmyra, (Marion Co.) 316 acres, all fenced, fine upland prairie and timber; perfectly healthful, (no malaria) 223 acres in cultivation, 85 timber, 175 choice clover and timothy meadow, a small residence, spring of abundant sparkling, pure water, fine limestone quarry; an excellent farm for wheat, corn, oats, grasses, fruits (to perfection) all kinds; admirably adapted to stock raising—cattle, mules and sheep; rental last year $325; in a community thoroughly refined and intelligent; good schools; churches, post office, within two miles. Price $20 per acre, part cash and remainder at long time at lowest current rate of interest. Railway fare of purchaser to Palmyra and return will allowed as part of cash payment. Title guaranteed perfect. Send for a full descriptive catalogue of all farms, free. Also money securely loaned upon best real estate, and desirable investments made for Eastern parties. Titles perfect, abstracts furnished. Address HOMER H. WINCHELL, real estate agent, Palmyra, Missouri.

Refers by permission to His Excellency, Thos. T. Crittenden, governor of Missouri; Hon M. K. McGrath, Secretary of State, Jefferson City, Mo; Hon F M Cockrell, and Hon G G Vest, United States Senators from Mo.; and to the attorneys, banks and business men of Northeast Missouri.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE BEST Family Magazine Two Dollars.

DEMOREST'S Illustrated MONTHLY.

Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters. Send Twenty Cents for a Specimen Copy to W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 17 East Fourteenth Street, New York.

[illegible] Volume (19) commences [illegible]

THE FULTON TIMES

Wednesday, Dec. 20, 1882.

A G. A. R. Story.

"There was" said a comrade, "down somewhere in Tennessee a desperate fight in which a Colonel very largely distinguished himself, and, as a result of such distinguishment, had most of the top of his head shot off. He was carried to the rear, and the surgeon in charge of the field hospital, seeing that it was a serious case, applied heroic treatment. He scooped out the brains and proceeded to wash them in an army bucket.

While this was going on a message came from the commanding General saying that the wounded Colonel had been promited to brigadier for gallantry on the field, and requesting him to report at the front at once. With the top of his head in the bucket, the Colonel, mounted his horse and prepared to obey the order.

Thereupon the surgeon hallooed.

"'Here, you have forgotten your brains.'"

"'What of that?' said the late Colonel, as he cast a glance of pity toward the man with whole heads about him. 'What need have I of brains? I'm a Brigadier now.'"

Young ladies nowdays change color only twice a day—in the morning, when they put it on, and at night, when they take it off.—Buffalo News.

☞ The most brilliant shades possible, on all fabrics are made by the Diamond Dyes. Unequaled for brilliancy and durability. 10 cts.

The Wrong Rope.

A newly married pair who arrived on their honeymoon trip at a celebrated Scotch watering place when accommodation was at a premium, had a mattress spread for them by the compasionate inn-keeper in one of his bath rooms. In the middle of the night the house was alarmed by loud shrieks proceeding from the nuptial chamber. What was the matter? Well this: The young bride, wishing to ring for a servant, had caught hold of what she supposed to be a bell rope and pulled it sharply. Unhappily for her and her spouse, it was the cord of the shower bath over their heads, and forthwith down plunged such a deluge of cold water as would throw a dampener upon the most devoted honeymoon couples. Her husband, in dismay, caught frantically at another cord on his side the extemporized couch, but the only response was an equally liberal deluge of water, this time nearly boiling hot. The unhappy pair then screamed in unison. When the servants came they found the floor of the room literally flooded with water and she was perched like a monkey on her husband's back, uttering the most lamentable cries, while her good man was fumbling about in the dark trying his best to find the door.

WELL AS EVER.

Lottie Howard writes from Buffalo, N. Y., "My system became greatly debilitated through arduous professional duties. Suffered from nausea, sick headache and biliousness. Tried Burdock Blood Bitters with the most beneficial effect. Am well as ever."

Twelve Rules for Dunning.

1. Never give the idea that you call because you happened to be in the neighborhood.

2. Never plead that you are in absolute need of the money.

3. Never explain why you want the money further than by some general phrase, as to meet outstanding bills. The debtor is usually an expert in showing a man how he can get along without money. He will worst you in argument, and if you should lose your temper it is an excuse to him why he should not pay.

4. Always be civil, however businesslike and importunate you may deem it necessary to be.

5. Never think you have done wrong because a debtor gets angry. His anger, under civil treatment, shows that he does not intend to pay. This you might as well know early as late.

6. Show quite as firm a resolution to get the money on your tenth call as on any previous one, or else it would have been better if you had not made it.

7. Never leave a debtor without his setting a time when he thinks he can pay, and never fail to be on hand at the time set.

8. As between yourself and an employe let the most business-like of two make the dun.

9. Suggest installments. Shame the debtor into making an arrangement to pay something every week or every month. If not $10 then $5, or $3, or $1. It will convince him that you have set to work in earnest to get the money.

10. If a debtor gets angry, or has worn out your patience, a threat to attach his wages may be effective, not so much that he is likely to fear you will get the money that way, as that he will be anxious that the affair shall not come to the knowledge of his employer.

11. A similar effect may be produced by saying you intend to place the bill in the hands of a lawyer, particularly if you mention a lawyer whom he hates, or who has a reputation for harrassing debtors. Professional debtors, however, become careless about legal processes.

12. Drop into a debtor's favorite haunts. It will make him very uneasy, especially if you don't hesitate to ask him politely, but plumply, for your money on occasion. This may often happen after he has displayed a roll of bills. [Old Collector, in N.-Y. Sun.

THE PERPETUITY OF FAME.

As the name of the immortal Washington has been most sacredly perpetuated as that of a hero and statesman, so also has the fame of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases descended into perpetuity as the only reliable remedy in the market for every character of skin disorders, and as the reward of well-deserving merit. Worth and merit go hand in hand. It is useless to contradict the worth of this article. 39w4

—The Mormons have been thirty years building a granite temple in Salt Lake City and it will take at least ten more to finish the work. [illegible] carried to completion, which is [illegible]

[illegible] of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to [illegible] cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by druggists. Price $1, or six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

CHOICE ARTISTIC POTTERY.

CROCKERY, CHINA, GLASS, FINE SILVER PLATED WARE, WILLOW, WOODEN, TIN WARES, CLOCKS, PICTURE FRAMES, MIRRORS, WALNUT BRACKETS, LAMPS, CHANDELIERS AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SELLING THE LOWEST AT McCARTHY'S CHINA HALL OSWEGO, N. Y. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES. ONE PRICE AND THAT CASH.

The people of Fulton and surrounding country can find a complete assortment of goods at McCarthy's china hall and silver ware stores in Oswego and Phoenix, to select from at prices that cannot be reached elsewhere. My present facilities for importing crockery and buying domestic goods in my line direct from the manufacturers in larger quantities than heretofore and consequently at lower prices and my present system for selling goods both at wholesale and retail for cash in hand, therefore avoiding the necessity of charging those who pay cash for their goods for goods sold on credit to those who do not pay at all by more expense and personal attention in collecting the bills than is incurred in selling the goods enable me to positively assure the public that I can and do sell lower than you can buy elsewhere, in or out of town or county. In proof of this assertion you are invited to look through my stock, examine goods and see prices for yourselves. All goods promptly delivered in Fulton and any errors or changes cheerfully corrected. Also can now attend to any matchings desired for broken setts of decorated or china ware, lamp or other goods.

OUR BARGAIN DEPARTMENT

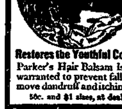
contains every thing in the line of common crockeryware, missmatched glass, lamps, etc., that we are selling at less than one-half price as you will readily see by the few prices mentioned:

1,600 doz. indiv'ual butters,	12c	per doz.
1,000 doz breakfast plates,	50	" "
Tea cups and saucers,	34	" sett.
1,000 bronze lamps complete	61	each
Hand lamps, brass or glass,	11	"

Chandeliers selling very low and all goods in this department at special bargains. Great holiday opening on December 1st.

I am your obedient servant,
JAMES McCARTHY.

Oswego, Oct. 18, 1882.



PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. HISCOX & Co., N.Y.

50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves, PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier

And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE.

DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lame Back, Sprains and Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Headache, and all pains and aches.

The best internal and external remedy in the world. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Directions in eight languages.

Price 50 cents and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs,
BUFFALO, N. Y., U. S. A.

Some interesting and extraordinary data have just been compiled respecting the Mississippi. It appears that it boasts no fewer than 55 tributary streams with a total length of navigation of 16,571 miles or about two-thirds of the distance around the world. Even this, however, represents but a small amount of the navigation which will follow when the Federal Government has made the contemplated improvement in the Upper Mississippi, in the Minnesota, Wisconsin and other rivers, in which it is now engaged. But while the Mississippi has 16,571 miles navigable to steamboats, it has 20,221 miles navigable to barges. This navigation is divided between 22 states and territories.

"FIRE HIM OUT."

This is a common remark when roughs and rowdys insult public decency by their unseemly ways. Dyspepsia is a horrible bore. Fire it out with Burdock Blood Bitters. You can do it.

Railroad Sociability.

"Speaking about the sociability of railroad travellers," said the man with the crutches and a watch pocket over his eye, "I never got so well acquainted with the passengers on a train, as I did the other day on the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. We were going at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, and another train from the other direction telescoped us. We were all thrown into each other's society and brought into immediate social contact, so to speak.

"I went over and sat in the lap of a corpulent lady from Manitoba, and a girl from Chicago jumped over nine seats and sat down on the plug hat of a preacher from La Crosse, with so much timid, girlish enthusiasm, that it shoved his hat clear down over his shoulders.

"Everybody seemed to lay aside the usual cool reserve of strangers, and we made ourselves entirely at home.

"A shy young man with an emaciated oil cloth valise, left his seat and went over and sat down in a lunch basket where a bridal couple seemed to be wrestling with their first picnic. Do you suppose that reticent young man would have done such a thing on ordinary occasions? Do you think if he had been at a celebration at home that he would have risen impetuously, and gone where those people were eating by themselves and sat down in the cranberry jelly of a total stranger?

"I should think not.

"Why, one man, who probably led the class meeting, and who was as dignified as Roscoe Conkling's father, was eating a piece of custard pie when we met the other train, and he left his own seat and went over to the other end of the car and shot that piece of custard pie into the ear of a beautiful widow from Iowa.

"People traveling somehow forget the austerity of their home lives, and form acquaintances that sometimes last through life." [Laramie Boomerang.

THE MAN WHO TALKS MUCH.

We want to say a word to you who make a living with your tongue. You certainly must have a clear, strong voice to engage your listeners. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for sore throat, colds, and hoarseness is unexcelled. Use and admire.

How The German Boy is Taught.

From the hour of his birth until he has reached the mature age of six years he is under the constant supervision of his parents or his nurse. He plays as children play all the world over, but his games and pastimes are not rough. From the moment his sensitive mind is capable of being trained he learns obedience and politeness. He is not four years old ere he will bid a stranger good day or good evening, raising his little hat making his little bow at the same time. Between four and six he is allowed to mingle freely with the children of the neighborhood, but his play ground is always circumscribed according to the size of the garden in the rear of the block. At six the law compels his parents to send him to school.

From that time on he is a person of responsibility, for his lessons must not be neglected under any circumstances, unless his health proves to be unequal to the tasks. His school hours for the first year are not long, but he must be in his place promptly at eight o'clock in the morning and remain until ten, and at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, remaining until 2:30. Then he brings home his lessons for the morrow, which with the assistance of his parents, he must be prepared to answer for on the next day. The second year of his school life is a little more severe. The schools open at six in the summer and seven in the winter and long before children of his age are awakened in America, the streets are full of little ones hurrying to the different schools. This early class is dismissed at eight and nine o'clock, and the children are then expected to assist their mothers, or as is more frequently the case, from ten years of age upward, they go to the great factories or work shops where they are apprenticed, and learn a trade. Indeed, the school hours are fixed thus early in order that the children may not only receive an education but also learn how to make a living and help their parents to keep the wolf from the door.

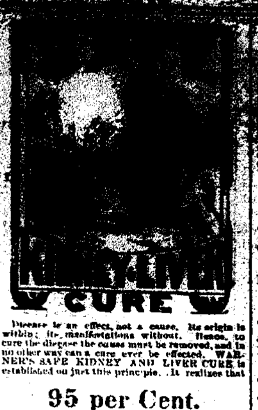
HOW TO READ

your doctor's prescriptions. Send two 3 cent stamps to pay postage and receive Dr. Kauffman's great treatise on diseases; illustrated in colors; it gives their signs and abbreviations. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass. 31t2

Strange as it may appear, no one turned up at Philadelphia during the Penn celebration who remembered William Cin. Sat. Night. Nothing strange about that. People are very seldom inclined to remember Bill.

"I think that speech ought to be arrested,' said Aminadab as X. was sawing the air with a political harangue. "Why so?" inquired Deacon Gilpin. "On the charge of being a vague rant," was the boy's timely answer.

Two hundred thousand people are asked to contribute a nickle apiece to build a church in Texas. It should be called the Church of St. Nickel-us, and [illegible] it is to be hoped the old [illegible] to do in Texas.



Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 per Cent.

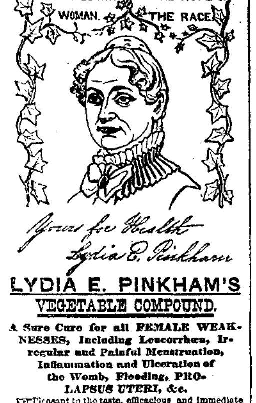
For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.



WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S
VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhœa, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

☞ Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

☞ FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

☞ KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the Blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

☞ Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

☞ LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

☞ Sold by all Druggists. ☜ (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

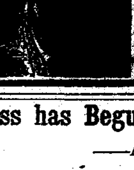
LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without Handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal they will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

POOLER & WILSON
9m6



PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness. 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists.

Floreston COLOGNE

A delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume with exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

Business has Begun in Good Earnest

—AT—

GEO. JOHNSTON'S,

ONEIDA STREET

Stove and Tinware

ESTABLISHMENT.

—:o:—

Our Stock of

Stoves, Tinware, and Household Hardware,

is unsurpassed. Our Facilities for

Roofing and Jobbing,

are second to none in the county.

[illegible] stamp. 18t1

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

[illegible] in the county. Also

Pine, Cedar & Hemlock

SHINGLES,

Lath, Pickets, Eave Troughs.

AND DRAIN TILE.

All will be sold at very reasonable rates. Call before buying elsewhere. 49tf

BROWN McALLISTER & CO.

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

*Nos*431 to 439 West 14th Street,

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND MAINE.

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN McALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

Fresh Oysters,

RECEIVED DAILY FROM THE BEDS, AT

ELDER'S

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 5 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

☞ Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to. 36tf

LEGAL.

Court Notices

I HEREBY order and appoint the following Terms of Oswego County Court [illegible] Oswego County [illegible] and there will be no Grand Jury during the year for the Court of Sessions.

[illegible] Feb. 19th, Court House, Pulaski.
May 2nd, " " Oswego.
Sep. 19th, " " Pulaski.
Dec. 5th, " " Oswego.

I order and direct this order and appointment to be published once a week for four successive weeks in the following newspapers: The State [illegible] Albany, The Oswego Daily Times, The Oswego Daily Palladium, The Oswego Morning Express, The Fulton Patriot and Gazette, The Fulton Times, The Phœnix Register, The Central Square News, The Lake-side Press, The Oswego County [illegible] and Pulaski Mirror, The Mexico Independent, The Pulaski Democrat, The Sandy Creek News and The Hannibal News and Reveille.

Dated Dec. 21, 1881.

N. W. NUTTING,
Oswego County Judge.

4w

INSURANCE

C. H. DAVID'S

INSURANCE AGENCY!

CONNT.NENTAL INS. COMPANY.

New York Safety Fund.

New York	Assets over $4,000,000

HANOVER INSURANCE COMPANY,

New York,	Assets, over $2,400,061.94

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Assets over $2,089,586.19

WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

NEW YORK.	Assets over $4,900,000.00

Each company with large surplus.

MANUFACTURERS' FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF BOSTON, MASS.

Assets, $1,271,760.36,

C. H. DAVID, Agent,
Fulton, N. Y.

46

—Insure With—

C. W. STREETER.

The following Old and Reliable Companies Represented:

ÆTNA	of	HARTFORD.
PHŒNIX	"	do
CONNECTICUT	"	"
FIRE ASSOCIATION	of	PHILADELPHIA
NIAGARA	"	NEW YORK
Liverpool, London and Globe	of	ENGLAND
COMMERCIAL UNION	of	"
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN		"
LONDON and LANCASHIRE		"
HAMBURG, BREMEN	of	GERMANY.

Office Cor. Second and Oneida Streets,
Fulton N. Y.

PAPER HANGINGS!

—FOR THE—

SPRING TRADE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

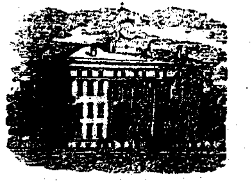
In Great Variety and at Low Prices a the Book Store of

C. S. EGGLESTON.

44

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co, N. Y.



Falley Seminary

EXPENSES PER TERM, THIRTEEN WEEKS

Board and Tuition	44 00
Board and Tuition (short week)	36 00

Other branches at Moderate Rates.

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

Next term of 13 weeks begins on Monday Dec. 4th. The branches taught will be those usually taught in a first class boarding school. There will be a corps of well qualified teachers so as to give the best instruction. Common and Higher English Bookkeeping, Classics, French, German and Music will form part of the course. Five day boarders at special rates.

☞ The school is designed for those wishing to make rapid progress in their classes. To this end the classes are small, so that each pupil may have individual attention. No student is required to wait on another but passes from one class to another as as soon as qualified. Small schools, select in their character, are a great advantage to timid and backward pupils. The charges are low for the advantages offered. Boarders are received into the family of the Principal at moderate charges. Apply to

REV. JAS. GILMOUR, A. M.
PRINCIPAL.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER.

—NOVELTY MILLS.—

Custom Grinding,

—AT THE—

NOVELTY MILLS,

is always satisfactorily and expeditiously done.

Handy for Farmers and plenty of room.

FLOUR, MEAL, GRAHAM,

and Feed of all kinds always in stock,

Mill East of Dilts' Foundry.

PATTERSON & SMITH.

THE FULTON TIMES.

TERMS—$1.25 A YEAR IN ADVANCE | SINGLE COPIES THREE CENTS.

FIFTEENTH YEAR. | FULTON, OSWEGO CO., N. Y., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1882. | VOLUME 15—NUMBER 32

THE FULTON TIMES.

IS ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

Office: Second Floor, Saunderson Block, First Street—Opposite Lewis House.

W. C. WHEELER & CO.,
Proprietors.

W. C. WHEELER Editor.

TERMS:—One Dollar Twenty-five Cents a Year in Advance. An additional charge of 10 cents for postage on papers going out of Oswego county.

☞ Correspondence must be accompanied by a responsible name as a private guarantee of good faith.

☞ Terms of Advertising made known on application in person or by letter.

Job Printing of all kinds attended to promptly and prices reasonable.

Entered in the Post Office at Fulton, N. Y., as second-class matter.

The Old Cottage Clock.

Oh! the old, old clock of the household stock
  Was the brightest thing and the neatest;
It hands, though old, had a touch of gold,
  And its chime rang still the sweetest.
'Twas a monitor, though its words were few,
  Yet they lived though nations altered;
And its voice, still strong warned old and young,
  When the voice of friendship faltered;
"Tick, tick," it said—"quick, quick to bed—
  For nine I've given warning;
Up, up and go, or else you know,
  You'll never rise soon in the morning."

A friendly voice was that old, old clock,
  As it stood in the corner smiling,
And blessed the time, with a merry chime,
  The wintry hours beguiling;
But a cross old voice was that tiresome clock,
  As it called at daybreak boldly,
When the dawn looked gray on the misty way,
  And the early air blew coldly;
"Tick, tick," it said—"quick, out of bed—
  For five I've given warning;
You'll never have health, you'll never get wealth,
  Unless you're up soon in the morning."

Still hourly the sound goes round and round,
  With a tone that ceases never,
While tears are shed for the bright days fled,
  And the old friends lost forever;
It's heart beats on, though hearts are gone
  That warmer beat and younger;
Its hands still move, though hands we love
  Are clasped on earth no longer!
"Tick, tick," it said to the church-yard bed—
  The grave hath given warning—
Up, up and rise, and look to the skies,
  And prepare for a heavenly morning."

In the New York Herald we lately observed mention of the speedy cure of Thaddeus Davids, Esq., of the great ink firm, 127 William street, New York, of rheumatic gout by St. Jacobs Oil.
[St. Paul (Minn.)-Pioneer Press.

A DANISH STORY.

On the Northwest of the isle of Zealand stretches a small peninsular district, fertile and subdued by hamlets, and connected with the main land by a narrow strip of sandy waste. Beyond the only town which this little peninsula possesses the land runs into the restless waves of the Cattegat, and presents an awfully wild and sterile appearance. The livid sands have here obliterated every trace of vegetation: and the storms which blow from all points of the wild ocean are constantly operating a change upon the fluctuating surface of the desert whose hills of sand rise and disappear with constant alternation, restless as the waves which roll around them. In travelling through this country I spent upwards of an hour in this district and never shall I forget the impression which the scene made upon my mind.

While riding along through the desolate region—a thunder storm broke over the ocean toward the north—the waves roared, the clouds were driven along before the wind, the sky grew every instant more gloomy, "menacing both earth and sea," the sand began to move in increasing masses under my horse's feet, a whirlwind arose and filled the atmosphere with dust, traces of the path became invisible, my horse floundered deeper and deeper in the sand, while sky, earth and ocean seemed mingled and blended together, every object became enveloped in a cloud of dust and vapor. I could not discern the slightest traces of vegetation; the storm howled above me; the waves of the sea lashed mournfully against the shore; the thunder rolled in the distance, and scarcely could the lurid lightning flash pierce the heavy cloud of sand which whirled around me, my danger was evident and extreme, when a sudden shower of rain laid the sand and enabled me to push my way to the little town. The storm I had just encountered was a horrid mingling of all elements. An earthquake has been described as the sigh which troubled Nature heaves from the depth of her bosom; perhaps not more fancifully this chaotic tempest might have typified the confusion of a wildly distracted mind to which pleasure and hope itself have been strangers—the cheerless desert of the past revealing only remorse and grief—the voice of conscience threatening like the thunder, while awful anticipations shed their lurid light over the dark spirit—till at last the long dried up sources of tears open a way to their powerful floods and bury the anguish of the distracted soul beneath their waves.

In this desolate country lay, in the former times, a village called Roerwig, about a mile distant from the shore. The moving sands have buried the village, and the inhabitants—mostly shepherds and fishermen—have removed their cottages close to the shore. A simple solitary building, the village church, which is situated upon a hill, yet rears its head above the cheerless drifting desert. The church was the scene of the following mysterious transaction.

In the early part of last century the venerable curé of Roerwig was one night [illegible] minister the last holy offices of religion to some one of his parishioners on the point of death, when two foreigners wrapped in white cloaks stepped hastily into the room. One of them approached him with politeness.

"Sir," said he, "you will have the goodness to follow us instantly. You must perform a marriage ceremony; the bride and bridegroom are already awaiting your arrival at the church. This sum," continued the stranger—exhibiting to the old man a purse full of gold—"will sufficiently recompense you for the trouble and alarm our sudden demand has given you."

The cure stared in mute terror upon the strangers, who seemed to have something fearful, almost ghastly, in their looks; the demand was repeated in an earnest and authorative tone. When the old man recovered from the first surprise he began mildly to represent that his duty did not allow him to perform so solemn an action without some knowledge of the parties, and the intervention of those formalities required by law. The other stranger hereupon stepped forward in a menacing attitude. "Sir," said he, "take your choice: follow us, and take the sum we offer you, or remain and the bullet goes through your head." He leveled the pistol at the forehead of the venerable man and awaited his answer; whereupon the latter rose, dressed himself, and informed his visitors—who had hitherto spoken Danish, but with a foreign accent—that he was ready to accompany them.

The mysterious strangers now proceeded silently through the village, followed by the clergyman. It was a dark autumn night, the moon having already set; but when they emerged from the village, the old man perceived with terror and astonishment that the distant church was all illuminated. Meanwhile his companions wrapped in their white cloaks, stepped hastily on before him through the barren sandy plain. On reaching the church they bound up his eyes; a side door opened with a crackling noise, and he felt himself violently pushed into a crowd of people; all around him he found a murmuring of voices, and near him a conversation carried on in an unknown tongue, but which he thought was Russian. As he stood blindfolded, helpless, pressed from every side, and in the utmost confusion, he felt himself seized upon by a man's hand and drawn violently through the crowd. At last it seemed to him as if the people fell back, the bandages were loosened and he found himself standing with one of the two strangers before the altar. A row of large lighted tapers, in magnificent candlesticks, adorned the altar, and the church was splendidly illuminated by a profusion of candles. If before, while standing blindfolded, the murmur of the surrounding crowd had filled him with consternation, not less amazed was he now at the unbroken silence which reigned through the church; the side passages and all the seats were crowded to excess but the middle passage was quite clear, and he perceived in it a newly opened grave, and the stone which covered it leaning against a bench; around him he only saw male figures, but on one of the distant benches he thought he indistinctly perceived a female form. The silence lasted for some minutes during which not a motion could be seen in that vast multitude. Thus, when a spirit is bent on deeds of darkness, a silent, gloomy brooding of soul often precedes the horrid action.

At last a man whose magnificent dress distinguished him from all the rest and bespoke his evident rank, rose and walked hastily up the empty passage; as he passed along, his steps resounded through the building, and every eye was turned upon him; he appeared to be of middle stature, with broad shoulders and strong limbs; his gait was commanding, his complexion of a yellowish brown, and his hair raven black; his features were severe and his lips compressed as if in wrath; a bold aquiline nose heightened the haughty appearrnce of his countenance; and dark shaggy eyebrows lowered over his fiery eyes. He wore a green coat with golden braids and a glittering star. The bride who now kneeled beside him was magnificently dressed. A sky blue robe richly trimmed with silver, enveloped her slender limbs, and floated in large folds over her graceful form; a diadem sparkling with diamonds adorned her fair hair; the utmost loveliness and beauty might be traced in her features, although despair now expressed itself in them; her cheeks were pale as those of a corpse—her features unanimated—her lips were blanched—her eyes dimmed and her powerless arms hung motionless beside her almost lifeless form. As she knelt before the altar the picture of death itself, terror seemed to have wrapped her consciousness as well as her vital powers in a fortunate slumber.

The cure now discovered near him an old, ugly hag, in a patriarchal dress, her head covered with a blood red turban, who stood gazing with an expression of fury and mockery on the kneeling bride; and behind the bridegroom he noticed a man of gigantic size and a gloomy appearance, whose eyes were fixed immovably on the ground.

Horror struck the priest stood mute for some time; till a thrilling look from the bridegroom reminded him of the ceremony he had been called to perform. [illegible] conjecture that his language was almost unknown to either of them. On putting the question, "Neander, wilt thou take this woman for your wedded wife?" he doubted whether he should receive any answer, but to his astonishment the bridegroom answered in the affirmative with a loud and almost screaming voice which rung throughout the whole church, while deep sighs from the whole of the congregation accompanied the awful "yes," a silent quivering like the reflection of a flash of distant lightning, threw a transitory motion over the death pale features of the bride. The priest turned to her, speaking louder to rouse her from her trance: "Feodora, wilt thou have this man for thy wedded husband?" The lifeless form before him at this question seemed to awake, a deep convulsive throb of terror trembled on her cheeks, her pale lips quivered, a passing gleam of fire shone in her eyes, her breast heaved, a violent gush of tears flooded the brilliance of her eyes and the "yes" was heard pronounced like the scream of anguish uttered by a dying person, and seemed to find a deep echo in the sounds of grief which burst from the surrounding multitude. The bride sank into the arms of the horrid old hag; some minutes passed in awful silence; the pale corpse like female then kneeled again, as if in a deep trance, and the ceremony was finished. The bridegroom now rose and led the trembling bride to her former seat, followed by the tall man and the old woman; the two strangers then appeared again and having bound the priest's eyes, drew him with violence through the crowd and pushed him out at the door which they then bolted within.

For some minutes he stood endeavoring to recollect himself and uncertain whether the horrid scene, with all its ghastly attendant circumstances, might not have been a dream but when he had torn the bandage from his eyes, and heard the murmurings of the crowd and saw the illuminated church before him, he was forced to believe its reality. To learn the issue he hid himelf in the corner of the building, and while listening here he heard the murmuring within grow louder and louder—then it seemed as if a fierce altercation arose, in which he thought he could recognise the rough voice of the bridegroom commanding silence, a long pause followed, a shot fell, the shriek of a female voice was heard, which was succeeded by another pause, then followed a sound of labor which lasted a quarter of an hour, the candles were extinguished, the door flung open, and a multitude of persons rushed out of the church and ran toward the sea.

The old priest now arose from his hiding place and hastened back to the village where he awoke his neigbors and related to them his marvellous adventure; but everything which had hitherto happened among that simple people had been so calm and tranquil, so much measured by the laws of daily routine that they were seized with a very different terror, they believed that some unfortunate accident had deranged his intellect, and it was not without difficulty that he prevailed on some of them to follow them to the church, provided with picks and spades.

Meanwhile the morning had dawned, the sun arose and when the priest and his companions ascended the hill toward the church, they saw a man of war standing off from the shore under full sail toward the north. So surprising a sight in this remote district made his companions already hesitate to reject his story as improbable, and still more were they inclined to listen to him when they saw that the side door of the church had been burst violently open. They entered full of expectation and the priest showed them to the grave which he had opened in the night time; it was easily conceived that the stone had been lifted up and replaced again; they put their implements in motion and soon came to a new, richly adorned coffin; the old man descended with almost youthful impatience into the grave, and others followed him, the cover was taken off, and the priest found all his forebodings confirmed. In the coffin lay the murdered bride—a bullet had pierced her right breast to the heart—the magnificent diadem she had worn had disappeared; but the distracted expression of deep grief had vanished from her countenance, and a heavenly calm seemed to spread over her features as she lay there like an angel. The old man threw himself upon the coffin and wept and prayed aloud for the soul of the murdered, while mute astonishment and horror seized his companions.

The clergyman found himself obliged to make this event instantly known, with all the circumstances, to his superior, the Bishop of Zealand; meanwhile until he got further instructions from Copenhagen, he bound all his friends to secrecy by an oath. Shortly afterward a person of high rank suddenly arrived from the capital; he inquired into all the circumstances, visited the grave, commended the silence which had been hitherto observed, and stated that the whole event must forever remain a secret, threatening at the same time with a severe punishment any person who should dare to speak of it.

After the death of the priest a writing was found in the parochial register narrating this event. Some believed that it might have some secret connection with the violent political changes which occurred in Russia after the death of [illegible]

A Story About 'Home Sweet Home.'

John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," was a warm personal friend of John Ross, who will be remembered as the celebrated chief of the Cherokees. At the time the Cherokees were removed from their home in Georgia to their present possessions west of the Mississippi river, Payne was spending a few weeks in Georgia with Ross, who was occupying a miserable cabin, having been forcibly ejected from his former home. A number of the Cherokees were in prison and that portion of Georgia in which the tribe was located was scoured by armed squads of the Georgia militia, who had orders to arrest all who refused to leave the country. While Ross and Payne were seated before the fire in the hut, the door was suddenly burst open and six or eight militia men sprang into the room. The soldiers lost no time in taking their prisoners away. Ross was permitted to ride his own horse, while Payne was mounted on one led by a soldier. As the little party left the hovel rain began falling, and continued until every man was drenched thoroughly. The journey lasted all night. Toward midnight Payne's escort, in order to keep himself awake, began humming: "Home, home, sweet, sweet home," when Payne remarked:

"Little did I expect to hear that song under such circumstances and at such a time. Do you know the author?"

"No," said the soldier. "Do you?"

"Yes," answered Payne. "I composed it."

"The devil you did. You can tell that to some fellows, but not to me. Look here. You made that song, you say. If you did—and I know you didn't—you can say it all without stopping. It has something in it about pleasures and palaces. Now pitch in and reel it off, and if you can't I'll bounce you from your horse and lead you instead of it."

The threat was answered by Payne, who repeated the song in a slow, subdued tone, and then sang it, making the old woods ring with the tender melody and pathos of the words. It touched the heart of the rough soldier, who was not only captivated but convinced, and who said the composer of such a song should never go to prison if he could help it. And when the party reached Milledgeville they were, after a preliminary examination, discharged, much to their surprise. Payne insisted it was because the leader of the squad had been under the magnetic influence of Ross's conversation, and Ross insisted that they had been saved from insult and imprisonment by the power of 'Home, Sweet Home," sung as only those who feel can sing it. The friendship existing beween Ross and Payne endured until the grave closed over the mortal remains of the latter.

☞"Feathers, ribbons, velvet can all be colored to match that new hat by using the Diamond Dyes. 10 cents for any color.

Detected by His Mother-in-law.

A Chicago Judge riding in the cars last week, from a single glance at the countenance of a lady by his side, imagined he knew her and ventured to remark that the day was pleasant. She only answered:

"Yes."

"Why do you wear a vail?"

"Lest I attract attention."

"It is the province of a gentleman to admire," replied the gallant man of law.

"Not when they are married."

"But I am not."

"Indeed?"

"Oh, no; I'm a bachelor."

Then the lady quietly removed her veil, disclosing to the astonished magistrate the sace of his mother-in-law.

He has been a raving maniac ever since.

,"Keep to your place and your place will keep you." But you cannot expect to keep your place without health, the foundation of all success. For instance, a railroad engineer in the employ of the C. M. & St. Paul R. R. had been grievously affected with diabetes for six years. He took four boxes of Kidney-Wort and now writes that he is entirely cured and working regularly.

Sweetly Dreaming.

W. J. Baker, of Syracuse, had a dream on the night of November 20, in which he saw ear corn quoted on a blackboard at 48½ cents, and was told to sell short what he was then holding long. He was also informed that 48½ was the lowest figure ear corn would reach this year. He advised his friends the next day to sell, which they did. December 18, the board showed 39½ cents, and Mr. Baker, relying somewhat on his dream, bought corn. It now stands in Syracuse 52½. Mr. Baker had a similar experience while teaching school near Rome. The place where a pair of spectacles which had been lost could be found was revealed to him, and he found them just as it had been shown to him in the dream. He related his dream to the owner of the spectacles before he looked for them, and the owner was with him when he pulled them out of a snow bank where they were covered up.

A FINE HIT.

When the proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters put this renowned medicine on the market they hit it exactly. They hit dyspepsia, indigestion, and liver and kidney complaints a hard blow from which they will never recover.

If a two-wheeled wagon is a bicycle and a three-wheeled wagon is a tricycle, what would you call a five-wheeled one?—George. A V-hicle, of course.

"AN ODD STREET SCENE."

[illegible]

Fashion Notes.

Long Jersey gloves of finest wool are highly favored.

A new shade of velvet is called "Night of France blue."

Jersey basques are worn with skirts box-plaited from the knee to the edge of the skirt.

For plain cloth dresses made at home, Hercules braid two inches wide is the trimming.

Seal dolmans for this winter are very long; the garniture is a border of Russian sable, beaver, or other fur.

There is an attempt to restore flowers to favor as a garniture for bonnets instead of the feathers that have so long been in favor.

Spanish laces are made up into box-plaited ruches to wear at the throat, and continued down the front of the dress to the waist.

Soft round felt hats, with Alpine crown and narrow brim, are trimmed with cock's feathers, a small head of the same fowl, and folds of velvet the color of the felt.

Embroidery and braiding are becoming more and more fashionable for trimming dresses, as thick cloth and other woolens succeeding the lighter stuffs of the autumn season.

The new silks of the season have many distinctive features. They have corded ground, with large and decided checks thrown upon them; and checks are greatly used in velvets as well as in silks.

Among the pretty new styles for morning wear are jackets of velvet or lace over satin or silk. They are cut square in the neck and have elbow sleeves. If in velvet they are cut with points in front; if in lace, they are cut with paniers down to the back and held with loops of ribbon and lace.

[Rome Sentinel

AN EXPLANATION.

No one medicine will cure everything, but it is an incontestible fact that Thomas' Eclectric Oil will cure a sprain, a bruise, a bite, or an ache, an is also an active and pronounced cure for neuralgia, and rheumatism.

Tom Thumb is a Knight Templer. He is the shortest Knight in the world—shorter even than the night of the 21st of June.

"Yes," said Mrs. McGill, "the fall is the time to rake up all the refuge in your yards, and not let it lay until spring and be discomposed."

"I want a little change" said Mrs. R. to her husband. "Well," was the heartless response, "just wait for it. Time brings changes to everybody."

The earth is said to have two motions. But to a drunken man coming home at eleven o'clock at night it doubtless has more than two-hundred.

[Detroit Free Press.

A Johnstown man lost his pocketbook containing $1,500, and rewarded the honest finders with the munificent sum of one dollar. The finders feel very grateful over the fact that they were not charged interest on the money while the pocketbook was in their possession.

FIRST REVIVED AND THEN CURED.

"Was troubled for a year with torpid liver and indigestion, and after trying everything imaginable used Burdock Blood Bitters. The first bottle revived me and the second cured me entirely. J. S. Williamson, Rochester, N. Y.

The egg traffic in this country amounts to 75,000,000 per annum. Something worth cackling about and crowing over, only the mischief is that when a hen lays one little egg she makes noise enough about it to warrant a concurrence in her evident belief that she has deposited the entire $75,000,000 worth all at once.

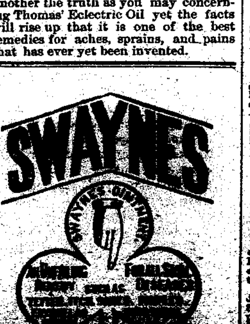
[Boston Transcript.

The Troy Standard says: The destruction of the great North woods—a shameful piece of vandalism—is soon to begin on a gigantic scale. One or two individuals have brought up 70 miles of the great forest, sometimes spoken of as John Brown's track, for the purpose of burning it over to feed charcoal pits. The State might easily have prevented this.

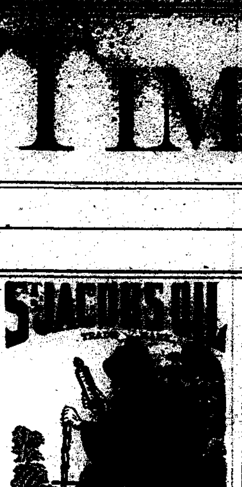
"Maw," drawled a love-sick society maiden, who was summering at Lake George; "maw, I would like to spend a few weeks in Egypt." "Why, my dear girl," replied her mother, "what put such a silly idea in your head?" "Well the reason I want to go is because the papers state there are so many nice fellahs in that vicinity, and you know very well there are none here."

TRUTH CRUSHED TO EARTH

Is bound to rise. Crowd down and smother the truth as you may concerning Thomas' Eclectric Oil yet the facts will rise up that it is one of the best remedies for aches, sprains, and pains that has ever yet been invented.



ST. JACOBS OIL



THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains,

Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

KIDNEY-WORT

IS A SURE CURE

for all diseases of the Kidneys and

LIVER

It has specific action on this most important organ, enabling it to throw off torpidity and inaction, stimulating the healthy secretion of the Bile, and by keeping the bowels in free condition, effecting its regular discharge.

Malaria. If you are suffering from malaria, have the chills, are bilious, dyspeptic, or constipated, Kidney-Wort will surely relieve and quickly cure.

In the Spring to cleanse the System, every one should take a thorough course of it.

41- SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Price $1.

KIDNEY-WORT

Fulton Business Cards

FR. KENYON JONES, Organist and Pianist, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM C. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenter and Jobber.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. Stair-work and office-work a specialty. Shop and residence No. 4 Buffalo street.

Dentists.

I. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over post office. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 85

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 38

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phœnix, N. Y. The Celebrated Electro Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of agricultural implements, First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MORRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers, First Street, over Eggleston's Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at fair prices.

W. C. WHEELER Book and Job Printer, Oneida street. All kinds of commercial, law and full sheet poster printing. Prices low and satisfaction given.

Livery and Sale Stable.

H. W. SUMMERVILLE, Livery, Boarding and Sale Stables. Private sales of horses, carriages, cutters, etc. No. 40 and 42 First street.

Physicians and Surgeons.

D. PARDEE, M. D., Office and Residence No. 32 Oneida Street, Fulton. Office hours 7 to 9 a. m., 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m.

DR. W. L. WOODBURY. Office next door above Geo. L. Smith's grocery, Oneida street.
1849. 1881.

DR. N. H. HAVILAND, Homeopathic Physician. Office and residence No 34 Oneida street. Office hours—Until 9:30 a. m., and from 12 to 2, and after 7 p. m.

CHAS. R. LEE, M. D., Oculist and Aurist, 109 So Salina street, Syracuse, N. Y. Every Saturday at office, over post office, Fulton N. Y.

G. H. DENIKE, M. D., C. M., Graduate of Queens University, Kingston, Canada. Office in Townsend Block, (in rooms formerly occupied by W. J. Townsend, Esq.)

Sewing Machines.

ELI M. DERUSHA Repairs all kind of Sewing Machines and Organs; also Agent for the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. Leave orders at Bristol's, No 3 First street.

Jeweler.

C. R. NICHOLS, Jeweler and Silversmith, No. 9 First Street, Fulton, N. Y. The leading Jeweler in Fulton.

Surveyor.

G. D. BALL. Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor and Attorney At Law. Leveling for Drainage, Sewerage, Street Grading, etc., and Conveyancy. Office, Whitaker block, Oneida street. 85

Crockery and Groceries.

JAMES McDONOUGH, dealer in Groceries, Provisions and Crockery, invites an inspection of his goods and prices by the people of Fulton. First street, a few doors south of Townsend block. 10

GRAYS SPECIFIC MEDICINE.

TRADE MARK The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrea, Impotency, and all Diseases that followed as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a premature grave. TRADE MARK

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., [illegible] N. Y. Sold in Fulton by [illegible] C. W. Snow & Co., Wholesale Agents, Syracuse.

FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my farm of 110 acres in the [illegible]

F. N. BARNEY. FRED J. WEST. SYDNEY SMITH.

DRY GOODS AND MILLINERY,

Ladies AND Gents Furnshing Goods

Under The Electric Light

Every evening at

New Dry Goods House of

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH.

Tremendous Bargains in Every Department

The largest and most complete line of

Dry Goods, Dress Goods, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Plushes, Linens, Cloaks, Shawls, Dress Trimmings, Buttons, Laces, Lace Goods. Fur Trimming, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Handkerchiefs, Notions, Fancy Goods, Yarns, Worsteds, Art Embroidery, Corsets, Cotton Undergarments, Millinery Goods, and a full Line of Gents Furnishing Goods.

BARNEY, WEST & SMITH,

14 South Salina Street.

Our Low Peeris and Large Assortment Astonishes Everyone.

TO-DAY YOU WILL NEED

An Overcoat or a Heavy Suit.

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the time to look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter Suits for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is simply huge in dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric and workmanship. That our garments fit better and have more style to them than any others offered in this market has been so often and fully proved as to be town talk. Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. Let us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. BROUNSTEIN'S

ONE PRICE CLOTHING HOUSE

13 and 15 North Salina Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE,

EMENY & GRIDLEY

(Lessees Loomis Planing Mill.)

General Jobbers in Wood.

PLANING, MATCHING,
SAWING, RE-SAWING,
SCROLL SAWING,

And Wood and Lumber worked in any shape or size.

Models, Boxes, Shipping Cases etc.,

Manufactured to Order.

Estimates Given on Buildings.

Work First Class and Prices Reasonable.

Fulton Sept 6.
Geo. J. Emeny,
H. H. Gridley.

We are Receiving

LARGE QUANTITIES OF

Fresh Mined Coal

And of such Quality as to Please the most Fastideous Person.

Stove, Chestnut, No. 4 & Egg

☞ Farmers' special attention called to our facilities for loading

SCHENCK & FOSTER,

Q. RUST

LUMBER YARD

I have the Largest and Best Assortment of ROUGH AND DRESSED

DRY PINE LUMBER,

in the county. Also

[illegible]

BERZEE'S GROCRY.

Having Purchased Geo. L. Smith's stock of Groceries I will coutinue the business at the Old Stand. Everything

NEW, FRESH, CLEAN.

Goods Delivered to any part of Fulton or Oswego Falls

——A First-Class line of——

TEAS, COFFEES, SUGARS.

An Inspection of Stock is asked.

GEO. A. BERZEE.

Will You

HAVE AN

M. BRACE?

BAILEY & SON, Fulton, N. Y
17m8

Lathrop's Christmas Song.

I, Santa Claus hereby proclaim
To every people, tongue and name,
To high and low, to rich and poor,
I'm now at G. C. Lathrop's store,
Who has now on hand a very
Large stock of confectionery,
Dolls and baskets, whips and toys,
Handsleds for young girls and boys,
[illegible]

[illegible] TIMES

[illegible] 27, 1882.

[illegible] cleared over $200,000 by [illegible] last year.

[illegible] are 65,777 employees in the postal service of the United States.

ALL officers and men engaged in the Mexican war, except Jefferson Davis, are to have pensions.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY is now the richest college in the United States, its total wealth being estimated at $7,731,255.

JUDGE ARNOUX has decided that the new Sunday law is constitutional and must be observed unless repealed by the legislature.

AN artistically embellished family Bible was seized by custom house officers in New York last week with the insides out and the vacancy filled with jewelry which was being smuggled into this country.

YESTERDAY'S New York Sun says it is positively alleged that General W. T. Sherman has recently been received into the Roman Catholic church. The ceremonies of the occasion were rather private. Mrs. Sherman has long been a Catholic, but the General has long been known as a free thinker.

IN a conference Monday in New York between Recorder Smyth, Judge Gildersleeve and Superintendent of Police Walling, it was decided that the evidence of a policeman who purchased a drink Sunday, could not operate against a liquor dealer, as the policeman thereby became an accomplice.

IN each of nearly three dozen samples of "bitters" sold as medicines for disease, the State Assayer of Rhode Island discovered that they contained from seven to forty-three per cent of alcohol—more than most beer, almost as much as whisky and heavy wines. Many people who conscientiously abstain from drinking wine or beer are customers of "bitters."

A STRONG influence is urging the Pension Bureau to authorize the publication in a newspaper in each pension district of the names of pensioners in that district and the amount of pension they are receiving. At the last annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of the State of New York a resolution was introduced urging upon the Pension Bureau the adoption of this expedient for the detection of fraud and was adopted without a disenting voice. Its adoption will please meritorious pensioners. The Pension Burreau might go further and cause the publication in a paper where an applicant resides, a statement of the nature of his disability and how and where received when he applies for a pension.

THROUGH an appropriation of about $250,000 of the funds of the City Bank of Rochester by its president, C. E. Upton, to carry on oil speculations, the bank Wednesday closed its doors. The amount of deposits is stated at $500,000 and the amount of paper held by the bank at $800,000. Upton was treasurer of the Western New York Episcopal Diocese, and had its funds in the bank. The savings banks of the city had large sums on deposit in the bank. President Upton has been carrying 600,000 barrels of oil at 80 cents, which he might have sold at $1, giving him a profit of about $180,000, but he chose to hold on for $1.25 per barrel and lost. He was arrested for embezzlement and bailed in the sum of $20,000 to await the action of the grand jury.

M. E. Church Literary Society.

At the meeting of the Y. P. L. A. of the M. E. Church held at the residence of M. V. Connell, last Wednesday evening the following officers wer elected:

Pres.—Dr. G. V. Emens.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. F E. Bacon.
2d Vice-Pres.—Mr. E. R. Redhead.
Sec'y.—Miss Ella Lasher.
Treas.—F. E. Goodjon.
Executive Committee—A. Bennett, E. R. Redhead, Maria F. Highriter, Mrs. E. R. Redhead, Hattie Patterson.

The following programme was carried out:

Instrumental Solo—Miss Emma Connel.
Reading of Poem—Miss Helen Patterson.
Selection from "Ten Days in Spain"—Mrs. Lyman Patterson.
Solo—On the Danube River—Zuilee Hubbard.

Teachers' Association.

The teachers' association will be held at Minetto, Friday evening and Saturday forenoon and afternoon, Jan 5 and 6, 1883. Programme for Friday evening:—Music by a committee to consist of Mr. Burt of Minetto, Dell Braga and Wesley Stone; lecture by some one thoroughly competent; select reading, Mrs. Samuel Wright; Music by committee. Saturday: Music by committee at 10 o'clock; primary reading from 10 to 10:30, D. W. Clark; essay, Richard Smith, 10:45; methods in teaching, commissioner Parkhurst, 11:30; longitude and time, Prof Hart of No. 1 school, Fulton; noon, intermision, 1:30 singing, natural science in common schools, Prof. Boothby until to 2:15; primary geography 2:15 nntil 3:00, Hannah Wood; Query box, D. D. Metcalf, 3:30; miscellaneous business, 4 o'clock.

Teachers throughout the district are expected to be preesent.

C. R. PARKHURST, Pres,
W. J. BRADT,, chairman of committee.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in post-office at Fulton, Oswego county on Dec. 27th, 1882.

Harvey L Bowen,
Miss Emogene Brown,
Alice Carlin,
William Hull,
G D Montserratt,
George Pepper,
Mrs Sarah E Riggins.

HELD FOR POSTAGE.

Ed. Cowper, Kingston, Ont. Canada.

[illegible]

[illegible] Riddlecomb, Foot of 18th st.

[illegible] calling for the above please [illegible]

[illegible] N. H. G[illegible] P. M.

THE [illegible] CASE.

A Stormy Voyage [illegible] Chicago to Oswego—[illegible] Ship's Log.

The George M. Case left Chicago for Oswego on the 11th day of November, with a cargo of 34,500 [illegible] of rye loaded by Conger & Case on their own account. After getting well down the lake got a heavy gale of wind from the north and being dead ahead we run for Milwaukee for a harbor where we lay till the gale subsided; then ran for the straits of Mackinaw. There we encountered another gale accompanied by a heavy fall of snow, which lasted 12 hours. Wind hauling around and snowstorm clearing up we started for the rivers and had a splendid run down and finally reached lake Erie without any mishap and passed Point Pelleo light house at 11 o'clock a. m., of November 23d, wind south-west; weather somewhat threatening vessel under single reefed canvass. At 6 o'clock p. m. of the 23d the wind had increased to a gale. Took in mizzen sail and double reefed mainsail. At 12 o'clock of p. m., took in mainsail. At one o'clock of the 24th the foresail split from boom to gaff and had to take it in, directly after which the seas boarded the vessel so heavy it was in danger of foundering and to relieve vessel knocked out her bed. At 3 o'clock a. m., made Long Point light house. At about 4 o'clock a. m., made mainsail and jibs tried to haul up under Long Point but it blew so hard could not. The anchorage then bore away for Buffalo. Owing to heavy seas and heavy snow storm we deemed it not advisable to attempt to make Port Colborn without a fore sail. At 6 o'clock a. m., split stay sail. At about 9 o'clock a. m., split jib badly and we arrived at Buffalo at about 11 o'clock a. m., of the 24th of November repaired sails and made temporary repairs to bulwarks and left Buffalo in tow of tug for Port Colborne at one o'clock a. m., of the 26th reaching there at 4 o'clock a. m. Lay wind bound at Port Dalhousie until 11 o'clock a. m., of November 30th, when we again proceeded on our voyage with wind south-west, fair and moderate breeze. At about 11 o'clock the wind had increased to a gale, and a heavy snow storm set in completely shutting out both land and lights. Took in mizzen sail at about one o'clock a. m., December 1st, the gale increasing and supposing by the log we were off Fair Haven and not deeming it advisable to attempt to find Oswego in such a gale and blinding snow storm, took in main sail and double reefed and run vessel for St. Lawrence river reaching Cape Vincent at 10 o'clock a. m., December 1st with cargo badly shifted and let go of the anchor. During our run from off Fair Haven to Cape Vincent the seas washed about everything movable off the dock and we knocked out temporary bulwarks to free vessel's deck of water. Lay at Cape Vincent all that day trimming the cargo and on the second inst at 3 o'clock a. m., made sail and commenced to heave up anchor with wind fair, snowing a little. After breaking ground the vessel started up the river but kept sagging to leeward fetching up on Hinkley's Flats, Long Island at about 4 o'clock a. m. of the 2d inst., the wind having increased to a gale, heavy sea and snow, ice forming on the vessel badly. Immediately went to Cape Vincent and telegraphed Kingston for a tug and while awaiting her arrival the steamer Maud arrived at Cape Vincent. We engaged her services, but after several unsuccessful attempts let her go. The tug McArthur arrived from Kingston and worked at us that day and broke our howser in three pieces and chafed it badly without success, and on the 3d inst she again pulled on us using her own howser and parting our harbor tow line and at about noon of that day succeeded in pulling us off the flats. Commenced heaving anchor and with combined efforts of vessels and tug's crew we got anchor above water when we found it was afoul of submarine cable which runs diagonally between Cape Vincent and Long Island and which evidently must have been the cause of vessels going ashore. Used fore and mizzen boom pennants as "slings" to hold cable until we cleared anchor, using them up, and after clearing anchor started for Oswego, reaching there at about 5 o'clock p. m., badly iced up.

⁂

Week of Prayer.

Following are the religious services for the week of prayer, January, 1883:

Sunday, January 7.—Sermons: "For there is one God and mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus: who gave himself a reason for all." (1 Tim. ii: 5, 6.)

Monday, January 8.—Praise and thanksgiving.

Tuesday, January 9.—Humiliation and confession.

Wednesday, January 10. Prayer for families.

Thursday, Januaay 11.—Prayer for the church universal.

Friday, January 12.—Prayer for the nation.

Saturday, January 13.—Prayer for missions.

Sunday, January 14.—Sermons: "Looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ," (Titus ii. 13.)

Now for New Years.

Our "January thaw" has come this has come this year in good season—let us hope that it will speedily be followed by a good snow storm, that will make superb skipping for our New Years callers. The unpropituous weather last year was a great disappointment, and put a damper upon the most pleasant and enjoyable of our social customs. There is every reason to believe that all last years' disappointment will this year be atoned for, and that the calls New Years day will be more numerous than ever. We judge this in part because we anticipate favorable and propitious weather, and also because the young men, (and older ones too,) are fitting themselves out for the occasion, at Kent & Miller's 18 and 20 South Salina street, with more than usual care. Kent & Miller's has become the rendezvous of purchasers of clothing, for it is well understood that only first-class goods of whatever grade are permitted to go out of the store. Having enjoyed a merry Christmas, the patrons of Kent & [illegible] three hundred and [illegible]

Jury Drawing.

The following grand and petit jurors to serve at a court of oyer and terminer to be held at the court house in Oswego, commencing Monday, January 8th, were drawn at the county clerk's office Saturday.

GRAND JURORS.

Oswego City—Nicholas Sands, Benj. Mongin, Frank Hirt, John McDowell, William Burke, William Blackwood, Charles Doolittle, John Phillips, Michael T. Bough, J. S. Drewry, Hugh McGrath, Andrew Schilling, Thomas Mahar, William Galvin, B. D. Houghton; New Haven—A. J. Wadsworth; Scriba—C. W. Parkhurst, Harvey Dubois, Samuel Dumbleton, John Meyers; Palermo—Sheldon Remington, Oliver P. Jennings; Schrœppel—E. Dingulan; Granby—Daniel H. Gilbert.

TRIAL JURORS.

Oswego City—Charles Bough, Patrick Sheridan, John C. Sullivan, John F. Dain, J. A. Seeber, Frank Sheldon, J. S. Drewry, S. C. Albro, Frank Bough, James Atkinson, Geo. Stoffel, John Benzing, Henry W. Seeber, Peter Hilbert, Geo. L. Munroe, H. H. Herron, C. C. Place; Scriba—F. N. Brown, Munroe Hubbard, Levi B. Hubbard, H. L. Hart; Palermo—Sylvester Wright; Volney—Monroe Skeel, Morgan VanBuren, W. B. Howard, Riley D. Pierce; Granby—Amos Langdon, Smith Stranahan; New Haven—S. M. Barker, Rubin Everetts, S. O. Wilmarth; Oswego Town—Frank Place, H. A. Cornish; Schrœppel—Harvey Wandell; Hannibal, E. P. Barrett.

Picture frames of every description at Hendrick's. Call and see him. 29tf

The Equalized Valuation.

Following is the report of the committee of the Board of Supervisors showing the equalized valution of real and personal property in the towns and city of Oswego for the year 1882.

Albion, $477,320; Amboy, $211,518; Boylston, $176,371; Constantia, $524,707; Granby, $1,400,417; Hannibal, $1,056,638; Hastings, $898,919; Mexico, $1,276,973; New Haven, $688,150; Orwell, $405,276; Oswego City, $8,298,018; Palermo, $627,425; Parish, $419,979; Redfield, $325,379; Sandy Creek, $1,100,207; Schrœppel, $1,231,015; Scriba, $1,023,020; Volney, $2,098,701; West Monroe, $240,614; Williamstown, $390,132; Oswego Town, $1,090,395; Richland, $1,536,903; total 25,500,567.

The equalized valuation in 1881 was as follows:

Albion, $473,910; Amboy, $210,418; Boylston, $117,051; Constantia, $510,271; Granby, $1,390,164; Hannibal, $1,050,538; Hasting, $894,823; Mexico, $1,269,119; New Haven, $681,591; Orwell, $395,561; Oswego Town, $1,075,987; Oswego city, $8,242,648; Palermo, $620,619; Parish, $416,486; Redfield, $322,836; Richland, $1,529,317; Sandy Creek, $1,001,046; Schrœppel, $1,219,245; Scriba, $1,019,874; Volney, $2,105,850; West Monroe, $235,227; Williamstown, $381,918; total, $25,321,627.

Call at Hamilton's, opposite Lewis House. He may have just what you want for Christmas. 31

Christmas in Phœnix.

The Christmas entertainment at Phœnix was a fine affair. The young ladies of the Universalist society gave an entertainment on Saturday evening. Between three and four hundred were present. The church was very tastily decorated. The presents were many and costly. The net proceeds were twenty dollars. Mr. Egbert Carrier presented the society with an elegant and costly Bible. The Bible class presented their teacher Mrs. J. M. Williams with a silver pickle dish. The society gave the organist a richly cushioned stool. Sunday school classes gave their teachers presents and teachers reciprocated. Mrs. Fitzgeralds gave to her class of eight young men, each a copy of Cowper nicely bound. All were happy—including the minister and family who were all present and all were kindly remembered. Mrs. E. Carrier presented the minister's wife with a jar of fresh made butter, and Mrs. Rector gave her a large majolica bread plate. The minister Rev. A. U. Hutchins was not overlooked and had thrust upon him a purse of greenbacks and silver with the good wishes and kind regards of the 1st Universalist society at Phœnix. A season long to be remembered by that society, and the pews and pulpit were drawn closer together by the cords of affection and trusting love.

Christmas day, a pleasant party assembled at the residence of O H Gardner, in Phœnix where a tree was laden with many gifts which were distributad to each one present; even the pet kitten was kindly remembered with an embroidered cushion.

*

Show Windows.

The show windows of "The Famous," 2 and 3 Weiting Block, are brilliant. We have never seen handsomer looking windows, and the artists who arranged them deserve great credit, for they arrest the attention of every pedestrian, no matter how great their haste. To pause, means to examine, and it is not surprising that it requires the vigorous efforts of a policeman, at times, to keep the walk of the establishment clear for pedestrians. If we were to clothe a boy or ourselves, we would prefer to take our chances with the merchant who believes in keeping up with the times and make special provisions for the comfort, convenience and amusement of buyers and shoppers alike. The stores of "The Famous" have a large stock of clothes of all shades, from the cheapest worth [illegible]

NEIGHBORING NEWS.

Edward Shepherd of South Hannibal received a pension last week the back pay of which amounted to $1640.

Sweet's canal grocery at Hinmanville was entirely destroyed by fire Monday evening. Mr Sweet and family lived in rooms over the grocery and his wife, who was sick, barely escaped with her life. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Last Wednesday morning the hame shop connected with the Onondaga penitentiary and owned and operated by Frazer & Jones was burned. It will be rebuilt. Henry W. Austin, a nightwatchman perished in the flames. The Register says he formerly resided in Phœnix.

Hiram Allen, for many years a prominent business man of Oswego, died Sunday, aged 76. He was born in Paris, Oneida county. At the age of 19 he moved to Rochester, where he actively engaged into business. He sold the first railroad ticket sold in that city. He removed to Oswego in 1852, and had since been en- in the auction and commission business.

The report of the district attorney was read in the board of supervisors Thursday and in it he said certain deputy sheriffs were in the habit of coming to the courts and rendering assistance to persons charged with criminal offences in escaping punishment. The statement casts an imputation on every deputy in the county and the district attorney should have no hesitancy in naming the ones he refers to.

About 11:30 Wednesday night a fire broke out in the Mansard block in Oswego and completely destroyed it. The lower floors of the Mansard block were occupied by Jacob David, clothing, T. C. & W. Gilchrist and Hunt & William. But very little property was saved from either of these places. An adjoining building was also gutted. The total loss aggregates $75,000. The Mansard hall block was owned by the United States Life Insurance company of New York.

Oswego Post, Saturday:—A terrible accident happened yesterday afternoon to Mr. Joseph Hoover, the well known proprietor of the exchange Mills of this city. He was engaged in oiling some machinery at the mill when the right sleeve of his coat caught between two cog wheels. His arm was drawn between the wheels and nearly [illegible] from his body near the shoulder. Mr. Hoover called to the millers to start the machinery which was immediately done. Mr. Hoover, though suffering the most excruciating pain, stood quietly for fully ten minutes until the machinery was taken apart and his arm released. He was taken home and doctors Dewitt, Milne and Whited were summoned who amputated his arm. Mr. Hoover is sixty-five years old.

PARISH—Snow is about two feet deep. Lumbering has commenced for the winter in good earnest.

—Potatoes have been sold here within a few days for 90 cents and upwards per bushel.

—A few days since we attended the Oswego County Fire Relief Association at Oswego—a Grange organization. It is in excellent condition, having a capital of $420,000, has money in its treasury; pays liabilities promptly, and its losses are very small, being all farm property that is insured.

—Since election it has been deemed proper for common people to name persons for office. As a Superintendent of Public Instruction will be elected by the Legislature soon to convene, and as we have heard no one mentioned for that office we suggest the name of Prof. Wm. B. Howard of Volney as the right man. He has the education, experience and energy, and is also of mature years for that responsible office. OCCASIONAL.

☞ "I Have been troubled with bad nails for three years Dr. J. D. Perkins treated them without injury."
SUMMER GILLETT.
In Merriam Bros., 55 and 57 Bridge st
East Oswego, N. Y.

Where to Advertise.

We may be pardoned for calling attention to the fact that business men who have tried every form of advertising—maps, almanacs, fences, rocks and other secluded agencies—acknowledge that a good newspaper, which is sought by the public for its enterprise in giving all the news of the day is the best medium. It is seen every week by thousands of readers. In noting this fact, the Albany Evening Journal adds: "But in advertising, business men should remember that a paper filled with advertisements alone is not the best medium for that purpose. It is the best newspaper—the paper on which, on account of its local news and other attractive reading matter, it is taken by the largest number of persons, that is most valuable as an advertising medium. Numbers of papers boast that their advertising columns are so filled that they cannot find room for the news of the day. Those papers are not proper advertising mediums. Papers are not subscribed for because they contain advertisements, but because they contain news, and in the same proportion as they contain news are they valuable as advertising mediums." The advertising space in THE TIMES is fixed, and beyond proper limits we will not trespass. In the matter of news THE TIMES has and does speak for itself and to it we owe our present large and increasing circulation.

SUPREME COURT—COUNTY OF OSWEGO—[illegible]

[illegible] E. BAC[illegible]

FOR YOUR HOLIDAY GOODS.

LOTS OF THEM CHEAP.

JAMES COLE,

The Old Reliable

UNDERTAKER,

AND

FURNITURE DEALER

Keeps constantly on hand at his store on First St the finest and best selected stock of goods in his line

Caskets and Coffins

Of every variety of the most approved patterns on hand and furnished to order. All the latest and best

EMBALMING MATERIALS

And Latest Improved Ice Caskets for keeping the dead.

Hearse and Carriages

FURNISHED AND FUNERALS ATTENDED ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Also everything furnished for laying out and dressing the dead. 51

New and Useful Holiday Goods,

and Reduced Prices at

FAY'S "NEW YORK CASH STORE."

Flannel Suiting, Black French Cashmere, Black Silks, Brocade Satins, a Large Assortment of Felt Skirts. Ladies and Gents Silk and Linen Handkerchiefs in Great Variety.

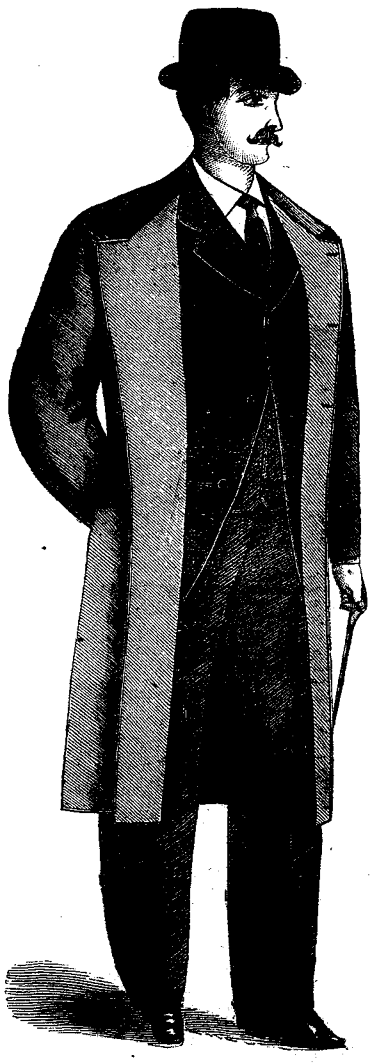
Just Received 20 doz. Childrens' and Miss' Wool Hose 15 to 75.
Silk Plushes in all the colors at reduced prices.

28 inch Silk Umbrella's $2.50 worth $3.00. Shawls, Blankets, Ladies Fur Collars, Fur Trimmings, Cloaks and Dolmans.

We give the best value for the money that can be had in Fulton.

All goods guaranteed as represented or the money refunded.

E B. FAY.



ROSENBLOOM

Is offering Extra Inducemeuts on their large stock of Clothing. Bargains in Every Department.

Call and See Them.

"LINCOLN and GARFIELD."

GREAT LECTURE,

—ON—

"Our Martyr Presidents."

—AT THE—

OPERA HOUSE, FULTON,

Monday, Jan. 22d, 1883.

Hon. SCHUYLER COLFAX

Ex-Vice President and for many years Speaker of the House of Representatives—one of the most eloquent orators on the continent, will deliver his Famous Lecture on "OUR MARTYR PRESIDENTS—LINCOLN AND GARFIELD," in this village at the Opera House, Jan. 22d, 1883. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the building of a

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT!

in this village. This will be the

GREATEST LECTURE

ever delivered in this part of the State, and every man, woman and child in Fulton and vicinity should listen to it.

Tickets to all parts of the house 50cts.

By Order Com. G. A. R.

F. D. VAN [illegible] Jr.

REAL ESTATE AGENT.

(Office [illegible] Law Office).

In connection with the Buying and [illegible] Mr. Van Wagenen [illegible] property on [illegible]

VERY DESIRABLE

To Know the Fact that

WATERMAN'S

Stock Of

Sporting Goods and Ammunition

Was never before so complete, nor prices so Low.

In Cartridges we have from Flobut ball Caps to Spencer 56-56. (19 Styles).

Revolvers—Single B. L. Guns and all the items that go to make up a good Sporting Stock.

Nine Sizes of Shot, and Fine Grades of Powder kept on hand. We are fully prepared to execute all orders for the

ELECTRIC DOOR BELL,

As to its merits, we would refer to any of our patrons in this line.

SPEAKING TUBES.

A Cheap and Convenient mode of communication, put up, cheaply.

In the Skate Department we do not propose to take a second place.

Give us a Call.

We have a few of those practical novelties left—the

Bell Door Knob,

Requiring no special fitting, and always ready. Try one.

Thankful for past favors we would respectfully ask for a continuance of the same, at [illegible] First Street, Fulton, N. Y.

D. A. WATERMAN.

J. J. WRIGHT,

Successor to M. B. Schenck & Co.

HARDWARE,

STOVES,

SEEDS

A Full Stock of Everything.

The Best Quality. The Lowest Prices and assured satisfaction are the inducements offered in exchange for your patronage.

J. J. WRIGHT.

CHRISTMAS BEEF.

While there are a great many people who do, there are also a good many who do not, stop to think how cheap

The Best Quality of Clothing

may be bought. Dealers who sell Clothing in this town will tell you that we can't sell the best quality of Clothing, for the reason that they can't be manufactured for anything like the money. The latter part of the assertion we admit; many of our garments cost more to manufacture than our selling price, but the quality of our Clothing we guarantee to be of

The Best Makes in the World.

We represent a sort of Secret Society Firm; we keep it to ourselves how we manage to procure goods at our prices. Not everybody can solve the secrets of our Order, unless he is level headed, smart, a hard worker, has lots of spot cash, has been long in the business, and is willing to take a life-time to accumulate a fortune.

There is knowledge, electricity, honesty and everything that makes a first-class garment in our Clothing.

FAMOUS

[illegible] Oswego, including "Bus fare, 40 cents, [illegible] the Omnibus.
A. M. Hayes, Proprietor.

N. Y. ONTARIO & WESTERN R. R.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

[illegible] Express No. 2..........7:15 a. m
[illegible] Express No. 6..........[illegible] p. m.
Freight and Accommodation No. 42..........8:35 a. m

GOING NORTH.

Ontario Express No. 1..........9:35 p. m.
[illegible] Express No. 3..........11:20 a. m.
[illegible] Accommodation No. 46..........5:30 p. m.

DEL. L'KW'NA & WESTERN R. R.

OSWEGO & SYRACUSE DIVISION.

Trains leave Fulton station as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

Syracuse Accommodation..........8:06 a. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express..........9:28 a. m.
Binghamton and Elmira Express..........12:40 p. m.
New York Night Express..........5:58 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

New York and Oswego Express..........8:06 a. m
Day Express..........2:03 p. m.
Oswego Accommodation..........6:24 p. m.
New York and Philadelphia Express..........8:59 p. m

The 8:06 train runs Sundays.
Sleeping cars attached to the Night Express for New York and Philadelphia.

W. B. Phelps, Supt.

A Happy New Year!

R. J. Smith and wife of Rochester, are in town.

Prof. Robert Simpson of Brockport was in town Saturday.

"Hazel Kirke" Thursday Jan. 11th in Stephens Opera House.

Mrs. Ellis Green and children of Little Falls, are guests at the residence of Mr. Geo. S. Hanna.

Darius H. Broughton died in Meriden, Conn., Dec. 17, aged 52 years. He formerly lived in Fulton.

Billy Rice's Minstrels at Stephen's opera house, to-morrow evening. Tickets for sale at Watson's drug store.

Michael Dunn and James Dyer, who are in the employ of the Midland at Wehawken, N. J., are home for a few days.

There will be a grand masque ball at the Volney Centre hotel next Monday evening, January 1st, 1883. A pleasant time is in store for those who attend.

Wallack's Theatre Co., will produce a sprightly and interesting play in the [illegible] House next Tuesday [illegible] bills and posters.

[illegible] meet- [illegible] Sabbath. Several circuits will be represented.

The periodical talk of the immediate construction of the Syracuse, Phoenix & Oswego railroad is revived. No work of importance is being done and it looks as far from a successful conclusion as ever.

Bear in mind that Hon. Scuyler Colfax will lecture in Stephens' opera house Monday, January 22, under the auspices of Fulton Post G. A. R. Subject—The Martyr Presidents, Lincoln and Garfield. Tickets 50 cents. For sale at Nichols' jewelry store and by members of the [illegible]

There will be a debate in the G. A. R. [illegible] day evening that will [illegible] rooms next Tues[illegible] members of that [illegible] be participated in by [illegible] ect for discussion "Resolved, That the Negro has greater claims on the Government of the United States than the Indian." Comrade A. P. Chase will preside and the leading affirmative disputant will be Comrade W. J. Pentelow and the leading negative disputant will be comrade D. M. Perine.

On the fourth page will be found a prospectus for the Utica Herald for 1883. The Herald has long been recognized as one of the leading dailies of New York State and to-day is more powerful than ever before. It is an independent, outspoken juournal and airs its opinions without fear of offending any party, clique or organization. Farmers and dairymen will find the Herald a valuable paper, the market and dairy reports are always complete and authentic. Send for a specimen copy.

The American Express Company has completed arrangements with the following companies to sell money orders on all principal points covered by their lines: Canadian, D. L. & W., National, Northern Pacific, Inter-Colonial, Union and Wells, Fargo & Co. These facilities together with their own 4000 offices in the U. S. and Canadas offer the best and safest medium for sending small sums of money to all parts of the country. The Fulton agent is Mr. E. E. Johnson with office at the Midland depot.

At a Regular Convocation of Fulton Chapter R. A. M. held at Masonic hall, Tuesday evening, Dec. 26, 1882, the following officers were duly elected and installed for the ensuing year:

D. Pardee, M. E. H. P.
J. Watson, E. K.
W. Johnson, E. S,
R. E. Phillips, Treas.
J. Stevens, Sec.
C. R. Nichols, C. of H.
S. Parmelee, P. S.
N. Charnley, R. A. C.
J. H. Merton, M. of 3rd V.
R. P. Hall, M. of 2d V.
J. Ward, M. of 1st V.
A. M. Roe, Chaplain.
C. D. Branch, Tiler.

We have no last year's stock of cut[illegible] to offer you: our's are fresh and [illegible]

26 McCully & Co.

For Sale—House and village lots on [illegible] St.; a house and lot on Utica St., will be sold before the first of April with a small payment down or rented on satisfactory terms. H. D. Wells. 33

FOR SALE.

[illegible]

[illegible]

About seventy-five [illegible] the residence of Mr. [illegible] Green Sunday evening to witness the marriage of his daughter, Lizzie E. Green to Mr Charles [illegible] Metcalf of Rochester. The contracting parties are well known in Fulton, Miss Green having been an instructor in Fulton Union School for the past seven terms; and the groom is a young man formerly in the flouring mill of Perine & Wright, but now filling a lucrative position with a Rochester milling firm. The ceremony was performed by Rev J. S. Riggs of the Presbyterian church, and was followed with a sumptuous repast. It was indeed a pleasant occasion.

The presents were numerous, valuable and elegant. Among them we noticed from the parents of the bride clothing, rose blankets, gold pen, and many useful household articles; from her brothers and sisters one dozen napkins, set solid silver spoons, pretty card sett, gold dollar, writing desk, etc.; from her aun', Mrs. Brooks, silver castor and china fruit plates; Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf, parents of the groom, gold lined silver castor, glass cream sett and tea sett; Lefle, and her brothers, case of spoons, cake basket, pickle dish and silver fork; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Perine, one dozen plated knives; Lelia Perine, gold mounted ivory cross; Prof. and Mrs. Eggleston, a handsome morocco bound, illustrated, Bible of the revised New Testament; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Rose, a costly lamp of elegant pattern; Orlando Howell, a silver castor; silver pickle castor, T. D. Richards; silver cake basket, Mr. and Mrs. Draper; handsome French clock, Misses Moore and Merriam and Messrs. Hewett, Moore and Merriam; case of silver nut picks, Thos. D. Ferris; pickle castor, Mary and Emma Whitcomb; handsome toilet sett, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Phillips; silver sugar shell, F. C. Ives; sett of hand-painted china fruit plates, Dr. and Mrs. Emens; silver napkin ring, the Misses Perry; heavy oval silver napkin ring, Melva Hamilton; copy of Tennyson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cooper; silk kandkerchief, Josie Bennett; richly embroidered satin cover for stand, with fringed card, F. E. Bacon; a finely painted cross, in oil, upon tinted satin, with vine of lillies enclosed in a beautiful velvet cabinet case, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gilbert; case of perfumery, L. D. Spooner; German silver mounted clock, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Goodjon; embroidered tidy, Mrs. E. Abbey; fringed card fan, Willie Abbey; cabinet size photos of several scholars; porcelain honey dish, Ella Metcalf; silver butter dish, J. R. and Nellie Baker; bronze images, E. M. Cole; china cup and saucer, Dora Metcalf; square cut French glass ornaments, richly painted, S. Hill; pair of cut glass vases, B. Patterson; handsome vase, Leah R. Emens; woven cane rocker, trimmed with blue satin, very fine, with a fringed palette card richly set, from all the teachers in Fulton Union school; handsome walnut foot-rest, with card, containing a neat original verse; Prof. Asa Boothby, pair of delicate silver and glass vases and fringed card, from her late scholars; Bible stand, the Misses Patterson; generous parcels of table linen, towels, etc., Mrs. R. N. Hoff, Mrs. Jas. Hoff, Mrs. Yorker, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brando, Will and Kittie Osborne; silver fruit dish, Mrs. C. M. Sabin; marble top stand, L. and H. Lang; book of poems, Hattie and Helen Salmon; from London, Eng., arrived at noon, Christmas cards, and numerous family photographs of best English artists from the bride's aunt.

The refreshments were of the most elaborate character, and gotten up in the best English style. The host, so long known as a superior confectioner, outdid himself in cream and chocolate and other varieties of candies, as well as delicious ice cream of every kind and quality. The departing guests were presented with a little package of wedding cake and cream candies.

Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf left yesterday for Rochester where they will reside.

William M. Wilson was married to Miss Hattie D. Chamberlin at her residence in Gilberts Mills the 12th inst, by Rev Wm R. Stone of Briston Hill.

Joseph Kelly was married Saturday evening to Rhoda V. Simpkins by Rev, L. Golden at the parsonage on Second street. The contracting parties are residents of Fulton.

There was a pleasant company assembled at the residence of D. D. Eames in Volney last Thursday to witness the marriage of his daughter Jessie D. Eames to Alfred E. Arnold of Ira, Cayuga county, son of Mr. Liberty Arnold of Granby. Rev. W.R. Stone of Bristol Hill officiated.

By Rev. L. Golden at the Baptist parsonage in this village, Thursday evening, December 21, 1882, Wm. McIntosh was married to Miss Nellie Cameron. Both of Oswego Falls. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents, a list of which we are obliged to omit for want of space.

A pleasant marriage ceremony was performed at the residence of Dr. D. E. Lake on Monday afternoon. His brother, Dr. S. K. Lake of Pittsburg, Pa., was united in marriage to Miss Marrietta Miller of Storrington, Ont., sister of Mrs. Dr. D. E. Lake. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. C. Bruce of the M. E. Church. A fine repast was served and the happy couple were the recipients of a fine line of presents. They left amid congratulations on same evening for Pittsburg, Pa.

In Bad Repute.

The Tennessee Jubilee Singers, who held two concerts in Fulton, gave one in Sandy Creek Friday evening the 15th inst. The Sandy Creek News says the concert was enjoyed immensely and is a meritorious one and concludes:

"Had the company left town as soon as their program was ended they would have been in better repute here than they are now. After the concert, some [illegible]

A. E. NETTLETON'S

For Christmas Presents.

Don't fail to call and see the largest stock of these goods ever shown in Fulton.

ALL NEW AND FRESH GOODS.

Attend the fair this evening.

Justice John E. Parker has returned from his western visit.

All bank paper falling due on next Monday, New Year's day, must be paid Saturday.

The Christmas collection at the church of the Immaculate Conception Sunday amounted to $475.65.

William Gillard, of Oswego Falls, was presented with a ten pound daughter Monday. A fine Christmas present.

The Oswego Falls reading circle will meet at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Swan one week from next Tuesday evening.

There will be a watch night meeting held at the Free Methodist church next Sunday night commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be a masquerade ball at Windsor hall Phœnix, New Year's evening. It will be managed by L. N. Ostrander. Tickets $2.00.

The Hannibal News and Reveille comes to hand changed to an eight page paper. It is a prosperous, wideawake journal and receives a generous support in its parish.

Among the many pleasant Christmas occasions was a highly enjoyable party at the residence of Mr. Fred Roberts. A Christmas tree groaned with presents and a fine collation was served.

Mr. G. A. Burtch, taxidermist, of 18 Rochester street, has a great many specimens of his work in our village, for which he may justly be proud. He stuffs and mounts birds, animals or reptiles in a first-class manner.

Nellie, wife of John Kernan, jr., died in Oswego Falls Sunday afternoon, after a short illness, aged 22 years. Funeral was held yesterday at 10 o'clock a. m., from the church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father Kearny officiating.

The George M. Case had a stormy time of it from Chicago to Oswego and eighteen days were consumed in making the trip. There was much concern felt about the boat and a brief history of the trip will prove interesting and will be found on the second page.

Mr. M. R. Jefferds was in Fulton a few days ago and sailed one week ago Saturday for Europe. His father had a cablegram from him yesterday announcing his safe arrival in Queenstown. London is his destination whither he goes in the interest of a Texas railroad company of which he is an officer.

Oswego Palladium—County clerk elect Gardnier has announced the following appointments for his office: Deputy clerk, Frank N Baker, Fulton; search clerk, A. J. S[illegible]lley, Oswego; clerks W. J. Stark, Oswego Town, John H. Mackin, Oswego; copying clerks, Carrie A. Gardenier, Rebecca McLaughlin, Oswego.

To-morrow evening Billy Rice's minstrels will appear in Stephens' Opera House. The company comes well recommended by both press and public, and we predict for them one of the largest houses of the season. The Chicago Tribune says of them. "Billy Rice's minstrels made their first appearance at the Academy of Music last night to a crowded house. They gave a great show. There is quantity enough to please the most ardent and the program varied and well selected, is presented with snap. There are never any waits. The audience sees something going on continually from all the very choicest flowers of minstrelsy." Tickets for reserve seats in orchestra chairs and first row in dress circle, 50 cents. Remainder of dress circle 35 cents and the gallery 25 cents. Tickets for sale at Watson's drug store, where a diagram of the house may be seen.

A large audience assembled at the M. E. church Sunday evening to listen to the Christmas concert given under the auspices of the Sunday School. Dr. Vincent's Christmas exercises entitled "The King of the Nations" with its responsive readings and joyful music was finely rendered by the whole school under the charge of the superintendent, E. R. Redhead. A song by some of the little boys and girls "Hang up the baby's stocking" also another by six young Misses "Jesus is Born" was very nicely performed. Vernon Schenck, Freddie Draper, little Jennie Knight, and Miss Louie Patterson, recited appropriate Christmas pieces. The exercises were short, varied and crisp and gave great satisfaction to all that were privileged to hear them.

☞ Japanese goods of all kinds direct from the importers, at less than one-half the usual price at Draper's Fulton and Oswego Falls stores. 30tf.

We have the largest assortment of robes and horse blankets in Oswego county at McCully & Co's.

Death of Hulbert Strong.

Last week Thursday came to us the sad news of the death of our esteemed fellow citizen and friend Mr. Hulbert Strong. Far away from the scenes and associations of his earnest life he passed away. While visiting a daughter in Springfield, Missouri, he took a severe cold causing acute pneumonia which speedily terminated his life. Mr. Strong came first to Fulton in 1828 and has known our village from the very beginning. He was at that time a strong, active Christian young man, and had already, for some years walked in that straightforward, hearty, consistent course of life which characterized him to the very last, He was pre-eminently a man of sure convictions. They made him positive, outspoken, fearless. He had no toleration for double mindedness or half heartendess. His feelings kept his thought on fire and many of us know how warmly he could discuss political issues or combat religious heresy. His life was parallel with his thought. He was a devoted husband, a kind loving father, a consecrated Christian. For many years he has been a member and an officer in the Presbyterian church—one of its pillars. Before going West he seemed to feel that he should never come back. His last words to us in the prayer meeting were deeply impressive. Blessed will be the memory of him by all who knew him. We sorrow not as those without hope for we know that he has entered "a higher mansion" long prepared for him. Would that more of his enthusiastic spirit for truth and right and God might be ours! The day needs more of unwavering conviction such as he. Blessed in life, blessed in death his "work shall live after him." Our earnest sympathy is for those who mourn over the loss of a father so good and true.

⁂

It is not known whether Mr. Strong's body will be brought to Fulton for interment or not just at present. When he died his daughters were both absent in Chicago. He was buried in Springfield last Friday. He was taken sick December 16, and died Wednesday the 20th. Mr. Strong left Fulton August 18th, and remained in Chicago until Dec. 11th, when he went to Springfield.

The Catholic Fair.

The fair of the church of the Immaculate Conception opened in Nichols Hall last evening. The attendance was good for the first night, about $50.00 being taken for admission alone. The hall is tastefully decorated and music, dancing, feasting and mirth making are the features. The fancy stand is a marvel of beauty and attracts the attention of every one entering the hall. It was arranged by the Cullen sisters. It contains articles to be drawn and among them all are manner of useful and beautiful household articles.

Miss Kate Fennell has charge of the ladies who preside at the various counters and tables. At the fancy table is Mrs. Maggie Cullen, Miss Nellie Flannery, Miss Amelia Fennell, Miss Nellie Cavanaugh. The candy table is in charge of Miss Lizzie Murphy and Miss Mary Sullivan.

The following ladies preside at the dining table, and are divided into two parties, the first eight acting last evening and the second acting to-night and serving each alternate evening during the fair:

1st.—Nellie Robinson, Mary Gillard, Anna Dwyer, Nora Hartnett, Nora O'Melia, Kittie Frawley, Kittie Otis, Sarah Gallagher.

2d. Anna Harty, Nora Noonan, Kittie Hoey, Nellie Tyrrel, Minnie Hartnett, Julia Walch, Anna Casey.

A guinea was awarded to Amelia Fennell for having brought in the greatest amount of cash with the book. The lady had $73. Patrick Quirk was second with $51.

Voting commenced last night and was quite spirited. A cane is being voted upon for James Jones, Michrel Flannery, M A Stewart, Daniel Mack and William Kilfoyle.

A lady's gold watch by Misses Anna Harty, Mary O'Hara, Mary Flannery, Kate Fennell and Maggie Darby.

A doll by the little ladies among whom are Nellie Pomphret, Jessie Fairbanks Nellie Rhoderick, and Nellie Mack.

A pig is being hotly contested for and it lies between Perry Murphy and Tim Conly. Everybody is welcome and those who attend may be assured of a pleasant time. Admission to hall 10 cents.

Who Can Tell?

To The Fulton Times:—

I read in many newspapers that patrons are recommended an application of powdered sulphur as a sure cure for diphtheria. The remedy was first brought into public notice at least five or six years ago. It is either a sure cure or it is not. If it is, some doctors ought to know it by this time, and if it is not some doctors ought to know it. I have used it successfully and my neighbors have found it ineffectual. Will some physician give an opinion as to its remedial qualities as applied to diphtheria? B.

Jay Stay is in town.

The McGibney family is coming this way.

Francis M. Baker and family have removed to Oswego.

Two canal boats are to be built upon Johnson's boat yard.

Chas. W. Pratt and family of Oswego, were in town yesterday.

Charles A. Hart, now of Bellville, Ont., is home for the holidays.

Richard Day of the Syracuse Standard spent Christmas with his parents in Granby.

Mrs. Anna Blanchard spent Christmas in Fulton. She returned to New York last evening.

George Fassel has an addition to his household. A little son made its appearance last evening.

The next general meeting of the C. I. S. C. will be held at the residence of Mrs. Charles R. Nichols, Friday evening Dec. 29th.

Thursday evening January 11th the Madison Square Theatre Co., will produce "Hazel Kirke" in Stephens Opera House. It is a grand play.

Fulton is to have another clothing store. William Sweeney of Seneca Falls will open a store in the Nelson building on Oneida street this week. Mr. Sweeney has been in Fulton before.

The Fulton telephone exchange is being removed from the office of the W. U. Telegraph company to the store underneath THE TIMES office. Mr. Frank Keenan will manage it with Master John McIntyre as assistant.

Nothing definite can be said this week as to the Baker gun works. It seems to be the general opinion that no trouble will be experienced in raising the amount asked, $5000. Mr. Baker is expected in town again in a day or two.

The Oswego Falls Sunday school Christmas tree was held in Howe's hall, last evening and was a perfect success. About $30 was raised for presents and the hall was full last evening with expectant children and none went away empty handed.

A Scriba correspondent writes and propounds us a question: He says Monroe Hubbard's hair is growing white and wants to know if it is because he is the youngest grandfather in Oswego county. We know the fact of being a grandfather would not scare Mr. Hubbard and it must be from other sources his gray hair is coming.

Groceryman D. C. Draper had a drawing at his store last evening. Previous to Christmas he announced in THE TIMES that to each purchaser of one dollar's worth of goods would be given a ticket entitling them to a chance in the drawing for three dolls valued at $1.00, $2.00 and $10.00. There were 381 tickets sold. No 367 drew the $10 doll, No. 221 the $2.00 doll and No. 109 the $1.00 doll. Mr. H. C. Beals came within one number of drawing the $10 doll, holding No. 368, and Patrick Cullen came within 300 of it, holding No 67. Parties holding the lucky numbers are not known and they are requested to present their tickets as soon as convenient.

Christmas was ushered in by a party of sweet voiced serenaders who made the early morning air resonant with stirring music. They were singing Christmas Carols and visited many residences in Fulton and Oswego Falls. The party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robertshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Pullen, Messrs Harvey Rowland, Henry Pollard, James Ellis, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Smith and Miss Allison. Harry Dyson and John Pickles assisted with the cornet. They visited the residence of Mr. David Ramsden, Mr. Geo. E. Smiddy and Mr. Thomas Carr in Fulton and Mr. Arthur North and Mr. John Stocks and others in Oswego Falls were called upon. The singers were treated royally along their journey and afforded pleasure to all who listened to their superb music.

The Fulton Patriot publishes what purports to be a true report of the equalized valuation of property in Oswego county for the year 1882 and by way of comparison publishes the report of last year. It says the valuation for the town of Volney in 1881 was $2,105,850 and this year is $3,098,701! an increase in the valuation of the town during the past year of $992,851. Of course it is a blunder and one so patent that it gives surprise that it should have been made. It shows that the Patriot is lamentably ignorant of what is going on in the town or the question would have asserted itself, what causes this immense gain over last year? We are afraid the Patriot is losing prestige as a purveyor of facts. There is a reduction in the valuation of the town of Volney this year as compared with 1881 aggregating over $7000. Barring the Patriot's trifling error of $992,851 it is nearly correct.

5,000 PERSONS WANTED!

To examine the HOLIDAY GOODS at M. M. WILLIAMS', who has just returned from New York with a Full Line of Goods, consisting of

[illegible] LADIES' SATCHELS, [illegible] and [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Minneapolis, Minn. Dec. 20, 1882.—In the list of officers elected by the G. A. R. of your village, [illegible] Times of the [illegible] names of [illegible] of Co. "F" 24th N. Y. Vols. I refer to William J. Pentelow and Freeman C. Mosher.

I remember the night of July 21st, 1861, our regiment went down to the Arsenal in Washington, D. C. On the bank of the Potomac, and exchanged our old Springfield muskets for Enfield rifles getting back to camp just before daylight.

On the morning of the 22d after partaking of our breakfast we started on the march, passing through the city, down towards the "long bridge," which we crossed into Virginia. This, remember, was just after the first battle of "Rull Run." We passed Fort Runyon, which commanded the approach to the bridge, where the 21st Regt. were stationed. They were in barracks alongside of us at Elmira and were known by us as the "Buffalo Boys," and as their food was cooked in the same kitchen with ours, we always knew when they had a dose of "Jollop" in their coffee, because, as the Dutchman said, "Dot was ter matter mit us all der dime don't it?" During the two years of our service "Jollop" and "Soup" were the passwords or rather countersigns between the two regiments.

All the way out, we met the stragglers of McDowell's army coming in from Mannassas; each man we met claiming to be the only man left of his company. "All cut to pieces" was the general report from every one. Soon after we started it began to rain and kept it up all day and part of the succeeding night. We went out the road which runs at right angles to the river—passing over Arlington Heights to the left of the "House" and finally went down into a deep valley where we crossed the London and Hampshire railroad; then crossed a stream, and passed Arlington Mill, which was situated at the right of the road. After passing through an Oak woods for about a mile we came to Bailies Cross Roads where we stopped, Co's. E. and K. taking possession of a blacksmith shop, where we began our cooking rations, individually. Up to this time our rations had been cooked and served by the company cook. We soon had that forge "fired up" and literally covered with coffee "buckets" and sometimes the man at the bellows would blow a cup out of the fire—spill the coffee—which would cause some one's blood vessels to get in an uproar; besides this, each one would have a slice of pork on a sharp stick "frizzing" it over the fire.

By and by Orderly "Bob" Corry ordered about a dozen of us on picket, out near a school house. That was my first night's duty at the front, in the face of the enemy—so to speak. The next day the regiment dropped back to Arlington Mills where we entrenched ourselves, and held the place for about three weeks assisted by two pieces of artillery from Captain Sherman's battery—if I recollect right he was the one who is now General Wm. T. Sherman. We were on picket most of the time, three men being placed on a picket post together, and left for three days at a time. During the day one would remain and "keep house," while the other two would strike out on a foraging expedition or, go back to the "Mills" for rations.

I remember that for three days Freeman Mosher, "Hank" Babcock, and myself were on picket together, and as our "post" was in the woods, and the weather warm, we took lots of comfort, only that we had to "take turns," watching for the "Johnnies" nights.

We used to go up to a large peach orchard on "Munsons Hill" and get peaches and as a general thing, the "Johnnies" were there after fruit as well as ourselves, and, at that early day we had not "caught on" to the flag of truce idea to adjust our private spats, so we had to keep shy of each other, or else scoot them out with our rifles, or get scooted by them. In the latter part of the war, however, when two picket posts were near each other, up would go a white rag, which would be answered by the other side, and in less than two minutes the boys would be trading coffee or brass buttons for "native twist" or "dog leg," tobacco.

The next winter we went into camp at Upton's Hill, near Falls church, where we built log pens about seven feet square and three feet high and put our "A" tents on for a covering which made a very good protection for us. We all had small sheet iron stoves.

I remember that the tent to which William J. Pentelow belonged were the first to buy a stove and as the nights were cold, a lot of us fellows used to "happen in" of an evening to get warm. One night their little 7x7 cotton house was "chock full" of boys all taking comfort, when "Billy" threw a lot of black pepper on the stove. It did not take long for that pepper to get in its work on that crowd and the way that tent came down was a caution, everybody in the best of humor, and everybody after fresh air.

I have written more than I at first intended but I cannot close this without telling you that Mr. A. C. Robinson, of whom I wrote in a previous letter, receiving a communication from Mrs. Dr. Harriet Dada Emens of Syracuse. She was the lady nurse in the hospital at Murfresboro Tenn. I also received a very pleasant letter from her husband.

It seems strange how circumstances connected with the "war times" will be brought out and revive old acquaintances. S. E. CHANDLER.

J. J. Keller, of Syracuse spent Sunday in town.

Camilla Urso will hold forth in the Stephen's opera house in February.

Hosiery and underwear for ladies' gentlemen, children, comprising all styles at prices that we guarantee. C. E Sackett.

☞ Remember Draper always takes the lead in selling all teas, sugars, coffees and syrups, cheap. He don't sell at cost but cheaper than those who sell at cost. 30tf

For Sale.

[illegible]

[illegible]

But who may know the fate—either for good or evil? By the earnest advice of friends to remain, Mr. Howell tenderly conveyed his daughter—all these gifts left of her—to the office of Dr David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. Dr Kennedy perceived that she was suffering from heart disease, and also from an advanced stage of a complaint common to women.

Having given some minor directions in reference to diet and clothing, Dr. Kennedy prescribed his Favorite Remedy as his young patient's only medicine. Not long after the threatening symptoms vanished, the light returned to her eyes, the bloom to her cheeks and happiness to her heart, an example of a discovery which is as wonderful as the medicine that effected it.

FIRST CLASS CLOTHING.

PEOPLE DESIRING FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING AT LOW PRICES SHOULD ALWAYS PATRONIZE THE OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING FIRM OF

A. W. PALMER,

15 and 17 South Salina street

Syracuse, N. Y.

THIS FIRM HAS NOW ON HAND ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE STOCKS OF SUITS AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN'S YOUTHS' BOYS' AND CHILDREN THAT WAS EVER EXHIBITED IN THIS SECTION OF THE COUNTRY. ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AND ONLY

ONE PRIE ASKED.

[illegible]

—AT—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

GREAT

DRY GOODS

CARPET

—AND—

Furniture Establishment,

38 and 40 So. Salina Street and 29 and 33 Clinton street, Syracuse, N. Y.

The Holiday Season at this Great Establishment to be made more attractive than ever.

An Immense Stock of Novelties in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods, Carpets, and Furniture, surpassing all previous efforts in the selection of everything new and desirable for Christmas Gifts.

—GO TO—

MILTON S. PRICE'S

And make your purchases for the Holidays.

ELECTRICITY

[illegible] WORLD

SOURCE OF ALL LIFE

DR. L. H. SPRAGUE

Makes the treatment of all Chronic Disease by Electrical and Mechanical means a SPECIALTY. From over 20 years' experience he can speak positively that most cases can be cured quicker and with greater comfort to the patient by this than by any other mode. It is peculiarly adapted for Paralysis, Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia in all their forms. It is the Woman's Friend, quickly curing all misplacements, congestions or irregularity; will restore nervous force and vitality in all cases; will dissolve tumors, heal ulcers and remove all poisons from the system; cure spinal diseases, stiff joints, etc., etc.

Call and see me, at 54 Warren St., Syracuse, N. Y. Consultation at office or by letter free and confidential. Office Hours, 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

CURES DISEASE

GREAT SALE.

No. 19, First Street, - Fulton, N. Y.,

—AT—

D. C. SKADEN'S.

Having on hand a large assortment of house furnishing goods than ever before offered in Fulton, I wish to call the attention of the people of Fulton and vicinity to the fact I am selling cheaper than ever for cash. Look at these prices:

Bootes Dinner Plates 95cts. per doz.
" Breakfast " 85 " " "
" Tea " 72 " " "
" Unhandled Teas 44 " " "
" Handled " 55 " " "

Also having in stock the largest assortment of Majolica Ware, China Cups and Saucers, Vases, Smoking Sets, Japanese Ware, Silver Ware and Toilet Sets ever before offered in Fulton. I offer them at prices below the lowest for Holiday Trade.

Remember my assortment in China Tea Sets is complete, also decorated Toilet and Tea Sets. Lamps of all kinds at bottom prices. As I buy only of importers and at factories I can sell for what others pay for goods.

D. C. SKADEN,

Next Door to Lewis House. FIRST STREET, FULTON, N. Y.

IT BOOMS AT

THE BAZAAR.

—:o:—

HOLIDAY GOODS

Are Going like Hot Cakes. Come Early and Avoid the Rush.

It would be useless to try and enumerate the many Beautiful Presents and Useful Goods for young and old at the

BAZAAR.

Come and See.

VILLAGE OF FULTON.

Trustees Proceedings.

Fulton, Dec. 26, 1882.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.
Present, Trustees Johnson and Hart.
Board adjourned to Jan. 24, 1883, at 7:30 p. m.

L. H. Patterson, clerk.

Annual Meeting.

The annual election and meeting of the Oswego Falls Agricultural Society will be held at the office of Howe & Rice in the village of Fulton, N. Y., on the 10th day of January, 1883, at 12 o'clock noon.
Dated Fulton, N. Y., Dec. 12, 1882.

Arvin Rice, Sec'y.

Annual Meeting.

[illegible]

Hemlock Wood Wanted!

Will pay highest market price for 200 Cords

OF Hemlock Wood.

Enquire at Pottery of Hart Bros.

CONCENTRATED FOOD.

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, POULTRY, &c.

Manufactured by

BOSTON CONCENTRATED FOOD CO.

For Sale by

[illegible]

[illegible]

all the meaning of the word, in its relations with the [illegible] The Sun makes a [illegible] the exact truth to the best [illegible] days in the year, before election as well as after, about the [illegible] as well as about the small fish, in the face of [illegible] and heartily as when supported by [illegible]. The Sun has absolutely no [illegible] the information of its readers [illegible] of the common good.

[illegible] everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

[illegible] in politics is the fight for a dozen years, [illegible] almost [illegible] newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachments of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds The Sun is the best religious paper ever published, because its Christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know The Sun, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of The Sun are sent by mail, post paid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year; with Sunday edition $7.70.

SUNDAY—Eight pages, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issue; an Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make the Weekly Sun the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10 an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
THE SUN, N. Y. City.

1883.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled "For the Major," by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of "Anne," was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the Magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
The THREE above publications	10 00
Any TWO above named	7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers)	10 00

Postage Free to all Subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, one vol., 8vo, cloth $4 00.

Remittances should be made by post-office money order or draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

New York Weekly Herald.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading [illegible] Daily Herald and is arranged in handy departments.

The Foreign News

embraces special despatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

American News

are given the telegraphic despatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes

The Weekly Herald

the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of

Political News

[illegible]

[illegible]

POND'S EXTRACT CO.,
14 West 14th St., New York.

Lackawanna Coal!

—IS THE—

BEST IN MARKET,

FREEST FROM SLATE!

FREEST FROM DUST!

—FOR SALE BY—

Q. RUST.

COAL YARD REMOVED.

Office at J. Robinson's Grocery Store

J. H. CAVANAUGH & CO.,

formerly doing business at the Nelson Yard,

HAVE REMOVED TO THE

Foster Boat Yard,

where they will keep constantly on hand a large stock of

Lehigh Valley and Franklin

Coal, which will be delivered to any part of the village and Oswego Falls,

Screened and Free from Slate!

at

FOLLOWING CASH PRICES.

25 cents per ton off at yard.

OFFICE AT PRATT & ROBINSON'S GROCERY STORE.

Both Partners having had large experience in the Coal business guarantee to give their patrons entire satisfaction.

By close attention to business and fair dealing we hope to receive a share of your patronage. All orders promptly attended to.

Very Resp'y Yours,
J. H. CAVANAUGH
BRYAN CRAHAN.

CATARRH ELY'S CREAM BALM

Effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Apply by the little finger into the nostrils. On receipt of 50c. will mail a package. Sold by Fulton druggists.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

TAKE THE BEST.

Utica Morning Herald

AND

Utica Weekly Herald.

FOR 1883.

The Leading Newspaper of Central N. Y.

[illegible]

[illegible]

Whoever [illegible] shall be [illegible]

No one [illegible] the Sabbath but [illegible]

No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep houses, cut hair, or shave on the Sabbath day.

No one shall kiss his or her children on the Sabbath or fasting days.

The Sabbath day shall begin at sunset Saturday.

Every ratable person who refuses to pay his proportion to support the minister of the town or parish, shall be fined five pounds and five shillings every quarter.

Whoever wears cloths trimmed with gold, silver or bone lace, above one shilling per yard, shall be presented by the grand jurors, and the selectmen shall tax the estate 300 pounds.

Whoever brings cards or dice into the dominion shall pay a fine of five pounds.

No one shall eat mince pies, dance, play cards, or play any instrument of music except the drum, trumpet and jewsharp.

No gospel minister shall join people in marriage. The magistrate shall join them in marriage, as he may do it with less scandal to Christ's church.

When parents refuse their children convenient marriages, the magistrate shall determine the point.

Adultery shall be punished with death.

A man who strikes his wife shall be fined ten pounds.

A woman who strikes her husband shall be punished as the law directs.

No man shall court a maid in person or by letter without obtaining the consent of her parents; five pounds penalty for the first offense, ten for the second, and for the third imprisonment during the pleasure of the court.

SATISFACTION FOR TEN.

In our family of ten for over two years Parker's Ginger Tonic has cured headache, malarial and other complaints so satisfactorily that we are in excellent health and no expense for doctors or other medicines.—Chronicle. 32w4

A Western Snake Story.

Sam B. Howell tells a heart-rendering snake story. He says that the other day as he was riding around his father's farm, at Cedar Grove, he saw three snakes engaged in a fight. One was a garter snake, about two and a half feet long; another a copperhead about the same length, and the third a green and white speckled snake, four feet long; another a copperhead about the same length, and the third a green and white speckled snake, four feet long. He got off his horse to see that they had fair play, and soon discovered that the garter snake was dying. While the green snake was wrapping the copperhead hard and fast to a forked limb that lay on the ground, the copper-head bit him. The green snake then passed his head and about one-third of his body over to the other prong of the forked limb, about a foot distant, wrapped himself around it and tightened up the other end of his body on the copperhead taking up the slack with the head end of his body, he then lapped his head around his own body; forming a half hitch around the limb, and in this condition he died, within five minutes after the copperhead had bitten him. Sam said he found it a hard matter to separate them with a stick, and that the copperhead never could have got loose, but would have died in a few minutes, as its body was mashed as flat as a flitter.

Loss of hair and grayness, which often mar the prettiest face, are prevented by Parker's Hair Balsam. 33w4

Pretty Hard Cider.

A Mr. Lewis, of Ulster County, New York drank a glass of cider at his mill the other day and swallowed a live yellow-jacket. It was a quick passage, but the lively insect worked its awful tail for all it was worth, and managed to get in his work twice on the way down and once after he got there. Mr. Lewis walked into the house with an innocent expression of pained surprise on his countenance [illegible]

BLUE PILLS

[illegible]

Try a Bottle To-Day!

Are you low-spirited and weak, or suffering from the excesses of youth? If so, SULPHUR BITTERS will cure you. [illegible] A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Send two 3c. stamps to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive an elegant set of fancy cards free.

PARKER'S

HAIR BALSAM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who have used it, to any similar article, on account of its superior cleanliness and purity. It contains materials only that are beneficial to the scalp and hair and always

Restores the Youthful Color to Grey or Faded Hair

Parker's Hair Balsam is finely perfumed and is warranted to prevent falling of the hair and to remove dandruff and itching. Hiscox & Co., N.Y. 50c. and $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs and medicines.

PARKER'S

GINGER TONIC

A Superlative Health and Strength Restorer.

If you are a mechanic or farmer, worn out with overwork, or a mother run down by family or household duties try PARKER'S GINGER TONIC.

If you are a lawyer, minister or business man exhausted by mental strain or anxious cares, do not take intoxicating stimulants, but use Parker's Ginger Tonic.

If you have Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, or any disorder of the lungs, stomach, bowels, blood or nerves PARKER'S GINGER TONIC will cure you. It is the Greatest Blood Purifier And the Best and Surest Cough Cure Ever Used.

If you are wasting away from age, dissipation or any disease or weakness and require a stimulant take GINGER TONIC at once; it will invigorate and build you up from the first dose but will never intoxicate. It has saved hundreds of lives; it may save yours.

CAUTION!—Refuse all substitutes. Parker's Ginger Tonic is composed of the best remedial agents in the world, and is entirely different from preparations of ginger alone. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., N. Y. 50c. & $1 sizes, at dealers in drugs.

GREAT SAVING BUYING DOLLAR SIZE.

FLORESTON

Its rich and lasting fragrance has made this delightful perfume exceedingly popular. There is nothing like it. Insist upon having FLORESTON COLOGNE and look for signature of

Hiscox & Co.

on every bottle. Any druggist or dealer in perfumery can supply you. 25 and 75 cent sizes.

LARGE SAVING BUYING 75c. SIZE.

COLOGNE

[illegible]

Bruises, Asthma, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Burns, Frost Bites, Tooth, Ear, and Head[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] It is believed in time such [illegible] will be subject to showers sufficiently frequent to convert the arid regions of the neighborhood into fruitful fields. Horace Greeley predicted that the time would come when these dry plains would become dotted with windmills which will pump up the water out of the vast depths of the Artesian wells. It is claimed that the building of railroads has a great deal to do in attracting the rain from eastern skies and water-courses.

EVERY PERSON TO BE A REAL SUCCESS In this life must have a specialty; that is, must concentrate the abilities of body and mind on some one pursuit. Burdock Blood Bitters have their specialty as a complete and radical cure of dyspepsia, and liver and kidney affections.

A Slippery Customer.

A remarkably bold and persistent thief, giving the name of James Murphy, was arraigned in Yorkville Police Court, New York city, Monday. The complainant, Dr. Edward D. Ramsdell, attended the Twenty-first Street M. E. Church Sunday morning, laying his overcoat beside him over the back of the pew which he occupied. Murphy sat directly behind the Doctor, and while the congregation, with bowed heads, were engaged in prayer, the thief picked up the overcoat and started for the door. A vigilant sexton, however, had noticed the operation, and refused to allow Murphy to pass, detaining him until the prayer was finished and then calling a policeman, who took the thief into custody. Murphy was recognized by the officers as an old-timer and one of the most desperate and slippery. On one occasion, when he went by the name of Donnelly, he was wanted for theft and an officer chased him to the East river pier at the foot of Twenty-third street. The river was covered with a thin sheet of ice, but nothing daunted, Donnelly jumped in. The officer waited for a few seconds to see if the thief arose, and thinking he had found a watery grave, was about to start for the station to report, when Donnelly appeared over a hundred feet from where he went through the ice, having swam that distance under the ice. Striking out vigorously he reached the Twenty-fourth street pier and escaped. He was, however, arrested a day or two later, but when placed in the prisoner's box at the Yorkville Police Court, he managed to tear up a portion of the floor, and dropped through to the stairs leading to the prison. Unacquainted with the windings of the staircase, however, and the locations of the different departments of the building, the prisoner walked up stairs, opened a door, and, to his astonishment and mortification, found himself again in the court-room. He attempted to run but was caught and locked up. Such is a portion of his record. For stealing the overcoat in church he was held for trial. Murphy, or Donnelly, evidently belongs to the class of natural-born thieves, whom no amount of punishment, either through the operation of law or by accident while trying to escape, will make honest men. The longer sentences such fellows are given by the courts the better, both for the prisoners and the public.

[Utica Observer.

*If you are a woman and want both health and beauty, remember that all superficial efforts to increase your personal charms are in vain. Freshness and beauty accompany health, and to secure this Mrs Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies for all female weaknesses offer the surest means of renovation. The highest intelligence loses its lustre when it must find expression through a bilious complexion. Good for either sex.

Josh Billings on Pole Cats.

The pole kat. They are beautiful things, but oh; how deceptive.

Their habits are phew but unique. They build their houses out ov earth, and that is a fiscal story.

They are called pole kats because it is not convenient to kill them with a knife, but with a pole and the longer the pole the more convenient.

[illegible]

H. W. [illegible]

WOMAN CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH WOMAN.
HEALTH OF WOMAN IS THE HOPE OF THE RACE.
Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

A Sure Cure for all FEMALE WEAKNESSES, Including Leucorrhea, Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Flooding, PROLAPSUS UTERI, &c.

Pleasant to the taste, efficacious and immediate in its effect. It is a great help in pregnancy, and relieves pain during labor and at regular periods.

PHYSICIANS USE IT AND PRESCRIBE IT FREELY.

FOR ALL WEAKNESSES of the generative organs of either sex, it is second to no remedy that has ever been before the public; and for all diseases of the KIDNEYS it is the Greatest Remedy in the World.

KIDNEY COMPLAINTS of Either Sex Find Great Relief in Its Use.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S BLOOD PURIFIER will eradicate every vestige of Humors from the blood, at the same time will give tone and strength to the system. As marvellous in results as the Compound.

Both the Compound and Blood Purifier are prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price of either, $1. Six bottles for $5. The Compound is sent by mail in the form of pills, or of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Enclose 3 cent stamp. Send for pamphlet. Mention this Paper.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cents.

Sold by all Druggists. (3)

BEST COAL!

The subscribers desire to call the attention of the Public to the quality of the Coal now being received by us from the

LACKAWANNA COAL COMPANY

Over the Midland Road. If people who desire a

PURE CLEAN COAL

without handpicking will take the trouble to examine for themselves and Compare Quality with other kinds being offered and called Lackawanna Coal They will easily detect the spurious from the genuine.

FOLKS & WILSON

9m5

[illegible] Ginger Tonic [illegible]

Business has [illegible]

GEO. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Meals Served at All Hours.

Restaurant Unsurpassed in Oswego County

ELDER'S, ELDER'S.

STEAM

GRANITE WORKS,

Nos 431 to 439 West 14*th Street,*

NEW YORK.

Quarry at ROUND POND [illegible]

All kinds of Building, Monumental and Cemetery Work.

Mill Stones for Grinding Snuff, Drugs Paints, &c.

JACOB S. BROWN. JOHN MCALLISTER.
THOS. COUCH.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

DR. GEO. W. BELL,

VETERINARY SURGEON OF OSWEGO CITY,

(Graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College.)

has by request of Fulton horsemen made arrangements to be in

Fulton Every Saturday.

His Headquarters will be at the

LEWIS HOUSE BARN,

where he will be found capable to Treat all Diseases of Domesticated Animals.

Persons requiring his services will find him there from 11 a. m. till 3 p. m.

All Kinds of Veterinary Medicine on Hand.

Examination as to Soundness, and Certificates given. Consultation Free.

Telegrams and communications addressed to Poucher's Livery, Oswego, N. Y., promptly attended to.

[illegible]

HANOVER INSURANCE [illegible]
New York,

SPRINGFIELD FIRE AND [illegible]
INSURANCE [illegible]

WASHINGTON [illegible]
NEW YORK.

[illegible] INSURANCE [illegible]

C. H. DAVIS, [illegible]
Fulton, [illegible]

Insure [illegible]

O. W. [illegible]

The following [illegible]

[illegible]

Liverpool, London and Globe [illegible]
COMMERCIAL UNION of [illegible]
IMPERIAL and NORTHERN
LONDON and LANCASHIRE
HAMBURG, BREMEN [illegible]
Office Cor. Second and [illegible]

PAPER HANGINGS

—FOR THE—

[illegible]

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL [illegible]

In Great Variety and at Low Prices at the Book Store of

C. S. [illegible]ON

FALLEY SEMINARY,

Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y.

[illegible]

Falley Seminary

[illegible]

Boarding and Day School for Ladies and Gentlemen.

[illegible]

REV. [illegible]

[illegible] they know! [illegible] smile— [illegible] by one— [illegible] eye! [illegible] good cheer) [illegible]

[illegible] cried Pearlie, [illegible] door, her big [illegible] in amaze- [illegible] other from be- [illegible] it some- [illegible] investigate [illegible] Pearlie, as [illegible] wed- [illegible] own ad- [illegible] mother, [illegible] purpose [illegible] corner could [illegible] be found. [illegible] along by [illegible] as though her [illegible] she had [illegible] snowy mesh [illegible] lay upon the [illegible] of the "best [illegible] wed- [illegible] only the [illegible] But Pear- [illegible] the young- [illegible] baby," so the [illegible] dress himself. [illegible] rig should be, [illegible] places. None [illegible] but real silk and [illegible] delved deep into his [illegible] without a sign of [illegible] might at least see his [illegible] article he cove- [illegible] too, with a [illegible]

[illegible] come, you and I [illegible] der the sea!"

And amid her wild [illegible] and utterings the poor daft [illegible] was borne from the room, and [illegible] at last finished, though the [illegible] laughter of the crazy [illegible] upon them, above the [illegible] that united two young [illegible].

"Poor creature [illegible] three hours later, when [illegible] sat quietly together, and [illegible] wedding raiment had been [illegible] turned. "It's very [illegible] takes to rampagin' [illegible] for three years, I guess, and that was when a young sea-captain came ashore here for a day to see some friends, [illegible] tackled him just as she did [illegible]. You see, she's always [illegible] body's Harry Lambert, the [illegible] mate she got so in love with [illegible]. But she always quiets right down, they say, after one of those spells—"

"Harry Lambert, a ship-mate, did you say?" cried Frank, starting at the name.

"Yes, have you heard of him? A mighty nice boy. I remember all the affair very well. Madeline Bar[illegible]—that's Mad, you know—was a bright, pretty girl, but there was insanity in the family. Her mother had been insane before she died.

"Well, young Lambert came here to visit just as you did, my son, and somehow them two was together a great deal, but I guess Harry never fell just in love with her—liked her company, you know, and so on. But she got wrapped up in him, and he determined to marry [illegible] he didn't noways like her [illegible] much.

[illegible] the marriage was the [illegible], and things was goin' [illegible] when all of a sudden [illegible] ceased and never come [illegible] entirely.

"Day after day, and night after night, they'd have to watch her, for she would walk up and down the sands, looking out to sea, or hide away in the rocks somewhere for days, watching the ships sailing by.

"At last we got news that his vessel had gone down, and he was among the lost; and not long after [illegible] came here with letters which Harry had written and give to him as he was coming home a passage ahead of him. One was to his mother, and the other to poor Mad.

"In the last he spoke of the message he had sent her when he came away, sayin' he was sorry that he had to leave so sudden, but he had been unexpectedly ordered abroad.

"Then he said he hoped she would wait patiently for him, for he would surely be home again in two months. Poor lad! Whatever had become of the message we never knew, but poor Mad has been a demented [illegible] ever since."

As the captain finished, [illegible] spoke through the hushed and silence that followed.

"It is strange," he said. "I have often wondered over the [illegible] of my cousin's love-affair, for Harry Lambert was my own cousin."

"[illegible] now!" exclaimed the captain [illegible].

"Yes, but all this happened when I was [illegible]. I never knew [illegible] Madeline lived [illegible] about the [illegible]

[illegible] her [illegible]. She [illegible] in ever [illegible] after a [illegible] disappointment [illegible] her life. She had counted [illegible] success of her Hamlet [illegible] hard to make it such, but [illegible] broken in [illegible] financially ruined. What [illegible] is a mystery.

[illegible] money as an actress [illegible], but sometimes lose[illegible]. She is out $10,000 [illegible] purchase of a play. [illegible] that melodrama was [illegible] in this country, she [illegible] waiting in London, that [illegible] was at work with a [illegible] in which an explosion was to be a feature. [illegible] the American right [illegible] to buy, and glad [illegible] opportunity of paying [illegible] it had been named [illegible]. Consequently she is [illegible] country of "Love and [illegible] so bad a failure [illegible] Theatre, London, that [illegible] pit made fun of it. [illegible] consoled, however, by [illegible] manager in this country [illegible] the best melodrama that could be written, so that the [illegible] her property saved her [illegible] to sell it. As it is [illegible] herself can ap- [illegible] away back on the [illegible] no other actress [illegible] money and feel it so [illegible]

[illegible] wheels is the latest [illegible] company with [illegible] City has been [illegible] manage it. It [illegible] way cars, which [illegible] mechan- [illegible] structure, with [illegible] complete, and is [illegible] facilities for the [illegible] will run. [illegible] and car- [illegible] which it can [illegible] switched off and transformed into a [illegible]

[illegible] is infallible in St Jacobs [illegible] and we heartily recommend it to readers.

—[Chicago (Ill.) Western Catholic.

[illegible] Case for Freckles.

[illegible] was traveling recently, says a German paper, Mr. B., a government employe in the [illegible], was taking [illegible] in the [illegible] grounds, when, on [illegible] a less frequented portion of the park, he saw a young lady coming in the opposite direction. As they [illegible] each other, the lady suddenly [illegible] toward Mr. B., threw her arms around his neck and kissed him [illegible] the [illegible] of what she had done, she covered her face with her hands and ran off as fast as she could. [illegible] unable to account for [illegible] surprise, followed [illegible] her by [illegible] an explanation [illegible]. "I beg a thousand [illegible] reply of the [illegible] must be [illegible]. I had [illegible] as to [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] have [illegible] of anything else than [illegible] stupendous beings who had raised himself up above the whole world [illegible] gods and men." Then, speaking of the two other statues [illegible], he said: "The sun was [illegible] glowed red [illegible] was dyed with a deeper green [illegible] them, and the shades of evening filled the vast rents and fissures in their gold frames. As I looked back on them in the sunset and rose up in front of the background of the mountain, they seemed indeed as if they were part of it. And yet * * * the human character is never lost. Their faces are dreadfully mutilated; indeed, the largest has no face at all, but is, from the [illegible] upward, a mass of [illegible] rock, piled together in the form of a human head and body. Still, especially in that dim light, and from their lofty thrones, they seem to have faces, only of hideous and grinning ugliness."

Rapid Transit and Back Rent.

Uncle Mose owns several small shanties on Galveston avenue, which he rents out, but one of the tenants is rather slow in coming up with the rent, so old Mose had to make him a pastoral visit. Just as he was coming from the house old Mose met Jim Webster.

"Jim," said the old man, "which am de fastest trabbler you ebber heered tell about?"

"Dey say dat de ray of light trabbles more den 200,000 miles a second, but I nebber timed it myself," replied Jim.

"Dar's a man in Galveston what can gib de ray ob light fifty yards' start and beat it the wust kind."

"G'way ole man; lying is ketchin' and I hain't been vaccinated since de wah."

"Hit am jess so, I told yer. Gabe Snodgrass what owes for four munfs' back rent can outrabbit de light."

"Did yer see him dein it?"

"I went to de front doah, and jess as his wife opened de front doah I seed Gabe slide out de back doah. "Is Gabe home?" says I. 'He's gone to Houston, and he must have made de trip while I was lookin' at him slide out de back doah. Jess fetch on de ray ob light and ef it don't hab to hump itself to catch up wid Gabe Snodgrass when I comes for de back rent den I's a fool, dat's all."—Galveston News.

Mistake as to identity had very unpleasant results for [illegible] in Paris lately. [illegible] his wife, [illegible] her and [illegible] him [illegible] ed her—[illegible] man in Paris [illegible] tried to kill himself. [illegible] appeared [illegible] Gaimaud was astound[illegible]

THE R[illegible]

This medicine [illegible] and will carry [illegible] in an [illegible] best [illegible]

[illegible] of all faults is to [illegible]

[illegible] is the [illegible] of talent; genius is the [illegible] of nature.—[Holland.

The bearer of bad news infects the teller.—[Shakespeare.

Each [illegible] a hero and an oracle to somebody, and to that person whatever he says has an enhanced value.—[Emerson.

Ignorance is the mother of devotion.—[Jeremy Taylor.

It is not [illegible] word this same impossible; no good comes of those that have it so often in their mouths.—[Carlyle.

An open foe may prove a curse,
But a pretended friend is worse.
—Gay.

In the lexicon of youth, which fate reserves for a bright manhood, there is no such word as—fail!—[Bulwer-Lytton.

Power, in its quality and degree, is the measure of manhood. Scholarship, save by accident, is never the measure of a man's power.—[J. G. Holland.

Know the true value of time; snatch, seize and enjoy every moment of it. No idleness, no laziness, no procrastination: Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day.—[Earl of Chesterfield.

To-morrow's fate, though thou be wise,
Thou canst not tell nor yet surmise;
Pass, therefore, not to-day in vain,
For it will never come again.
—[Omar Khayyam.

Unkind language is sure to produce the fruits of unkindness—that is, suffering in the bosom of others.—[Bentham.

Those who live on vanity must not unreasonably expect to die of mortification.—[Mrs. Ellis.

Restoring Faded Ink.

A valuable discovery has been recently made, whereby the faded ink on old parchments may be so restored as to render the writing perfectly legible. The process consists in moistening the paper with water, and then passing over the lines in writing a brush which has been dipped in a solution of sulphide of ammonia. The writing will immediately appear quite dark in color, and this color, in the case of parchment, it will preserve. Records which were treated in this way in the Germanic Museum in Nuremberg ten years ago are still in the same condition as immediately after the application of the [illegible]. On paper, however, the color [illegible] fades again; but it may be [illegible] by the application [illegible]. The explanation of [illegible] of this substance is very simple: [illegible] which enters into the composition of the ink is transformed by [illegible] into the black sulphide.

[illegible] known species of [illegible] that number only about 500 at [illegible]

WHAT WE WANT.

Give [illegible] all druggists sell it.

[illegible]

SOLD BY ALL [illegible] AND DEALERS

[illegible]

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. KENYON JONES, Organist and Pianist, late of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM G. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenters and Joiners.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Joining, Woodwork and Jobbing of all descriptions. [illegible] a specialty. Shop and Residence No. 4 [illegible] street.

Dentists.

J. C. CURTIS, Master of Dental Surgery. Office over [illegible]. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, Chloroform or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 35

G. V. BRIGGS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 35

B. T. MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchinson Block, Phoenix, N. Y. The Celebrated [illegible] Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. BETTS & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of Agricultural Implements. First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

MERRILL BROS. Fine Job Printers. First [illegible]. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner at low prices.

W. G. [illegible], Book and Job Printer, [illegible]. All kinds of commercial [illegible] printing. Prices low and [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Our Low Prices and Large Assortment [illegible]

TO-DAY YOU WILL [illegible]

An Overcoat or a Heavy [illegible]

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will prove of interest and profit to all who will take the [illegible] look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter [illegible] for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is [illegible] dimensions, and all that is desirable in fabric [illegible] manship. That our garments fit better [illegible] style [illegible] has been so often and fully proved as to be [illegible] Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. [illegible] us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. [illegible]

ONE PRICE CLOTHING [illegible]

13 and 15 North [illegible] Street,

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE.

Having Purchased Geo. L. [illegible]'s stock of [illegible] I will [illegible] the [illegible] Stand. [illegible]

Goods Delivered [illegible]

[illegible] cried Pearlie, [illegible] door, her big [illegible] in amaze-

[illegible] from be- [illegible] it some- [illegible] investigate

[illegible] corner could [illegible] be found. [illegible] along by [illegible] as though her

[illegible] she had [illegible] snowy mesh [illegible] lay upon the [illegible] of the "best [illegible] only the [illegible] But Pear- [illegible] the young- [illegible] baby," so the [illegible] her dress himself. [illegible] rig should be, [illegible] places. None [illegible] but real silk and

[illegible] delved deep into his [illegible] without a sign of [illegible] he might at least see his [illegible] article he cover-

[illegible] der the seal."

And amid her [illegible] and utterings the poor daft [illegible] was [illegible] from the room, and the service [illegible] finished, though the [illegible] laughter of the crazy [illegible] upon them, above the [illegible] words that united two young [illegible]

"Poor critter!" said [illegible] three hours later, when [illegible] seated quietly together, and [illegible] wedding [illegible] had been [illegible] returned. "[illegible] very [illegible] takes to [illegible] for three years, I guess, and that was when a young sea-captain came ashore here for a day to see some friends. [illegible] tackled him just as she did [illegible] You see, she's always [illegible] body's Harry Lambert, the [illegible] mate she got so in love with [illegible] But she always quiets right down, they say, after one of those spells——"

"Harry Lambert, a ship-mate, did you say?" cried Frank, starting at the name.

"Yes, have you heard of him? A mighty nice boy. I remember all the affair very well. Madeline Earl—the Mad, you know—was a bright pretty girl, but there was insanity in the family. Her mother had been insane before she died.

"Well, young Lambert came here to visit just as you did, my son, and somehow them two was together a great deal, but I guess Harry never fell just in love with her—liked her company, you know, and so on. But she got wrapped up in him, and he determined to marry [illegible] he didn't noways like her [illegible] [illegible] the marriage was the [illegible] and things was goin' [illegible] when all of a [illegible] [illegible] entire[illegible]

"Day after day, and night after night they'd have to watch her, for she would walk up and down the sands, looking out to sea, or hide away in the [illegible] somewhere for days, watching the ships sailing by.

"At last we got news that his vessel had gone down, and he was among the lost; and not long after [illegible] came here with [illegible] Harry had written and [illegible] he was coming home a passage ahead of him. One was to his mother, and the other to poor Mad.

"In the last he spoke of the message he had sent her when he came away, sayin' he was sorry that he had to leave so sudden, but he had been unexpectedly ordered abroad.

"Then he said he hoped she would wait patiently for him, for he would surely be home again in two months. Poor lad! Whatever had become of the message we never knew, but poor Mad has been a demented [illegible] ever since."

As the captain finished, Frank spoke through the hushed and silence that followed.

"It is strange," he said. "I have often wondered over the [illegible] of my cousin's love-affair, for Harry Lambert was my own cousin."

"[illegible] now!" exclaimed the captain [illegible]

"[illegible] but all this happened when I was [illegible] I never knew just [illegible] Madeline lived, but I recollect [illegible] about the [illegible] [illegible] money as an actress [illegible] but sometimes loses. [illegible] She is out $10,000 [illegible] purchase of a play. [illegible] that melodrama was [illegible] in this country, she [illegible] in London, that [illegible] at work with a [illegible] in which an explosion [illegible] was to be a feature. [illegible] the American right [illegible] to buy, and gladly [illegible] opportunity of paying [illegible] it had been named [illegible] Consequently she is [illegible] country of "Love and [illegible] made so bad a failure [illegible] Theatre, London, that [illegible] pit made fun of it. [illegible] consoled, however, by [illegible] in this country [illegible] the best melodrama [illegible] so that the unfortunate [illegible] her property saved her [illegible] to sell it. As it is [illegible] herself can appear [illegible] away back on the [illegible] no other actress [illegible] and feel it so

---

[illegible] wheels is the latest [illegible] company with [illegible] City has been [illegible] manage it. It [illegible] way cars, which [illegible] ingenious mechanism [illegible] structure, with [illegible] complete, and, is [illegible] for the [illegible] will run [illegible] roads, and certain [illegible] which it can [illegible] transformed into a

---

[illegible] is inherent in St Jacobs [illegible] and we heartily recommend it to [illegible]—[Chicago (Ill.) Western Catholic.

[illegible] a Case for Frockies.

[illegible] evening recently, says a German paper, Mr. H., a government employe in the town of [illegible], was taking [illegible] in the [illegible] grounds, when, on reaching a less frequented portion of the park, he saw a young lady coming in the opposite direction. As they were about to pass each other, the lady suddenly turned toward Mr. H., threw her arms around his neck and kissed him then as if [illegible] of what she had done, she covered her face with her hands and ran off as fast as she could. [illegible] unable to account for [illegible] surprise, followed the [illegible] taking her by the [illegible] an explanation of her [illegible] "I beg a thousand [illegible] reply of the blushing [illegible] be greatly [illegible] I had been to [illegible] as to [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] gods and men." Then, speaking of the two [illegible]: "The sun was setting [illegible] glowed red [illegible] was dyed with a deeper [illegible] them; and the shades of evening [illegible] the vast rents and fissures in their [illegible] frames. As I looked back on them in the sunset, and rose up in front of the background of the mountain, they seemed indeed as if they were part of it—And yet * * * the human character is never lost. Their faces are dreadfully mutilated; indeed, the largest has no face at all, but is, from the waist upward, a mass of [illegible] rocks piled together in the form of a human head and body. Still, especially in that dim light, and from their lofty thrones, they seem to have faces, only of hideous and grinning ugliness."

Rapid Transit and Back Rent.

Uncle Mose owns several small shanties on Galveston avenue, which he rents out, but one of the tenants is rather slow in coming up with the rent, so old Mose had to make him a pastoral visit. Just as he was coming from the house old Mose met Jim Webster.

"Jim," said the old man, "which am de fastest trabbler you ebber heerd tell about?"

"Dey say dat de ray of light trabbles more den 200,000 miles a second, but I nebber timed it myself," replied Jim.

"Dar's a man in Galveston what can gib de ray ob light fifty yards' start and beat it the wust kind."

"G'way ole man; lying is ketchin' and I hain't been vaccinated since de wah."

"Hit am jess so, I told yer. Gabe Snodgrass what owes for four munfs' back rent can outrabble de light."

"Did yer see him dein it?"

"I went to de front doah, and jess as his wife opened de front doah I seed Gabe slide out de back doah. 'Is Gabe home?' says I. 'He's gone to Houston, and he must have made de trip while I was lookin' at him slide out de back doah.' Jess fetch on de ray ob light and ef it don't hab to hump itself to catch up wid Gabe Snodgrass when I comes for de back rent den I's a fool, dat's all."—Galveston News.

Mistake as to identity had very unpleasant results for Madame Gainaud in Paris lately. [illegible] his wife, [illegible] him into a [illegible] ed her—for [illegible] man in Paris [illegible] tried to kill himself. [illegible] appeared her [illegible] Gainaud was astound[illegible]

THE [illegible]

This medicine [illegible] and will carry [illegible] in an hour [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] best [illegible]

[illegible] of all faults is to [illegible]

[illegible] is the [illegible] of labor; genius is the [illegible] of nature.—[Holland.

The [illegible] of bad news infects the teller.—[Shakespeare.

Each stands a hero and an oracle to somebody, and to that person whatever he says has an enhanced value.—[Emerson.

Ignorance is the mother of devotion.—[Jeremy Taylor.

It is one [illegible] word this same impossible, no good comes of those that have it so often in their mouths.—[Carlyle.

An open foe may prove a curse,
But a pretended friend is worse.
—[Gay.

In the lexicon of youth, which fate reserves for a bright manhood, there is no such word as—fail!—[Bulwer-Lytton.

Power, in its quality and degree, is the measure of manhood. Scholarship, save by accident, is never the measure of a man's power.—[J. G. Holland.

Know the true value of time; snatch, seize and enjoy every moment of it. No idleness, no laziness, no procrastination. Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day.—[Earl of Chesterfield.

To-morrow's fate, though thou be wise,
Thou canst not tell nor yet surmise;
Pass, therefore, not to-day in vain,
For it will never come again.
—[Omar Khayyam.

Unkind language is sure to produce the fruits of unkindness—that is, suffering in the bosom of others.—[Bentham.

Those who live on vanity must not unreasonably expect to die of mortification.—[Mrs. Ellis.

Restoring Faded Ink.

A valuable discovery has been recently made, whereby the faded ink on old parchments may be so restored as to render the writing perfectly legible. The process consists in moistening the paper with water, and then passing over the lines in writing a brush which has been dipped in a solution of sulphide of ammonia. The writing will immediately appear quite dark in color, and this color, in the case of parchment, it will preserve. Records which were treated in this way in the Germanic Museum in Nuremberg ten years ago are still in the same condition as immediately after the application of the [illegible] On paper, however, the color [illegible] fades again, but it may be [illegible] by the application [illegible] The explanation of [illegible] of this substance is very simple [illegible] which enters into the composition of the ink is transformed by [illegible] into the black sulphide.

[illegible] species of [illegible] only about 800 at [illegible]

WHAT WE WANT.

[illegible]

Teeth, [illegible]

SOLD BY [illegible] AND DEALERS

A. [illegible] CO.

Fulton Business Cards

F. R. [illegible] JONES, Organist and Pianist [illegible] of Chicago, now with Albert Weber, 108 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WILLIAM G. CROMBIE, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Office in Kenyon block, First street.

Carpenters and Joiners.

J. J. GREEN is prepared to execute all kinds of Carpentering, Building, [illegible] and Jobbing of all descriptions. [illegible] and Office-work a specialty. [illegible] No. 4 [illegible] street.

Dentists.

I. O. DURYEA, Master of Dental Surgery. Office [illegible]. Teeth extracted without pain by use of Gas, [illegible] or Ether. Particular attention paid to preserving the natural teeth. 30

G. V. EMENS, M.D.S., D.D.S. Office opposite Lewis House, First street. Gas, ether and chloroform used. Every style of artificial teeth furnished. Treating and filling teeth for nervous persons and children a specialty. 35

B. [illegible] MASON, D. D. S. Office in Hutchins Block, Phoenix, N. Y. The Celebrated [illegible] Magnetic Mallet used in filling teeth with Gold. Special Attention given to diseases of the Oral Cavity and Irregularities of the natural teeth.

Agricultural Implements.

WM. G. SMITH & CO., dealers in Wagons, Carriages and all kinds of Agricultural Implements. First street, Fulton, N. Y.

Job Printers.

M[illegible] BROS., Fine Job Printers. First street, over [illegible] Book Store. Printing of every description executed in a superior manner [illegible]

W. G. WHEELER, Book and Job Printer, [illegible]

H[illegible]

D[illegible]

D[illegible]

D[illegible]

[illegible]
Clothing [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] Furnishing [illegible]
mestic, Millinery [illegible]

[illegible] 14 South [illegible]

Our Low Prices and Large Assortment [illegible]

TO-DAY YOU WILL [illegible]

An Overcoat or a Heavy [illegible]

The weather demands it, and the only question that remains to be settled is where to buy it. Of course, all who have ever patronized in this direction need no information on the subject, but to others we would simply ask the favor of a call. We are satisfied that an inspection of our extensive and elegant stock will [illegible] of interest and profit to all who will take the [illegible] look through it. Our display of Fall and Winter [illegible] for Men, Youths, Boys and Children is [illegible] dimensions, and all that is desirable in [illegible] workmanship. That our garments [illegible] style to them than [illegible] has been so often and fully proved as to be [illegible] Satisfaction guaranteed throughout, or money refunded. A handsome pocket knife given away with every garment purchased, with no additional expense. [illegible] us have the pleasure of seeing you.

I. H. [illegible]

ONE PRICE [illegible]

13 and 15 North [illegible]

A. C. YATES' OLD STAND, SYRACUSE.

[illegible]

[illegible] Geo. L. [illegible]'s stock [illegible] the Old Stand. [illegible] Everything

[illegible]

Goods Delivered [illegible]